Founded in 1876 at the foot of the Flatirons, 138 years has transformed the University of Colorado from a lone building on a bleak, windswept hill to one of the nation's leading public research institutions. Established in 1861, the University was formally founded in 1876, the year Colorado became a state.

The Boulder campus encompasses almost 800 acres on the main campus, east campus (which includes a research park), Williams Village and the Mountain Research Station north of nearby Nederland (which supports ecology, chemistry and geology). In 1996 the Board of Regents purchased 308 acres of land in unincorporated Boulder County, now informally known as the south campus, in an effort to insure the growth of the University well into the 21st century.

While almost 30,000 students are educated on the main campus, another 13,000 study at the University of Colorado at Denver, the University of Colorado Anschutz Campus (Aurora) and the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs. Nine elected Regents and President Bruce Benson lead the four-campus system, while each campus has a Chancellor who serves as the chief academic and administrative officer. Dr. Phil DiStefano is in his sixth year as the chancellor of the Boulder campus.

Students can enter any of 10 schools and colleges offering more than 2,500 courses in 150 fields, representing a full range of disciplines in the humanities, social sciences, physical and biological sciences, the fine and performing arts, and the professions. CU-Boulder is regularly ranked among the best of the United States' public universities by the Fiske Guide to Colleges, and a 2010 USA Today/Princeton Review survey rated the University of Colorado as the fifth-best value among American public colleges. CU was recently ranked as the No. 33 university in the world by the Times Higher Education.

CU-Boulder has played a major role in NASA space programs, designing and building many scientific instruments flown in outer space, and graduated 18 men and women who became astronauts, including the late Jack Swigert, one of the three astronauts in the crippled Apollo 13 mission who made it dock to Earth safely from the moon. When the Hubble Space Telescope was launched in 1990, it was carrying seven major instruments, including a high-resolution spectrograph to study the evolution of stars and designed and built by an international science team led by astronomer Jack Brandt of CU-Boulder. Since Hubble has been up, CU-Boulder faculty and students have been among the top users of Hubble of any institution in the world. CU-Boulder is the only university in the country where undergraduate students have operated a NASA satellite.

The University has produced 19 Rhodes Scholars, five of which were former football student-athletes at CU, with Jim Hansen the most recent recipient in 1992. Faculty member Thomas Cech, a distinguished professor of chemistry and biochemistry, won the 1989 Nobel Prize in chemistry. Other notable alumni include former United States Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White, former big band leader Glenn Miller and actors Robert Redford and Chris Meloni, the latter starring for years on Law & Order: Special Victims Unit, and the creators of South Park, Trey Parker and Matt Stone.

If the aphorism, "Somewhere between the Rockies and reality," seems too good to believe, then come for a visit. Start with a walk on the historic Pearl Street Mall, a downtown pedestrian mall that is the ceremonial heart of the city actually that works despite the efforts of its street theatre.

Visitors may be so taken in by the scenery, the mall, Tudors and Victorians they may forget the University that put it all together. From Pearl, Broadway leads directly onto campus where the University of Colorado Museum and the CU Heritage Center, in the original Old Main building, which introduces the University's past and present. The recently completed ATLAS building is one of the most state-of-the-art structures on any college campus.

Take in the fresh mountain air on any part of 100 miles of trails and 30,000 acres of open space. Climb the Flatirons or in Eldorado Canyon State Park. Swim or board sail at the Boulder Reservoir while elite runners sprint around it. Take in a pro sporting event down the road in Denver, just one of 13 cities with teams in all four pro leagues.

Rest assured, like the prophesy of an Arapaho Indian Chief, "If you leave Boulder, you will return."

PRESIDENT BRUCE BENSON

Bruce D. Benson was named the 22nd president of the University of Colorado in March 2008, after already making his mark in business, politics, philanthropy, education and civic endeavors. In his seventh year heading the entire CU system, he is now the longest-serving CU president in more than half a century.

Since taking the helm of his alma mater, Benson has enhanced CU's standing as one of the nation's leading public universities, advancing the economy, health and culture of Colorado and beyond.

During Benson's tenure, CU's research funding has reached record levels (including the most recent, $774 million in 2012-13), supporting the university's research strengths in biotechnology, health care, energy, and aerospace engineering, among others. He has led efforts to promote cross-campus collaboration that have resulted in cooperative academic programs and research initiatives, most notably CU's Biofrontiers Institute, led by Nobel laureate Tom Cech.

CU has seen its five best fundraising years (including a record $258.8 million in 2012-13) under his leadership. Benson and his wife, Marcy, chaired CU's $1.5 billion Creating Futures fundraising campaign, which exceeded its goal in November 2013. The campaign, the largest in university history, supported scholarships, academic enhancements (endowed faculty positions, programs), research projects and capital improvements across CU's campuses.

Benson has guided efforts to successfully institute operational efficiencies, cut bureaucracy and improve business practices at the university. CU has secured legislation in the Colorado General Assembly that has allowed it to save millions annually in areas such as procurement, insurance and construction. He has also established a number of public-private partnerships to make the university more entrepreneurial and meet the needs of businesses in Colorado and across the country.

He oversees a system with four campuses (Boulder, Colorado Springs, Denver, Anschutz Medical Campus in Aurora) with some 58,000 students (a total of 66,000 students pursue courses for credit). CU has some 27,000 employees. The university's annual budget is $3.1 billion.

Before becoming CU's president, Benson had already made his mark in business, politics, philanthropy, education and civic endeavors. He founded Benson Mineral Group in 1965, a year after earning his bachelor's degree in Geology from CU. Throughout his business career, he has also been involved in banking, real estate, cable television and restaurants.

He has consistently been active in a variety of educational, civic and political endeavors. He was the Republican nominee for Colorado governor in 1994. Benson has received many honors recognizing his leadership in a variety of endeavors, but two are particularly notable: CU in 2004 granted him an Honorary Doctorate of Humane Letters, and in February 2009 he was named to the Colorado Business Hall of Fame.

He was born July 4, 1938, in Chicago, and Benson has three children and 10 grandchildren. His wife, the former Marcy Head, has also dedicated herself to public life, from serving presidents of the United States to volunteering at leadership levels in health care, education, the arts and civic activities. She worked in a variety of capacities for presidents Ronald Reagan and George H.W. Bush and is an active community leader among her many lifetime accomplishments.

CHANCELLOR PHIL DISTEFANO

Dr. Philip P. DiStefano is in his sixth year as the Chancellor at the University of Colorado Boulder.

Prior to his appointment on May 5, 2009, Dr. DiStefano was the top academic officer at CU-Boulder for eight years as the Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. He served as interim chancellor twice during pivotal times in the university's history.

Dr. DiStefano co-chaired the steering committee for CU-Boulder's visionary strategic plan, Flagship 2030, conceived with campus, community and statewide input, to guide the university for decades to come. Today, Dr. DiStefano is shepherding its implementation as Flagship 2030 has moved from vision to reality.

Dr. DiStefano has served CU-Boulder for 39 years. He joined the University of Colorado in 1974 as an Assistant Professor of Curriculum and Instruction at the School of Education. His academic career flourished as he assumed a series of academic and administrative positions, including Professor, Associate Dean, Dean and Vice Chancellor. He was appointed Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs in 2001.

As Chancellor he works closely with students, faculty, staff, alumni, donors, governing officials, and business and community leaders in extending CU's legacy as a preeminent national comprehensive research university.

A first-generation college graduate, Dr. DiStefano earned a Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio State University and a Master of Arts degree in English Education from West Virginia University. He holds a Doctorate in Humanities Education from Ohio State University, where he served as a teaching and research associate.

He began his educational career as a high school English teacher in Ohio. He has authored and co-authored numerous books and articles on literacy education.

Dr. DiStefano and his wife, Yvonne, have been married for 45 years and are the parents of three grown daughters and two granddaughters.

PROVOST RUSSELL MOORE

Dr. Russell L. Moore has had a long and distinguished career at the University of Colorado Boulder, now serving in the capacity of Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, having assumed the position July 1, 2010.

Dr. Moore also previously served as interim vice chancellor for research from May 2009 to July 2010, and prior to that appointment, he was the associate vice chancellor for research since 2006. Dr. Moore served as chair of kinesiology and applied physiology (now integrative physiology) from 1994 to 2001, and was assistant professor (1984-86), associate professor (1993-96) and full professor (1996-present) in that department.

He holds an adjunct professorship in medicine (cardiology) at the University of Colorado's Anschutz Medical Campus at the University of Colorado Denver.

He was an assistant and associate professor (1986-91) in the departments of medicine, cellular and molecular physiology at the Pennsylvania State University College of Medicine in Hershey, Pa. He did postdoctoral work at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas (1981-84).

Dr. Moore earned a Bachelor of Science degree in biochemistry from the University of California at Davis in 1976, and a master's degree (1978) and doctorate (1982) in physiology from Washington State University in Pullman, Wash.

FACULTY REP DAVID CLOUGH

Faculty Athletics Representative Dr. David Clough is a national leader in college athletic reforms and represents CU to the Pac-12 Conference and the NCAA. A professor of chemical and biological engineering, Dr. Clough enters his 10th year as the University of Colorado Boulder's Faculty Athletics Representative (FAR), as he assumed the role in March 2005.

Professor Clough reports to Chancellor DiStefano and works closely with the Director of Athletics, Rick George, and the coaches and staff of

He served as the college's associate dean for academic affairs from 1986 to 1992, playing a role in a number of important initiatives, including the Gemmill Engineering Library, the Herbst Humanities Program, and the Integrated Teaching and Learning Laboratory. From 1993 through 1999, he was associate chair of the Department of Chemical Engineering and was responsible for significant improvements to the department's undergraduate advising program.

Known for his willingness to experiment with new educational concepts and technology, Dr. Clough has worked to reform traditional lecture classes into an interactive workshop format that greatly enhances the learning of students. Through these efforts, he has helped to reshape the way engineering is taught. The student-run Engineering Excellence Fund chose Dr. Clough as the first recipient of the Sullivan-Carlson Inspiration in Teaching Award in 1998. He has received numerous teaching and advising awards from nominations by his students over the years. He also has been given the college's Hutchinson Teaching Award and Peters Service Award. He received the first Boulder Faculty Assembly Teaching Award in 1980 and the Boulder Campus Outstanding Advisor Award in 1996. His merit as an educator also has been recognized outside CU. In 1995 the American Society for Engineering Education (Rocky Mountain Section) presented him with its first Outstanding Educator Award.

In April 2000, he received the college's Distinguished Engineering Alumnus Award in the Education category. It recognized his significant impact on engineering education through pioneering the active learning concept for the Integrated Teaching and Learning Laboratory, and in leading the college in changing traditional lecture courses to an active learning format.

In his role as Faculty Athletics Representative, Clough represents CU to the Pac-12 Conference and the NCAA. He provides a liaison between Athletics and the faculty and works to enhance the educational experience of 350 student-athletes. Clough has been active in the Faculty Athletics Representatives Association (FARA) and will become President of FARA in November. In his time as FAR, Dr. Clough has established a reputation for his expertise in the NCAA's Academic Performance Program and the program's statistics tracking the academic progress of student-athletes, the Academic Progress Rate (APR) and the Graduation Success Rate (GSR). He has developed tracking and predictive tools that have been shared with over 100 NCAA Division I institutions.

He and his wife, Sydney, have four grown children, Astrid, William, Rodney and Damon, and four grandchildren. Dr. Clough's father, John W. Clough, was a chemical engineer, and his two brothers are retired engineers. The Clough family established a scholarship endowment in engineering at CU in honor of John Clough, who died in 1994. The family holds a strong belief in giving back to the educational institutions that have benefited its members.

Athletics to support student-athletes, especially in their academic pursuits. The FAR's duties include oversight of the eligibility certification and compliance functions on the Boulder Campus. He strives to be well known to CU's student-athletes, and he and his wife Sydney are present at many home competitions of CU's sports teams. He also travels with many CU teams to away competitions.

Dr. Clough replaced Chancellor Phil DiStefano, who served as FAR from June 1, 2000 until just shortly after his appointment as interim chancellor for the Boulder campus in 2005. Clough is only the sixth FAR in CU history, joining a prestigious list: Walter Franklin (1947-1948), Warren Thompson (1949-1966), William Baughn (1967-1989), James Corbridge (1989-2000) and DiStefano (2000-2005).

Dr. Clough has had a significant impact on engineering education at CU-Boulder and beyond through career-long efforts to enhance the learning of engineering students. He has pioneered active- and cooperative-learning techniques in the College of Engineering and Applied Science, and in 1989 he originated the concept of the Integrated Teaching and Learning Laboratory. Clough's research has focused on the automated control of chemical and related processes.

He has been involved with student-athlete success for more than 30 years as his relationship with the CU athletic department dates to more than three decades. Throughout his career, Dr. Clough has taken a special interest in engineering student-athletes, long appreciating the combined academic and athletic challenges they face. He played an integral role in the Rhodes Scholarship candidacy of Buff football star Jim Hansen, an Academic All-American who was awarded the Rhodes in 1993.

Dr. Clough received his bachelor's degree from the Case Institute of Technology (now Case Western Reserve University) in 1968 and his master's from CU-Boulder in 1969, both in chemical engineering. He worked as an engineer for E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., from 1969 to 1972 before returning to CU-Boulder to earn his doctorate in 1975. He joined the faculty of the Department of Chemical Engineering at that time.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR RICK GEORGE

Rick George was introduced as just the sixth full-time athletic director in University of Colorado history on July 17, 2013, returning to Boulder where he helped play a role in the school's first and only national championship in football some 23 years earlier.

George, 54, came to Colorado from the Texas Rangers baseball club of the American League, where he was named chief operating officer on October 5, 2010 with a promotion to president of business operations this past February. He agreed to a 5-year contract at CU, and he officially started on the job on August 12, 2013.

His list of first-year achievements were many, but none more significant than shepherding through a $143 Athletic Complex Expansion from creation through fruition, gaining approval from the Board of Regents and then raising over one-third of the estimated cost to initiate construction, which began May 12, 2014. The project is the core of the Sustainable Excellence Initiative (SEI), the jewel of which will be a long-awaited indoor practice facility.

George implemented the department's first-ever comprehensive strategic plan, which will map CU's immediate and long range purpose and goals. He also redesigned the management teams (without coming in and eliminating or forcing out longtime staff just for the sake of it like others have done), made tough budget decisions that reduced deficits he inherited, and canvassed the state, region and nation in both friend- and fundraising.

Near the end of his first year, he was recognized by CU's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee as its choice for Staff Member of the Year; no token award, the group acknowledged his attendance at most home athletic events, regular meetings with team captains of all programs to interact with them and receive their feedback, and willingness to meet with any student-athlete and that his door is always open to them.

George brings the most diverse background to the position than any before him at Colorado: all five others had extensive and primarily exclusive college athletic histories, the only exceptions being when Marolt left CU after 10 years as ski coach to lead the U.S. Olympic ski team before returning, and Tharp, who was a university attorney with strong CU-Boulder campus ties. While George began and worked in the college athletic world for the first half of his professional career, he stepped outside that box for the second half.

George is just the sixth full-time athletic director in Colorado history, following in the footsteps of Harry Carlson (1927-65), Eddie Crowder (1965-84), Bill Marolt (1984-96), Dick Tharp (1996-2004) and Mike Bohn (2005-13). Two others have bridged directors in interim capacities, Jack Lengyel (six months between Tharp and Bohn) and Ceal Barry (two months between Bohn and George).

George was with the Rangers for less than three years, but saw the team win two American League championships and compile a 243-176 record (.580 winning percentage) during his time there, second-best in the major leagues during that time frame. As the COO, he worked closely with team president and CEO, baseball Hall-of-Famer Nolan Ryan, and was responsible for all facets of the Rangers' business operations, including oversight of all sales and marketing efforts, broadcast and communications, ticket and suite sales, naming rights, etc., in addition to overseeing the finance, human resource and operations departments.

Among his many accomplishments with the Rangers was a comprehensive branding study that successfully rebranded the ball club, and an implementation of a new ticketing strategy that over the course of three seasons increased ticket revenues by over $30 million. The club's attendance saw an increase of 40 percent from the 2010 season to nearly 3.5 million in 2012, second in the American League (behind the New York Yankees) and third in the majors. The 2013 numbers were on pace to exceed the 3 million mark again when he left the franchise for CU.

Prior to joining the Rangers, George served as executive vice president and chief of operations for the PGA TOUR for two-and-a-half years (beginning in June 2008). While with the TOUR, he worked with the corporate marketing department in renewing sponsorships and creating new events. He also oversaw the Tournament Business Affairs division that worked with Tournaments to increase tournament revenue.

He also worked for the PGA TOUR as president of the Champions Tour from 2003-08, and as the executive vice president for championship management his last three years there. His major accomplishments included increasing revenues and sponsorships and the development of strategic plans, the latter including a vision and mission statement as well as core values. The Champions Tour had grown to a minimum 29 events with over $55 million in prize money when he left for the PGA TOUR.

From 1998-2003, George served as President and CEO of the Fore!Kids Foundation, a 501c3 organization that raised money for children's charities via golf-related events, where he led rebranding and organizational efforts that resulted in increases in charitable giving to the Foundation.

At the collegiate level, George worked in three major conferences (Big Ten, Big 8, Southeastern) in football operations, beginning with his alma mater, the University of Illinois, as football recruiting coordinator (1983-87).

He graduated from Illinois in 1982 with a Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts & Sciences Individual Study that had an emphasis on Sports Communication and Journalism. He was a four-year letterman at cornerback for the Illini, playing in 44 straight games and starting in 27 games in all, as he played two years each under coaches Gary Moeller and Mike White. He was a two-time recipient of the school's Bruce Capel Award, given for dedication and courage to honor Capel who lost his life serving his country in Vietnam; George received the honor for his junior and senior seasons.

Upon his graduation, White named him the assistant director for player personnel for the Illini, and a year later (1983), he assumed the all sports recruiting coordinator. In March 1984, George took over the recruiting chores solely for football, with his first class ranked No. 1 in the nation by the recruiting services with all in the top 20; he coordinated five classes in all at Illinois when the call came to take him out west to Colorado.

On March 2, 1987, Bill McCartney hired him as Colorado's football recruiting coordinator. Two-and-a-half years later (Dec. 21, 1989), George was promoted to assistant athletic director for football operations, not coincidentally after the Buffaloes finished the regular season with an 11-0 record and the school's first-ever No. 1 national ranking in the polls. CU lost to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl and would finish No. 4, but came back to go 11-1-1 in 1990, this time defeating the Irish in the Orange Bowl to earn consensus national champion honors.

Shortly thereafter, he left the Buffaloes for Vanderbilt University, where he was reunited with former CU offensive coordinator Gerry DiNardo, who was named the Commodores' head coach a year earlier. In eight years at Vanderbilt (1991-98), he also served as associate athletic director for external operations in conjunction with overseeing the football program. This was where George first expanded his professional role outside of solely football, as he had oversight over all external departments, particularly in the area of managing budgets and developing marketing and promotional strategies for all sports.

George was born April 3, 1960 in Woodstock, Ill., and graduated from Collinsville (Ill.) High School, where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. He is married to the former Nancy Green, and the couple has two grown daughters, Jenni Reed (husband Tom) and Christi, and one granddaughter (Harper).

Conference History

The roots of the Pac-12 Conference date back 99 years to December 2, 1915, when the Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland. The original membership consisted of four schools — the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All still are charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916 and, one year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University) was accepted into the league, with Stanford University following in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California (USC) and the University of Idaho. In 1924, the University of Montana joined the league roster, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-member league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45 when World War II curtailed intercollegiate athletic competition to a minimum. During that time, the league's first commissioner was named. Edwin N. Atherton was commissioner in 1940 and was succeeded by Victor O. Schmidt in 1944. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference, essentially replacing Colorado, which left for the Big 7 two years earlier. The PCC continued as a nine-team conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and the Athletic Association of Western Universities was formed and Thomas J. Hamilton was appointed commissioner of the new league. The original AAWU membership included California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA and Washington. Washington State joined the membership in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. Under Hamilton's watch, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted in 1968. In 1971, Wiles Hallock took over as commissioner of the Pac-8.

On July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted to the league and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the league took on a new look, expanding to include 10 women's sports. Thomas C. Hansen was named the commissioner of the Pac-10 in 1983, a role he would hold for 26 years until 2009. Hansen was succeeded by current commissioner Larry Scott, who took on the new role in July 2009.

During the 2010-11 academic year, Scott helped deliver monumental changes that transformed the conference into a modern 12-team league by adding the University of Colorado and the University of Utah. The addition of CU and Utah led to an agreement to equal revenue sharing for the first time in conference history, created two divisions (North and South) for football only, established a football championship game for the first time ever, secured a landmark media rights deal that dramatically increased national exposure and revenue for each school and established the Pac-12 Network and Pac-12 Digital Network that guaranteed enhanced exposure across all sports.

Colorado accepted its invitation to join the Pac-12 on June 11, 2010, as the Buffaloes were the first domino to fall in a change of the national landscape which, in just one week, saw Nebraska also leave the Big 12 and join the Big 10, Boise State depart the WAC for the Mountain West, TCU jump from the MWC for the Big East, and then on June 17, Utah agreeing to join CU to make it an even dozen in the Pac-12. Big-time rivals for the first half of the last century, the Buffaloes and Utes officially became the 11th and 12th members of the Conference on July 1, 2011, the first additions to the league since 1978. During the 33 years between expansions, Pac-10 teams claimed 258 NCAA titles (130 women's, 128 men's).

At present, the Pac-12 sponsors 11 men's sports and 11 women's sports. Additionally, the conference schools are members of the

Pac-12 Commissioner Larry Scott

Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in four other men's sports and three women's sports. CU participates in the MPSF in indoor track and now in women's lacrosse and has competed since 1950 in the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Ski Association (RMISA) in skiing, which is a coed sport.

The Pac-12 Conference offices are located in the heart of San Francisco.

Conference of Champions

Built on a firm foundation of academic excellence and superior athletic performance, the Conference ushered in a new era on July 1, 2011, officially becoming the Pac-12 Conference with the additions of the University of Colorado and University of Utah.

Just 27 days after the Conference officially changed its name, Commissioner Larry Scott announced the creation of the Pac-12 Networks on July 27, 2011, solidifying a landmark television deal and putting the Conference on the forefront of collegiate athletics. The Networks, including one national network, six regional networks, and a robust digital network marked the first-ever integrated media company owned by a college conference. In addition, the "TV Everywhere" rights allow fans to access Pac-12 Networks outside the home on any digital device, including smartphones and tablet computers.

The Pac-12 launched its China Initiative in 2011 as a way to proactively promote the Conference and member institutions through student-athlete exchanges and sport. In its first three years, Pac-12 student-athletes have enjoyed unique cultural and athletic experiences in China, and the Conference has gained significant brand exposure for the future and set a foundation for growth.

On the field, the Pac-12 rises above the rest, upholding its tradition as the "Conference of Champions ®," claiming an incredible 137 NCAA team titles since 1999-2000, including 10 in 2013-14. That is an average of over nine championships per academic year. Even more impressive has been the breadth of the Pac-12's success, with championships coming in 28 different men's and women's sports. The Pac-12 has led or tied the nation in NCAA Championships in 48 of the last 54 years. The only exceptions being in 1980-81, 1988-89, 1990-91 and 1995-96 when the Conference finished second, and only twice finished third (1998-99 and 2004-05).

For the ninth-consecutive year, the Pac-12 had the most NCAA titles or tied for the most of any conference in the country, winning at least six every year since 2000-01. No other conference has won double-digit NCAA crowns in a single year, the Pac-12 doing so seven times, including a record 14 in 1996-97.

Spanning nearly a century of outstanding athletics achievements, the Pac-12 was the first conference to reach 400 championships in 2010-11. With the inclusion of Colorado and Utah, the Conference surpassed another major milestone, with league teams capturing 450 titles, outdistancing the next conference by nearly 200. In all, Conference teams have won 469 NCAA Championships (287 men's, 154 women's, 28 coed).

Individually, the Conference has produced an impressive number of NCAA individual champions. Pac-12 student-athletes over the years have won 2,123 individual crowns (1,459 men's 664 women's).

On the women's side, the story is much the same. Since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 32 years ago, Pac-12 members have claimed at least four national titles in a single season on 23 occasions, including 13-consecutive years from 2000-2013. Overall, the Pac-12 has captured 150 NCAA women's titles, easily outdistancing the SEC, which is second, with 90. Pac-12 members have dominated a number of sports, winning 23 softball titles, 20 tennis crowns, 14 volleyball titles, 15 of the last 24 trophies in golf, and 13 in swimming & diving.

Pac-12 women student-athletes shine nationally on an individual basis, as well, having captured an unmatched 664 NCAA individual crowns, an average of nearly 21 championships per season.

Mads Stroem was the NCAA 20-kilometer freestyle champion as a freshman in 2014.

2013-14 REVIEW

In 2013-14, the Pac-12 Conference's 10 national titles came in the form of six men's and four women's crowns. Six different league schools claimed NCAA titles and, of the seven NCAA institutions to have won multiples titles, three were from the Pac-12. No other conference in the country had more than one team win multiple NCAA titles.

Oregon was one of three teams in the country to win three NCAA titles this academic season, its first time doing so. The Ducks took home the hardware in men's outdoor track & field, the program's first team title in the sport since 1984, and swept the men's and women's indoor national championships. An additional four teams in the country had two NCAA titles, including USC and UCLA. The Trojans continue to dominate the sports of men's water polo and men's tennis, winning a sixth-straight title in the pool and a fifth in six years on the court. The Bruins won the conference's third-ever women's soccer title and the program's first, while also taking home the women's tennis crown.

But it was the Buffaloes who kicked off the year for the conference winning its fourth NCAA men's cross country title. California was first in men's swimming, the program's third national championship in four years, and Stanford won its third women's water polo crown in four years, extending the school's streak of at least one NCAA team championship to 38 consecutive years.

Participation in the postseason was a common occurrence for the Pac-12 in 2013-14. Of the 22 sports it sponsors, 19 witnessed at least half its teams participating in NCAA or other postseason action. The men sent 79 of a possible 100 teams into the postseason (79.4 percent), while the women sent 83 of a possible 115 teams (72.2 percent).

CU claimed its fourth NCAA men's cross country title in 2013.

FOLSOM FIELD

Folsom Field, named after legendary University of Colorado Coach Frederick Folsom, opened for the 1924 season and has been the football team's home field ever since. The Buffaloes have played 90 seasons on the "hilltop," where CU won its 300th game in the stadium in 2013.

Colorado owns one of the nation's best all-time home records, as in the previous 90 seasons of play at Folsom, the Buffaloes are 300-159-10, a winning percentage of .650.

The stadium was dedicated on October 11, 1924, as Colorado defeated Regis College, 39-0. It actually was the second home game of the season, as CU closed out playing at Gamble Field the week before with a 31-0 win over Western State.

It originally was called Colorado Stadium, the name being changed to Folsom Field in 1944 following Folsom's death. In addition, old 24th Street was also changed to Folsom Street to honor the man who coached Colorado teams three different times totaling 15 years between 1895 and 1915. His 76.5 winning percentage (77-23-2) is still tops among all coaches ever at CU.

CU had played its games at Gamble Field for two decades, where seating was limited to temporary bleachers. In the winter of 1923-24, CU President George Norlin studied the possibility of a new stadium, as the approaching completion of a sparkling new gymnasium (Carlson Gym), the inadequate number of seats at Gamble Field (roughly 9,000) and the growing interest in physical education and intercollegiate athletics demanded that a remedy needed to take place soon.

Investigation of a natural ravine just east of the site of the gymnasium as a site for the new stadium, suggested by professor

Whitney Huntington, was not only a convenient location, but by using it a great expense could be avoided. After a financing plan was worked out, CU's own construction department began moving dirt with a steam shovel on January 14, 1924.

The new structure had an original capacity of 26,000, featuring wooden bleacher seating over cement, and quarter-mile running track. A California red wood, dipped in creosote, was selected as the initial material, as estimates at the time put a lifetime of around 13 years for the wood. There were 22 sections divided by radial aisles installed, the same set-up in the lower bowl that still exists today.

Accounts at the time put the cost of the stadium at around $2.60 per seat, instead of $10 had concrete been used; the total cost was $65,000. By comparison, the cost to construct Carlson Gym was $350,000.

With expansion in mind when originally built, it was by design rather easy to add an upper deck. In 1956, Folsom Field's capacity was upped to 45,000 when a second deck was erected around two-thirds of the stadium. Some 6,000 more seats were added in 1967 when the running track was removed and the team dressing facilities were constructed at the north end of the field.

Improvements continued, as the gigantic six-level press box facility was added on the west side for the start of the 1968 season. It also serves as the home for CU's Flatirons Club, a group of donors who financially support the athletic program.

In the summer of 1976, Folsom Field had another face-lift, as the wooden bleacher seats were removed and replaced with silver and gold aluminum bleachers, expanding the stadium to a capacity of 52,005.

The renovation of CU's team house in the summer of 1979 took away a few seats, changing the capacity to 51,463. The construction of the magnificent Dal Ward Center in 1991 added new bleacher seating in the north end zone and increased the capacity to 51,748. In 1992, the addition of a yellow concourse wall on the southeast side took away a few hundred seats, and corporate boxes (in 1995) lowered the capacity to 51,655.

The removal of a set of old rickety bleachers in 2001 and a few other changes placed the stadium capacity at 50,942, but that figure stood for just two seasons. The addition of suites and club seating on the east side (at a cost of $43 million) completed in August 2003 increased the capacity to 53,750, an all-time Folsom Field high.

Prior to the 1971 season, the playing surface at Folsom Field was natural grass. Monsanto of St. Louis, Mo., replaced the natural grass with Astroturf for the 1971 campaign, with the first game being played on the artificial surface against the University of Wyoming on September 18 (the Buffs won 56-13); it was a godsend, as that very morning, Boulder received a rare late summer snowstorm that blanketed the field with more than two feet of snow.

The original Astroturf surface was replaced with a "new rug" for the start of the 1978 season, and in the summer of 1989, "Astroturf-8" was installed, the third artificial surfacing in the school's history. Folsom was covered with artificial surfaces for 28 seasons (168 games), and it was fairly friendly for the Buffs, which posted a 110-56-2 record in those games.

In the spring of 1999, Folsom Field returned to natural grass, as "SportGrass" was installed on the stadium floor. The project, which included bio-thermal heating, drainage and a sub-air system, cost $1.2 million. Video display boards, known as "BuffVision" were also added in the summer of 1999 at a cost of $3.6 million; those were updated with state-of-the-art HD technology in 2012 at a cost of about $6.5 million.

In 2003, completion of a $45.2 million east side renovation added 1,903 club seats and 41 suites, increasing Folsom's capacity to an all-time high of 53,750. The state-of-the art complex is one of the best in college football, is not nearly as high as many clubs and suites at most stadiums, and offers a great view of the foothills of the Rocky Mountains and when clear, the Continental Divide.

The capacity of Folsom was 53,613 from 2007-13, following the removal of the fourth rows from the three different levels of the Flatirons Club prior to the 2007 season (they always had some views obstructed). Currently, with the renovation of the northeast corner of the stadium and the conversion of bleachers into loge and club seating in the north end zone, the capacity is expected to wind up around 50,500 once completed this August.

MASCOT/NICKNAME

The University of Colorado has one of the more unique mascots in all of intercollegiate athletics, a real buffalo named Ralphie.

The live buffalo mascot leads the football team out on the field both at the start of the game and second half. It is truly one of the special sights that exist anywhere in college or professional sports, especially for opposing teams, who often stop in their tracks watching the massive buffalo round the end zone and head directly at their sideline.

The buffalo first appeared in 1934, three weeks after a contest to select an official school nickname by the Silver & Gold newspaper had come to an end and "Buffaloes" was the winning entry. For the final game of the '34 season, a group of students paid $25 to rent a buffalo calf along with a real cowboy as his keeper. The calf was the son of Killer, a famed bison at Trails End Ranch in Fort Collins. It took the cowboy and four students to keep the calf under control on the sidelines, a 7-0 win at the University of Denver on Thanksgiving Day.

Prior to 1934, CU athletic teams usually were referred to as the "Silver and Gold," but other nicknames teams were sometimes called included Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen. The student newspaper decided to sponsor a national contest in the summer of 1934, with a $5 prize to go to the author of the winning selection. Entries, over 1,000 in all, arrived from almost every state in the union. Athletic Director Harry Carlson, graduate manager Walter Franklin and Kenneth Bundy of the Silver and Gold were the judges.

Local articles first reported that Claude Bates of New Madrid, Mo., and James Proffitt of Cincinnati, Ohio, were co-winners for the prize as both submitted "Buffaloes" as their entry. But 10 days later, the newspaper declared Boulder resident Andrew Dickson the winner, after a follow-up revealed his submission of "Buffaloes" had actually arrived several days before those of the original winners. Through the years, synonyms which quickly came into use included "Bisons," "Bufs," "Thundering Herd," "Stampeding Herd," "Golden Avalanche," and "Golden Buffaloes."

Live buffaloes made appearances at CU games on and off through the years, usually in a pen on the field or sometimes driven around in a cage; in the 1940s, the school kept a baby buffalo in a special pen at the University Riding Academy. The first named buffalo was "Mr. Chips," who appeared for the first time at the 1957 CU Days kickoff rally, as supporter Mahlon White donated him to the school, and it was cared for by a men's honorary.

A few years passed between a live mascot on the sideline and the tradition Colorado fans have come to know so well. In 1966, John Lowery, the father of a CU freshman from Lubbock, Texas, donated to the school a six-month old buffalo calf from Sedgewick, Colo.

For a while, she was billed as "Rraalph," but the origin of the name is in some doubt. Some say it was given by the student body after sounds she allegedly made while running and snorting; others say it was named for Ralph Jay Wallace, the junior class president at the time; and the original handlers will tell a third version. Regardless, an astute fan soon discovered that the buffalo was in fact a female, thus the name alteration to Ralphie.

The initial tradition was for CU's five sophomore class officers to run the buffalo around the stadium in a full loop. They would pick her up from caretaker C.D. "Buddy" Hays, who kept her at the Green Mountain Riding Stables during the season at Hidden Valley Ranch in the off season. The officers would run her for two hours in the morning to tire her a bit to keep her under control by the time the game started. At the conclusion of the run, the fans would break into the "Buffalo Stomp," which would literally shake the stadium in deafening fashion as the team took the field. But CU officials soon had the tradition stopped because of the actual physical damage it was causing.

Around that same time, head coach Eddie Crowder was approached with the idea the charging buffalo running out on the field before the game with the team behind right her. Crowder thought it was a great idea, and the debut of this great tradition took place on Oct. 28, 1967, CU's homecoming game against Oklahoma State. Though OSU won the game, 10-7, the tradition was here to stay, though those who had some training in such an endeavor as working with a wild animal eventually replaced the sophomores. The five sophomores appointed themselves as the board of directors of a fundraising effort to bring Ralphie to the '67 Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston, raising the necessary money through selling stock.

Ralphie attended every CU home football game for 13 years (including all bowls), and retired at the end of the 1978 season. CU's first Ralphie achieved nationally celebrity status, and was even kidnapped in 1970 by some Air Force Academy students as well as being named the school's 1971 Homecoming Queen at the height of the anti-establishment era.

In 1976, The Bank of Boulder and its president Steve Bosley, proposed to Crowder they would do a fundraiser to send Ralphie I to the Orange Bowl Game with Ohio State.

When a reporter asked Bosley how Ralphie would travel to Miami, he explained that the information was top secret since CU was concerned that Ohio State students would try to kidnap (or "buffalo-nap") Ralphie. The story of the potential "buffalo-napping" made newspapers nationwide, featuring a picture of Ralphie in full charge with her handlers. The story stimulated over $25,000 in donations. Ralphie's trip to the Orange Bowl cost $2,500, and the balance was put into a fund for Ralphie's future care.

In 1978, when Ralphie became ill, Bosley organized a search headed by Buddy Hays, who discovered a calf named Moon, short for Moonshine, which was owned by Boulder native Lyn Russell Holt. Holt grew up raising mainly domestic animals, but was an accomplished bull rider in area rodeos who loved buffalo. Bosley, The Bank of Boulder, and bank director Robert Confer bought Moonshine from Holt and donated her to CU. But the name Ralphie had become so popular that former athletic director Eddie Crowder made it permanent.

Ralphie II made her first appearance at CU's final home game of the 1978 season. At age 12, after serving the Buffs for 10 years, she passed away on Sept. 19, 1987, following a 31-17 CU win over Stanford.

Ralphie III, donated by the C-Club, was pressed into action earlier than anticipated, as she had been in training for the 1988 season. Originally named "Tequila," she made her debut on Nov. 7, 1987, when the Buffs beat Missouri, 27-10. After over 10 years of service, she passed away in January 1998, at the age of 13.

Ralphies IV and V together in November 2007

Ralphie IV was donated to the university by media and sports entrepreneur Ted Turner in 1998. Born in April 1997 on the Flying D Ranch in Gallatin Gateway, Montana, which is a part of Turner Ranches, she was named "Rowdy" by ranch hands. She was separated from her mother when she was about a month old and was literally found in the jaws of a coyote with bite marks around her neck. She survived the attack and was bottle-fed by the hands for four months. She was released back to the herd but wouldn't bond with them, so the ranch hands took her back in and fed her grasses and grain. It was then that she was donated to CU as a yearling early in the spring of 1998.

John Parker, who trained and housed both Ralphie II and III and supervised the early training of Ralphie IV, retired after 12 years of service as caretaker in May 2000. His assistant, Ted Davis, assumed the program duties for the next year, while long-time CU supporters Dale and Lynn Johnson housed Ralphie for the following season.

In 2001, two former Ralphie Handlers and CU graduates, Ben Frei and Kevin Priola, took over as volunteer directors of the program. Together they coordinate the selection and managing of up to 14 student handlers along with all aspects of training. The program has been managed since 1994 by Gail Pederson, the CU Athletic Department's Chief of Staff.

Ralphie IV made her debut against Colorado State at Mile High Stadium in Denver on September 5, 1998. She appeared at six bowl games and four Big 12 Championship games. In November 2007, "Ralphie's Salute To A New Era" was held, where Ralphie IV was semi-retired and a 14-month old Ralphie V was officially introduced to the public. Ralphie IV's last game was the 2008 season opener, as she led CU on to the field one last time, again versus CSU in Denver.

Ralphie V, known as "Blackout," also from a Ted Turner Ranch, the Ver mejo Park Ranch in New Mexico, was donated to the university in January 2007 as a 325-pound, four-month old calf. She made her debut on April 19, 2008 at CU's annual spring game (which drew a record 17,800 spectators) and her regular season debut five months later on Sept. 6 at Folsom Field. She will be eight years old this September and is fully grown at 1,300 pounds and as with all buffalo, can reach speeds up to 25 miles per hour.

Mike MacIntyre is entering in his second season at the University of Colorado. He was named the 25th head football coach in Colorado history on December 10, 2012.

MacIntyre, 49, who spent much of his career as an assistant coaching on the defensive side of the ball, also started tutoring the cornerbacks in the spring of 2014. It's not that uncommon; the last time a CU head coach also coached a position was in 2009 (the receivers by Dan Hawkins).

In 2013, his first season in Boulder, he coached the Buffaloes to a 4-8 record, equaling the school's number of wins in the previous two seasons. With a 41-27 win over Colorado State in the season opener, he became just the second head coach since 1932 at Colorado to win his first game, joining Rick Neuheisel in 1995 as the only pair to do so among the 15 different men to lead the program in that time frame.

He also had to face the daunting task of rallying his team after a devastating flood hit Boulder, forcing the cancellation of a game, which led to two consecutive bye weeks after the Buffs started out 2-0.

The team improved in 29 major statistical categories, in most cases rather dramatically, and set a record for the fewest fumbles in a season with just 14 while reducing penalties dramatically (ending the season with just 10 over the final four games, a 50-year program low).

He led San Jose State to a 10-2 record in 2012, with a final regular season ranking of No. 24 in the Associated Press and USA Today/ESPN Coaches polls as well as in the final BCS Standings. It was San Jose State's first 10-win season in 25 years, and the Spartans earned a berth in the Military Bowl where it defeated Bowling Green, 29-20, and finished No. 21 in the national polls (the win, per NCAA policy, is not credited to him since he did not coach SJSU in the bowl).

For his accomplishments at San Jose, he was the recipient of the 2012 Fellowship of Christian Athletes National Coach of the Year. The award is presented to a coach who exemplifies Christian principles and who is involved in the FCA, in addition to success and performance of that coach's team.

He assumed the SJSU position in December 2009, compiling a 16-21 record with the Spartans; he took over a team that had gone 2-10 in 2009, but began instilling a different culture despite a 1-12 record his first season in San Jose. His second Spartan team went 5-7, but closed the year with thrilling wins over Navy and Fresno State. His SJSU teams thus won 12 of his last 14 games there.

San Jose State's most impressive wins in his final year there came over San Diego State, Navy, BYU and Louisiana Tech, teams that otherwise combined to go 30-12 in 2012. Tech in particular was an offensive powerhouse (led the nation in scoring, second in total offense and fourth in passing), but their coaches felt MacIntyre and his staff put together the best plan to disrupt its high-octane offense of any of its opponents, including Texas A&M. The only losses were to Stanford (20-17 in the season opener, as the Cardinal won on a fourth quarter field goal) and to Utah State.

The 2012 season under MacIntyre is one of the best in San Jose State's nearly 120-year football history. In recording their first 10-win season since 1987, the Spartans did it with a highly-productive offense that scored 423 points, a defense that ranked among the national leaders in many statistical categories and reliable special teams.

His third Spartan team saw a school-record 16 SJSU players earn All-Western Athletic Conference honors, which came in a year that 36 school and conference records either were tied or broken.

MacIntyre's San Jose State teams performed in the classroom as well. In 2011, the school had a record number of Academic All-WAC team members – 13 – while defensive end Travis Johnson became the Spartans' first player in 30 years to get Academic All-America recognition. In addition, San Jose State's Academic Progress Rate (APR) score was 981, second best in the WAC.

Before his 2010 head coaching debut, MacIntyre instituted a comprehensive recruiting plan and initiated a "Summer Bridge" program for his first recruiting class to provide his newcomers a smooth transition into life as a college football player (he has since installed the same program at Colorado). Facing five nationally-ranked teams early in the season, the Spartans rebuilt themselves repeatedly, and were positioned late for victory in four of their final five games before finishing with a 1-12 record.

Under MacIntyre, the 2011 Spartans produced the fourth-best turnaround in their football history with a 4½-game improvement, exhibiting resiliency and resourcefulness to find a winning way: four of the team's five wins came in the game's final minute. The opportunistic Spartans were the co-national leaders with 20 fumble recoveries, tied for fourth in turnovers gained (33), were disciplined as the second least penalized team in the Football Bowl Subdivision and ranked in the top 25 in passing offense (23rd) for the first time in eight years.

After the season, San Jose State was so pleased with the direction of the program that they extended MacIntyre's contract through 2017.

A veteran coach of 22 seasons, MacIntyre arrived at San Jose State after two years as the defensive coordinator at Duke University, where he was reunited with head coach David Cutcliffe from earlier in his coaching days. Those Blue Devil defenses were among Duke's best statistically over a 20-year span, and in 2009, Duke's five wins were the most in a season by the Blue Devils since 1994. The American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) named him its 2009 FBS Assistant Coach of the Year.

Prior to returning to college ball, MacIntyre spent five seasons in the National Football League with the New York Jets (2007) and Dallas Cowboys (2003-06) coaching defensive backs. Working for legendary coach Bill Parcells, the Cowboys returned to the NFL playoffs in 2003 and again in 2006 after missing out on postseason competition during the 2000 through 2002 seasons.

MacIntyre has coached on both sides of the ball, spending four years at Ole Miss (1999-2002) where he started as the wide receivers coach for two seasons and the defensive secondary coach in his final two years. The Rebels posted a 29-19 record in that time with bowl appearances in the 1999 and 2002 Independence Bowls and the 2000 Music City Bowl. The 2001 Rebels ranked fifth nationally in pass defense, allowing just 161.3 yards per game.

At Mississippi, among his recruits were two high profile student-athletes that one could sign to letters-of-intent, quarterback Eli Manning and linebacker Patrick Willis. And along his coaching trail, he has mentored many current and former NFL players including recently retired former Dallas and Cincinnati safety Roy Williams, a five-time Pro Bowl player. At Dallas, he also tutored Terrence Newman, the former Kansas State cornerback who longtime CU fans certainly remember.

He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at the University of Georgia, working two years (1990-91) in that capacity. He then coached one year as the defensive coordinator at Davidson (1992), four years at Tennessee Martin (1993-96) and two seasons at Temple (1997-98); while with the Owls, he coached under former CU assistant coach Ron Dickerson and then Bobby Wallace, and in '98 helped coach Temple to a 28-24 upset of No. 14 Virginia Tech. He then joined Cutcliffe's staff at Ole Miss the following season.

A 1989 graduate of Georgia Tech, he lettered twice (1987-88) at free safety and punt returner for legendary head coach Bobby Ross. Prior to becoming a Yellow Jacket, MacIntyre played two seasons (1984-85) at Vanderbilt for his father, George, the head coach of the Commodores from 1979-85. The elder MacIntyre was the national coach of the year in 1982 when Vandy beat Alabama on its way to an 8-4 record.

MacIntyre earned a bachelor's degree in Business Management from Georgia Tech and his master's in Education with an emphasis on Sports Management from Georgia in 1991.

He originally agreed to a five-year deal with an annual salary of $2 million plus incentives (January 1, 2013 through December 31, 2017); in February 2014, CU's Board of Regents approved a one-year extension through the end of 2018.

He was born George Michael MacIntyre on March 14, 1965, in Miami, Fla., and is married to the former Trisha Rowan; the couple has three children, Jennifer, Jay and Jonston; Jay will be a freshman on the CU football team this fall. As previously stated, he is very active with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes as well as being an AFCA/Jason Foundation Ambassador, assisting the organization in spreading awareness of the problem of youth suicide.

WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT MIKE MACINTYRE

ELI MANNING, New York Giants Quarterback

MacIntyre recruited Manning to Mississippi while on the Rebels' staff.

"As good a coach as Mike MacIntyre is, he is an even better person. He recruited me to Ole Miss with a little help from my mother and father, and I was fortunate enough to work with him on both sides of the ball.

"He coached our wide receivers my freshman year, so I worked closely with him on our passing game, and then for the next two years I got to throw against his secondary every day in practice when he coached the defensive backs, which was invaluable in my preparation.

"He's a great coach and a great recruiter, and he will not be outworked. I wish Mike all the best at CU."

PATRICK WILLIS, San Francisco 49ers Linebacker

MacIntyre recruited Willis to Mississippi while on the Rebels' staff.

"Coach MacIntyre is a great guy, a guy who knows how to recruit. A guy who knows how to get guys to play, get guys on one accord. He proved that at San Jose State this year, leading them to a great season. I'm really happy for him and I wish him the best of luck at Colorado."

DAVID CUTCLIFFE, Duke Head Football Coach

MacIntyre worked for Cutcliffe at both Mississippi and Duke.

"Congratulations to Coach MacIntyre and his family – the University of Colorado has hired an excellent coach and an even finer man.

"Obviously our history together runs deep, and I couldn't be happier for him, Trisha and their children. Plain and simple, Coach MacIntyre knows how to coach the game of football. It's in his blood. He understands the importance of the well-rounded student-athlete as well as the football program's place in the community.

"His success in three years at San Jose State is well-documented and his work as an assistant coach on both the collegiate and professional levels speaks for itself. But on top of all of his coaching excellence – and there is a great deal of that – Coach MacIntyre is a tremendous person."

MARV SUNDERLAND, Tennessee Titans Scout

MacIntyre worked with Sunderland when both were with the New York Jets

"He's highly organized, a very good teacher, and a disciplinarian, but not in a nasty way, he commands it through respect. He's a very people-oriented type of person who will be a great recruiter for the University of Colorado. This man is a class guy."

DUKE IHENACHO, Denver Broncos

MacIntyre coached Ihenacho at San Jose State

"That's my guy, Coach Mac. I'm trying to get him to the scrimmage tomorrow, but I'm not sure how busy he is. CU has a good coach. They have a very passionate coach obviously. I think they got somebody that cares for the players and cares about the program. I can't say [anything] but nice things and great things about Coach Mac because I played under him and he benefitted me. Coach Mac is a great guy and he is going to get that program on the right track."

THE ASSISTANT COACHES

KENT BAER

Defensive Coordinator / Linebackers

Kent Baer is in his second season as defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Colorado, officially joining Coach Mike MacIntyre's staff on January 1, 2013 after coaching the previous five years at San Jose State.

Baer, 63, had served as the Spartans' defensive coordinator for three seasons (2010-12), having been promoted into the position after coaching SJSU's linebackers for two years (2009-10) and after MacIntyre was named head coach at San Jose.

Baer served as interim head coach for the Spartans' appearance in the Military Bowl after MacIntyre decided not to coach the team in the game. With all kinds of distractions, he kept the San Jose State ship righted and led it to a 29-

20 win over Bowling Green. In the NCAA record books, he gets the credit for the win and thus evened his record as a collegiate head coach at 1-1; he also served as Notre Dame's interim head coach for the 2004 Insight Bowl against Oregon State.

In his first season with the Buffaloes, his defense improved significantly in 12 major statistical categories, most notably jumping from 92nd to 58th in the NCAA in third down defense, 116th to 60th in turnovers forced, 119th to 61st in red zone defense and 104th to 24th in "three-and-outs." Opponents completion percentage dropped over eight points, as did their scoring average.

In his five seasons with the Spartans, Baer coached two linebackers, Keith Smith and Vince Buhagiar, who were named Freshman All-Americans in 2010 who both went on to earn first-team All-Western Athletic Conference honors two years later. Smith led all 2010 Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) players in tackles and was the WAC Freshman of the Year. Baer also coached a two-time, second-team All-WAC performer in Justin Cole, who made the roster of the NFL St. Louis Rams in 2012.

In 2012, his defense shined throughout in a season where it finished 24th in the NCAA, allowing 344.7 yards per game, including 19th against the run (122.2) and was in the top five in seven different categories.

Colorado is the ninth Division I-A/FBS university in which Baer is serving as defensive coordinator, as he held those similar duties for 28 combined seasons, in order, at Utah State, Idaho, California, Arizona State, Stanford, Notre Dame, Washington and San Jose State. When he was with Notre Dame, he was one of five finalists for the 2002 Broyles Award, presented to the nation's top assistant coach; he was also nominated for the 2012 while with San Jose State.

His best units have excelled at stopping the run, highlighted by two particular seasons at Notre Dame. In 2002, the Fighting Irish were ranked high nationally in scoring defense (9th), pass efficiency defense (10th), rushing defense (10th) and total defense (13th). Baer was recognized for the Irish's rankings that season as a Frank Broyles Award finalist, presented to the nation's most outstanding assistant coach. In 2002, Notre Dame yielded a paltry five rushing touchdowns and was third nationally in rushing defense. A decade earlier (1992), when he was at Arizona State, the Sun Devils ranked seventh nationally in total defense.

Baer has coached in nine bowl games as well as in the 1986 NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. On four occasions, he was with teams that finished ranked in the Associated Press Top 25: Idaho (16th, 1986), California (8th, 1991), Notre Dame (17th, 2002) and San Jose State (21st, 2012).

He is among a very select group of coaches to work at the three San Francisco Bay Area Football Subdivision (FBS) schools, California, Stanford and San Jose State, going to bowl games with all three schools.

He has coached under several of the game's great head coaches, including Bruce Snyder who gave him his start at Utah State, Keith Gilbertson, Tyrone Willingham and Dick Tomey. He also coached under Snyder at Cal and Arizona State and for Willingham at three schools, Stanford, Notre Dame and Washington.

After Snyder hired him in 1977 as Utah State's outside linebacker coach, he remained in that capacity for six seasons until being named the Aggies' defensive coordinator and secondary coach in 1983, positions he would hold the next three seasons before moving on to Idaho. He spent the 1986 season as the Vandals' defensive coordinator and then rejoined Snyder at California, where he could coordinate the defense the next five seasons (1987-91).

He went with Snyder to Arizona State and was the defensive coordinator there for three years (1992-94) before teaming up with Tyrone Willingham at Stanford. He coached the linebackers his first four years in Palo Alto (1995-98) before assuming the D-Coordinator duties; he would be Willingham's architect of defenses for the next nine seasons (Stanford, 1999-2001; Notre Dame, 2002-04; and Washington, 2005-07). In 2008, he joined Dick Tomey's staff at San Jose State as linebacker coach and when MacIntyre took over the reins of the program in 2010, he was retained on the staff and once again coordinated the defense.

Baer was a standout linebacker at Utah State, lettering three seasons (1970-72), leading the team in tackles as a senior with 114, when the Aggies went 8-3, two of the losses coming on the road at No. 4 Oklahoma and No. 9 Texas. He graduated from Utah State in 1973 with a Bachelor's degree in Physical Education and Recreation.

After his college graduation, he moved to Japan where he was the head football coach for Yokosuka Seahawks from 1973-76 (a member of a service league featuring military bases). He was the director of athletics and recreation for the commander of naval forces there before returning to Utah State for his first collegiate coaching position. But his time in the Orient would begin a life-long love affair with the Far East for Baer, who created the Heisei Bowl in 1989. An annual all-star game played on the first Saturday of July, Baer coordinates the selection of two American coaches and a dozen U.S. players who are integrated to practice and then play with two Japanese all-star teams. Now called the New Era Bowl, the 2013 game will be the 25th Baer will coordinate.

He was born May 2, 1951 in Logan, Utah, and graduated from Sky View High School (Smithfield, Utah), where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. His hobbies include golf, skiing and traveling. He has three adult sons, Brian, Aaron James (A.J.) and Steven; A.J. was a graduate assistant on the 2012 San Jose State staff and has joined CU in a similar capacity for the 2014 season. Baer also has three grandchildren.

BRIAN LINDGREN

Offensive Coordinator / Quarterbacks

Brian Lindgren is in his second year as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Colorado, joining new head coach Mike MacIntyre's staff on January 1, 2013.

Lindgren, 34, came to CU from San Jose State, where he served in the same capacity under MacIntyre for the 2012 season, moving there after spending six seasons on the staff at Northern Arizona University. In its 2013 football preview issue, Athlon Sports cited Lindgren as one of the top 10 offensive coordinator hires in the nation (out of nearly three dozen).

In his first season with the Buffaloes, his offense improved significantly in 12 major statistical categories, most notably jumping from 96th to 47th nationally in passing defense, 116th to 87th in total offense and 117th to 86th in scoring offense. Averages per rush, pass and overall jumped, most noticeably in yards per pass attempt, which rose to 7.3 from 5.7, the first time since 2003 that a CU team averaged seven yards or more per pass play.

Lindgren's lone year coordinating the Spartan offense was a most productive one, as the school set 27 offensive records. San Jose State averaged 446.2 yards per game, including 332.7 passing, good for seventh in the nation, and a pass efficiency rating of 170.2, second best in the land. SJSU was 32nd overall in offense, with six games of 500 or more yards (seven 400-plus), and was 30th nationally in scoring as the team finished 11-2 on the year. He was a finalist for the Quarterback Coach of the Year, coordinated by footballscoop.com.

At NAU, he was the quarterbacks coach his final four years there (2008-11), the passing game coordinator that first year before being promoted to offensive coordinator for the last three. The Lumberjack offense averaging just above 28 points and 410 yards of total offense a game in his tenure, scoring 40 or more points on eight occasions. Twice NAU was ranked in the top 20 in passing in the NCAA Football Championship Subdivision (FCS), fifth in 2009 and 20th in 2011. In his first two seasons at Northern Arizona, he coached the wide receivers (2006) and then the running backs (2007).

He began his coaching career in 2005 as the quarterbacks coach at the University of Redlands under its long-time head coach, Mike Maynard, who completed his 25th season with the school in 2012.

Lindgren graduated from the University of Idaho with a bachelor's degree in Business (Marketing) in 2004. He was a three-time Academic All-Conference team member and won Idaho's Kathy Clark Scholar-Athlete Award, presented to the graduating senior with the highest grade point average. He lettered three years at quarterback for the Vandals, playing for head coaches Chris Tormey, who recruited him, and Tom Cable, the former Colorado offensive coordinator and line coach.

A first-team All-Sun Belt Conference performer and team captain, he threw for 6,541 yards and 44 touchdowns in three seasons as the starter for the Vandals, completing 61 percent of his passes with a 136.0 efficiency rating, all marks still among the best in Idaho history. He set the NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) single-game record for the most total offense in a game by a sophomore with 657 yards against Middle Tennessee State in 2001, a mark that still stood through the 2012 season. In that game, he completed 49-of-71 passes for 637 yards (also still an NCAA sophomore mark) and five touchdowns (a 162.0 rating), while rushing twice for 20 yards. He also set an Idaho record for the most touchdown passes in a game (6) in a 48-38 win over San Diego State his junior year.

He was born August 6, 1980 in Walla Walla, Wash., where he graduated from DeSales Catholic High School, lettering in football, basketball and baseball. He still holds the Washington prep passing record for the most touchdown passes in a game (9), and is second in all-time completions (779), passing yards (12,575) and touchdowns (162). He earned his master's degree in Educational Leadership from Northern Arizona in 2007. His hobbies include golf and fly-fishing. He is married to the former Bradee Fitzpatrick, and the couple has two children, son Bronson (4) and daughter Blake (3).

RECORD—He has coached in 25 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach, including one bowl game (2012 Military). At Northern Arizona, he coached in 66 Division I (FCS) games.

KLAYTON ADAMS

Running Backs / Tight Ends

Klayton Adams is in his second year as the running backs and tight ends coach at the University of Colorado, joining new head coach Mike MacIntyre's staff on January 1, 2013.

Adams, 31, came to CU from San Jose State, where he coached the tight ends under MacIntyre for two seasons. Though he never directly coached the running backs before coming to Colorado, at San Jose he effectively integrated the tight ends into several hybrid roles and had run game coordination experience in his background. At SJSU, he coached two-time John Mackey Award watch list member Ryan Otten to honorable mention All-American honors.

In his first year in Boulder, the Buffs enjoyed modest increases in yards per attempt and per game, but of the team's 14 total fumbles, itself a school record, his players at both positions just had one of those (down from eight in 2012).

He joined the San Jose State staff in April 2011 after two seasons at Sacramento State, his first full-time Division I (FCS) coaching experience. He was the Hornets' offensive tackles and tight ends coach his first year there in 2009, and then was promoted to the offensive line coach in 2010. Continuing his rapid rise, he was set to serve as Sacramento State's offensive coordinator and offensive line coach before he was hired by MacIntyre at SJSU.

While at Sacramento State, he coached three players to All-Big Sky Conference honors. His 2010 offensive linemen paved the way for the school's best ground attack over a five-season span averaging 170.4 yards per game.

He graduated from Boise State in 2005 with a bachelor's degree in Mass Communication with an emphasis in Journalism. He lettered twice at center for Coach Dan Hawkins on the 2003 and 2004 Bronco Western Athletic Conference championship teams that had a combined 24-2 record and won the 2003 Fort Worth Bowl and played in the 2004 Liberty Bowl. BSU finished 13-1 his junior year, ranked No. 16 in the final Associated Press poll, and was 11-1 his senior year (No. 12) when he was a second-team All-WAC selection.

He began his coaching career at Boise State in 2005 as a student assistant under Hawkins, who would become CU's head coach the following year. In 2006, Adams was the Broncos' offensive graduate assistant working primarily with the offensive line. He moved on to Western Washington University for the 2007 and 2008 seasons as the offensive line coach and run game coordinator.

He was born February 13, 1983 in Sacramento, Calif., he graduated from Sheldon High School (Elk Grove, Calif.), where he lettered in football, wrestling and track and field. He is married to the former Stefani Panenka, and the couple has two young daughters, Mya (4) and Emmy (2).

RECORD—He has coached in 37 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach, and has coached in three bowl games (2005 MPC Computer, 2007 Fiesta, 2012 Military).

GARY BERNARDI

Offensive Line

Gary Bernardi in his second season as the offensive line coach at the University of Colorado, officially joining Coach Mike MacIntyre's staff on January 1, 2013. He spent the previous three seasons with MacIntyre at San Jose State.

Bernardi, 59, is a veteran of 33 seasons in the Division I-A (FBS) ranks, and is no stranger to the Pac-12, as he previously spent a combined 24 years at Arizona, Southern California and UCLA. He's coached in 378 games on college football's top level, a number that includes 13 bowl games, five of which were the granddaddy of them all, the Rose.

Throughout his professional career, he has been involved with winning programs and successful head coaches, establishing a reputation as a sharp recruiter and developer of all-star offensive linemen, tight ends and wide receivers. Several of his players have been afforded All-American honors and over 20 of his players have gone on to play professional football. He worked on the staffs of several notable coaches, including Larry Smith, Terry Donahue, Bob Toledo and Mike Sanford.

With the exception of just one season in his career, he's always coached the entire offensive line or at least the offensive tackles. He coached the line in his three seasons at San Jose State, where he landed after coaching five years at UNLV, where he coached the entire line and the tight ends, in addition to serving as the Rebels' recruiting coordinator.

It was Larry Smith who gave him his start in the collegiate ranks, hiring him at Arizona as the Wildcats' tackles and tight ends coach in 1980, a position he would hold the next five seasons. He then coached the wide receivers for the 1985 season before returning to tutor the tackles and tight ends in 1986. When Smith was hired as Southern California's head coach ahead of the 1987 season, he accompanied him to Los Angeles. For the next six seasons, he coached the Trojan tackles and tight ends, including Boulder's Tony Boselli, in addition to handing the special teams coordinator duties.

Bernardi then moved crosstown to UCLA in 1994, where he would spend the next 10 seasons under three different head coaches, responsible for the offensive line and tight ends in addition to being the Bruins recruiting coordinator. In-between his positions at USC and UCLA, he was the head coach at Burroughs High (Burbank) in 1993.

Bernardi was offensive line coach and recruiting coordinator at Northern Arizona for the 2004 season, his lone season in the FCS ranks before Sanford hired him at UNLV.

He graduated from Cal State Northridge with a bachelor's degree in Physical Education in 1976, and earned his teaching credential from Southern California College. He started coaching in 1973 before his 19th birthday at Bell-Jeff High (Burbank, Calif.). After two seasons there, he moved on to his alma mater, Monroe High (North Hills, Calif.), as an assistant for one season (1975), before heading to Fountain Valley (Calif.) High for four seasons (1976-79).

Bernardi has been active in community service outside of coaching. He was a member of the ALS (Lou Gehrig's disease) Association Los Angeles chapter when he was coaching at UCLA, assisting in its fundraising efforts. On two occasions, he represented the ALS Association in Washington, D.C., meeting with United States senators and congressmen.

He was born September 24, 1954 in Burbank, Calif., and graduated from Monroe High School where he lettered in football and was an All-League receiver. He is married to the former Leigh Nasby, who worked as a Stanford Hospital registered nurse the three years they were in the Bay Area. They are the parents of three grown children, Marina and twins Briana and Joe. Marina works for a medical equipment company (BD) in San Antonio. Briana lettered in softball (catcher) at UNLV, where she earned her undergraduate and master's degrees, while Joe lettered in football (center) at Fresno State and is now a graduate assistant at Oregon, working with the offensive line. His brother, Rob, is the long-time athletic director at Nicholls State University (since 2000).

RECORD—He has coached in 378 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach, and has coached in 11 bowl games (1985 Sun, 1986 Aloha, 1988 Rose, 1989 Rose, 1990 Sun, 1992 Freedom, 1995 Aloha, 1997 Cotton, 1998 Rose, 2000 Sun, 2002 Las Vegas, 2003 Silicon Valley, 2012 Military). He has also coached in 11 FCS games for a total of 389 collegiate games.

CHARLES CLARK

Secondary / Safeties

Charles Clark is in his second year as the safeties coach at the University of Colorado, joining Coach Mike MacIntyre's staff on January 1, 2013.

Clark, 30, came to CU from San Jose State, where he coached the defensive backs under MacIntyre for three seasons there after following him to San Jose from Duke. Two of his top players for the Spartans included three-time first-team All-Western Athletic Conference performer, Duke Ihenacho, who signed as a free agent with the Denver Broncos and made their roster, and Peyton Thompson, who was a free agent with the Atlanta Falcons.

In 2012, San Jose State led the WAC in interceptions (15) and turnovers gained (31), while ranking 28th nationally in total defense.

MacIntyre offered him his first full-time assistant position after the two worked together at Duke, where he worked two seasons. In 2008, he joined the Duke staff under head coach David Cutcliffe as a quality control intern for the defense and had scouting, film breakdown and recruiting responsibilities in addition to assisting the special teams coordinator and defensive assistant coaches. In 2009, he was promoted to a graduate assistant position assigned to the defensive unit, with game day duties including relaying signals to the Blue Devils' players on the field.

Clark lettered four years as a safety at Mississippi, playing for Cutcliffe as a freshman and sophomore (2003-04) and then for Ed Orgeron as an upperclassman. He played in 47 career games and started every game his sophomore through senior seasons (34 in all). As a sophomore, he led the team in tackles with 76 (57 solo), even getting the better of his roommate, future Butkus Award winner and San Francisco 49er, Patrick Willis (he had 70).

He recorded 198 career tackles (127 solo) with three interceptions, 12 passes broken up and five fumble recoveries. As a freshman, he played in the Cotton Bowl when Ole Miss defeated No. 21 Oklahoma State, 31-28, to finish 10-3 on the season. As a senior, he was appointed a team captain. He was on the Southeastern Conference Honor Roll, was a member of Ole Miss' Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and participated in the 2005 NCAA Leadership Conference.

He graduated from Ole Miss in 2007 with a degree in Business (Banking & Finance); he also took master's degree classes in humanities when he was at Duke. After graduation, he worked briefly in private business prior to entering the coaching ranks.

He was born July 28, 1984 in Eustis, Fla., and graduated from Clay High School (Green Cove Springs, Fla.), where he lettered in football, basketball and track and field. He is the father of two, daughter CadeMorgan (7) and son Charles IV (2).

RECORD—He has coached in 50 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach, including one bowl game (2012 Military).

JIM JEFFCOAT

Defensive Tackles

Jim Jeffcoat is in his second year at the University of Colorado, joining new head coach Mike MacIntyre's staff on January 1, 2013. He now coaches the defensive tackles, after coaching both the defensive ends and tackles in his first season in Boulder.

Jeffcoat, 53, came to CU from San Jose State, where he coached the defensive line under MacIntyre for two seasons. In addition to his coaching acumen, he also brings over two decades of experience as a player and coach in the National Football League to the Buffalo coaching staff.

In 2012, he coached a Spartan defensive line in which all four starters accounted for 35 total sacks, led by 13 from the Western Athletic Conference player of the year, Travis Johnson; each player ranked in the nation's top 100, making San Jose State the only school to have four linemen to accomplish that feat. Along with Florida State, they were the only two schools to have all four linemen garner All-Conference honors. He made an immediate impact in his first year at San Jose, coaching Johnson to first-team All-WAC status and Travis Raciti to become one of the top defensive freshmen in the league.

Jeffcoat joined SJSU in March 2011 after coaching the defensive linemen at the University of Houston for the 2008 through 2010 seasons, where he coached three players, Phil Hunt, Tyrell Graham and Jake Ebner to All-Conference USA accolades.

He was a first round draft selection by Dallas in the 1983 (the 23rd overall pick), and he went on to enjoy a 15-year career with the Cowboys (1983-94) and the Buffalo Bills (1995-97). One of the league's most durable, reliable, productive and consistent defensive linemen, he played in 227 games in the league, one of the top 50 numbers in NFL history. He concluded his career with 102½ quarterback sacks (still among the top 25 all-time), two interceptions, both of which he returned for touchdowns, one of which covered 65 yards in a 28-21 win over the New York Giants in 1985.

During his time in professional football that spanned 22 years as a player and coach, he went to the playoffs 11 times: eight times as a player and three times as a coach, nine times with Dallas and twice with Buffalo. He was a member of Super Bowl XXVII and XXVIII champion teams with Dallas (1992, 1993 seasons). Ironically, he concluded his career with the team that Dallas defeated twice to win the world championship.

After retiring from playing professionally, Jeffcoat turned his eye toward coaching and returned to Dallas and began his career as a defensive line assistant with the Cowboys under head coach Chan Gailey in 1998. When Dave Campo was named head coach in 2000, Jeffcoat was promoted to the defensive end coach, a position he would hold the next five seasons, the last two under head coach Bill Parcells. That is when he first crossed paths with MacIntyre, who was on Parcells' staff those same two years.

He graduated from Arizona State with a bachelor's degree in Communication in 1982. A three-year starter at defensive end, he was the force behind the Sun Devils' No. 1 ranked defense in the NCAA as a senior, which allowed a paltry 228.9 yards per game in 1982. He recorded 95 tackles that season, earning first-team All-Pac 10 and honorable mention All-America honors. He was the defensive player of the game in ASU's 32-21 win over Oklahoma in the Fiesta Bowl, posting a dominant performance against the Sooners which would land him in the bowl's Hall of Fame in 1991. He went on to play in both the East-West Shrine Game and the Senior bowl, and Arizona State inducted him into its Athletic Hall of Fame in 1994.

Jeffcoat has long been active in community service. In 1991, the New Jersey Sportswriters Association bestowed upon him its Unsung Hero Award for community service; in 2000, he and his Cowboys defensive players participated in the team's "Lineman Weigh-In" sponsored by Campbell Soup that resulted in a donation of 21,064 cans of soup to The Salvation Army Irving Corps Community Center and the Faith Mission Food Bank in Wichita Falls, Texas. He was also the 2012 recipient of the Believing in Youth Award, presented by the Santa Fe Youth Services of Fort Worth, Texas.

He was born April 1, 1961 in Long Branch, N.J., and graduated from Matawan (N.J.) Regional High School, where he lettered in football, wrestling and track. He is married to the former Tamara Young, and the couple has five children, Jaren (29), twins Jackson and Jacqueline (23), Jasmine (15) and Quinton (13). Jaren lettered four years in basketball at Norwich University; Jackson lettered four seasons at defensive end at the University of Texas, and was the recipient of the Ted Hendricks Award as the nation's top DE; and Jacqueline is a senior on the Texas State women's basketball team.

RECORD—He has coached in 76 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach, including three bowl games (2008 Armed Forces, 2009 Armed Forces, 2012 Military). In the NFL, he coached in 112 regular season and three playoff games.

ANDY LaRUSSA

Defensive Ends

Andy LaRussa is in his second year at the University of Colorado, joining new head coach Mike MacIntyre's staff on January 1, 2013. He now coaches the defensive ends after working with the cornerbacks in his first season in Boulder.

LaRussa, 34, came to CU from San Jose State, where he coached the defensive backs, in particular the corners, and was the assistant special teams coordinator under MacIntyre for two seasons.

In his first season at Colorado, the cornerbacks made six interceptions, their most as a group in seven seasons; junior Greg Henderson snared four of those, also the most by an individual since 2007.

He joined the Spartans' staff after spring practice (in June 2011), but would have a successful first year despite not having the benefit of working with the players in the spring. In his first season, his cornerbacks helped the team nearly double its turnovers gained (from 18 to 33). SJSU's top corner that season, Peyton Thompson, signed as a free agent with the Atlanta Falcons. In 2012, he helped coach first-team All-Western Athletic Conference performer Bene Benwikere, who tied for second in the NCAA with seven interceptions.

Prior to joining the San Jose State, he spent two seasons at Northern Arizona, where he coached the cornerbacks and all phases of the kicking game. He was an integral component of a defensive staff that produced the top-ranked team in the Big Sky Conference in scoring defense, rushing defense and quarterback sacks in 2010. NAU was ranked in the top 25 in rushing defense (5th), quarterback sacks (10th), total defense (14th) and pass defense (22nd). He produced four players who earned All-Big Sky Conference honors.

LaRussa broke into Division I coaching as a defensive graduate assistant at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas under head coach Mike Sanford. In four seasons from 2005-08, at one time he worked with the linemen, linebackers and secondary during his tenure, while also serving as was UNLV's assistant special teams coordinator, assistant video coordinator and assistant strength and conditioning coach.

He helped coach four Rebel players to All-Mountain West Conference honors, including the 2008 MWC Defensive Player of the Year in linebacker Beau Bell. He was a fourth round draft selection by the Cleveland Browns in 2009, which two years earlier had drafted defensive back Eric Wright (second-team All-MWC) in the second round. LaRussa also tutored defensive back Jay Staggs and tackle Malo Taumua, both honorable mention All-MWC performers.

A defensive end and linebacker in college, he played for two seasons at Glendale (Calif.) College before transferring to Southern Utah University for his junior and senior years. He played professionally for a brief time with the Ostia Marines of NFL Italy in the spring of both 2003 and 2004 and also was a member of the Italian National Team.

He also got his start in coaching with Ostia (defense and special teams) as well as at his high school alma mater, St. Francis in La Canada, Calif., where he was the defensive line coach and special teams coordinator for the 2003 and 2004 seasons once he returned to the states each year from overseas.

He graduated from Southern Utah with a bachelor's degree in Physical Education in December 2002, and while he was at UNLV, he took graduate courses toward a master's in Education.

He was born June 11, 1980 in Reno, Nevada, and graduated from St. Francis, where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. He is married to the former Briana Bernardi, and his hobbies including golfing. He holds dual citizenship in the United States and Italy.

RECORD—He has coached in 37 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach, including one bowl game (2012 Military)

TOBY NEINAS

Special Teams Coordinator

Toby Neinas is in his second year as the special teams coordinator at the University of Colorado, joining new head coach Mike MacIntyre's staff on February 25, 2013, and in the process, returned to the city where he spent much of his childhood. He is in his 19th season as a full-time collegiate coach.

Neinas, 42, came to CU from Montana State, where he coached the secondary for the 2012 season. The Bobcats were 11-2 in his one season there, tri-champions of the Big Sky Conference, reaching the Football Championship Division (FCS) quarterfinals where they lost to Sam Houston State. Montana State was 14th in the nation in pass efficiency defense under Neinas' guidance (a paltry 112.72 rating), and the opponent completing just 52.6 percent of their passes (11th in FCS) with 13 interceptions.

His first special team units at CU saw a few struggle out of the gate – kickoff and punt coverage and kickoff return – but over the last nine weeks of the season, they ranked eighth, 40th and 25th nationally. And combined, placekicker Will Oliver made 47-of-54 kicks (all 30 PATs and 17-of-24 field goals), the best by a CU kicker with 50 or more tries since All-American Mason Crosby in 2005 (52-of-59).

Prior to his only year coaching on the FCS level, he spent three years at the University of New Mexico (2009-11), coaching the linebackers all three seasons and serving as defensive coordinator in his final year there and as the special teams coordinator the first two. He coached two All-Mountain West Conference performers at UNM, punter Adam Miller and linebacker Carmen Messina, who led the nation in tackles in 2009 (162 as a sophomore); he repeated as a first-teamer in 2010 and finished his career as the conference's all-time leader in tackles.

Neinas coached three seasons under coach Chuck Long at San Diego State (2006-08), coordinating the special teams all three years along with coaching the Aztec tight ends in 2006 and 2007 and the outside linebackers his last year there. At SDSU, he coached punter Michael Hughes to honorable mention All-America honors in 2007 (Hughes ranked 13th in the nation with a 43.9 average), and tutored Tyler Schmitt, the only long snapper specialist selected in the 2008 NFL Draft (sixth round by Seattle). He also trebled the output by Aztec tight ends between his first and second years coaching the position (38 receptions for 310 yards and two touchdowns compared to 10-107 and zero).

His first full-time coaching position was with the University of Alabama-Birmingham, where he would spend seven seasons (1996-2002) and coached numerous positions under coach Watson Brown: the outside linebackers, defensive ends, safeties, running backs and tight ends. At UAB, he coached four Blazers that were selected in the NFL Draft, including defensive end Bryan Thomas, a first round pick by the New York Jets in 2002 (22nd overall), when defensive tackle Eddie Freeman was also selected (second round, 43rd overall, Kansas City Chiefs).

He moved on to Temple University under coach Bobby Wallace for the next four years (2002-05), coaching the defensive line the first two seasons and then the inside linebackers. In 2002, he coached the Big East Conference's Defensive Player of the Year, tackle Dan Klecko, and his line helped the Owls rank 15th nationally in rushing defense (108.3 yards per game).

Neinas graduated from the University of Missouri with a Bachelor's degree in History in 1995. It was at Missouri where he began his coaching career, working with the secondary as a student assistant under head coach Bob Stull for the 1993 and 1994 seasons. He then worked as a graduate assistant under Mack Brown at North Carolina in 1995, with the Tar Heels defeating Arkansas in the CarQuest Bowl to finish with a 7-5 record.

He was born September 1, 1971 in Kansas City, Kan., he graduated from Boulder High School where he lettered in football for the legendary prep coach, Dave Ramsey. His hobbies include skiing, cycling and paddling; as a high school student, he worked as a runner in CU's Fred Casotti Press Box. He is married to the former Cassie Johnson, and the couple has two sons, Charlie (4) and Henry (2).

His father, Chuck, is a longtime college administrator, including serving as the commissioner of the Big Eight Conference for a decade (1971-80), the executive director of the College Football Association (CFA, 1980-97) and most recently as the interim commissioner of the Big 12 (2011-12), with many crediting him as saving the conference. The CFA was based in Boulder, thus the younger Neinas spent his latter grade school through high school years here.

RECORD—He has coached in 208 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach, including one bowl game (1995 CarQuest). He has coached six players who were drafted and went on to play in the NFL: Russell Allen, Eddie Freeman, Dan Klecko, Carmen Messina, Bryan Thomas and Ryan Wallace.

TROY WALTERS

Receivers / Recruiting Coordinator

Troy Walters is in his second year as the wide receivers coach at the University of Colorado, joining new head coach Mike MacIntyre's staff on January 9, 2013. He also handles recruiting coordinator duties for the program.

Walters, 37, came to CU from North Carolina State, where he coached the wide receivers for one season under head coach Tom O'Brien.

In his first year at Colorado, he coached All-Pac-12 receiver Paul Richardson, who set school single-season marks for receptions (83) and yards (1,343), two of the 44 records he established for shared in his CU career; he was the first Buff wide receiver to earn first-team All-Conference honors since 1997, when Phil Savoy did so in the old Big 8. The average gain per completion jumped to 12.7 yards per catch from 10.4 the year before, as his influence on yards after the catch was more than evident – it was the highest average per completion since a 13.3 norm in 2001, and the 2.3-yard increase from one season to the next was the largest at CU in 25 seasons.

At N.C. State, he tutored a trio of balanced receivers – Tobais Palmer, Quintin Payton and Bryan Underwood – to a combined 149 catches for 2,199 yards and 18 touchdowns (with seven 100-yard games), as all had at least 44 receptions and 620 yards. He spent the previous two seasons (2010-11) on Mike Sherman's staff at Texas A&M, where he coached a pair of school record-setting receivers in Ryan Swope and Jeff Fuller. In 2010, both players set the A&M record for single-season receptions with 72, while Fuller set the mark for receiving yards with 1,066. A year later, Swope broke both of those marks with 89 catches for 1,207 yards.

Walters began his coaching career at Indiana State under Trent Miles, where he was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks and receivers coach for the 2009 season.

He lettered four times at wide receiver for Coach Tyrone Willingham at Stanford from 1996-99. As a senior in 1999, he was a consensus All-American, the recipient of the Biletnikoff Award, presented to the nation's top wide receiver, and the Pac-10 Conference Offensive Player of the Year. That season, he had 74 receptions for 1,456 yards and 10 touchdowns, averaging 19.7 yards per catch and 132.4 yards per game (with a long catch of 98 yards). He also led the Cardinal in all-purpose yards (1,871) in helping Stanford to an 8-4 record, its first Pac-10 championship since 1971 and a berth in the Rose Bowl opposite Wisconsin. He was a first-team All-Pac 10 performer as a sophomore in 1997 (kick returner) and in 1999, while garnering second-team honors as a junior in 1998.

He still holds the Stanford records for receptions: career (244, also a Pac-10 best) and single-season (86 in 1997) as well as yards: career (3,986), single-season (1,456 in 1999) and single-game (278 versus UCLA in 1999). His career 26 touchdowns are now the second-most, but he still holds the mark for most 100-yard games (19).

He graduated from Stanford with a bachelor's degree in Communications in 1999, earning Academic All-America honors as a senior and was twice honored on the All-Pac 10 Academic Team. He earned his master's degree in Sociology (organizational behavior) from Stanford in 2000.

A fifth round draft choice by Minnesota in the 2000 National Football League draft, he played eight years in the NFL with the Vikings (2000-01), Indianapolis (2002-05), Arizona (2006) and Detroit (2007). He played in 98 games as a professional, making 98 receptions for 1,135 yards and nine touchdowns, with 117 kickoff returns for 2,594 yards (22.2 avg.) and 139 punt returns for 1,241 yards (8.9 per). His top season as a receiver came in 2003 with the Colts, when he caught 36 passes thrown to him by Peyton Manning, for 456 yards and three touchdowns; Indianapolis qualified for the playoffs all four of his seasons with the team.

He was born December 15, 1976 in Bloomington, Ind., and graduated from A&M Consolidated High School (College Station, Texas), where he lettered in football, basketball and track. He is the son of long-time college and NFL coach Trent Walters (coaching stops included Indiana, Louisville, Washington and Notre Dame in college and Minnesota and Cincinnati in the pros). His hobbies include golf and traveling. He is married to the former Josephine Jackson, and the couple has a son, Tate Jackson (1).

RECORD—He has coached in 51 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach, including three bowl games (2011 Cotton, 2011 Meineke Car Care, 2012 Music City).

FOOTBALL SUPPORT STAFF

DAVE FORMAN Director of Sports Performance

Dave Forman is in his second year as the director of sports performance at the University of Colorado, officially joining the staff on January 7, 2013.

Forman, 35, joined the Buffalo staff from San Jose State University, where he was the football strength and conditioning coach under Mike MacIntyre for two seasons, having joined the Spartan staff in January 2011. When MacIntyre was hired as head coach at Colorado, he came to Boulder along with several other SJSU coaches and staff members.

He had an immediate impact on the CU program: from 2010 through 2012, the Buffaloes lost 274 games due to injury by players in the two-deep, an average of 91 per season; in 2013, that number dropped to 23, much of it credited to his training techniques.

Forman had moved up the road to San Jose State from Stanford, where he served three years as a Cardinal strength and conditioning assistant coach (2008-10), where he worked directly with the football and wrestling programs. Stanford's football team had a banner season his final year there, going 12-1 in 2010 (a school record number for wins), including a 40-12 rout of No. 13 Virginia Tech in the Orange Bowl en route to finishing fourth in both final major polls (Associated Press, Coaches). The Cardinal made back-to-back bowl appearances in 2009-10, a program first in nearly 20 years (1991-92). The wrestling team finished a university all-time best 11th at the 2011 NCAA Championships.

Forman got his start in strength and conditioning as an undergraduate student assistant at James Madison, working under Greg Werner while as a member of the football team, from 1999-2002. He then had the opportunity to intern for the Detroit Tigers organization during the team's 2004 spring training in Lakeland, Fla.

In 2005, Forman switched coasts, as he worked as a volunteer in strength and conditioning at the University of Southern California. He then decided to go back to school for his Master's, becoming a graduate assistant at the University of Mississippi for the 2005-06 athletic year. He completed a summer internship at the University of Notre Dame in 2006, where he worked with the football program.

Forman's first full-time coaching position in the business came as an assistant coach at Sacramento State in the fall of 2006, where he worked with the football and women's basketball teams. In 2007, he became Northern Arizona University's assistant strength and conditioning coach before moving on to Stanford.

He graduated with a Bachelor's degree in Kinesiology in 2002 from James Madison University, where he lettered three times for the Dukes in football at both linebacker and safety. He earned his Master's degree in Exercise Science from Mississippi while working as an S&C grad assistant in 2006.

A native of Glendale, N.Y., he graduated from St. Francis Prep High (Fresh Meadows, N.Y.). He is certified by the Collegiate Strength & Conditioning Coaches Association (CSCCa).

GAIL PEDERSON Associate AD/Chief of Staff/ Ralphie Program Director

Gail Pederson is in her 19th year as a member of the University of Colorado athletic department, her 10th in her second stint with the program and her first as Associate Athletic Director/Football Chief of Staff.

In serving as the chief of staff for Mike MacIntyre's program, she works closely with internal and external constituencies to prioritize projects and commitments.

She also is in her 17th year managing one of the unique traditions in all of college football, as Pederson is the Ralphie Program Director; in that role, she coordinates all aspects surrounding CU's live buffalo mascot, Ralphie.

Pederson originally joined the CU staff on August 1, 1994, as the assistant marketing and promotions director. She was named promotions director on July 1, 1996 and eventually would oversee most of the department's marketing efforts by the time she ended her first tour of duty with the school in early 2004.

Upon her return to Boulder in the summer of 2005 under then-athletic director Mike Bohn, she was at first his top administrative aide. However, the role would soon morph into that of the athletic department's first-ever chief of staff, a position that carried associate AD status and one that she held until transitioning into a similar role with the football program in the spring of 2014. She was actively involved in the transition to the Pac-12 Conference serving on the first Pac-12 Football Championship Committee and as CU's liaison in the launch of the Pac-12 Network.

For a brief time early in Rick George's tenure as athletic director, she assumed the role of associate AD for capital projects as the department proposed and had approved a $143 million expansion, playing a vital role in much of the behind-the-scenes work.

Pederson first took on the duties of the Ralphie Program in 1998, following the passing of Ralphie III; she helped coordinate the school working with Ted Turner's ranch to adopt Ralphie IV, and was also heavily involved in the transition to Ralphie V in 2008. She managed the program from 1998-2004 and assumed the role again upon her return to CU in 2005.

She left Boulder for about 18 months from 2004 to 2005 due to a family illness, during which time she lived in southern California. While based there, she was the Marketing/Public Relations Director at the University of California Riverside in Palm Desert, assisting in the opening of a new MBA and MFA graduate school.

Prior to coming to Colorado, she spent seven years (1987-94) as the associate executive director of the Orange County Sports Association. While with the OCSA, which handled both the Freedom Bowl and Disneyland Pigskin Classic, she was on the selection committee for several NCAA events and traveled as a bowl scout. She was quite familiar with the CU program as she was present when CU played Brigham Young in the 1988 Freedom Bowl and then Tennessee in the 1990 Pigskin game (which kicked off CU's national championship season).

She began her career in sports working for the California Angels for four years (1978-82), where she was an assistant director in the public relations office. She was on the staff when the Angels won their first American League West Division title in 1979. Following her time in major league baseball, she worked five years as a senior park ranger for Orange County (1982-87).

A 1977 graduate of Cal-State University Fullerton, she earned her bachelor's degree in Business Administration. She also earned her master's degree in environmental studies from CSUF, and received an executive certificate from the Sports Management Institute (from North Carolina and Southern Cal) in 1991.

A native of Milwaukee, Wis., she graduated from El Modena High School in Orange, Calif. Her hobbies include hiking, yoga, golf and traveling (most recently including Alaska, the Galapagos, Iceland and the Arctic Circle). She is active with the Rocky Mountain Puppy Rescue and the Boulder Valley Humane Society and their fundraising projects. She is married to Chris Kingdon and lives in Boulder with their dogs (always adopting rescues).

BRYAN MCGINNIS Director of Football Operations

Brian McGinnis is in his second year as the director of football operations at the University of Colorado, having joined Mike MacIntyre's new Buffalo staff on January 2, 2013.

McGinnis, 33, served in the same capacity under MacIntyre for two seasons at San Jose State University, and thus accepted the invitation to follow him to Boulder. A life-long resident of the San Francisco Bay area, this marks his first time he has ever lived outside of Northern California.

Prior to being promoted to being in charge of San Jose State's football operations, he spent six years on the Spartans' coaching staff, working a variety of positions as an operations assistant in recruiting, equipment and video services. He also was a student assistant working with the defense, the linebackers in particular, the 2005 through 2007 seasons, and then switched sides, working as a graduate assistant on offense (running backs) for the 2008 and 2010 season; in-between, in 2009 he was the staff's operations assistant.

At San Jose, he was on the staffs of two teams that earned bowl invitations: the Spartans defeated New Mexico, 20-12, in the 2006 New Mexico Bowl (their first bowl since 1990) and beat Bowling Green, 29-20, in the 2012 Military Bowl. Those are the only two bowl games SJSU has ever played outside the state of California.

McGinnis played wide receiver for two years (2000-01) at Cabrillo College in Aptos, and then got into coaching, beginning his career at his alma mater, Harbor High School, where he spent two years as the school's offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach. In 2003, he joined the San Francisco 49ers staff as an intern in the player personnel department.

He then returned to school to finish his degree, graduating from San Jose State with Bachelor's in Kinesiology in 2007. While working with football, he took several graduate courses in Hospitality, Tourism and Recreation Management.

He was born June 22, 1981 in Santa Cruz, Calif., and graduated from Harbor High School there, lettering in football and track. He is a certified speed training coach by SAC (Speed, Agility & Conditioning USA/Canada). He is married to the former Vrinda Murphy, who is a behavior therapist for children with autism; the couple has one daughter, Emily Margaret (born this past May).

ADAM TOYAMA Director of Football Recruiting

Adam Toyama is in his second year as the director of football recruiting at the University of Colorado, having joined Mike MacIntyre's new Buffalo staff on January 2, 2013.

Toyama, 32, joined the Colorado staff from San Jose State University, where he was the coordinator of football relations for the 2011 and 2012 seasons under MacIntyre; he was offered a promotion to direct all aspects of recruiting and thus accepted his invitation to follow him to Boulder.

Prior to joining MacIntyre at San Jose State, he was a recruiting and operations assistant at UNLV for two seasons under head coaches Mike Sanford (2009) and Bobby Hauck (2010). Before taking the UNLV job, he worked in facilities operations at Stanford.

Toyama earned his Bachelor's degree in Health, Exercise and Lifestyle Management from the University of Hawai'i in 2004, and went on to earn a Master's in Sports Management from the University of San Francisco in 2007. While earning his graduate degree, he spent over a year as an operations intern with the National Football League's San Francisco 49ers and for the 2006 season, he worked in suite sales and client relations for the Oakland Raiders.

He was born July 24, 1982 in Honolulu, Hawai'i, and graduated from the St. Louis School there, where he earned letters in volleyball and a sport unique to the islands, canoe paddling.

DARIAN HAGAN Director of Player Development

Darian Hagan, one of the names synonymous with Colorado's rise to glory in the late 1980s, is in his 10th season overall on the CU staff, shifting from coach into the role of director of player development in January 2013.

Hagan, 44, spent the previous two years as the director of player personnel (2011-12) under head coach Jon Embree. He worked five seasons (2006-10) as running backs coach for head coach Dan Hawkins, as he was one of two assistant coaches retained by Hawkins when he was named to the position in December 2005.

He was named an offensive assistant coach on Gary Barnett's staff on February 9, 2005, and worked with the skill position players on offense in the spring and fall in his first year as a full-time collegiate assistant.

A popular coach with his players yet with a stern touch, he was coaching true freshman Rodney Stewart on the way to a 1,000-yard season in 2008 until a season-ending injury sidelined him in the ninth game of the 2008 season. Stewart's 622 yards were the third most by a CU freshman in school history. In 2010, Stewart hit the plateau and then some, rushing for 1,318 yards and in position to threaten many of the school's all-time rushing marks. In 2007, Hagan tutored Hugh Charles to a 1,000-yard year including the Independence Bowl; he has since gone on to play successfully in Canada.

Hagan made a difference in his first season (2006) mentoring the running backs, as CU had three 500-plus yard rushers for just the 10th time in its history. He also played a role in the development of quarterback Bernard Jackson, as Hagan's own skills of blending the run and the pass rubbed off on the Buff junior in his first year as a starter.

He had a brief taste of coaching in the spring of 2004 as he subbed as secondary coach when the staff was minus a full-time assistant. Otherwise, he was the defensive technical intern for the '04 season, assuming that role in February of that year. It marked the third time he has made the University of Colorado his destination of choice.

He starred at quarterback for the Buffaloes between 1988 and 1991, leading the school to its first national championship, and following his professional playing career, returned to CU in the mid-1990s to work as the Alumni C Club Director.

Hagan left CU in the spring of 1998 to work as an area sales manager for the Transit Marketing Group. Three months into his new position, he was promoted to Southeast Regional Sales Manager. He remained in that position for over five years until deciding to pursue his dream as a coach and return to his alma mater for the third time. By working as a technical intern, he learned the intricacies of the profession in a hands-on role in his desire to coach; when a temporary vacancy opened on the staff, he was "activated" as a coach to work with the defensive backs and it added to his penchant for the profession.

Arguably the best all-around athlete in the history of the CU football program, he was an integral part of CU's run at two national championships in 1989 and 1990. The Buffs were 11-1 in 1989, losing to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, but went 11-1-1 in 1990 with a win over the Irish in an Orange Bowl rematch to give CU its first national title in football. CU was 28-5-2 with him as the starting quarterback for three seasons, including a 20-0-1 mark in Big Eight Conference games as he led the Buffs to three straight league titles in 1989, 1990 and 1991. His 28-5-2 record as a starter (82.9 winning percentage) is the 37th best in college football history.

In 1989, he became just the sixth player in NCAA history at the time to run and pass for over 1,000 yards in the same season, finishing, as just a sophomore, fifth in the balloting for the Heisman Trophy. He established the school record for total offense with 5,808 yards (broken three years later by Kordell Stewart), and is one of two players ever at CU to amass over 2,000 yards both rushing and passing along with Bobby Anderson. He was a two-time all-Big Eight performer, and the league's offensive player of the year for 1989 when he also was afforded various All-America honors. He still holds several CU records and was the school's male athlete-of-the-year for the 1991-92 academic year.

In 2002, he was a member of the fourth class to be inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame, and his jersey (No. 3) is one of several to have been honored. The Colorado Sports Hall of Fame finally recognized his achievements as well, inducting him into its prestigious group in the Class of 2014.

Hagan played for Toronto, Las Vegas and Edmonton over the course of five seasons in the Canadian Football League, mostly as a defensive back and special teams performer. He returned to CU to earn his diploma just prior to his last professional season, and graduated with a bachelor's degree in sociology in May 1996. He was hired later that year (December 1) as the Alumni C Club Director, a position he held for 16 months until leaving for an incredible opportunity in private business.

He was born February 1, 1970 in Lynwood, Calif., and graduated from Los Angeles' Locke High School in 1988, where he lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track. He was drafted in two sports, football (by San Francisco in the fourth round in the 1992 NFL Draft) and baseball (selected as a shortstop by both Seattle and Toronto). He is the father two sons, Darian, Jr. (24), who played defensive back at California, and the late DeV Vaughn (who passed away on December 6, 2010 at the age of 19), and a daughter, Danielle (18).

KATIE BASON Director of Football Academics

Katie Bason is in her second year as the director of football academics at the University of Colorado, having joined Mike MacIntyre's new Buffalo staff on January 7, 2013.

Bason, 31, joined the Colorado staff from San Jose State, where she spent the previous two years (2011-12) as the academic learning specialist for the football program under MacIntyre. When MacIntyre accepted the CU job, he built in the newly created position of director of academics and offered it to her. Prior to working specifically with the Spartans' football program, she spent a year as a learning specialist for the athletic department.

Prior to her three years at SJSU, she worked seven years with her alma mater, Wake Forest University, her main emphasis working with at-risk student athletes on improving study habits and skills. She also worked as a high school teacher in Charlotte and Winston-Salem, N.C., her courses including English, world history, civics and economics. She also held various operations positions for the Teach for America branch office in Charlotte.

Bason graduated from Wake Forest with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Education in 2005, where she was a member of the Dean's List. As a student at WFU, she was a manager for the Demon Deacons men's basketball team.

She was born June 29, 1983 in Martinsville, Va., and graduated from Carlisle High School there, where she lettered in football and baseball; she was the only girl on the varsity baseball team, and was for four years. She played for the Chicago Storm women's baseball team (the 2002 Roy Hobbess National Champions) as well as the 2002 U-21 U.S. women's national team.

JOE BLEYMAIER

Assistant Director of Quality Control

Joe Bleymaier is in his second year as the assistant director of quality control for the offense at the University of Colorado football program, having joined Mike MacIntyre's first Buffalo staff on April 15, 2013.

He graduated from the University of Delaware with a Bachelor's degree in History in 2005, and earned his J.D. degree in Law from Marquette University in 2009.

At Delaware, he lettered four years for coach K.C. Keeler at wide receiver (2002-05), where he had 74 career receptions for 864 yards (11.7 per catch) and 10 touchdowns; he also scored a touchdown rushing. His playing career did not overlap with quarterback Joe Flacco, who transferred to Delaware in 2005 but was ineligible to play until the following season, but they were teammates Bleymaier's senior year. As a sophomore in 2003, when he started seven games, the Blue Hens finished with a 15-1 record, capped off with a 40-0 win over Colgate to win the I-AA National Championship.

He was an assistant coach at Milwaukee's Wauwatosa East High School for the 2006 and 2007 seasons while attending law school, and spent three summers (2007-09) as a football operations intern with the Philadelphia Eagles in the National Football League. After he earned his law degree, he moved out west where he worked the better part of two years as the assistant director of compliance at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif. In the spring of 2011, he moved to Mountain View, Calif., and co-founded an early stage tech start-up with his younger brother, Tom.

He was born August 9, 1982 in Boise, Idaho, and spent his entire childhood there, as he is the son of longtime Boise State athletic director Gene Bleymaier (who is now the AD at San Jose State). He graduated from Boise's Bishop Kelly High School where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. He was a three-time Academic All-Atlantic 10 Conference team member his sophomore through senior years at Delaware and was the Newark Elks Club Scholar Athlete of the Year and Outstanding Senior at End for 2005. He is married to the former Stephanie Gilbertson.

A.J. BAER

Graduate Assistant (Offense)

A.J. Baer is in his first year as an offensive graduate assistant, as he joined the staff on February 24, 2014. His primary role is assisting Gary Bernardi with the offensive line, working with Klayton Adams with the running backs and tight ends, as well as general overall duties with the entire offense.

Baer, 26, joined the CU staff from San Jose State, where he also spent the 2012 and 2013 seasons as a graduate assistant coach; he worked primarily with the defensive coaches.

He worked as a student assistant in coach at Washington State University under coach Paul Wulff for the 2011 season; while there, he completed his undergraduate degree in Social Sciences/General Studies, with a minor in Sports Management, graduating in December 2011.

Baer played collegiately as a safety at Glendale Community College and Mesa (Ariz.) Community College, named one of the team captains at the latter. He was an All-American at Mesa, and earned a scholarship to attend Western Washington, but they dropped its football program three weeks before the 2009 season. He then chose to remain in the state of Washington and joined the Washington State program as a walk-on, but eventually a knee injury sidelined his career.

He was born March 24, 1988 in Walnut Creek, Calif.; he graduated from Mountlake Terrace High School (Brier, Wash.), where he lettered in football (he attended there one year; prior, he attended Mountain Pointe High School outside of Phoenix, and he lettered in football and track (sprints). He is the son of CU's defensive coordinator, Kent Baer. He has assisted his dad with the New Era Bowl in Japan on two occasions (the game annually integrates top Japanese college players with selected American players and coaches). A.J. stands for Aaron James.

OMAR YOUNG

Director of Quality Control

Omar Young is in his second year as the director of quality control for the defense and special teams at the University of Colorado, having joined Mike MacIntyre's first Buffalo staff on February 26, 2013. He also coordinates special projects for the head coach.

Young, 30, joined the Colorado staff from San Jose State, where he spent the previous two years (2011-12) under MacIntyre as a graduate assistant. He worked with the special teams in addition to handling the Spartans' quality control duties, assisted in a variety of other areas such as recruiting, game plans and scouting reports, and coached in SJSU's 29-20 win over Bowling Green in the Military Bowl. When MacIntyre accepted the CU job, he created CU's first-ever quality control position and brought in the experienced Young to fill the role.

He graduated cum laude with a Bachelor's degree in History from Savannah State University in 2005, and earned his Master's in Sport Management from the University of San Francisco in 2008. At San Jose State, he was working on a second Master's degree, this time in Counselor Education.

Young first attended Willamette University in Salem, Ore., where played two years as a defensive back for coach Mark Speckman. He earned honorable mention All-Northwest Conference honors in 2001 when he was the Bearcats' co-freshman of the year.

While completing his undergraduate degree, he worked as a student assistant and video coordinator for Savannah State's football program, essentially starting his coaching career path in 2004. Two years later, in 2006, he returned to his native Oakland and served an assistant coach (receivers, secondary) at Fremont High School, and then moved on to the San Jose SaberCats of the Arena Football League for the 2007 season, working as a player personnel intern.

After the AFL season was concluded, he worked as an administrative assistant and player liaison for the 2007 Emerald Bowl game in San Francisco between Oregon State and Maryland. Young then spent time with the NFL's Oakland Raiders, working the 2008 season in player personnel and as a pro scout intern.

He then returned to coaching, first with De Anza College (Cupertino, Calif.) as receivers coach in 2009, and then the following year as the secondary coach and special teams coordinator for Minnesota State University (Moorhead, Minn.). He again returned west in March 2011 where he was the receivers coach for spring practices at Contra Costa College (San Pablo, Calif.) before joining MacIntyre four months later.

He was born September 3, 1983 in Oakland, Calif., and graduated from St. Mary College High School just up the road in Berkeley, where he lettered in football and baseball. Active in community service, he is the planning committee chair for the Lorenzo Alexander ACES Foundation, which was created to provide enrichment programs for youth in both Oakland and the Greater Washington D.C. areas. He is married to the former Noel McCargar, who is a high school English teacher.

J.B. HALL

Graduate Assistant (Defense)

Joe "J.B." Hall is in his second year as a defensive graduate assistant, as he joined the staff on July 22, 2013. His primary role is assisting Kent Baer with the linebackers along with general overall duties with the entire defense. In his first season, he aided Jim Jeffcoat in coaching the defensive line.

Hall, 24, graduated from Adams State College with a degree in Human Performance and Physical Education in May 2013. He lettered four years as a wide receiver for the Grizzlies and head coach Marty Heaton, making 39 receptions for 450 yards (11.5 per catch) and a touchdown. He also threw a touchdown pass that covered 13 yards as a senior against Western New Mexico. A team captain, he earned Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference Academic Team honors.

He was a youth sports camp coordinator at Boulder's Family Learning Center for four summers (2009-12), involved in management, organization, teaching and education. He also was a volunteer coach at Centaurus High School in Lafayette the summer of 2012 and completed over 50 hours of coaching practicum.

He was born November 26, 1989 in Boulder, graduating from Boulder High School where he lettered in football, baseball and track (sprints). His hobbies include hunting, fishing and an assortment of other outdoor activities.

NATE TAYE

Graduate Assistant (Defense)

Nate Taye is in his second year as a defensive graduate assistant coach, as he joined the staff on June 3, 2013. His primary role is coaching the linebackers, assisting Kent Baer with the linebackers along with general overall duties with the entire defense.

Taye, 24, joined CU from the San Jose State football staff, where he was a student assistant his junior and senior years. At SJSU, he also helped Baer with an assortment of duties including breaking down video, working with the scout team and other daily activities. He graduated from SJSU with a degree in Political Science in May 2013 and was a member of the Dean's List.

He was playing jaycee football but wanted to pursue a career in a coaching, so he approached Mike MacIntyre at San Jose about volunteering and eventually earned a student assistant position.

He was born May 16, 1990 and grew up in San Jose, Calif., graduating from Prospect High School in nearby Saratoga, where he lettered in football, basketball and track. His hobbies include movies and video games.

PATRICK WILLIAMS

Graduate Assistant (Offense)

Patrick Williams is in his first year as an offensive graduate assistant coach, as he shifted into the position on July 1, 2014. His primary role is assisting Troy Walter with the receivers as well as general overall duties with the entire offense.

Williams, 28, returned to his alma mater in the last week of August 2013 as the assistant director of recruiting, a position he held until moving into the graduate assistant role.

A team captain as a senior, he finished his CU career ninth all-time in receptions (104) and 18th in receiving yards (1,070), one of just nine players at the time to have both 100 catches and 1,000 yards in a Buffalo career. He caught at least one pass in 44 of 50 career games (including two bowls). He was the recipient of the Eddie Crowder Award for leadership as a senior, and had also received the John Wooten Award for outstanding work ethic prior to the season. He won the Iron Buffalo Award among all the receivers in the spring of his junior and senior years, recognized for his work in the weight room.

He was a member of Gary Barnett's 2004 recruiting class, but he would earn a medical redshirt for his true freshman season after breaking bones in both hands. In the 2006 opener against Montana State, Dan Hawkins' first game as CU head coach, he caught a 42-yard pass from James Cox on CU's first play of the game, which remains the longest gain on any first play of a season in Colorado history.

He signed as a free agent with Green Bay and spent the 2009 season with the Packers; he was then on the practice squads for Seattle (2010) and with Baltimore (2011).

He graduated from Colorado with a degree in Sociology in December 2008. He was honored that year with the Most Improved Student-Athlete Award at CU's Academic Recognition Luncheon.

He was born January 13, 1986 in Dallas, Texas, and graduated from DeSoto (Texas) High School where he was an All-Midlands performer in football and a multi-event performer in track and field. His hobbies include playing basketball, listening to music (particularly R&B) and mentoring young kids back home in DeSoto when he has the chance. Growing up, he played the saxophone and owned a vast collection of bass fishing hooks, and at CU, he regularly led team Bible studies.

STEPHEN ENGLEHART

Assistant Director of Sports Performance

Stephen Englehart is in his fourth year as the assistant director of sports performance, joining the department on April 1, 2011. He works primarily with the football, women's soccer, women's golf and tennis programs.

He is certified as a strength and conditioning specialist by the United States Weightlifting Association (USWA), as well as in FMS (function and movement screening).

Englehart, 33, came to CU from Southern Methodist University, where he worked one year (2010) as the assistant strength and conditioning coach for the Mustangs. That followed one season (2009) as the head football strength coach at Portland State University, his first full-time year in the profession. He got his start in the business as a graduate assistant at the University of Hawai'i, where he spent three years (2006-08). He was on the Warrior staff the year the UH earned a Sugar Bowl invitation against Georgia as a "BCS" buster following a 12-0 regular season in 2007.

While at Hawai'i, he earned his Master's in Kinesiology and Rehabilitation Science in the spring of 2009. He received his Bachelor's degree in Exercise Science from Southeastern Louisiana University in 2005.

He was born June 5, 1981 in New Orleans, and graduated from Fountainebleau High School (Mandeville, La.), where he lettered in basketball. His twin brother, Chad, is an assistant strength coach with the Washington Redskins. He is married to the former Laura Williams (a registered nurse at the Rocky Mountain Cancer Center in Longmont); the couple has two children, Braylon (6) and Coralee (2).

TONY SANDOVAL

Assistant Director of Sports Performance

Tony Sandoval is in second year as the assistant director of sports performance for the University of Colorado, having joined the department in July 2013; he works primarily with the football, men's golf and spirit programs.

In conjunction with working with the golf team, in the spring of 2014, he was certified through the Titleist Performance Institute (TPI) as a Level I performance coach. It is the considered the "gold standard" in current training and performance for golfers, and Sandoval utilizes some of what he learned there and incorporates it into some of aspects for football training.

Sandoval, 38, came to Colorado from the University of the Pacific (Stockton, Calif.), where he spent seven years as the school's director of athletic performance; he oversaw the Tigers' 16 varsity sports programs. His biggest thrill there was when Pacific won the Big West Conference men's basketball tournament in 2013 and battled Miami, Fla., in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

Sandoval joined Pacific in April of 2007 as an assistant director before being promoted to the Director of Athletic Performance a year later. He previously has served as an assistant director of strength and conditioning at Sacramento State from January 2005 through the spring of 2007. While at Sac State, he earned his master's degree in sports performance in December of 2006.

While working at Sacramento State, Sandoval worked with UCLA on a mentorship program that allowed him to travel to Los Angeles approximately once a month to work with Bruin athletics.

Sandoval earned his bachelor's degree in Exercise Science from Cal State San Bernardino in 2004. During his undergraduate studies, Sandoval also served as the boxing coach and the boxing strength and conditioning coach for the city of Chino, Calif.

He was born January 11, 1976 in Los Angeles, and graduated from Ontario (Calif.) High School. He is bilingual (English and Spanish), and his hobbies include bowling. He also has taught preschool in his academic career and started coaching as a teenager.

He was born on August 31, 1988 in Sterling, Colo., and graduated from Rocky Mountain High School in Fort Collins where he played baseball and basketball. His hobbies include basketball, golf and hiking.

JEAN ONAGA
Administrative Assistant

Jean Onaga is in her 29th year with the Colorado football program as the administrative assistant to the assistant coaches, handling all secretarial duties for both the offensive and defensive coordinators and each staff. She also assists the director of football operations and director of recruiting in administrative duties.

Onaga also coordinates all football office volunteers regarding security for spring and fall practices. She facilitates program activities and events including all pro scout visits year-round and the school's annual pro timing day every March. She also coordinated former events such as the coaches' clinic and passing tournament camp, and still assists with registration for various football camps.

She joined the football staff in January 1986 and is the longest continuous employee in the football department; only three current employees have been associated with the entire athletic department longer than her. She has worked with six CU head coaches: Bill McCartney, Rick Neuheisel, Gary Barnett, Dan Hawkins, Jon Embree and now Mike MacIntyre.

For her years of service, Jean was recognized as an honorary member of the Alumni C Club by the Board of Directors during CU-Missouri game on November 3, 2007.

Originally from Honolulu, Hawaii, Jean and her husband Loren moved to Boulder in 1985. She graduated from McKinley High School and graduated from Kapiolani Community College with a degree in business.

SCOTT UNREIN
Operations & Recruiting Assistant

Scott Unrein is in his third year on the University of Colorado football staff as the operations and recruiting assistant, named to the position in July 2012. His primary duties include overseeing the parents program, assisting with on-campus recruiting and daily football operations, including the team's social media coordinator.

Unrein, 26, joined the football staff basically from the other side of Folsom Field, as he worked as an intern for coach Roy Edwards with the CU men's golf team for the 2010-11 season. His role with the team included helping to facilitate and organize the 2011 NCAA Men's Regional Championships that the Buffaloes hosted at Colorado National Golf Club in Erie, Colo.

He graduated from CU in 2011 with a bachelor's degree in Business Administration with an emphasis in Marketing. He also earned his Business of Sports Certificate in 2010.

SUPPORT PROGRAM STAFF

(Biographies for those who have considerable daily interaction with the program.)

JASON DePAEPE
Assistant AD/Facilities

Jason DePaepe is in his 15th year at the University of Colorado and his second as the assistant athletic director for facilities, promoted to that post in February 2013.

He is responsible for overseeing all facility needs for Folsom Field, the Dal Ward Athletic Center, Balch Fieldhouse, Prentup Field, Potts Field, the Football Practice Facility, Kittredge Lacrosse Field, and the Kittredge Tennis Facility.

DePaepe, 40, had served as the athletic turf manager for 12 years prior to his promotion, responsible for all maintenance, renovation, upkeep and painting and design of Folsom Field's natural grass surface as well as the athletic practice fields located just north of Boulder Creek and Prentup Field, home to CU's women's soccer team. He originally joined CU in June 2000 as an assistant turf manager and was promoted to the head position in February 2001. He is considered by many to be one of the best in his field, and he still oversees all of CU's field operations.

The Sports Turf Managers Association (STMA) honored DePaepe and his staff in January 2003, when the organization recognized Folsom Field's turf with the Football Field of the Year Award for the college/university division. STMA has over 2,400 members, so the award, especially in just the fourth season since Folsom returned to natural grass, was quite an honor.

In 2008, he oversaw the complex replacement of SportGrass on the Folsom Field floor with a natural Kentucky blue grass.

He came to CU from the Baltimore Ravens, where he was the assistant field manager for a year. Prior to that, he was employed at Iowa State, where he graduated from in 1999 with Bachelor's degree in Horticulture and Turf Grass Management. He worked two years at ISU as a student turf manager.

He was born May 4, 1974 in Minot, N.D., and graduated from Waterloo (Iowa) West, where he lettered in baseball and basketball. His hobbies include golf and basketball. He is married to the former Kristen Sorensen, CU's former director of special events, and the couple has one daughter, Brielle (1)

J.T. GALLOWAY
Assistant AD/Equipment & Licensing

J.T. Galloway is in his 10th year as CU's director of equipment operations, having joined the athletic department on April 4, 2005. In 2011, he also assumed the role of licensing director, as he is now in his second year coordinating and managing all phases of CU's licensing, logos and imaging and was thus promoted to an assistant athletic director.

Galloway, 46, oversees the equipment needs of CU's 17 intercollegiate sports, but his primary day-to-day obligation remains with the Buffalo football program. He is a certified member of the Athletic Equipment Manager's Association (AEMA), a status he attained in 1995 upon entering the profession full-time.

He is now the fourth person in school history to hit double figures in years serving as the equipment head in CU history. Lee "Silver" Akins handled the chores for 34 years (1936-69), with Bill Crowder heading the area for 17 years and Mike Smith just under 11.

He graduated with a degree in sport management in 1994 from Washington State University, where he worked all four years of his college career as a student employee in the WSU equipment room. He began his professional career as an equipment intern at the University of Virginia in the fall of 1994 and worked there six months. He then moved on to the National Football League's Atlanta Falcons, where he was an assistant equipment manager for the 1995 season.

He returned to the college ranks as the football equipment director at Wake Forest from 1996 to 1998 before heading west to Arizona where he would spend the next six seasons as the associate director of equipment.

Born May 10, 1968 in Columbus, Ohio, Galloway graduated Gaither High School in Tampa, Fla. A sports fanatic, he enjoys all sports, especially golf. He is married to the former Kelly Christy, a registered nurse, and the couple has two children, Katie (15) and Collin (12). J.T. stands for John Thomas.

His primary responsibilities are with the football, skiing and men's golf programs, though he oversees the sports information efforts for all sports, and at one time or another has personally handled nine sports during his CU career. He has easily worked over 1,500 CU events: 407 football games including the last 365 dating to the 1983 finale, the longest active streak by any SID in the nation.

He has coordinated numerous successful promotional campaigns and public relations programs for student-athletes and coaches. Plati has written two books on CU football, the first about the school's 1990 national championship, and the second published in 2008, Colorado Football Vault, a coffee table style book with an awesome collection of photographs and reproduced keepsakes. In 2005, the Denver Buff Club recognized him as its "MVB" choice (Most Valuable Buff).

The Football Writers Association of America has recognized CU's sports information office five times during his tenure, three times for an outstanding press box operation (1987, 1992, 1997; schools were eligible only every five years), and now twice with the FWAA's Super 11 award (2010, 2013) for all-encompassing efforts with the nation's football media.

Plati is also an adjunct instructor in CU's School of Journalism, teaching a sports media relations class for the last 14 years, and since April 2001 has been CU's representative on the board of directors of the Colorado Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame. In 2006, he became a member of the District 7 Screening Committee for the Hall. In 2009, he was appointed to the board of the Colorado Golf Hall of Fame, and in 2010, he was named to the board of the Colorado Rock & Roll Museum and Hall of Fame.

While attending CU, Plati served four years as the information director for the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference. He also worked for the Colorado Golf Association and for the Rocky Mountain News.

He spent his senior year in college (1982) as the public relations director with the triple-A Denver Bears Baseball Club of the American Association. He has been a member of the Denver Broncos statistics crew since 1980, creating and maintaining miscellaneous stats (he received game balls from the NFL team for their back-to-back Super Bowl wins). He has worked 352 Bronco games through the 2013 season, and among the many innovative numbers he is credited with first charting was "scoring percentage inside-the-20," which is now commonly known as the red zone. In the 1980s, he worked as a statistician for TBS for NBA telecasts, creating a wave of now commonplace statistics, and continues to work freelance for several networks, both television and radio, in a similar capacity. In 2004, he was appointed by major league baseball to serve as one of two official scorers for the Colorado Rockies baseball team, and has scored over 200 games.

He has worked as the media relations liaison for the Bolder Boulder 10K since 1987, and also served as a media relations assistant for the Colorado Open Golf Tournament for 12 years (1980-91). He was the media coordinator for the 1985, 1989 and 1996 NCAA West Regionals, and was the local media coordinator and NCAA liaison for the 1990 Final Four. He was the Hula Bowl's director of game week communications for four years (1995-98). He has also worked five BCS National Championship games (2002-06-09-10-13 seasons), four Rose and two Fiesta bowls for a grand total of 33 postseason bowl games when including CU's 18. He will be working in a similar capacity for the College Football Playoff in 2014.

He graduated with a bachelor's degree in public relations, along with a minor in geography, from CU in 1982. He was a member of the journalism student council and wrote for The Campus Press.

Born April 19, 1960 in New Rochelle, N.Y., Plati graduated from Woodlands High School (Hartsdale, N.Y.) in 1978, where he lettered in football and golf (and was also the school's SID his senior year). In 1984, he was awarded an "Honorary C" for his service to Colorado athletics. An avid golfer, he won the 2005 Rocky Mountain Golf Writers Association fourth annual tournament. One of his proudest moments in his CU career came when late golf coach Mark Simpson asked him to present him for induction at Simpson's Golf Coaches Hall of Fame induction ceremony in January, 2005. He is also an avid concert goer, having attended some 340-plus in his lifetime (led by 32 Jimmy Buffett performances). His younger brother (Mark) was nominated for two Grammy Awards with David Bowie in 1998 (he was a guitarist in Bowie's band for five years), and also engineered the Song-of-the-Year for 1997 (Shawn Colvin's "Sunny Came Home").

JAMIE GUY

Director of Sports Video

Jamie Guy is in his 11th year as CU's director of sports video and his 13th year overall on the Colorado staff, as he joined the department in August 2001. He was promoted to his current position in the fall of 2004 after working just over three years as the assistant director.

Guy, 39, came to CU from the Chicago Enforcers of the now-defunct XFL, where he worked the lone season of the league's existence.

In CU's first year in the Pac-12 Conference (2011-12), he was named the Pac-12 Video Coordinator of the Year as selected by a majority vote of his peers. He was twice selected as the video coordinator of the year in the Big 12 Conference, first in 2005-06 and again in 2009-10. The awards are coordinated and voted by members of the Collegiate Sports Video Association; members of each conference select the winner for their respective leagues, and the recipients are placed on the national ballot for the overall CSVA award, the Bob Matey National Video Coordinator of the Year.

As talented as there is in the profession, Guy has coordinated the production of several video shorts showcasing in particular, the CU football program. Along with his assistant John Snelson, the two were honored in 2014 with an Emmy from the Heartland Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences (NATA) for their work called "Seasons," the story of a dream and the lifetime experience of being a Colorado Buffalo.

He graduated from the University of Cincinnati in 1998 with a bachelor's degree in general studies. As a student, he worked in the Bearcats' sports video office for four years. Prior to entering the sports video profession, he worked as an electrician's apprentice and as a staff manager at Fitworks Fitness.

Born March 18, 1975 in Cincinnati, Ohio, he graduated from Lawrence Central High School (Indianapolis, Ind.) in 1994, where he lettered in track and football. His hobbies include collecting football memorabilia and playing the guitar. He is married to the former Kimberly Ernst.

DAVID PLATI

Associate AD/Sports Information

David Plati is in 31st year as the athletic department's director of sports information, and his 37th year overall in CU's Sports Information Office. He was promoted to assistant athletic director for media relations on July 1, 1988, and attained associate athletic director status in August 2005.

Plati, 54, was named the 13th full-time sports information director in CU history on July 24, 1984, after serving for three years as the assistant SID. The youngest SID in the nation at the time of his hiring, he previously worked as a student assistant and statistician after coming to CU as a freshman in 1978. Only six people have served in the role since 1952, with Plati's tenure in the position the longest in school annals; he was recognized in 2009 with the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Quarter Century of Service award.

MIGUEL RUEDA

Head Athletic Trainer

Miguel Rueda is in his ninth year as the head athletic trainer at Colorado, as he was named to the position on August 1, 2006, just ahead of the start of football camp.

Rueda, 42, is now the second-longest tenured trainer in CU's athletic history, behind only a 14-year run by Dave Burton, who held the position from 1985-99; one other had served in the role for eight years, and three others for seven.

He came to CU from Fresno State University, where he has been the Director of Sports Medicine since February 2001. At FSU, his primary responsibilities were the care and prevention of injuries for the football program and overseeing all areas of the Fresno State Sports Medicine Program. He has similar duties at Colorado, as he coordinates the needs and staffing for CU's 16 intercollegiate varsity programs.

With CU's move to the Pac-12 Conference, he was named the Education Director for the Pac-12 annual sports medicine meeting, a role he performed in the 2011-12 academic year and will continue to serve in for at least the 2012-13 year as well.

Ironically, his first football game as Fresno State's head trainer was in Boulder, as the Bulldogs played the Buffaloes in the Jim Thorpe Association Classic on August 26, 2001; FSU won the game, 24-22, and went on to climb into the nation's top 10, until getting knocked off by Boise State, then coached by CU's future coach, Dan Hawkins.

Rueda previously had worked two years (1995-97) as a graduate assistant trainer for the Bulldogs while earning his master's degree in exercise physiology.

He had rejoined the Fresno State staff from Towson University, where he served as an assistant athletic trainer from 1998 to 2001; he was the head trainer for football. Prior to Towson, Rueda spent time with the Miami Dolphins of the National Football League in 1997-98 and with Holy Cross in 1994-95. He also has extensive teaching experience, instructing classes ranging from sports medicine administration to basic athletic training courses over the past 10 years.

He received his undergraduate degree in athletic training from Boston University in 1994, and his master's degree from Fresno State in 1997. Rueda is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association, the College Athletic Trainers Society and has American Red Cross CPR and First Aid certification.

He was born November 17, 1971 in San Francisco, graduating from the city's Jay Eugene McAteer High School where he lettered in cross country and track. He and his wife, Andrea, have two sons, Gabriel and Christopher, and a daughter, Isabella.

TYLER BALTIERRAS

Assistant Equipment Manager/Football

Tyler Baltierras is in his third year as a member of the University of Colorado equipment staff, his second as a full-time employee as he was hired on April 8, 2013. He works primarily with the football program as the top assistant under director J.T. Galloway.

Baltierras, 26, joined the department as an intern in the equipment office in the summer of 2012, initially working with just the football program. Once hired full-time, his duties expanded; he still worked with football, but added the spirit squads to his duties, along with managing the needs of several areas within the athletic department, including academics, alumni, marketing, the Buff Club and Buffalo Sports Properties.

A 2012 graduate of the Metro State University in Denver, where he earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Health Professions, with an emphasis on Recreation Management. While a student at Metro, he worked as a student equipment manager for the Buffaloes, starting as a sophomore and doing so through his senior year.

He was born November 11, 1987 in Boulder, and graduated from Monarch High School (Louisville, Colo.), where he earned two letters playing baseball (outfield). His hobbies include golfing, working out and collecting sneakers (he has over 55 pair).

ADAM HOLLIDAY

Assistant Trainer/Football

Adam Holliday is in his fourth season as an assistant athletic trainer at the University of Colorado, having joined the sports medicine department for a second go-round in August 2010. He works primarily with the football and women's golf programs.

Holliday, 34, had previously spent the 2004-05 academic year in Boulder as the professional intern under former head trainer Steve Willard, working with the football and men's and women's tennis teams. He returned to CU from the University of Texas, where he spent three years as the assistant athletic trainer for the Longhorns' football squad.

A 2002 graduate of the University of Kansas where he earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Sports Science, he worked three years as a student athletic trainer for the Jayhawks. His first full-time position in athletic training came at Loris High School in Myrtle Beach, S.C., the year before being named an intern at CU. After his time in Boulder, he moved on to the University of Minnesota where he was a graduate assistant trainer for two years while earning his Master's in Sports Management in 2007.

He was born March 28, 1980 in Johnson, Kan., and graduated from Stanton County (Kan.) High School where he lettered in football and basketball.

RYAN KATAOKA

Assistant Director/Academics

Ryan Kataoka is in his ninth year in the Herbst Academic Center after joining the University of Colorado staff in August of 2006. In addition to being assistant director of the entire academic operation, he is the lead academic coordinator for the football and women's basketball teams.

For five years, he also coordinated the Success Training and Exit Plan for Seniors (STEPS) program which assists student-athletes in their transition to life after graduating from CU. He continues to serve as the teaching assistant for the freshmen CU Experience course, a role he has performed the last three years.

Prior to his arrival at CU, Kataoka was a high school teacher and coach for 10 years in the Tustin and Santa Ana Unified School Districts in Orange County, Calif. He taught 9th through 12th grade English and Language Arts in his first eight years. He spent his last two years as a program specialist, coordinating high school college and career centers. He coached basketball and volleyball each year while in high school education.

A native of San Diego, Kataoka attended Grossmont High School where he lettered in basketball, volleyball and football. He graduated from the University of California, Irvine in 1996 with a bachelor of arts in English. He earned a Single Subject Teaching Credential in Language Arts and a Cross-Cultural Language and academic development certification in 1997.

Kataoka is also completing his Master's Degree in Educational Foundations, Policy and Practice in the School of Education at CU. He and his wife Suzanne have two daughters, Leah and Marisa.

JO MARCHI

Associate Director/Compliance

Jo Marchi is her 10th year as the associate director of compliance/monitoring for the University of Colorado athletic department, named to the position full-time in October 2005 after working as an intern in CU's compliance office for seven months.

In her position she performs multiple duties on behalf of the student-athletes, including serving as the staff liaison with CU's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC), as well as the sport camp coordinator, roles she both assumed in 2007. She coordinates the annual CUSPY (CU Sports Performers of the Year) banquet, also serving on the selection committee with the sports information staff and is a regular member of search committees for department openings.

Marchi, 32, came to Colorado from Indiana University, where she worked as a compliance intern her senior year in college. She graduated from Indiana with Bachelor's degree in Sport Marketing and Management in 2004. She then moved west to Colorado and accepted an intern position with CU in February 2005.

She was born January 29, 1982 in Bloomingdale, Ill., and graduated Glenbard (Ill.) East High School, where she lettered in basketball and track and field. Her hobbies include traveling and baking.

Sourav completed his residency in family practice at the UCHSC-Rose in Denver (he was chief resident during his third year in residency), and subsequently completed a fellowship in sports medicine at the University of Colorado, working with former CU team physician Rob Loeffler.

Born April 15, 1972 in Bombay, India, his family moved to the United States when he was a two-year old; he graduated from Clear Lake High School in Houston, where he lettered in soccer. He is married to the former Emily Aldeen. (His name is pronounced shuh-rav poe-dar.)

MEDFORD MOORER Academic Coordinator

Medford Moorer is in his fourth year as an academic coordinator in the Herbst Academic Center, joining the athletic department staff on August 1, 2011 from across campus, where he had been working in administration as the graduate coordinator in the Civil Engineering department for five years.

Prior to returning to his alma mater in 2006, he worked one year at Texas A&M as an assistant in academics. That followed two years as a teacher for a charter school in metro Denver, his first full-time position after he completed his college football career for the Buffaloes.

He graduated from CU with a degree in Sociology in August 2003. As a junior, he was the recipient of the Clancy A. Herbst Student-Athlete Achievement Award, presented to the Buff who overcame personal, academic and/or emotional difficulties to success academically while participating in athletics.

He was a four-year letterman in football at Colorado, leading the team in tackles with 111 his senior year in 2003, when he earned second-team All-Big 12 Conference honors from the league coaches. He won three post-season team awards that year, the Hang Tough Award (overcoming the most adversity); the Dave Jones Award (outstanding defensive player); and the Buffalo Heart Award (selected by "the fans behind the bench"). In the postseason, he played in the Hula Bowl. As a sophomore, he had a big play in CU's 39-37 win over Texas in the Big 12 Championship game, returning an interception 64 yards for a touchdown that gave CU a 29-10 lead late in the first half. His 256 career tackles are still the 27th most in school history.

He was born November 28, 1980 in Los Angeles, and graduated from the city's Locke High School, where was an All-City and All-League performer in football and also lettered in basketball and track. He is married to the former Mandy (Ament), and the couple has two children, son Marshall (3) and daughter Malia Ann (1).

KEVIN PROCHASKA Associate Director/Compliance

Kevin Prochaska is in his third year as the associate director of compliance with the University of Colorado Athletic Department. In his duties he is responsible for the compliance needs of football as well as assisting with all other sports.

Prior to arriving at Colorado, he spent two years (2010-12) as the director of compliance and CHAMPS life skills at Miami (Ohio) University. Prochaska was also an adjunct professor at Miami, teaching a course for freshmen student-athletes.

Prochaska, 35, earned his bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice from the University of Wisconsin at Platteville in 2003. He earned his J.D. degree (juris doctor) from Marquette University Law School in 2009. While at Marquette, he served as a compliance intern in the athletic department for the 2008-09 school year, and served in a similar role at Northern Illinois University in 2009 before graduating. He accepted a position as a compliance coordinator at Ohio State University for the 2009-10 academic year.

He was born May 18, 1979 in Prairie du Chien, Wis., and graduated from Prairie du Chien High School where he lettered in football and golf. Prochaska and his wife, Jessica, reside in Rock Creek. He enjoys attending sporting events and concerts as well as traveling and playing golf.

JOHN SNELSON Assistant Director of Sports Video

John Snelson is in his fourth year as the assistant director of sports video for the University of Colorado. He works with director of sports video Jamie Guy on video projects for the athletic department, including several award-winning productions that have earned national acclaim.

Snelson, 25, joined the Colorado staff in 2010 as a student assistant in video and football operations, and he held the position until he graduated from the university in 2011. He has a bachelor's degree in Economics with a business emphasis from CU.

One of those productions that was highly acclaimed was a video short entitled "Seasons," the story of a dream and the lifetime experience of being a Colorado Buffalo. Snelson and Guy were honored in 2014 with an Emmy from the Heartland Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences (NATA) for their work on the project.

Prior to his current position, he was in coach support in Lincoln, Neb., for computer outfit known as Hudl, a computer program the Buffs and many college use for video.

Born January 21, 1989 in Dallas, Texas, he graduated from Chatfield Senior High School in Littleton, Colo., in 2007, where he lettered in cross country and track. His hobbies include golf and photography.

DR. SOURAV PODDAR Team Physician

Dr. Sourav Poddar is his 15th year working with the CU athletic program as a team physician, his 13th with the football program.

Poddar, 42, is an assistant professor at the University of Colorado-Denver, and is on staff at the CU Sports Medicine Clinic as well as the University Medicine-Westminster. He also serves as the Director of the Primary Care Sports Medicine (PCSM) Program.

He is board certified in family practice, with a CAQ certificate in sports medicine. His specific areas of medical interest are sports medicine, heat illnesses and concussions. In addition to primary care, he specializes in the non-operative management of sports medicine injuries, as well as injury prevention, and novel approaches to treat overuse injuries.

He graduated from Rice University in 1993 with a degree in biochemistry, and then completed medical school at the University of Texas-Southwestern Medical Center in Dallas in 1997. At Rice, he was a member of the soccer team.

CURTIS SNYDER

Associate SID/Football

Curtis Snyder is in his 16th year as a member of the University of Colorado athletic department, including his sixth as the associate sports information director, returning to the Buffaloes on December 1, 2008 after a five-and-a-half year absence.

He is the secondary contact for football and the primary SID for CU's renowned national championship ski program, in addition to managing special projects and digital media. In August 2012, he was given the additional duties of overseeing overall strategy and execution of CUBuffs.com and social media (Facebook, Twitter, etc.).

Snyder, 39, returned to CU from Duke University, where he served as the director of Internet operations from 2003-08, managing the day-to-day operations of GoDuke.com and had various SID duties for the football and men's basketball programs. He accompanied the basketball team during the post season, during which time the Blue Devils captured two ACC Championships and a berth in the 2004 Final Four in San Antonio. He also traveled with the women's basketball team to the 2006 Final Four in Boston.

He previously served four years as a student assistant in CU's athletic media relations office (it's then name) from 1994-98 and then five years as a full-time assistant SID and as well as the Internet managing editor from 1998-2003. As a student, Snyder worked with the volleyball and men's basketball programs and was presented with the Athletic Director's medal for service to the department.

In his first stint at CU, he worked at various times as the primary contact for the men's basketball, volleyball and men's and women's tennis programs while also being named the Internet coordinator and eventually Internet managing editor, overseeing the official website, CUBuffs.com.

He also currently serves as a back-up statistician for the NBA's Denver Nuggets and has worked with the AVP (professional beach volleyball tour). He has been an active member of the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) and served on the technology committee for five years (2007-11).

Born Sept. 2, 1975, in Boulder, he graduated from Boulder High School in 1994, where he was a fourth-generation student and lettered three times in basketball. His grandmother graduated from CU in 1929, his grandfather was recruited to CU by Frank Potts to be a decathlete and also to play basketball and football and his father, mother and sister all attended CU. He is married to the former Kami Carmann, a four-time letterwinner and two-time captain of the women's basketball team at CU who is currently a sports anchor and reporter for Fox 31 (KDVR-TV) in Denver. The couple resides in Erie and has three children, twins Lucy and Samuel, 4, and Cooper (1).

ADMINISTRATION

CEAL BARRY

Senior Associate AD/ Internal Operations/SWA

Ceal Barry is in her second year as the senior associate athletic director for internal operations at the University of Colorado, as she assumed that role under new athletic director Rick George in the spring of 2014. She is in her ninth year as the department's senior woman's administrator (commonly known as SWA).

Barry, CU's legendary women's basketball coach, served as interim athletic director for a little over two months prior to George being named to the position, assuming that role on June 3.

In her 31st year overall at CU, Barry's duties included the oversight of men's and women's basketball, women's golf, soccer and volleyball. She also supervises several Student Services arms of the department including sports medicine, strength & conditioning, academics and student wellness.

Barry, 59, began the administrative chapter of her illustrious career as the associate athletic director for student services on April 1, 2005, just one month after completing a storied 22-year coaching career (1983-05). Barry retired having coached the most games, matches or tournaments (669) and the sixth most seasons of any sport in Colorado athletic history. Her 427 victories are also the most by any coach at the school.

Despite leaving the coaching ranks, Barry remains active and dedicated to the sport she has devoted so much time too. She served as chair of the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Issues Committee for the 2010-11 season. In April 2010, she served as the chair of the search committee that brought back former Buffalo Linda Lappe to lead the CU women's basketball team.

Barry took over a regionally successful program from one of her would-be mentors, the late Russell "Sox" Walseth, as former athletic director Eddie Crowder hired her as the fifth head coach in CU women's basketball history on April 12, 1983. But her charge was to lead the then-Lady Buffs into the Big Eight Conference, which officially started league play her rookie season as coach and was considered the next level from the old Intermountain Conference in which CU had competed in since the sport attained varsity status in 1974.

Barry's pedigree, a four-year letterwinner at Kentucky and an 83-42 record in four seasons as head coach at Cincinnati convinced Crowder that she was the right woman for the job. Twenty-two years and four U.S. presidents later, a 427-242 record, 12 NCAA tournament appearances, including six times in the Sweet 16 and three times in the Elite Eight, 13 20-win seasons, four conference championships and assorted coach of the year honors for five different seasons has proved she was more than just the right person, she is a legend.

She became just the 24th coach in women's NCAA history to reach 500 career wins-hitting the plateau in February 2004-and her all-time record of 510-284 and .642 winning percentage remain among the all-time best. Her teams posted a 191-134 record in conference play, as 13 of her teams finished first, second or third in the league standings for the regular season. Off the court, Barry has graduated all but two four-year players (well over a 95% graduation rate) and has coached 85 Academic All-Conference student-athletes.

Prior to the formation of the Big 12 Conference in 1996, Barry was the Big Eight Coach of the Year four times (1989, '93, '94, '95) and the District V Coach of the Year in 1993 and '95. The 1995 squad posted a school record 30 wins and came within a whisper of advancing to the Final Four. She led her teams to four regular season Big Eight titles and five postseason tournament titles, the last in the inaugural Big 12 Tournament in 1997.

When the 1997 tournament title placed Barry's name in the inaugural Big 12 record book it was a fitting transition for a coach whose name will forever be etched into the history of the Big Eight. In her 13 seasons she was 184-96 when leading the Buffs against Big Eight foes. Barry won more regular-season games (118), league titles (4), tournament titles (4), coach of the year honors (4) and coached more newcomers of the year (4) than any other league coach, while tying for the most NCAA tournament appearances with seven.

Barry's Buffs had three wins over then-defending national champions with the most shocking coming in 1993 in Colorado's first-ever Sweet 16 appearance, an 80-67 win over Stanford in the NCAA West Regional semifinal in Missoula, Mont.

Following her second consecutive Big Eight title in 1994, the United States Basketball Writers Association and Basketball Times Magazine named Barry National Coach of the Year. On the local level, she was inducted into the Colorado Sportswomen Hall of Fame the same year. Twice, Barry has had her name on the finalist list for the Naismith Award for Coaching, those honors coming in the last three seasons.

While those awards signified her on the court successes, Barry's favorite accolade in her decorated career came in 2003 when she was presented with the CU Alumni Association's Robert Stearns Award in recognition of one's extraordinary contributions to the university. Making the award even more special, she was nominated by that season's senior captains Linda Lappe, Sabrina Scott and Diana Spencer.

Her dedication to the student-athlete was also put on center stage in 1995 when she was presented with one of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association's highest honors, the Carol Eckman Award. That honor is presented to a coach who exemplifies sportsmanship, commitment to the student-athlete, integrity, ethical behavior and dedication to the purpose. The award was made more special when presented to Barry by her friend and colleague, Carol Callan, also the color commentator on CU radio broadcasts.

Barry's impressive resume has also given her the chance to see the world, coaching the likes of the R. Williams Jones Cup Team, which toured Taiwan in 1988, to coaching the Big 12 All-Stars on a tour of Europe following the 2001 season. While her coaching travels have taken her abroad, the highlight was her stint as an assistant coach for the 1996 United States Olympic Basketball team that won the gold medal. The appointment was her seventh USA Basketball nod since 1987 as she worked with Stanford head coach Tara VanDerveer in coaching the red, white and blue to victory.

She was head coach of the 2004 U.S. Junior World Championships Qualifying Team, which went undefeated en route to the gold medal.

Only Frank Potts (track, 41 seasons), Les Fowler (golf, 29), Mark Simpson (golf, 29), Richard Rokos (skiing, 25) Frank Prentup (baseball, 24) and Dick Gray (tennis, 23) and have logged more seasons as a head coach than Barry at Colorado.

Barry was inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 2006 and the University of Colorado Athletic Hall of Fame in 2010. In January 2011, she became the third recipient of the University of Kentucky's Susan B. Feamster Trailblazer Award. Barry, who earned her bachelor's degree in accounting from UK in 1977, was part of the school's first class of women's basketball players to receive an athletic scholarship, lettering four times under coaches Feamster and Debbie Yow.

She was born April 1, 1955 in Louisville, Ky., and graduated from Assumption High School in Louisville, where she lettered in basketball, volleyball and field hockey. She followed her bachelor's degree from Kentucky with her master's in education from Cincinnati in 1979. At Kentucky, she also lettered three times in field hockey in addition to her accomplishments as a basketball player.

responsible for overseeing the athletic department's development, including major gifts.

As the athletic director at Idaho State from 2003-04, Senter helped increase football attendance by 19 percent and saw the school's advertising, marketing and corporate sales revenue jump $600,000 during his stay in Pocatello. Senter was part of the senior staff at the University of Idaho, serving as chief fundraiser and associate athletic director for three years.

At Idaho, Senter was responsible for the University's Capital Campaign for Athletics, helping raise money for the $13 million athletic facility expansion. He also ran the annual fund for Vandal Athletics, handling the work of 48 national directors and overseeing and planning a fiscal budget of $1.2 million. He first worked with current CU athletic director Mike Bohn at Idaho, when Bohn was the director there, with the two reunited a few years later after Bohn became the AD at San Diego State.

Before moving into administration and joining the development staff, Senter was an assistant football coach for the Vandals for nine seasons. He wrapped up his coaching days in 1997, when he was the assistant head coach and recruiting coordinator for a Vandals squad that compiled a 13-9 record over the '96 and '97 seasons. Senter coached the linebackers and defensive line from 1986-92, as Idaho went 52-21 and reached the NCAA I-AA playoffs six times in seven seasons.

Senter began his coaching career at Coffeyville Community College in Kansas, where he was a student assistant for the 1981 and 1982 seasons, a role he later held at his alma mater, Tulsa, between 1983 and 1985. He earned his bachelor's degree in Physical Education from Tulsa in 1985. His passion for coaching brought him to Idaho where he served as defensive line and linebackers coach at Idaho for six seasons before being promoted to assistant head coach. While coaching at Idaho, he earned a master's degree in recreation from the school in 1992.

He was born November 9, 1961 in of Doylestown, Pa., and graduated from Jay (Okla.) High School, where he lettered in football. His hobbies include hunting, camping and gardening. He is married to the former Susan Beck, and the couple has four children, Shawna, Derick, Matthew and Samantha.

MATT BIGGERS
Associate AD / Chief Market Officer

Matt Biggers joined the University of Colorado athletic staff on July 5, 2012 as the associate athletic director of external affairs and chief marketing officer.

Biggers, 42, came to Colorado after spending a combined 18 years with two teams in the National Basketball Association.

At Colorado, he oversees marketing and promotions, the ticket office and all digital assets including CUBuffs.com. He also collaborates in the staging of special events, coordinating efforts with Buffalo Sports Properties (BSP), BuffVision, the sports information department and the Buff Club.

Prior to coming to CU, he was the senior vice president of marketing and communications for the New Orleans Hornets. He was hired by the Hornets in 2007 as the vice president of marketing and communications, before being promoted the following year. Biggers oversaw the organization's marketing, advertising, branding, creative services, events, game operations, media relations and broadcasting.

Biggers' most demanding professional challenge undoubtedly came in "The Big Easy." In his first year in New Orleans, the Hornets set a club record for their time in New Orleans for most sellouts in a season (2007-08), and then broke that record the following season. But reaching and surpassing those marks was not easy.

When the Hornets returned to New Orleans after a two-year displacement to Oklahoma City following Hurricane Katrina, the season ticket base was fewer than 5,000. Biggers spearheaded drives that took season ticket sales to over 10,000 in 2008-09 - the largest increase in the NBA. He received the Hornets' "Coach of The Year" award in 2009, an acknowledgement from the team's senior executive peers given to the organizational leader who best exemplifies his/her team's mission and values.

Also under trying circumstances, the Hornets were challenged to reach the 10,000 season ticket mark again in the 2011-12 campaign. The NBA was dealing with a work stoppage and the New Orleans franchise was seeking

JIM SENTER
Senior Associate AD/External Operations

Jim Senter is in his ninth year of being associated with University of Colorado athletics, his first as the senior associate athletic director for external operations, as he was promoted to the position in the spring of 2014.

Included in his duties is serving as the sports administrator for several programs, including football, overseeing most aspects of the football program, with particular emphasis on human resource needs and coaches contracts.

Senter, 52, officially transitioned into that latter role that also carried an associate AD title on Sept. 1, 2011, moving over from the CU Foundation, where he had been associate athletic director for development for five years after being named to that position in June 2006.

In his previous role, his responsibilities included all fundraising efforts, including the annual fund (student-athlete scholarships), major gifts and coordinating all donation-related activities and staff. He brought to CU an extensive background in college administration, coaching and fund development.

He also was very active with the National Association of Athletic Development Directors (NAADD), and served as the organization's president for the 2013-14 athletic year. A long-time administrator with the group, he previously served as second vice president and secretary in 2011-12; in 2007, he was first named to the executive committee of NAADD, which is under the umbrella of NACDA (National Association of Collegiate Athletic Directors).

Senter came to CU from San Diego State University where he had worked in a similar capacity for 18 months. Working closely with the University foundation on development projects on campus, he was to secure local ownership, a long-term lease agreement with the state and was facing the imminent departure of star point guard Chris Paul to the Los Angeles Clippers. Instrumental in that drive was the campaign "I'm In." The campaign included a "100 Events In 100 Days" initiative and proved to be a surprising success in the community, with the Hornets accomplishing the improbable and reaching their 10,000 season ticket goal.

Biggers' first NBA experience came with the Orlando Magic and RDV Sports, where he spent 12 years and left as the director of marketing for the Magic. His responsibilities with the Magic included overseeing all of the marketing, advertising, branding, game presentation and events. While in Orlando, he also worked as an operations/marketing assistant for the Orlando Predators (Arena Football) and served on the boards of the Florida Children's Hospital and the Heart of Florida United Way Promotions Committee.

He earned a bachelor's degree in Business Administration Management from Appalachian State University in May 1994 and a Master of Science in Sport Management from Georgia Southern University in December 1995.

His previous work in collegiate athletics includes serving as a student assistant coach for the Appalachian State baseball team and as vice president of that school's men's club volleyball team. He also volunteered in sports media relations at Georgia Southern and worked as an event assistant for the Florida Citrus Bowl.

He was born on November 9, 1971 in Columbus, Ohio but moved to Florida at age 3 with his family; he graduated from Seabreeze High School (Daytona Beach), where he lettered in football and baseball. He is married to the former Robyn Winokur, and the couple has two daughters, Peyton (11) and Avery (8).

she worked as a teaching assistant on campus and in the Herbst Academic Center when Carl was a grad assistant. The couple has three children, sons Savoy (16) and Jackson (11) and daughter Alana (4).

KURT GULBRAND

Associate AD/Development

Kurt Gulbrand was named assistant vice chancellor and associate athletic director for development in November 2011. Originally an employee in the now-defunct University of Colorado Foundation, he is now under the athletics umbrella and coordinates all fundraising efforts to support the University of Colorado's 17 Division I athletic programs.

Gulbrand, 44, joined CU following 11 years at the University of Michigan, where as an assistant athletic director for development in the Victors Club he successfully solicited more than $67 million in gifts and served as the department representative in U-M's overall $3.2 billion fundraising campaign.

He made an immediate impact as a fundraising leader on the CU-Boulder campus. In his first two plus years at Colorado the Buff Club enjoyed unprecedented fundraising success, achieving back-to-back $11 million years and establishing record numbers of new donors and Buff Club members.

The athletic fundraising team is currently the most successful unit on the Boulder campus, and this position could very well be maintained for the foreseeable future as Gulbrand and his team are currently leading efforts for the Sustainable Excellence Initiative for CU Athletics – a transformational, $143 million capital campaign.

His career in intercollegiate athletics development began after he graduated from Oregon State University in 1995 with a degree in Organizational Sports Management. He has accumulated an impressive range of experience in intercollegiate athletics, previously serving in fundraising positions at Southwest Texas State University (now Texas State), Northwestern State (Louisiana), and the University of Massachusetts.

He was born September 22, 1969 in Fullerton, Calif., and graduated from Lakeridge High School in Lake Oswego (Ore.), where he lettered in football. He is married to the former Deborah Hawthorne, a registered nurse and a sales representative for Honeywell, and the couple has two sons, Colton (9) and Bryce (7). His hobbies include golf, fishing and at one-time, skiing.

CORY HILLIARD

Associate AD/Business Operations

Cory Hilliard enters his fifth year with Athletic Department at the University of Colorado, his third as the associate athletic director for business operations.

Hilliard, 42, came to CU from the University of North Dakota where he was the assistant athletic director for business operations for three years (2006-08). He earned the promotion at UND after serving five years as the assistant director for business services (2001-06).

In his position, Hilliard is responsible for the management of the administrative, financial, budget, human resources, and payroll functions for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and its 17 sport programs. In addition to his business operations duties, Hilliard oversees the equipment, sports video and information technology support services for the Buffaloes.

Hilliard graduated from Minnesota State University-Moorhead in 1995 with a Bachelor's of Science degree in Health Education, and in 2006 earned his Master's degree in Business Administration from the University of North Dakota. Hilliard also attended the University of Wyoming from 1990-92 where he was a member of the track team, participating in the hurdles and relay events. While at MSU-Moorhead from 1993-95, he also lettered in the sport.

He was born August 2, 1972 in Rochester, Minn., he graduated from

LANCE CARL

Associate AD/Business Development

Lance Carl, who participated in one of the key plays on the football field as a player for the University of Colorado in the mid-1980s, returned to his alma mater for the fourth time in his career when he was named to a newly created position, associate athletic director for business development on November 5, 2013.

The external role encompasses business development, community partnerships and as serves as the coordinator for non-game day events. His duties include working build strategic community partnerships, improve the department's engagement with local community entities and work to attract non-game day event business to CU's athletic facilities.

Carl, 48, rejoined the CU staff after spending the last eight years with the Colorado Department of Higher Education, where he was a director for student motivational outreach. He was a direct liaison to all middle and high schools throughout the state, as well as for parents and administrators. He developed the Umbrella of Success motivational presentation and delivered that message to 140,000 students, parents and administrators during that time.

As a junior split end in 1986, he led the team in receiving with nine catches for 171 yards and two touchdowns, as with the Buffaloes in their second year of running the wishbone offense under coach Bill McCartney, Colorado didn't throw the ball all that often.

But one of those scores was as big as they come, a 52-yard reception from O.C. Oliver on a perfectly executed halfback option that answered a Nebraska field goal and put CU ahead, 17-7, on the first play of the fourth quarter. That helped keep the third-ranked Huskers at an arm's length and the Buffaloes went on to win, 20-10, in a game referred to as "the turning point" for the school under McCartney.

He graduated from CU in 1991 with a Bachelor's of Arts degree in Sociology; he had first returned to CU to finish his degree after signing as a free agent with the Washington Redskins and returning to his native Iowa.

Carl then came back to CU as a graduate assistant coach under Rick Neuheisel for the 1996 season. He also spent four years as a regional scout for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

He was born September 13, 1965 in Burlington, Iowa, and graduated from Fort Madison (Iowa) High School, where he was a four-sport letterman (12 letters total) in football, basketball, baseball and track. His hobbies include coaching his kid's sports team, golf, hiking and mountain biking. He married to the former Jennifer Mysonhimer, also a CU graduate, Manitou Springs High School (Colo.) in 1990, where he lettered in football and was an outstanding track and field athlete. He ran the 110- and 300-meter hurdles and was a member of the 4x200 and 4x400-meter relay teams that won multiple state titles in addition to the boys team championship in 1990. At one time (during the 1989 season), he held the Colorado state high school record in the 300-meter hurdle and is a former high school national champion in the 60-meter hurdles and 400-meter hurdles.

Hilliard is married to the former Abby Barendt, and the couple has two sons, Zach (18) and Jacob (12). He is actively involved in the College Athletic Business Management Association (CABMA) as well as a member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA).

Prior to CU, she had an extensive background working in non-profits in Colorado, where she relocated after her college graduation.

She graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1991, where she earned her bachelor's degree in Exercise Science and Athletic Training; she was a member of the Dean's List. At UW, she earned three letters as a member of the varsity crew team. As a senior, she was the recipient of the school's Graves Award, presented by the rowing team to the student-athlete who makes the most significant contribution based on leadership, physical strength and mental fortitude.

Canova trained on the Olympic Development Team for crew in Lake Placid in the summer of 1989.

She was born in Montclair, N.J., but moved to Virginia when she was 10, where graduated from Langley High School in McLean. Her hobbies include biking, hiking, cycling, swimming and in general enjoying the "wonders of Colorado with her family." A competitive triathlete, she finished third in the 1996 Danskin Triathlon. She is the mother of two, son Baker (10) and daughter Alice (8).

KRIS LIVINGSTON
Associate AD/Student Services

Kris Livingston is in her 18th year at the University of Colorado, her first as the associate athletic director for student services, promoted to the position in the spring of 2014. She had been promoted to an assistant athletic director in 2010.

Included in her role is her sixth year as the director of academic support services, overseeing the Herbst Academic Center which provides year-round academic support to all of CU's approximately 350 student-athletes. She was an assistant director for the area until being named its director on May 24, 2007.

Former football coach Dan Hawkins credited her organization and philosophy about academics as one of the strongest factors for the football team's back-to-back record years for grade point average for the 2008-09 and 2009-10 school years. And under coaches Jon Embree and Mike MacIntyre, football has continued to set record GPA figures and graduation rates, as have several others among CU's 17 intercollegiate programs.

She joined the CU staff in May 1997, hired by then-women's basketball head coach Ceal Barry to be the program's first-ever Director of Basketball Operations. She spent eight seasons in that position until Barry's retirement from coaching in March of 2005.

Livingston came to Boulder from Littleton, Colo., where she was a senior consultant at USA Group Noel-Levitz, an educational consulting firm that is hired by colleges to help recruit and retain students. Prior to that, Livingston spent eight years at Iowa State University as an assistant women's basketball coach (1984-89), admissions counselor (1989-91) and telecounseling coordinator (1991-92).

She earned her bachelor's degree in Sociology from Miami University (Oxford, Ohio) in May 1983, where she was a four-year letterwinner on Miami's women's basketball team and earned first-team All-Mid-American Conference and first-team Academic All-MAC honors. In August 1997, she was inducted into Miami's Hall of Fame, only the second women's basketball player to be so honored.

A native of Toledo, Ohio, she graduated from Lake High School in Millbury, Ohio, in 1979. A three-sport athlete, she was an inaugural member of her high school Hall of Fame in 1983. Livingston has worked on her master's degree in Sports Administration through the University of Northern Colorado.

KEVIN FENTON
Assistant AD/Ticket Operations

Kevin Fenton is in his third year as the assistant athletic director for ticket operations, sales and services, returning to the University of Colorado for the third time in the summer of 2012 in accepting the position.

Fenton, 56, has been long acquainted with CU athletics, first working as a student assistant in the ticket office as an undergraduate in Boulder. After graduating from the school with a bachelor's degree in Environmental Conservation in 1981, he was hired full-time and served as the assistant ticket manager for 10 years.

In that role, he essentially was the ticket manager, as he handled all facets of the season and individual game ticket operation for the football and basketball programs. During that time, he served as the ticket manager for the 1985 and 1989 NCAA West Regionals, held at McNichols Sports Arena in Denver but hosted by CU, and worked in a similar capacity for the 1990 NCAA Final Four.

He left the department in August 1990 to take a position as director of ticket sales and event management at the University of Southern California, but chose to return to his native Colorado six months later. At that time, he took over the newly created role of business manager for external affairs, working primarily with the Golden Buffalo Scholarship Fund (a short-lived renaming of the Buff Club).

Fenton assumed that role on July 1, 1991, but would soon accept the assistant director of ticket operations for the Colorado Rockies, which began play as an expansion team in the National League in 1993. An original team employee, he would go on to work 20 seasons with the Rockies, enjoying several promotions during his time there until finishing his time with the club as the senior director of ticketing.

Fenton was born July 5, 1958 in Denver, and graduated from Cedaredge (Colo.) High School in 1976, where he lettered in track and baseball. He is married to the former Caroline Dawson, as the couple has two grown children, Kaitlyn and A.J.; Caroline was CU's one-time athletic ticket manager in the late 1990s, and Kaitlyn is now a development associate in CU's Buff Club. He has become an avid runner, participating in short runs to marathon competitions.

PREMA KHANNA
Assistant AD/Marketing

Prema Khanna is in her 11th year as CU's director of marketing, as she was promoted to the position July 7, 2004, and in her second as an assistant athletic director, earning that promotion in the summer of 2013.

She is in her 13th year overall the department, having worked two years as promotions manager for the Buffaloes after joining the staff in August 2002. She is responsible for coordinating mar-

EMILY CANOVA
Assistant AD/Special Projects

Emily Canova is in her first year as the assistant athletic director for special projects, as she was promoted into the position in June 2014.

Canova joined the department as a community outreach coordinator in September 2010. After six months in that position, she transitioned into CU's newly created student-athlete leadership development program, where she served as its assistant director until she was appointed as an assistant AD. However, during this time frame, she also helped develop CU's "Guiding Principles" and then worked with athletic director Rick George to coordinate the formulation of the department's strategic plan and Sustainable Excellence Initiative (SEI).

keting efforts for football, basketball and volleyball ticket sales, as well as promotions both on and-off the fields and courts, including game day atmosphere.

Khanna, 43, came to Colorado from Texas Tech, where she worked two years as the director of marketing and promotions. She got her start at Missouri, her alma mater, as a graduate assistant in 1995, and was hired full-time the following year as marketing and promotions coordinator. In 1997, she was promoted to assistant director of marketing and held that position for the next three years before moving on to Texas Tech in 2000.

She graduated from the University of Missouri with a bachelor's degree in business administration in 1995, and earned her master's degree in sports administration from MU in 1997.

Born July 29, 1971 in Haldwani, India, her family moved to Cleveland, Ohio, when she was a toddler, and then to Toronto, Ontario in second grade. She lived in Canada until she was 13, when her family established residency in Columbia, Mo. She graduated from Rock Bridge High School, where she lettered in tennis.

JILL KEEGAN

Director of Compliance

Jill Keegan is in her fifth year as a member of the University of Colorado athletic department, her first as the school's director of compliance, as she was promoted to the position on June 1, 2014.

She previously was the associate director for four years, initially serving as the rules education coordinator, though her role gradually expanded through the years.

She came to Colorado in October 2010 from Michigan State University where she served as the Assistant Compliance Coordinator for four years. Prior to Michigan State, Gainey was the Assistant Director of Compliance at Marshall University where she also completed her Master's degree in Sport Administration in 2006. Gainey received her bachelor's degree in Sports Marketing and management from Indiana University in 2005 where she also served as an intern in the compliance office.

A native of Owatonna, Minn, the former Jill Gainey graduated from Angola High School in Angola, Ind., in 2001, lettering in volleyball, basketball and track and field. She currently resides in Denver with her husband Brian and enjoys attending sporting events, traveling, outdoor activities and reading.

CHRIS BADER

Counseling & Sports Psychologist

Dr. Christopher (Chris) Bader is entering his third year as the counseling and sport psychologist for the University of Colorado athletic department, joining the program in August 2012

In his current role, he provides clinical, assessment and individual and team consultation to the student-athletes and coaches at CU. In addition, he works with incoming student-athletes in their adjustment to their new environment and in preparation for their matriculation through CU. Other areas of responsibility include serving on several department and university-wide committees: DA Task Force, Leadership Development Program, Continuum of Care, Diversity & Inclusion and the Alcohol and Other Drug Team.

Prior to coming to CU, for six years (2007-12) he was on staff in the Psychological Resources for Student-Athletes office at the University of Oklahoma. Bader is licensed as a psychologist (LP) in the states of Oklahoma (inactive) and Colorado. He currently holds the title of Certified Consultant through the Association for Applied Sport Psychology (CC-AASP), and he is a member of the United States Olympic Committee Sport Psychology Registry.

He earned his bachelor's degree in Psychology at Louisiana State University in 1998, where he was a member and president of the Rugby Football Club. Also at LSU, Bader was a member and president of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity, a member of the Golden Band from Tigerland (tenor saxophone), and a member of LSU's Student Government Association.

Bader continued his education in Louisiana earning his Master's degree in Psychology with an emphasis in psych neuroendocrinology at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette. While earning his Master's degree, he discovered the field of sport psychology and chose to attend the University of North Texas, where he earned his Ph.D. in Counseling Psychology with an emphasis in Sport Psychology. He completed his predoctoral internship through the Oklahoma Health Consortium with a primary rotation in the OU athletics department. He stayed on at PROS in various capacities for four years following his internship.

He enjoys teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate levels and regularly attends and participates in national and international professional conferences. He is active in the American Psychological Association (APA) and the Association for Applied Sport Psychology (AASP), including recently being named the Communication Coordinator for Division 47 of APA. His professional interests include diversity and inclusion, leadership development, athletic administration, men's issues and student-athlete development and transition.

He was born Sept. 15, 1976 in Charlotte, N.C., and graduated from Christian Brothers High School in Memphis, Tenn., where he was a member of concert band (saxophone). His hobbies include watching sports (in particular college football), and recently has taken up hiking in Colorado's high country. He is married to the former LaTisha Braddock.

DR. ERIC McCARTY

Director of Sports Medicine

Dr. Eric McCarty is in his 12th year working with the CU athletic program, joining the sports medicine team in July 2003. But he's certainly no stranger to the University or to Boulder.

McCarty, 49, accepted the Chief of Sports Medicine and Shoulder Surgery position in the Department of Orthopedics at CU's Health Sciences Center in Denver, where he also is an associate professor, enabling him to return to his home state where he starred as both a prep and collegian.

He returned to CU from Vanderbilt University, where he was an orthopedic surgeon, assistant professor and team physician for the Commodores' athletic teams for four years.

McCarty is the head team physician for both the University of Colorado and University of Denver athletic programs. As a board-certified orthopedic surgeon his specialized practice involves the care of collegiate athletes as well as recreational and highly competitive athletes from the community. A large part of his practice is the sports medicine care of high school athletes in the state of Colorado.

He graduated in 1988 from CU with a degree in kinesiology and a 3.75 grade point average. A four-time Academic All-Big Eight team member, the first in school history to be honored four times, he was an Academic All-American his senior year, when he reached the finalist stage for the Rhodes Scholarship. On the field, he earned first-team All-Big Eight honors as a senior, when he led the Buffaloes with 148 tackles, the fourth highest total at the time in team history. He had 237 career tackles in two years on defense, after moving over from offense where he played fullback (503 career rushing yards), and earned four letters.

He earned his M.D., with honors, in 1993 from the University of Colorado School of Medicine in Denver, and did his internship residency at Vanderbilt in orthopedic surgery between 1993 and 1998. Shortly thereafter, he spent a year at the internationally renowned Hospital for Special Surgery in New York City, where he received a fellowship in sports medicine and shoulder surgery. While residing in New York, he worked with the NFL's New York Giants. During this time is when he obtained his expertise in the arthroscopic and open surgical management of sports injuries to the knees and shoulders as well as a special emphasis in the management of complex shoulder problems including shoulder instability, rotator cuff tears and shoulder replacement surgery for arthritis.

In addition to his busy clinical practice, Dr. McCarty is very active in research, teaching, and writing articles in the field of sports medicine and knee and shoulder surgery. He has received grants for his research and has given numerous talks at both the national and international level. One of his many interests is the care of the high school athlete, and his background allows him the ability to understand the issues surrounding the prep athlete.

McCarty has been the recipient of over four dozen awards in his professional career, and has had papers published on 15 occasions while contributing to several others.

He was born November 16, 1964 in Lundstuh, West Germany. He graduated from Boulder High School in 1983, where he was the state's player of the year as a senior and considered one of the nation's top recruits after rushing for 1,301 and 13 touchdowns; he won the prestigious Denver Post Gold Helmet Award that same year. He is married to the former Miriam Liddell, and they have four children, Madeleine (19), Eric Cleveland, Jr. (17), Shannon (14) and Torrance (12).

DERIC SWANSON

Director of BuffVision

Deric Swanson is in his 16th year as the Director of BuffVision, coordinating all aspects of production involving the video display boards at Folsom Field and the Coors Events Center, both recently upgraded to a near $10 million operation for both facilities combined.

Swanson, 40, is considered one of the best in his field and came to CU from the National Hockey League's Colorado Avalanche, where he had worked for a brief time as the manager of game entertainment and video production. He had previously worked three-plus seasons with the Colorado Rockies Baseball Club, first as a stadium camera operator, and then as video production coordinator, including the 1998 Major League Baseball All-Star Game at Coors Field.

In 2003, BuffVision won the Golden Matrix Award for "Best Overall Video Display" in the University Division at the Information Display and Entertainment Association (IDEA) conference in Atlanta.

The following year, BuffVision was awarded two distinctions, one for the 2004 Aurora Awards, a Platinum Best of Show statue for In-Game Entertainment Graphics/Design, and a Telly Award for The Buffalo Stampede, CU's coaches' show. In 2006 and 2007, BuffVision won three more Telly Awards for Swanson's production, including two for the "Ralphie on Campus" institutional spot and another for The Buffalo Stampede, and is 2013 earned another Telly for a production involving CU's men's basketball team and the Navy Seals.

He is a 1996 graduate of Colorado State University, earning his bachelor's degree in technical journalism and broadcasting. He graduated Magna Cum Laude and was recognized as CSU's outstanding graduate in journalism.

He was born May 24, 1974 in Oakland, Calif., and attended two high schools. His father was stationed in the Azores, Portugal, and he spent two years at Lajes High School, where he lettered in football, soccer, volleyball and basketball. After moving to Colorado, he graduated from Liberty High School in Colorado Springs, where he lettered in football. He played volleyball on CSU's club team for three years. Swanson has also competed in four IronMan events, including a personal best of 11 hours and 29 minutes in Phoenix, Ariz., in 2009.

He is married the former Heather Cohea and the couple has two sons, Gavin (6) and Dane (3).

TATE NELSON

Alumni C Club Director

Tate Nelson is his third year as the executive director of the Alumni C-Club, officially named to the position on July 30, 2012, returning to CU from right down the road in Denver, where he was employed in private business.

He actually serves in a dual role, as he is also an associate director of development, as he oversees all aspects of the Buff Club annual giving program. As the director of the C Club, he works with former CU student-athletes to keep them involved and engaged with the university and the athletic department. That position includes maintaining the letterwinner database, coordinating reunions and in general being the main conduit for all needs of over 5,000 former Buffaloes.

Prior to coming back to his alma mater, Nelson spent 20 years in both California and Colorado working for law firms and litigation support companies, focusing on electronic discovery and the management of large-scale databases. His first job out of school was working for a political consulting firm during the 1992 election.

Nelson graduated from CU with a bachelor's degree in Communication in 1992. A defensive back (free safety) and special teams performer on the Buffaloes' football team (1988-91), he was a member of three Big 8 championship teams ('89, '90 & '91) as well as CU's 1990 consensus national champion squad.

He was born February 5, 1970 in Pasadena, Calif., and graduated from Santa Monica High School where he lettered in football and track. His hobbies include golf, mountain biking and reading. He is married to former Niki Blake.

Eric Aunese
Football Recruiting Assistant

The second season of a head coach's tenure at his new school is often the most challenging. The roster is usually half the players that the previous staff recruited, with the other half those that he brought in.

And in the University of Colorado's case, there are six players, all seniors, still on the roster that were signed by the coaching staff two head coaches ago.

But there is little cause for concern in this regard for second-year CU head coach Mike MacIntyre. Almost the entire team bought into all the changes that come with the changeover in staffs, the end result producing a 4-8 record in 2013, a three-win improvement from the year before.

"Our significant progress really can be attributed to three different areas, first and foremost was that the players bought into what we were doing," MacIntyre said. "After that, the way we practiced with repetition and the way the coaches prepared them for games."

In addition to the improved digit in the win column, the Buffaloes improved in 29 major statistical categories (and in a few minor ones), in most cases rather dramatically. Emphasizing taking care of the football and minimizing mistakes, especially unforced ones, also were evident. Colorado set a record for the fewest fumbles in a season with just 14 while reducing penalties dramatically, committing just 52, the fewest since 1985 and ending the season with just 10 over the final four games, a 50-year program low for that long of a span.

Confidence was attained right from the start with a 41-27 win over Colorado State in the season opener, as MacIntyre became just the second head coach among the last 15 dating back to 1932 to win his first game at the reins of the CU program (joining Rick Neuheisel, who won his inaugural in 1995 at Wisconsin). Sure the team still endured some lopsided losses, but for the most part, the Buffs were much more competitive against those teams that had bested them the previous year, along with avenging a 2012 loss to CSU.

"Attitude and confidence in what you are doing is everything," MacIntyre said. "The culture had to change to where when our guys stepped on the field that they had to believe that they could beat anybody. By the end of the last season, that change took place."

Can the Buffaloes keep improving in 2014? One reality is that CU did defeat two FCS teams in his first season, and none are on this year's schedule. Colorado could very well match its record from a year ago, yet own two more wins against similar competition. MacIntyre isn't making any predictions for a win count, something smart coaches seldom if ever do.

"The goal is simple, and that's to just walk out there every time believing you can win," he said. "When you do that, the wins will come, but I'd never state any kind of number as a goal. Obviously we'd like to get the program back to the point where, at the very minimum, we are playing in a bowl game every season."

A bowl invitation requires six wins. Can Colorado reach that number this season? While that obviously remains to be seen, longtime observers feel MacIntyre has the program headed in the right direction. There are 50 lettermen and 15 starters returning from his first Buffalo team, and a need-based recruiting class is expected to fill in many holes on the depth chart. And often the forgotten ones – the redshirt freshmen – play a larger role than anyone thinks; 12 out of 21 true freshmen were redshirted in 2013, and 10 of those players were in the two-deep at the end of spring practice.

But it has not been a total youth movement by any means; nine seniors ended the spring atop the depth chart at their respective positions, including both kicking specialists, as did eight juniors. It might just be the perfect blend for the program to move forward, and more evidence might be in the selection of this year's captains, which took place at the end of the April drills.

Six players were voted as captains by their teammates: three seniors, guard Daniel Munyer, defensive tackle Juda Parker and safety Terrel Smith; junior receiver Nelson Spruce, and for the first time in school history, a sophomore was elected captain, and two at that, linebacker Addison Gillam and quarterback Sefo Liufau.

Competition will continue into August drills at most positions, as very few are likely locked up.

Most of the captains are probably secure at their spots, with the exception of Smith, who is returning from shoulder surgery and a redshirt year and has yet to practice at full-speed. And Liufau was being challenged by fellow sophomore Jordan Gehrke, the end result being that the Buffs appear to have at least two quality signal callers under center.

Offensively, the Buffs started all five linemen the entire season for the first time in over a decade, and three of those players return: Munyer, senior guard Kaiwi Crabb and junior tackle Stephane Nembot. That trio won't likely be unseated, thus the battle for the center and one tackle spot to determine this year's men in the trenches. Junior Christian Powell ended the spring number one at tailback, and essentially also at fullback, but there's a hoard of talent behind him. Tight end and the other two receiver positions will shake out in camp.

On defense, senior cornerback Greg Henderson is coming off a breakout season (four interceptions), and junior tackle Josh Tupou is primed for one, especially if one values the opinion of CU's seniors: he was the first player chosen in the player draft for the spring game. There's more youth on the defensive side of the ball, but veterans Jered Bell (senior safety), Ken Crawley (junior cornerback) and Woodson Greer (senior outside linebacker) should all figure prominently into things come the season opener. The kicking specialists are more than likely set. Seniors Darragh O'Neill (punter) and Will Oliver (placekicker) are back, both in position to be four-year regulars, a rarity at any school. Both have enjoyed three solid seasons, and should compete for their respective national awards at their positions (Ray Guy and Lou Groza). O'Neill, an inside-the-20 specialist (if not closer to the goal) and Oliver, who made a combined 47-of-54 kicks a year ago (including all 30 PATs to extend his streak to 60) are two of the best in the country.

One season often isn't long enough for a team to establish an identity, and that's no difference in CU's case. But MacIntyre likes what he saw and intends to build on it.

"We haven't completely established an identity yet, but we are well on our way," he said. "We cut down dramatically in turnovers and penalties, two things you almost always control, last year, and recorded some all-time lows; we had the fewest fumbles in school history for example. But we need to play with better effort and more consistency and become a team that limits its mistakes – one that people refer to as, 'they won't beat themselves.'"

"We talk about the process of continually building in every area – small increases in everything we do and developing in every phase – strength and conditioning, academics, culture, practice habits, studying film, etc. – positive and consistent increases a little bit each day."

What should also help is the fact that the staff returns essentially intact. All nine full-time assistants are back for year two, as are most of the support positions, sans two of the four graduate assistants moving on.

The schedule appears to be a little tougher than in 2013; the Buffaloes do play the same nine Pac-12 opponents with the sites reversed and again have CSU in Denver. Hawai'i will visit Boulder, replacing Central Arkansas, and CU will travel to the northeast for the first time since 1977, playing in Foxboro against UMass; that technically subs in for Fresno State, via Charleston Southern, who

CB Greg Henderson

CU scheduled after the Fresno game was cancelled due to the Boulder floods. CU opened 2-0 last year, but with the cancellation of the Fresno game, the Buffs had two consecutive bye weeks and lost the momentum they gained to open the season, especially combined with the gamut of emotions the team experienced by witnessing the devastation suffered by many from the record rainfall.

The 2014 season also marks the 20th anniversary of a very special season in CU annals – 1994 – the Buffaloes were 11-1 that year and finished as the No. 3 team in the nation. Much of this will be celebrated this fall:

Colorado saw its first player, not only at CU but in the state, claim a Heisman Trophy when Rashaan Salaam was rewarded for his 2,055-yard season. Chris Hudson won the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back, while Ted Johnson finished as the runner-up for the Dick Butkus Award for the best linebacker. Kordell Stewart finished as the Big 8 Conference's all-time total offense leader, and on his way to that mark, threw what has become a well-known pass that covered 64 yards as time expired at the "Big House" in Michigan, caught by Michael Westbrook via a Blake Anderson tip, rallying CU to a 27-26 win in what is both known as "The Catch" and the "Miracle in Michigan." And to cap it all, Bill McCartney shocked the football world by announcing his retirement from coaching after 13 years in Boulder, exiting as the school's all-time winningest coach.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed in a three-way tie for second at tailback, but that competition will continue well into August drills. Lindy's Pac-12 Football selected him as a third-team performer on its preseason All-Pac-12 teams. He is already No. 84 on CU's all-time rushing list (535 yards).

2013 (Fr.)—He earned honorable mention Freshman All-America honors from collegefootballnews.com and the league coaches named him honorable mention All-Pac-12. He played in nine games (one start), as he did not play in the first two of the season and missed the UCLA game after suffering a concussion in the fourth quarter the previous week against Arizona. For the year, he rushed 103 times for 535 yards and scored six touchdowns; it was the sixth-most single-season yards by a freshman in CU history (fifth-most by a true frosh), with his 5.3 yards per carry the third-best by any freshman with 400 or more yards as were the six TDs (tied with two others). He also caught 11 passes for 127 yards (11.5 per), which included a 63-yard catch and run for a touchdown against Cal, and earned 31 first downs (27 rushing, four receiving). He converted 5-of-8 third/fourth down rushes into first downs, including all three tries with 1 yard to gain. He had one 100-yard game, coming in his one start when he rushed for 137 yards on 13 carries against Charleston Southern; he also scored four touchdowns against the Buccaneers, setting a school record for the most rushing and overall TDs in a single-game by a freshman (the previous mark of three had been accomplished only twice); Athlon Sports named him the Pac-12 Freshman of the Week for his efforts. In his debut at Oregon State, he gained 98 yards on 14 carries, and he also had 63 yards on 14 tries against USC with a TD (his other score came against Arizona).

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors at running back as a senior, when he earned second-team All-CIF San Diego Section and first-team All-East County and All-Grossmont Hills League accolades (he was second-team All-East County as a junior); in addition, he garnered the area's most outstanding offensive player honor. He was the San Diego area's Student-Athlete of the Year for 2012-13 as selected by The Mighty 1090 (AM radio) based on his academic and athletic achievements. In his prep career, he rushed for 3,115 yards and 40 touchdowns, despite being a full-time starter just his senior season, when he rushed 216 times for 1,770 yards and 24 scores. He gained 100 or more yards in nine games and also caught 13 passes for 186 yards in leading the East (San Diego) County in rushing, scoring and all-purpose yards. As a junior, he had 91 attempts for 919 yards and 12 touchdowns, with 105 receiving yards and another score. As a sophomore, he had 36 carries for 426 yards and four TDs, missing half the season after suffering an injury. Top games as a senior: in a 48-21 win over Steele Canyon, he rushed 23 times for 260 yards and three touchdowns, with 28 more yards on two receptions for 298 all-purpose; in a 35-0 romp over West Hills, he carried 16 times for 170 yards and three scores; and in a 45-14 win over league rival Grossmont, he had 25 carries for 196 yards and three touchdowns along with two receptions for 77 yards. Top game as a junior: in a 44-6 win over Oceanside in the CIF Division II title game, he carried nine times for 137 yards, which touchdown runs of 25 and 61 yards in the third quarter doused the hopes of any Oceanside comeback. Under Coach Troy Starr, Helix captured the Grossmont Hills League his sophomore through senior seasons and was 10-1 his senior year, 13-1 his junior when HHS was the CIF Division II (San Diego) champions, and 11-2 his sophomore year (Helix lost in the CIF semis his senior and sophomore campaigns). He lettered three times in track, as he participated in sprints and relays; he owned career bests of 10.8 in the 100-meters and 22.2 in the 200 (both hand-timed) and 50.48 in the 400. He also played basketball as a freshman.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business at Colorado, but is undecided on his sequence. Owned a most impressive 4.49 grade point average in high school, and was named the San Diego Union-Tribune's All-Academic Team Captain for football (the paper selects an academic captain for eight fall sports). He was named a National Football Foundation Scholar-

Athlete as a senior by the Walter J. Zable/San Diego Chapter of the organization. On the Honor Roll every quarter since starting high school, he has taken both AP and Honors classes as a prep, and his outstanding GPA earned him offers to attend school and play football at Harvard, Yale and the Air Force Academy.

PERSONAL—He was born April 28, 1995 in San Diego. His hobbies include playing video games and basketball, bowling (and at one time, golf) and rapping (freestyle). Father (Michael) ran track at UNLV and San Diego State. He is active with youth in his community, volunteering with his old Pop Warner league as well as organizing and coaching in several sports, in particular helping with area track meets. He has aspirations of ascending to be a CEO after his football career, telling the Union-Tribune, "I've always been a businessman since I was a young kid." (He sold pistachios for a dime to classmates in elementary school and an individual Starburst for a quarter in middle school, turning a profit in both situations.)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He will lineup at quarterback in his true freshman year in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned third-team All-State honors from Cal-Hi Sports, while the Los Angeles Daily News named him second-team All-Area. He earned first-team All-CIF Southern Section-North Division honors as both a junior and senior, when he was also first-team All-Foothill League, and was the player of the year for both as a senior. For that season, he completed 207-of-321 passes for 3,103 yards and 28 touchdowns; that was a 64.5 completion rate as he threw just six interceptions. He rushed 110 times for 413 yards and four touchdowns, which included a 55-yard gallop. He had 10 games where he passed for 200 or more yards, three with 300-plus and one 400-yard game; he had three or more touchdown passes in seven games. His junior season, he was 206-of-346 for 3,333 yards, with 39 touchdowns to 14 interceptions in completing 59.5 percent of his throws; he ran for 341 yards and 15 touchdowns on 108 attempts. He had 10 games with 200-plus passing yards, six with 300 or more and one 400-yard game. Thus, for his career, he was 413-of-667 for 6,436 yards, with 67 touchdowns against only 20 interceptions; he had 20 games with 200 or more yards, nine with 300-plus and two 400-yard outings, while throwing three or more touchdowns 16 times. He also punted on occasion, averaging 34.7 yards for three punts as a senior (49 long) and once as a junior, a 47-yard boot that landed inside-the-20. Top games as a senior: he threw for his prep high of 419 yards on 29-of-43 throws (two touchdowns, zero picks) in a 35-28 loss to Valencia; in a 48-7 romp over Golden Valley, he was 18-of-25 for 334 yards with three touchdowns, averaging 18.6 yards per completion; and in a 48-0 win over Clovis West, he was 15-of-20 for 265 yards (5 TD/2 INT) with 69 yards rushing and a score. Top games as a junior: in a 56-27 win over Knight, he was 23-of-39 for 405 yards (5 TD/0 INT), and in a 56-48 win over Clovis West, he was 24-of-34 for 331 yards (4 TD/1 INT). Under coach Rich Gutierrez, Canyon was 8-3 his senior season and 8-3-1 his junior year. He lettered twice in track early in his prep career, running the 400-meter dash (career best was 1:02) and on the 4x100 relay team.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major, but is interested in Psychology. He owned a 3.1 grade point average in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born April 15, 1996 in Panorama City, Calif. His hobbies include reading, watching movies, listening to music and playing the ukulele (in fact, as a youngster, he used to play the drums, guitar and clarinet). He is active in community service, having coached special need adults in physical activities such as kickball. He once saved a friend from being hit by a car, pulling him out of traffic in the nick of time.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He was listed third at center at the end of spring drills, but also figures into the depth at guard.

2013 (Fr.-RS)—He did not see any action, but did dress for three games (Oregon State, Oregon and Arizona). He ended the spring second at right guard, as he received plenty of reps with several players out due to injury. He won the John Wooten Award for the most outstanding work ethic in spring practice, as selected by the coaching staff.

2012 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced along the offensive line the entire season. He joined the team as a recruited walk-on for August camp.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered twice at Torrey Pines High School as both an offensive and defensive lineman. As a senior, he was named second-team All-Palomar League on offense, when playing left guard he allowed only two quarterback sacks and was flagged for only two penalties. On defense (tackle), he had 20 total tackles and five quarterback sacks. He played right tackle as a junior but did not play on defense. Under coach Scott Ashby, Torrey Pines was 5-7 his senior season after posting a 10-2 mark his junior year (Palomar League and District champs). He lists his biggest moment of his prep career as picking up a fumble and running with it for 25 yards.

ACADEMICS—He is pursuing a double major in Communication and Broadcast News at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born June 8, 1994 in Chicago, Ill. As a youngster, he was once a bat boy for the Chicago Cubs. His goals after college are to work for a sports team or be on ESPN; he reported on a high school football game as a prep and did the highlights on local television. A high school teammate, David Bagby, joined him as a recruited walk-on in CU's 2012 freshman class, but returned closer to home after that season. His nickname is Vinny.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed second at left cornerback, as well as first at the nickel position when the defense calls for five backs, which is quite often in the Pac-12. He had seven tackles and a third down stop in helping the Black team defeat the Gold, 21-17, in the spring game. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Hale Irwin Award for the spring, presented to the most improved defensive back.

2013 (Fr.)—He saw action in all 12 games, including seven starts (six at the nickel position and one at left cornerback). Though fellow true frosh Addison Gillam set numerous school freshman records, he made his own mark: he played the third-most snaps on defense by any frosh in CU history (643), and became just the 13th freshman to record 50 or more tackles for a season, finishing with 59, the sixth-highest ever total (43 of which were solo stops). That number was also good for sixth on the team, fourth-most by a defensive back; he also had five tackles for loss, including a quarterback sack, with another stop for zero gain. He added seven third down stops (tied for the second-most ever by a freshman), four pass deflections, three touchdown saves, two forced fumbles and a recovery. On special teams, he added another two assists. He had a season-high 12 tackles against Arizona, along with eight against Cal and six against Central Arkansas (all solo), when he had one of his two forced fumbles (the other was at Utah).

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors as a senior, when he also garnered SuperPrep preseason All-Far West honors (ranked as the No. 146 player in the California-Hawaii-Nevada region). He was a first-team All-Area performer on defense as selected by the San Jose Mercury-News, while the Contra-Costa Times selected him to its "Cream of the Crop" team, ranking him No. 13 of the 20 players on its list. He was selected as the Blossom Valley Athletic League Mount Hamilton Division Senior of the Year. He earned first-team All-League honors as a junior and senior, and was Oak Grove's Underclassmen of the Year. As a senior, he rushed for 1,285 yards on 138 attempts (9.3 per), scoring 14 touchdowns with a long run of 67 yards (he had six 100-yard and two 200-yard games); he caught 18 passes for 487 yards and seven scores with a long of 84 (two 100-yard games). He was third in his league in rushing and first in scoring (128 points on 21 TDs and a 2-point conversion). He also completed his only passing attempt for 38 yards, returned five punts for 60 yards and five kickoffs for 113 yards. On defense playing cornerback, he racked up 69 tackles (25 solo, three for losses), with four interceptions, returning two for touchdowns, 12 pass deflections, four blocked kicks and two forced fumbles. As a junior, he gained 249 yards on 23 carries, scoring three times, while catching 13 balls for 211 yards and four TDs; he had 58 tackles playing free safety on defense, with five blocked kicks, an interception, and a fumble recovery which he returned 80 yards for a touchdown. He was called up to the varsity late in his sophomore season for the stretch run. A speedster off the corner as evidenced by 10 blocked kicks in his prep career (five punt, three field goal and two PAT kicks). Top games as a senior: in a 49-20 win over Sobrato, he had 13 rushes for 203 yard and three touchdowns, with seven tackles, an interception, forced fumble and a blocked field goal on defense; in a 42-20 win over Santa Teresa, he accomplished the rare on any level, the 100 double-double, with 158 yards rushing (16 attempts) and 101 receiving (three catches), scoring a combined four touchdowns; and in a 49-35 win over Leland, he had a career-high 205 rushing yards (17 carries, 2 TD), with a season/career-high nine tackles and an interception. Top games as a junior: in a 42-37 win over Pioneer, he had four rushes for 98 yards and two touchdowns, two receptions for 24 yards and a third score and six tackles on defense; and in a 28-0 win over Independence, he had a season-high nine tackles with a fumble recovery which he returned 80 yards. Under Coach Jay Braun, Oak Grove was 10-1 his senior year and 9-2 his junior season, going undefeated (7-0) both years in claiming back-to-back BVAL Mount Hamilton Division titles; OGHs was 8-3 his sophomore year, 2-1 after his call up. He also lettered three times, his freshman through junior years in basketball, and as a junior in track (sprints, jumps and relays); he owned career bests of 21.7 in the 200-meter dash and 22-1 in the long jump.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business at Colorado, but is undecided on his sequence. He was selected as the Santa Clara County's National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete (Northern California Chapter) his senior year, as he owned a grade point average of 3.13.

PERSONAL—He was born May 24, 1995 in San Jose, Calif. His hobbies including playing basketball, ping pong and writing/singing rap-poetry songs. Active in community service in such areas as trash pickup, he has also volunteered at an area shelter, working with the homeless and indigent. While not related, his godmother's nephew is Nnamdi Asomugha, a longtime NFL cornerback with Oakland and Philadelphia who played his college ball at Cal-Berkeley. AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—Enters the fall atop the depth chart at the free safety position after enjoying his breakout season as a junior.

2013 (Jr.)—He played in all 12 games (11 starts), finishing fourth on the team in total tackles with 67 (48 of the solo variety). He had four for losses, two stops for zero gain and seven third down stops to go with seven touchdown saves, six passes broken up, three interceptions, two forced fumbles and a recovery. He returned one of the interceptions and the fumble for touchdowns, both key plays when they occurred. He was the player of the week in the state as selected by the Colorado chapter of the National Football Foundation for his efforts against USC, when he had six tackles, five solo including one for a loss, and a forced fumble in which he returned 31 yards for a touchdown that got the Buffaloes on the scoreboard for the first time on the opening play from scrimmage in the second half. He was also CU's athlete of the week for Sept. 2-8, when he had a then-career-high eight tackles (seven solo), and a big 79-yard interception return for a touchdown that tied the game early in the fourth quarter in an eventual 38-24 win over Central Arkansas. He had a career-high 10 tackles against Cal (six solo), and had nine versus Arizona (seven solo, also adding an interception); his other pick came against Charleston Southern. He added five more tackles (all solo, one inside-the-20) on special teams duty, where he racked up eight points in all, as he also had a downed punt and a forced fair catch.

2012 (Soph.)—He played in all 12 games, including eight on defense and two starts, which came against Washington State and UCLA. In 201 plays from scrimmage, he had 13 tackles, eight solo with two for losses, a third down stop and a fumble recovery. He also had his first career interception, making it early in the WSU game; it saved a score as he picked it off at the CU 3 and returned it 37 yards. He had two tackles in four different games and had two knockdown blocks on special teams duty. He missed spring drills as he continued rehabilitation from knee surgery, but was 100 percent by August drills.

2011 (Soph.-RS)—Redshirted due to injury; he entered the fall listed third at right cornerback and with most spots and the nickel back up for grabs, he figured into the mix at both safety and cornerback. But in the third practice (Aug. 6), he suffered a knee injury (torn ACL), underwent surgery (Aug. 26) and was lost for the season.

2010 (Fr.)—He saw action in all 12 games, eight on defense including one start (versus Baylor). In 54 plays from scrimmage, he posted 11 tackles, seven solo, with the bulk coming in the Baylor game when he racked up a season-high nine, seven of which were unassisted. He also added five tackles, four solo, on special teams coverage duty, and was one of just seven true freshmen to play for the Buffs in the 2010 season.

HIGH SCHOOL—He was ranked the No. 34 defensive back in the country by Rivals.com and the No. 99 player from the state of California. He was also ranked the No. 95 cornerback by Scout.com and No. 97 cornerback by ESPN. He earned All-California Interscholastic Federation honors and All-Mt. Baldy League honors for Colony High School as a senior under coach Anthony Rice, helping the team to a 10-2 record and the Mt. Baldy League championship. He is a four-year letterman and helped Colony to a 39-12 record in his four years, including three league titles and two CIF championships during his freshman and sophomore seasons. He recorded 47 tackles as a senior and also had five interceptions and 10 pass break-ups. He recovered one fumble and also had two punt returns for 63 yards with a long of 51 yards against Paloma Valley. He lists that game as one of his most memorable games, as he had a key interception return that, along with the punt return, set up touchdowns in a 21-6 win in the first round of the playoffs. Another memorable game came one week later in the second round of the playoffs. Despite falling 21-17 to Upland, he recorded six tackles and had one interception even though Upland was not throwing to his side of the field. As a junior, he also played running back and earned second team All-Mt. Baldy League honors. He rushed 59 times for 505 yards and four touchdowns and caught three passes for 14 yards. Defensively, he came up with 31 tackles and three interceptions and also had one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. His most memorable game that season came against Don Lugo, when he rushed nine times for 149 yards and a touchdown and also had two interceptions on defense. He saw spot duty in a back-up role as a freshman and sophomore for the varsity, and as a sophomore he had nine tackles and returned one kick for 12 yards. He also lettered in track & field for four years at Colony and was a CIF finalist as a junior in the 110-meter hurdles. He also participates in the 200- and 300-meter hurdles. He ran the 100-meter dash one time and was clocked in 10.6 seconds.

ACADEMICS—He graduated with a degree in Sociology from Colorado in December 2013; he is currently pursuing a second major in Ethnic Studies. He is interested in a post-football career in law enforcement.

PERSONAL—He was born January 19, 1992 in Pasadena, Calif. His dad, Richard Bell, was a wing back at Nebraska and was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the 1990 NFL draft, where he played for one season as a running back. His mother's cousin is former Major League Baseball star Darryl Strawberry, who won four World Series titles with the New York Mets and New York Yankees and was an eight-time All-Star during his 17-year career.

North Logan, Utah
(Logan)

AT COLORADO: He is serving the first of his two-year Mormon mission (the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints); he left on January 29. He actually signed his letter in Mexico City, where he had begun the in the process of taking six weeks of language classes before heading to Concepcion, Chile, to serve his mission. His plans are to enroll at CU for the 2016 spring semester.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned second-team All-State honors from the Salt Lake Tribune as a senior (honorable mention by the Deseret News for a second straight year). He garnered first-team All-Region and All-Valley honors as a junior and senior; during his final prep season, he racked up 63 tackles (39 solo), with 12 for losses and nine-and-a-half quarterback sacks. He also had six quarterback hurries, two passes broken up and two forced fumbles. He was in on 52 tackles (34 solo) his junior year, with 14 tackles for loss that included 10 sacks; he added five pressures and two PBU's. He had eight tackles in four different games as a senior, including in a 22-17 win over Bountiful when seven of the stops were of the solo variety (with one a quarterback sack). He had five games in his career with two or more sacks (with a high of three in a 17-10 loss to Mountain Crest his junior year, when he also had nine tackles). He had a career-high 11 tackles (nine solo, with two-and-a-half sacks) in a 28-10 win over Box Elder, also as a junior. A three-year starter on defense, on occasion, he'd play some spot offensive tackle throughout his career. Under coach Mike Favero, Logan was 11-1 his senior year, reaching the state quarterfinals after claiming the 4A Region 5 regular season title; LHS was 8-3 his junior season and 14-0 (4A state champs) his sophomore year. He also participated in track as a junior.

ACADEMICS—He is obviously in no rush to select a major field of study, but has a keen interest in Biology and the Life Sciences in general. He graduated from high school in January 2014, owning a 3.95 overall grade point average and was recruited by several Ivy League schools.

PERSONAL—He was born October 5, 1995 in Logan, Utah. His hobbies include reading, weightlifting, hiking, backpacking, four-wheeling and traveling; he had already visited over 20 countries before his 18th birthday, several of those throughout Europe and the Middle East (including Greece, Turkey, Israel, Egypt and Jordan). An Eagle Scout, he is also an exceptional marksman (target shooting with a 9mm Beretta). He hails from the same high school that produced arguably Utah's most famous athlete if not overall personality, Merlin Olsen (football at Utah State and for the NFL Los Angeles Rams, and later on an actor on Little House on the Prairie and Father Murphy). (Last name is pronounced Ben-yun.)

BRIAN BOATMAN, TE

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He enters the fall listed fifth at tight end. He enrolled at CU as a true freshman in the fall and joined the team as a walk-on for spring drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned 2A All-State honors at tight end and first-team All-Colorado League honors from the Denver Post, recognized at three positions for the latter (TE, defensive end and punter); he was also the league's defensive player of the year. As a junior, he garnered first-team All-Conference honors on both offense and defense. As a senior, he caught 18 passes for 305 yards and five touchdowns, averaging 16.9 yards per catch; on defense (end), he racked up 71 tackles (56 solo), 19 of which were for losses including eight quarterback sacks. He had an interception (which he returned 37 yards for a touchdown), broke up six passes, forced four fumbles and recovered two (returning one for a score). He also handled his team's punting chores, averaging 41.4 yards for 25 punts, with a long of 62 (four traveled 50-plus yards). As a junior, he caught 14 balls for 227 yards and four TDs (16.2 per), with 58 tackles on defense (44 solo, eight four losses with four sacks); he added three pass deflections and two forced fumbles. In limited time as a sophomore, he caught three passes for 58 yards, with five tackles and two passes broken up on defense. For his career, he had 37 receptions for 590 yards (16.9 per) with nine scores, with 134 total tackles. One of his top career games came in the 2A state championship win over Platte Valley as a senior: he caught three passes for 44 yards and touchdown, averaged 40.0 yards on five punts, and racked up 11 tackles on defense, a number that included eight solo, four for losses and three sacks in the 28-17 win. In a 49-35 win over Strasburg, he had three catches for 75 yards and a score. Under coach Scott Yates, Kent Denver was 13-0 his senior year (2A state champs) and 11-2 his junior season and 10-3 his sophomore campaign; Kent was the three-time Colorado League champion during his time there, posting a 15-0 record in conference play. He lettered twice in basketball (power forward, his junior and senior years); he recorded three double-doubles and averaged 9.3 points as a senior in earning first-team All-Conference honors and honorable mention All-State accolades when Kent also claimed the league title). He also lettered once in baseball (as a senior, first base).

ACADEMICS—He is interested in majoring in Business at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born September 20, 1994 in Littleton, Colo. His hobbies include playing most sports and spending time with friends. His father, Bill, was an assistant coach on his high school staff and was also his head baseball coach. His grandfather (Jim Liley) played football at the University of Denver; a cousin, Joe Liley, lettered four years on the CU golf team, with his brother, Tim, lettering as a wide receiver at the University of Nebraska. Another cousin, Adam Strecker, was a tight end for the Air Force Academy. Also in his bloodlines is the late Jim Burris, who was at one time the general manager of Denver Broncos and the longstanding president and GM of the Denver Bears (baseball).

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall listed atop the depth chart at the "X" wide receiver position; he is also very much in the mix to see action on special teams returning kicks. He had a huge spring game, catching five passes for 132 yards and a touchdown, the latter covering 67 yards in the Black's 21-17 win over the Gold; all told, he had nine grabs for 215 yards, 23.9 per catch, with two touchdowns in the four main scrimmages. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Bill McCartney Award for the spring, presented to the most improved special teams player.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced at wide receiver the entire year.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors at wide receiver as a senior, when he was also a SuperPrep Preseason All-Far West selection (the No. 101 overall player in the California-Hawai'i-Nevada region). He earned first-team All-San Gabriel Valley as a senior and was a first-team All-Sierra League performer and his team's most valuable receiver his junior and senior years. As a senior, he caught 56 passes for 1,041 yards and 10 touchdowns, averaging 18.6 yards per reception. He had four 100-yard and three multiple TD games (seven and five, respectively, for his career). He also had 190 return yards, three kickoffs for 99 (33.0 per, with a long of 54) and five punts for 91, an 18.2 average. He caught 53 passes for 834 yards and nine touchdowns his junior year, when he had his career-long reception of 87 yards. He also started at cornerback as a senior, recording 28 tackles (15 solo), with three interceptions (three others were called back due to penalties); he also had quarterback sack and a fumble recovery. He was a reserve on defense other seasons, playing corner and safety at times. Top games as a senior: in a 41-13 win over Chino Hills, he caught five passes for 181 yards (36.2 average), three for touchdowns including a 55-yarder; he had a season-high seven catches for 136 yards in a 52-7 win over Los Osos; and in a 38-7 win over South Hills, he caught three balls for 116 yards and two scores. Top games as a junior: in a 38-7 win over Chino Hills, he caught a career-high eight passes for 114 yards, and a week later in a 63-21 rout of Santiago, he caught six for 119 yards and three touchdowns. Under Coach Lou Farrar, Charter Oak was 10-2 his junior and senior seasons, winning the Sierra League title both years, and was 6-2 his sophomore year. He also lettered three years in basketball (forward), averaging about 15 points per game as a junior; he did not play as a senior.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major, but is interested in Environmental Sciences at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born June 21, 1995 in Pasadena, Calif. A cousin and teammate (Khari Garcia) will be a freshman safety this fall at Montana State. He overcame tragedy at an early age, as his half-brother accidentally shot and killed his father when he was 4 years old; he then started to play most sports at that young age, starting with football, soccer, baseball and basketball. (Last name is pronounced bo-bo.)

BRANDAN BRISCO, DB

5-9, 170, Jr., VR

Oakland, Calif.
(Bishop O'Dowd)

35

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall listed fourth at right cornerback. He had 12 tackles, 10 solo, in the four main spring scrimmages, seven of which came in the spring game (six of which were unassisted).

2013 (Soph.)—A reserve cornerback, he did not see any action, but dressed for the final 11 games of the season. He had five tackles (three solo, including a third down stop) and a pass broken up in the four main spring scrimmages.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He did not see any action; he did dress for the last two games of the season. He had five tackles (four solo) in the main spring scrimmages.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced at defensive back in the fall. He joined the team as a walk-on after the season opener.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-Hayward Area League honors at cornerback, where he also lettered as a junior. He recorded 43 tackles (24 solo) his senior season, when he also had six passes broken up and an interception. One of his top prep games came his senior year in a 35-20 win over San Leandro, when he had five tackles (four solo), two pass deflections and an interception. Under coach Hardy Nickerson (a former NFL player who was assisted by another, Donovin Darius), Bishop O'Dowd was 10-2 his senior year (league champions for the first time in a decade), and was 4-6-1 his junior year under coach Paul Perenon. He also lettered two times in track under coach Toney Green, where he ran sprints (100-, 200-, 400-meters) and relays (4x100, 4x400). His personal bests included a 10.9 time in the 100 and a 22.4 clocking in the 200.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Political Science at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born September 21, 1992 in Oakland, Calif. He lists playing most sports and spending time with friends among his hobbies. After college, he has interest in becoming a sports agent.

ED CALDWELL, OL

6-5, 300, Soph., VR

Highlands Ranch, Colo.
(Highlands Ranch)

61

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed fourth at right offensive tackle.

2013 (Fr.)—He joined the team as a walk-on for spring practices (he enrolled at Colorado in the fall of 2012), but had some mild injury issues (knee) and he initially did not return with the team for the start of the season. He eventually rejoined the team after the first day of classes.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was Highland Ranch's Male Student-Athlete of the Year and garnered his team's Offensive Line MVP honor, as he did not allow a quarterback sack or pressure, and was not called for a single penalty. He was the first lineman in school history to grade out at a perfect 100 percent for game. He played some defensive tackle occasionally as well, recording six tackles (all solo). In all, he lettered three times at offensive tackle, helping Highlands Ranch with the 2009 and 2011

Continental League titles (his sophomore and senior seasons). Under coach Darrel Gorham, Highlands Ranch was 9-3 his senior year, 8-3 his junior season and 7-3 his sophomore year (as a senior, HRHS defeated archrival Thunder Ridge twice, once in the postseason, which he listed as the biggest moment of his prep career). He also lettered once in inline hockey (center).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Chemical Engineering at Colorado. As a prep, he was a four-year member of the Honor Roll, graduating with highest honors (owned a grade point average in excess of 4.0); he was also an AP Scholar with Distinction. He won Highland Ranch's Scholar-Athlete Award both as a junior and a senior, and as a sophomore, he was the school's Science Student of the Year. Though recruiting by Colorado Mines, one of the top engineering schools in the nation if not the world, he wanted to attend CU because it's always been his "dream to run out behind Ralphie one day."

PERSONAL—He was born March 12, 1994 in Ponca City, Okla. His hobbies include listening to music, playing video games (in particular FIFA) and spending time with friends and family. He regularly volunteers at his church, working various camps and odd jobs.

JAMES CARR, OL

6-3, 300, Jr., TR

East Palo Alto, Calif.
(St. Francis/San Diego)

70

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He ended the spring listed fourth on the depth chart at left guard.

2013 (Soph.)—Redshirted; he was ineligible to play after transferring from the University of San Diego. He joined the team as a walk-on for spring practice; with a shortage of offensive linemen, he got plenty of reps in drills and was third at left guard on the final spring depth chart.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He enrolled at Colorado but concentrated on academics; he did not try out for the football team.

AT SAN DIEGO: 2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced as an offensive lineman (at both guard and tackle) with the team but did not see any action. Head coach was Ron Caragher, who replaced Mike MacIntyre as head coach at San Jose State.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered twice in football at left tackle. He was named first-team All-West Coast Athletic League as a senior and second-team as a junior. St. Francis was 7-3 his senior year and 8-2 his junior campaign under coach Nick Navarro. He also lettered twice in lacrosse as a mid-fielder and once in basketball as a small forward.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Ethnic Studies at Colorado. A stellar student-athlete as a prep, he was recruited by the likes of Brown and Cal Poly.

PERSONAL—He was born September 12, 1992 in East Palo Alto, Calif. His hobbies include playing basketball, reading and listening to music. He interned with Cisco Systems for a summer during high school.

CONNOR CENTER, TE

6-7, 245, Fr., RS

Clifton Park, N.Y.

(Christian Brothers Academy)

85

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall listed third on the depth chart at tight end. He caught one pass for four yards in the main spring scrimmages.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced the entire fall at tight end after being the next-to-last player to accept a scholarship offer, which he did in the late spring after he completed his high school baseball career.

HIGH SCHOOL—He did not play football in high school, but was an exceptional pitcher. As a sophomore at Shenendehowa High School, he posted a 6-2 record with a 3.00 earned run average and earned All-League honors. As a junior, he transferred to Christian Brothers Academy in Albany, where he was 2-0 mainly in a relief role; CBA won the Big Ten championship under coach Thomas Reinisch. In addition, in the summer prior to his senior year, he pitched for the South Troy Dodgers, who competed in the AABC Mickey Mantle League. He started seven games and pitched 35 2/3 innings; he was 7-0 with a 0.00 ERA, allowing only 11 hits and striking out 49. A right-hander with a nasty curveball, he also threw two no-hitters with seven shutouts.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major at Colorado, but is interested in Marketing or Integrative Physiology.

PERSONAL—He was born May 3, 1995 in Schenectady, N.Y. His hobbies include playing golf, video games, baseball and lifting weights. He took it upon himself to send video of his workouts to several college teams, most of which took an interest in him despite the fact he had never played football; in the end, he selected CU over Miami and Syracuse (he also had lot of interest from baseball teams, and likely would have been selected in the Major League Baseball draft in June 2013 had he stayed with the sport). He did quite a bit of community service in high school, over 70 hours' worth, including food drives and coaching youth.

WESLEY CHRISTENSEN, WR

5-10, 185, Sr., 1L

Chico, Calif.

(Pleasant Valley/Butte)

83

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He enters the fall tied for third on the depth chart at the "H" wide receiver position. In the four main spring scrimmages, he caught seven passes for 111 yards and two touchdowns, averaging 15.9 yards per with a long of 48. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the newly created Sal Aunese Award for the spring, presented to the player in their estimation who was the most "uncommon."

2013 (Jr.)—He saw limited action in 11 games, primarily on special teams (he did not play at UCLA). He caught four passes for 30 yards in the four main spring scrimmages. He transferred to CU from Butte College for the spring semester and joined the team as a walk-on; he had three years to play two in eligibility.

AT BUTTE (2011/2012, Fr./Soph.)—He earned two letters at wide receiver and long snapper for Butte College in Oroville, Calif., helping his team to a 10-1 record both seasons and the 2012 NorCal Championship. Butte, under coach Jeff Jordan, was the second ranked team in the nation his sophomore year, when he caught 11 passes for 148 yards (13.4 per) and a touchdown. He also threw one pass, completing it for 28 yards and a TD. As a freshman, he hauled in nine passes for 150 yards (16.7) and a score.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he had 16 receptions for 344 yards (21.5 average), with three rushes for 65 yards (21.7 per) and a touchdown; he had 18 receptions for 238 yards (13.2) and a touchdown as a junior. His top games as a senior came against Enterprise, catching four passes for 96 yards in a 28-21 loss, and then three for 95 yards in the rematch, a 28-7 setback. PVHS was 8-4 his senior year under coach Sterling Jackson and was 5-5 his junior season under coach Bill Haley. He also lettered once in track (sprints), with prep bests of 11.42 in the 100-meter run and 23.4 in the 200.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Geology (Geophysics track) at Colorado. A member of the Honor Roll his junior and senior years in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born March 23, 1992 in Chico, Calif. He has earned his pilot's license and flies regularly when he has the chance, and other hobbies include hunting, fishing and four-wheeling in his jeep.

TIMOTHY COLEMAN, JR., DL

6-2, 250, Fr., RS

Denver, Colo.

(Mullen)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He was expected to be 100 percent for August drills, as he did not participate in the spring while finishing his rehabilitation following surgery to repair a torn Achilles tendon.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he suffered a ruptured Achilles tendon on September 18 and it required surgery to mend. He was likely ticketed to redshirt regardless, as he wasn't able to fully participate in August drills while completing rehabilitation for knee surgery he underwent as a senior in high school.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-Central Region honors at defensive end as a senior, despite suffering a season-ending knee injury in Mullen's second game of the year at national power De La Salle (Calif.), suffering both torn ligaments (ACL and MCL) and meniscus that required surgery (which he had in November). He was a first-team All-5A West Metro League performer as a junior offensive tackle. In roughly a game-and-a-half at defensive end before being hurt as a senior, he racked up 14 tackles, five quarterback sacks, nine pressures, two forced fumbles and a pass broken up, appearing to be on his way to a big season. He did not play much defense as a junior, and in a reserve role as a sophomore, he had five hurries, two fumble recoveries and a sack. He was a two-year starter at left offensive tackle, and did not allow a quarterback sack or was called for a single penalty his junior or senior seasons (14 games); he allowed only four pressures and had numerous touchdown blocks. In the season opener against Valor Christian his senior year, a 14-13 win, he had a huge game: he had eight tackles, including two quarterback sacks, two caused fumbles and a pass deflection. One of his top games at offensive tackle came in a 34-18 win over Bear Creek as a junior, when he had a monster block on a reverse that led to a touchdown, as well as three direct TD blocks inside the red zone. Under Coach Tom Thenell, Mullen was 6-5 his senior year; under coach Dave Logan, the Mustangs were 9-3 his junior season and 14-0 his sophomore year, claiming the 5A state championship (as well as the 5A West Metro League title). He lettered twice in track (throws; owns a personal best of 46-6 in the shot put).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Computer Science at Colorado. He was a member of the Mullen Honor Roll his freshman and sophomore years.

PERSONAL—He was born October 25, 1995 in Beaufort, S.C. His hobbies include ceramics (pots, bowls, vases), playing the piano, and "taking things apart and putting them back together" (Xbox, building improved remote controls, etc.). His father (Timothy Sr.) played wide receiver at Mississippi State and Delta State. He is very active in community service, having volunteered for the Ronald McDonald House (serving meals), Variety Colorado (assembling bicycles for underprivileged kids), World Vision (collecting clothing and shoes to ship overseas), the YMCA (spending time with kids) and Habitat For Humanity (landscaping).

BRAD COTNER, OL

6-3, 275, Jr., 2L

Thousand Oaks, Calif.

(Westlake/College of the Canyons)

64

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall listed second at right offensive guard, but also has plenty of experience lining up at center.

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in seven games (no starts), dressing for all except for the Arizona game, when he was held out due to precautionary reasons with an ankle sprain. He was in for 63 snaps from scrimmage, with 35 plus plays for a plus percentage of 55.6 (actual grade was higher as it took into account neutral results). He had four knockdown blocks and two touch-down blocks, while not allowing a quarterback sack or pressure and was not called for any penalties.

2012 (Fr.-RS): He saw action in eight games, including a start against Fresno State. He was in for a total of 74 snaps, grading out to 67.6 percent for the season; his best game grade came against Arizona State (75.0). He played the most in his start, lining up for 32 plays against the Bulldogs. He had one will-breaker block and allowed one quarterback sack with no pressures allowed while also not being flagged for a penalty.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced the entire fall on the offensive line but was ineligible to play after transferring to Colorado from College of the Canyons via Ventura Community College. He signed his letter-of-intent in the summer and counted as a member of the 2011 recruiting class; he was the rare exception of his NCAA clock not starting because he attended junior college on a part-time basis, thus he had to sit out a year in residence but still would have four years of eligibility remaining.

AT COLLEGE OF THE CANYONS (2010, Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced on the offensive line on football team but did not play in any games. He then attended Ventura Community College, also on a part-time basis, in the spring.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned second-team All-Ventura County and first-team All-Marmonte League honors at center as a senior, helping to lead Westlake to the Division Northern 3 CIF Championship. In starting all 14 games, he did not allow a quarterback sack or get flagged for any penalties, and allowed his man to pressure the QB on just two occasions. Westlake was an offensive juggernaut, averaging 408 yards of offense (218 rushing) and outscoring the opponent 580-219, including nine games with 40-plus points; the team boasted a 2,000-yard passer, a 1,000-yard rusher and a 1,000-yard receiver, the latter being fellow CU recruit Nelson Spruce. As a junior playing right tackle, he earned honorable mention All-League accolades, allowing just two sacks and three pressures with just one penalty. His biggest high school moment came in the CIF title game, when Westlake scored with under two minutes remaining to defeat Moorpark, 14-10; he helped his Warrior team rush for 151 yards and amass 371 yards of total offense in the win. WHS was 14-0 his senior year (also the Marmonte League champs) and 7-5 his junior season under coach Jim Benkert. He started all 26 games on the varsity between his junior and senior years, as he played on the junior varsity, on both the offensive and defensive lines, as a freshman and sophomore. He also played basketball on the junior varsity team as a freshman.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Political Science at Colorado. He earned second-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as a redshirt freshman and honorable mention status as a sophomore. He was a member of Westlake's Academic Honor Roll his junior and senior years.

PERSONAL—He was born May 9, 1992 in Thousand Oaks, Calif. His hobbies include reading, writing, going to the movies and playing basketball. His father (Steven) played college basketball at Cal-Lutheran.

LANCE COTTRELL, OLB

6-2, 215, Fr., HS

Plano, Texas

(Plano West)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected to play outside linebacker as a true freshman in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—He started two years at defensive end for Plano West, serving as one of the team captains as a senior, when he was in on 78 total tackles (48 solo). Those included 16 tackles for losses, eight of which were quarterback sacks; he also recorded 21 quarterback hurries, 10 passes broken up, a forced fumble and a recovery. As a junior, he posted 24 tackles (14 solo), with two for losses including a sack; he also had 14 hurries and two fumble recoveries. Under coach Mike Hughes, PWHS was 6-5 his senior season and 9-5 his junior year (claiming the district and area team titles). He lettered twice in track (shot put, discus) under coach John Lowrance, who was also his defensive ends coach; he was the district champion in the discus as a junior and the runner-up in the shot put as a senior, when he was also was a team captain. His career-best throw in the discus, 168-02, set a school record. Plano West was the district team champion his sophomore and senior seasons.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in majoring in Business (Finance) at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born April 28, 1996 in Plano, Texas. His hobbies include weightlifting, swimming, drawing and listening to music; though a Texas native, his favorite NFL team is the Denver Broncos. An older brother, Bryce, is a sophomore defensive end at the University of Texas. His father, Comer Cottrell, was a minority owner of the Texas Rangers with former President George W. Bush. His nickname is Hollister, as one of his summer jobs was working as a Hollister model.

KAIWI CRABB, OL

6-3, 300, Sr., 2L

Honolulu, Hawai'i

(Punahou)

54

in the weight room.

2013 (Jr.)—He started all 12 games at left offensive guard, emerging as a consistent performer in the trenches after missing a year with back problems but was finally 100 percent healthy. He was in for 779 snaps from scrimmage, with 487 plus plays for a plus percentage of 62.5 (game grades were higher, as those took neutral results into account); he played every down in five games and over 90 percent of them in five others. He had 30 knockdown blocks and two touchdown blocks, while allowing just two quarterback sacks; he was not called for a penalty all season. He also played an additional eight snaps on the FG/PAT unit on special teams.

2012 (Soph.)—He did not see any action as a nagging back injury bothered him throughout much of the year; he first strained it in winter conditioning drills on February 27.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in all 13 games (no starts), playing the last eight games on offense in varying amounts from one to 24 snaps (the latter against Oregon). He played a total of 77 snaps on the season, and graded out to 67.5 percent, with one great effort block while being called for two penalties. He played an additional 47 snaps (out of 48) as a member of the Field Goal/PAT unit on special teams.

2010 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced on the offensive line (interior, guard and center) and was on the scout team.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned All-Region honors from PrepStar and SuperPrep where he was ranked the No. 133 player from the states of California, Hawai'i and Nevada and was both the No. 14 player from Hawai'i and the No. 14 offensive lineman. He is a three-star prospect as ranked by ESPN, Rivals.com and Scout.com. He is ranked as the No. 42 offensive tackle in the nation by Rivals.com, where he is also rated the No. 10 player from Hawai'i; the No. 64 offensive tackle by Scout.com and No. 76 offensive tackle by ESPN. He was a member of the 100th annual Interscholastic League of Honolulu All-Star first team, as selected by the league's coaches. He was named to the Honolulu Advertiser Hot 11 list. He participated in an All Star game featuring Hawaiian players against players from the mainland. As a senior, he earned first-team All-ILH honors and was second-team All-State. He estimates he had about 30 pancake blocks and 10 touchdown blocks and allowed just two sacks all season. Punahou averaged 225 yards per game passing and over 100 yards per game rushing during the season. He lists his best games that season against St. Louis, when they defeated their rival twice. As a junior, he was named first-team All-State by the Honolulu Advertiser and first-team All-ILH, helping Punahou to a 10-1 season and a state championship. After losing to St. Louis in the regular season match-up, he lists a top game that season as the second match-up when they defeated St. Louis 41-28 for the first time since 2005. That win advanced them to the state championship final, where they defeated Lahaina to win the school's first state championship. The offensive line in that game earned players of the game honors. As a sophomore, he earned honorable mention All-ILH helping Punahou to a 9-2 record. He also lettered in basketball for two years and averaged 8.5 points and 7.5 rebounds per game. He also lettered in volleyball his sophomore year and track & field his junior year (he won state in the discus with a throw of 152 feet).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication and earning a minor in Geography at Colorado and is eventually interested in obtaining his teaching certificate.

PERSONAL—He was born June 14, 1991 in Honolulu. His hobbies include going to the beach, body surfing, photography, playing the ukulele and volleyball (he played in the Junior Olympics as a prep). An older brother, Kaione, is on the track & field team at UCLA (throws), and he also has two cousins who play volleyball at Long Beach State, Trevor and Taylor Crabb. He is active in the community and has helped with a local head start program for families that couldn't afford to send their kids to preschool and kindergarten, where he assisted teachers serving breakfast and was another set of eyes and ears when the kids were playing. First name is Anthony. (Name is pronounced kuh-E-vee.)

KEN CRAWLEY, CB

6-1, 170, Jr., 2L

Washington, D.C.
(H.D. Woodson)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—Enters the fall tied atop the depth chart at right cornerback. He suffered a fractured finger in the fourth spring practice session and was limited for the most part thereafter. He did return in full for the spring game, recording four tackles, one for a loss, with two pass deflections.

2013 (Soph.)—He played in 11 games, starting 10, as he missed the UCLA game after tweaking an ankle in practice two days prior. In 761 snaps from scrimmage, he was in on 50 tackles (38 solo, two for losses and one for zero gain), also making eight third down stops and five pass deflections. He made two interceptions, both in the end zone and both in the final minute to all but end the Central Arkansas and California games; he also had a team-high nine touchdown saves.

He had a season-high seven tackles against Cal and USC, and had six stops against Charleston Southern and Washington.

2012 (Fr.)—He earned honorable mention All-Pac 12 honors from the league coaches and honorable mention freshman All-American honors from collegefootballnews.com. He saw action in 11 games, including 10 starts (he did not dress for the Stanford game due to illness). He played the second most snaps at the time by a true freshman on defense in CU history, seeing action for 642 plays from scrimmage (second only to elder teammate Greg Henderson, who played 823 in 2011); the 82 plays he was in for against Washington State were the most ever by a CU freshman in a game (until Addison Gillam topped it a year later). He was in on 58 tackles, 46 solo that included three for losses; he also recorded five third down stops, five passes broken up and four touchdown saves. He posted his season and career-high of 10 tackles on two occasions, in the opener against Colorado State (five solo) and in CU's lone win of the season at Washington State (nine solo, along with two pass deflections). He also had eight stops against Sacramento State and UCLA (seven solo each time). He also led the team in punt returns, as he had 12 for 81 yards, averaging 6.8 per.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, SuperPrep ranked him the No. 10 player in the Mid-Atlantic Region, the second defensive back, and also listed him as the No. 2 prospect out of Washington, D.C. ESPN.com slotted him as the No. 18 cornerback in the nation while Rivals.com ranked him the No. 22 corner; MaxPreps ranked him the No. 17 safety in the country. Most of the services also considered him to be the No. 2 prospect out of the District. The Washington Post selected him the D.C. area Player of the Year, as he was a first-team All-Met selection. He also garnered first-team All-District and first-team All-Eastern League honors (the latter for a second consecutive year). Following his senior season, he participated in the Chesapeake Bowl All-Star Game in Edgewater, Md.; the game featured top seniors from D.C., Maryland and Virginia taking on those from New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. His career totals playing cornerback and wide receiver included 14 interceptions, three returned for touchdowns. In addition to those three scores, he had 11 other TDs: eight receiving, one by punt return, one via kickoff return and one on a blocked punt return, giving him 14 career touchdowns in five different ways. As a senior, he had 43 tackles, five interceptions (96 return yards, including a 30-yard touchdown), eight pass breakups, one fumble recovery and one blocked punt, while on offense, he had 12 receptions for 280 yards and four scores. He also made an impact on special teams, returning both a kickoff (100 yards) and a punt (66 yards) for touchdowns. Top games as a senior included a 24-6 win over Wilson (three catches for 77 yards and 2 TDs, the 100-yard kickoff return and a blocked punt) and a 35-14 loss to Washington (three receptions for 46 yards, the 66-yard punt return while making seven tackles). In his junior season, he had 32 tackles, seven interceptions, five pass breakups, and three blocked punts, scoring on an interception return and a blocked punt return, in addition to four offensive scores. His best performance as a junior came in a 28-12 win over Fairmont Heights when he made three interceptions to go along with six tackles. As a sophomore, he recorded eight tackles but had two interceptions, one of which he returned for a touchdown. Under coach Greg Fuller, Woodson went 24-12 in his three seasons (6-5 as a senior; 9-3 as a junior; 9-4 as a sophomore), winning the Eastern League in both his sophomore and junior years. He ran track as a sophomore, participating on the relay teams (4x100- and 4x200-meter).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born February 8, 1993, in Washington, D.C. He enjoys playing volleyball, going to movies and hanging out with friends in his spare time. A cousin, Stephon Morris, played defensive back at Penn State and spent the 2012 season with the New England Patriots. He also serves his community by assisting at a group home in D.C. At Woodson, he teamed with 2011 Buff recruit Sherrard Harrington, as well as 2012 CU signees John Walker and De'Jon Wilson.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He ended the spring listed fifth on the depth at tailback. He had 19 rushes for 104 yards in the four main spring scrimmages, 39 of which came in the spring game; included in that total was a 6-yard touchdown run with 1:43 left in the game to lift the Black to a 21-17 win over the Gold.

2013 (Jr.)—He saw action in six games (no starts, the final six of the season); he saw the bulk of his action on special teams, posting three knockdown blocks on return unit duty. He did not record an offensive statistic on the year. Though ending the spring listed fifth at tailback, he did see plenty of reps once fully back from a nasty knee injury he suffered as a true freshman.

2012 (Soph.)—He played in six games (no starts), seeing limited action as he was still recovering from major knee surgery. He had seven rushing attempts on the season for 22 yards, the bulk of his action coming in the opener against Colorado State (four carries for 17 yards, with his season-long run of 10 yards). He also caught a pass for a 1-yard loss. He missed all of spring practice while undergoing rehabilitation following the surgery; the knee was still a bit sore at the start of August camp so his return to practice was delayed.

2011 (Fr.)—Plans likely called for him to redshirt, but injuries changed things as he saw his first action in the eighth game of the season against Oregon. But a week later, he suffered torn ligaments at Arizona State and underwent November surgery. In limited action, he showed explosiveness as a kickoff return man (22.0 average on five runbacks) and he had 11 carries for 37 yards against the Sun Devils before leaving the game with the knee injury. He had 43 yards on 15 carries in the two games he saw action, along with two receptions (for a net zero yards).

HIGH SCHOOL—Ranked the No. 121 running back in the country by Scout.com and the No. 8 running back from California on that list. ESPN ranked him the No. 18 running back from California. He was named first-team All-CIF at running back his senior season when he was named first-team All-Western League (he was second-team as a junior). He was Palisades' Most Valuable Player both as a junior and senior. He finished his career with 224 rushes for 1,958 yards and 24 touchdowns (28 total scores including two kickoff and two interception returns). As a senior, he rushed 120 times for 1,270 yards and 19 touchdowns and caught four passes for 93 yards on offense, tallying six 100-yard rushing games and four games with multiple rushing touchdowns (three times in each of those games). On defense, he tallied 47 tackles and had three interceptions (one returned for a TD), five passes broken up and one forced fumble, and he returned two kickoffs for scores on special teams. His junior campaign, he rushed 98 times for 660 yards and four touchdowns while catching 18 passes for 239 yards. He returned an interception for a California state record 108 yards for a touchdown. His sophomore season was his first season playing football; he rushed for 28 yards on six carries with one score. His top games as a senior included seven rushes for 94 yards (13.4 average) and a touchdown in a 41-0 win over Lynwood, when he returned an interception 99 yards for another score. Against Venice, he had one rushing touchdown and had two interceptions and a forced fumble on defense. Against Granada Hills in a 10-0 win, he had 14 carries for 127 yards (9.1 per rush). He had 108 yards and three touchdowns on just seven carries (15.4 avg.) against University in a 44-7 win and followed that game up with another three touchdown performance against Hamilton in a 66-36 win when he rushed 13 times for 118 yards. He had his third straight 100-yard game against Fairfax with 10 rushes for 123 yards and a touchdown in a 44-34 victory. He tallied back-to-back 100 yard games again later his senior season with eight carries for 146 yards (18.3 per) and three touchdowns in a 43-28 win over Lincoln and followed that up with eight carries for 162 yards (20.3 avg.) and three scores including one from 81 yards against Poly in a 50-40 win. As his junior year progressed, he got stronger as a running back, rushing for 338 of his 660 yards in the last three games of the season. He had his first 100-yard rushing game against University in a 20-15 win with 12 carries for 108 yards and followed up that performance with 14 carries for 170 yards (long of 53) and a touchdown the next week against Hamilton. He finished the season with seven rushes for 60 yards and a touchdown against Fairfax. Palisades improved from 1-9 his junior season to 7-6 as a senior when the team advanced to the City Second Division II semifinals under coach Perry Jones. He also lettered three times in basketball (point guard), specializing in defense; he led the league in the charges including one game when he took four. As a senior, he did battle with Spencer Dinwiddie, the Los Angeles area player of the year who signed with the Buffs.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in SLHS (Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences) at Colorado. As a sophomore (April 2013), he was presented with the Clancy A. Herbst, Jr. Student-Athlete Achievement Award, which is given to athletes who overcome personal, academic or emotional difficulties to succeed both academically and athletically. He was a member of the Honor Roll in high school his junior and senior years.

PERSONAL—He was born December 30, 1992 in Bellflower, Calif. His hobbies include working out, yoga, playing video games and most recently, cycling (he rode 175 miles over two days). He enjoys yoga and has taken massage classes. He lived in the Crenshaw district of Los Angeles but commuted to Palisades for the better academic offerings. He also took two years of evening classes at Santa Monica College to learn sign language as he has become proficient in ASL. His nickname growing up, given to him by his mother, was "Toppie."

TERRENCE CROWDER, TB

5-10, 220, Soph., VR

Galena Park, Texas
(Galena Park)

34

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He ended the spring listed sixth on the depth chart at tailback. He had 64 yards on 17 carries in the four main spring scrimmages, including a 12-yard touchdown run.

2013 (Fr.-RS)—He did not see any action, but did return to 100 percent health by the fall as he completed rehabilitation from knee surgery in early summer.

2012 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he was practicing at tailback and was likely ticketed to redshirt, the point became moot when he suffered a torn knee ligament (ACL) in practice on October 3. He underwent surgery a month later (November 6) and began rehab immediately.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, Scout.com ranked him as the No. 97 running back in the country, the No. 18 back out of the state of Texas; ESPN.com ranked him the No. 106 running back nationally and the No. 246 player overall out of Texas. He missed almost all of his senior season, as he tore his ACL after just three carries for 25 yards in Galena Park's season opener. He earned unanimous first-team All-District 19 honors following his junior season after rushing for 1,338 yards and 15 touchdowns on 193 carries with a longest rush of 70 yards. A four-year letterman, he rushed for 1,556 yards rushing over his final three years despite hardly playing in his senior year. He also was an active participant on special teams, blocking punts (six) and performing the up-back role on kickoff returns, blocking for other return men. Top games his junior season included 145 rushing yards and two touchdowns in a 46-12 win over Sam Rayburn, and rushing for 150 yards and two scores in a 44-7 win over Goose Creek. Under coach Ray Zepeda, Galena Park went 7-4 in his junior season, finishing third in the district and advancing to the state playoffs, and was 3-7 his senior year when he had to watch from the sidelines. He also lettered four times in track as a sprinter, participating in the 100-meter dash as well as the 4x100 and 4x200 meter relay teams.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado. In high school he carried a 3.5 grade point average and was a member of the Academic Honor Roll for his district.

PERSONAL—He was born December 14, 1993, in Houston, Texas. His hobbies include working out and playing video games; he also played the trumpet in middle school. He was active in his community through the Gents Organization, a group at his high school based upon principles of good citizenship, high moral standards and high academic achievement.

BRADY DAIGH, ILB

6-2, 255, Sr., 3L

Littleton, Colo.
(Denver Mullen)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He enters the fall listed second at the “mike” inside linebacker position. He has 45 career special team points (CU’s unique grading system), and needs just 11 to crack the all-time top 10.

2013 (Jr.)—He played in 11 games (one start, versus Southern California) and in eight on defense, missing the finale at Utah with a sprained ankle he suffered against the Trojans. He saw action both inside and outside; in fact his start against USC was at outside ‘backer; he was in for 113 plays from scrimmage, recording 16 tackles (13 solo) for the season. He had two tackles for zero, a third down stop and a forced fumble, the latter at Arizona State when he saw his most scrimmage action of the year (32 plays); he logged a career-high 10 tackles (eight solo) against the Sun Devils. The coaches named him the co-recipient of the Bill McCartney Award, given for special teams achievement, as he tied for second with 18 special team points on the strength of four tackles (two inside-the-20), 10 knockdown blocks on returns, a caused penalty and a first downfield credit that altered a return. He had missed the last portion of spring drills with a slight knee sprain, but the coaches still presented him with the Dick Anderson Award for outstanding toughness.

2012 (Soph.)—He played in 10 games, including one start (Stanford); he missed the USC and Oregon games after suffering a cervical spine strain against Arizona State. He was in for 250 snaps from scrimmage, recording 40 tackles, which included 31 solo, five for losses including a quarterback sack, three stops for zero gains and two third down stops. He also had a forced fumble (against Colorado State) and a pass broken up. He had a season-high nine tackles (seven solo) against Stanford, when he played 67 snaps and registered his sack and pass deflection. He also had six tackles against Arizona State and five each against Fresno State and Washington. He won the Bill McCartney Award for special teams achievement; he finished second on the team in special team points with 21, as he was in on six tackles (one inside-the-20), recorded 12 knockdown block, caused one penalty and recovered a blocked kick.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action as a true freshman, playing in 12 games, nine on defense (no starts; he missed the Colorado State game with a hip contusion). He saw just 82 snaps from scrimmage, but recorded 18 tackles, or one for every 4.6 plays which led the team; 13 of the stops were solo. He had a season-high six tackles (four solo) at Washington, with five the very next week against Oregon (four solo). He also racked up six special team points on the strength of five tackles (one solo, with one of the assists coming inside-the-20).

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was a PrepStar All-Region selection and SuperPrep All-Midlands team member, the latter ranking him as the No. 58 player in the region and the No. 6 linebacker and No. 8 overall player from Colorado. He was named on the prestigious Tacoma News-Tribune Western 100 list and was one of 12 linebackers on the squad. Scout.com listed him as the No. 32 middle linebacker and Rivals.com ranked him as the No. 35 inside linebacker; he was the top inside linebacker from Colorado by both publications. ESPN ranked him as the No. 65 inside linebacker nationally (the No. 13 player from Colorado). He earned first-team All-Colorado and All-State (5A) honors by the Denver Post and was also named first-team All-Big 6 Conference. He earned second-team All-Centennial League honors as a junior and made the honorable mention squad after his sophomore season as Mullen switched league affiliation prior to his senior season. His senior season he recorded 141 tackles (73 solo) including 11 for losses (five quarterback sacks) to go along with two interceptions, one pass break-up and two fumble recoveries, one of which he returned for a touchdown. As a junior, he totaled 127 tackles (72 solo) with one sack. Between his junior and senior seasons, he was a critical part of a defense that combined for 12 shut outs and 11 more games allowing seven or fewer points in 28 games during that span. Under former CU All-American Dave Logan, Mullen compiled a 40-2 record during his three varsity seasons, winning three Colorado State 5A Championships; that included back-to-back 14-0 seasons and a 33-game winning streak to end his career. He lists his top games as the state championship game from each season: he had nine tackles and a sack in a 37-6 win over Regis in the state final his senior year; that same season, he also had 15 tackles in a 35-0 win over Columbine and had 11 tackles, one sack and two fumble recoveries, returning one for a touchdown, in a 41-24 win over Cherry Creek. He had eight solo tackles and 13 overall in a 34-14 win over Bear Creek. Top games his junior season included a nine tackle effort in a 27-24 win over Pomona in the state title game, along with 11 tackles and a sack against Arapahoe (a 40-0 victory) and 13 tackles in a 37-15 win over Cherry Creek. He also had 10 tackles and a fumble recovery in a 44-0 win over Boulder.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in English at Colorado. He earned several academic honors as a prep at Mullen.

PERSONAL—He was born November 13, 1992 in Littleton, Colo. His hobbies include fly-fishing, playing basketball and video games. He volunteered through Mullen for a program called World Vision that collected and packed clothes and shoes and sent them abroad to those in need. He was the first player to commit to Colorado in the 2011 recruiting class (doing so the previous July 19). Last name is pronounced day.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He ended spring practices listed fourth on the depth chart at left offensive tackle.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced all season on the offensive line. A recruited walk-on, he arrived on the Boulder campus in June.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned two letters as a two-year starter on the offensive line, enjoying a stellar senior season when he allowed zero sacks, only one pressure and was credited with five touchdown blocks. Detroit Country Day School was 18-6 during his junior and senior seasons, 11-3 and district regional champions his senior year and 7-3 his junior campaign under coach Dan MacLean. He also lettered twice in track and field (shot put and discus).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business at Colorado, but is undecided on his sequence. He earned Magnum Cum Laude honors as a freshman and junior in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born February 5, 1995 in Freeland, Mich. His hobbies include traveling, fishing, playing video games and weight lifting. His father, Dean, lettered three times (1981-83) in football at Central Michigan University. After college he hopes to become a businessman.

ELIJAH DUNSTON, WR

6-0, 185, Fr., RS

Reseda, Calif.
(Chaminade Prep)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—Enters the fall listed second at the "X" wide receiver position. He caught one pass for 10 yards in the main spring scrimmages.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced all fall at wide receiver.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors at wide receiver as a senior, when he garnered first-team All-CIF Southern Section/Western Division honors, with the Los Angeles Daily News selecting him second-team All-Area. He was a first-team All-Mission League performer as a senior (he was second-team as a junior and honorable mention as a sophomore). For his career, he caught 101 passes for 1,398 yards (13.8 per) and 18 touchdowns. A two-year starter, he had 38 receptions for 609 yards and seven touchdowns as a senior, while hauling in 53 balls for 641 yards and 11 scores as a junior (catching five or more passes in six games). He had 10 catches for 148 yards his sophomore season. He played defensive end on Chaminade's freshman team, recording 20 quarterbacks for the season, including eight in one game. Top games as a senior: in a 35-27 win over Notre Dame, he caught seven passes for 145 yards; in 42-14 win over St. Francis, he had a career-high eight receptions for 93 yards and two touchdowns; and in a 62-26 rout of Cathedral, he caught three balls for 92 yards and a score. Top games as a junior: in a 38-14 loss to Alemany, he caught six passes for 92 yards and two TDs; in a 36-32 over Notre Dame, he caught seven for 84 and a score; in a 31-6 verdict over St. Paul, he had seven receptions for 78 yards and two touchdowns; and in a 45-15 win over Inglewood, he had two catches for 74 yards, both for TDs (43 and 31 yards). Under Coach Ed Croson, Chaminade Prep was 12-2 his senior season, claiming the Mission League championship and reaching the CIF finals, and was 11-3 his junior year, losing in the CIF semifinals. He also lettered four times in track, participating in the 200-meter run (career best time of 21.9) and in the 4x100 and 4x400 relays.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born February 7, 1995 in Woodland Hills, Calif. Hobbies included playing basketball and video games; he sings in his church choir and he used to play the violin. In high school, he worked with PALS, a local after school program for area youths.

THOR EATON, ILB

6-3, 210, Jr., VR

Colorado Springs, Colo.
(Pine Creek)

92

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall tied for third at the "will" inside linebacker position. He had an assisted tackle in the spring game.

2013 (Soph.)—He did not see any action. He moved from defensive end to inside linebacker for spring practice.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He did not see any action, but did dress for three games.

He joined the team as a walk-on for spring practices. He practiced at defensive end in the spring, marking the first time he played defense in his football career (he was only on offense in high school).

2011 (Fr.)—He attended Colorado as a student, but was not a member of the football team; however, his NCAA "clock" started once he enrolled and started taking classes.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned two letters in football playing quarterback, receiver and special teams; he was the team's holder his sophomore through senior seasons. He started at receiver as a senior, making eight touchdown receptions, and also saw spot duty at quarterback, as he threw for about 200 yards which included a 58-yard touchdown pass. Under coach Todd Miller, Pine Creek was 10-2 his senior year, 11-1 his junior season and 12-1 his sophomore campaign, winning the Pikes Peak League and District 20 titles all three years. PCHS advanced to the state semifinals his sophomore season and the quarterfinals his junior year, losing a heartbreaker in the latter to Longmont, 42-41; that team was the first undefeated regular season team in school history, which he lists as his biggest moment in high school. He also lettered once in basketball (forward).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Political Science at Colorado. He was a first-team Academic All-State selection his junior and senior years at Pine Creek.

PERSONAL—He was born May 26, 1993 in Colorado Springs, Colo. His hobbies include playing most sports and watching movies; he lists his favorite book as the Bible. He earned his Eagle Scout Award by the time he was 13, several years earlier than most; he actually did it through a local church since there was no troop in his area.

KYLE EVANS, TB

5-6, 175, Fr., HS

San Jose, Calif.
(Archbishop Mitty)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected to play tailback as a true freshman in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—A three-time letterman and senior team captain, he suffered a broken hand in the opening game of his senior year and would miss the next four games (initially, doctors said he would be out four months, but he returned in less than five weeks). As a junior, he earned second-team All-West Catholic Athletic League honors at both running back and cornerback. He amassed 2,152 all-purpose yards in his prep career, doing so on just 261 touches as he averaged 8.2 yards every time the ball was in his hands. As a senior, in just eight games, he rushed 82 times for 511 yards and five touchdowns (6.2 per), with seven receptions for 125 yards and a score (17.9 per catch). He saw limited time on defense because of the injury, but did have nine tackles (three solo) and two passes broken up. On special teams, he returned three punts for 92 yards and three kickoffs for 84, giving him 812 all-purpose yards in the eight games, or 101.5 per. As a junior, he had 83 carries for 598 yards and seven TDs (7.2 per carry), with 12 receptions covering another 172 yards (14.3 per); on defense, he was in on 34 tackles (12 solo, two for losses), with an interception and two deflections. In a reserve role as a sophomore, he had 199 yards on 47 carries and two scores with four catches for 58 yards, but saw regular duty as a return man, with 10 punt returns for 69 yards and eight kickoff run-backs for 180. His top game as a senior came in a 34-14 win over Palo Alto, when he rushed 10 times for 125 yards, including a 65-yard touchdown run, along with a 77-yard punt return for a score (earning Cal-Hi Player of the Week honors for his effort). Against St. Ignatius as a junior, he had 93 yards on just 11 carries and racked up seven tackles on defense. Under coach Matt Haniger, AMHS was 11-2 his senior year, winning the West Catholic Athletic League championship, 9-4 his junior season and 7-4-1 his sophomore campaign. He also lettered three times in track, participating in sprints and relays; he owned a career best of 11.2 in the 100-meter dash.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected to play quarterback as a true freshman in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—A team captain at two schools his junior and senior seasons, he garnered first-team All-De Anza League honors and second-team All-Area by the Daily News as a junior, when he was selected as his team's offensive most valuable player. Following his senior year, he was selected as a CES Literacy Classic All-Star, named to the CIF Central Coast Section team. As a senior, he completed 42-of-82 passes for 756 yards and 11 touchdowns (only two interceptions), as with changing schools from Mountain View to St. Francis, his new one had a more run-based offense; he added two scores rushing the football, with a long gain of 22 (he had negative yardage overall due to sacks). As a junior at MHS, he completed 116-of-256 passes for 1,572 yards and 13 touchdowns (12 interceptions); he rushed for a net 88 yards on 19 carries, though that total included sacks. He also handled the punting chores on occasion (27.7 average on three pooch kicks). He was on the junior varsity team as a freshman and sophomore. Top games as a senior: in a 49-15 win over Archbishop Riordan, he completed all six of his passes for 145 yards and three touchdowns; and in a 41-34 win over Serra, he was 8-of-11 for 145 yards and two scores. As a junior at Mountain View, he had six games with 150-plus yards passing, with his best outings against Los Altos (6-of-7, 190 yards and 2 TDs in a 55-8 win) and Wilcox (13-of-25, 209 yards, 2 TDs in a 55-28 loss). Under coach Greg Calcagno, St. Francis was 9-4 his senior year; under coach Toure Carter, Mountain View was 3-7 his junior season. He also played baseball as a freshman on the junior varsity team.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in majoring in Business at Colorado, and also has an interest in Engineering.

PERSONAL—He was born Sept. 13, 1996 in Mountain View, Calif. His hobbies include drawing and art. He is interested in the coaching profession after his playing days are over.

GEORGE FRAZIER, FB

Monrovia, Calif.
(Monrovia)

28

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He missed all of spring practice as he continued rehabilitation following reconstructive surgery (meniscus) in the offseason.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he initially was projected to play at either outside linebacker or defensive end in his freshman year in college, but was moved to full-back halfway into practices to get a look at that position where he remained the rest of the fall.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region and preseason SuperPrep All-Far West honors at linebacker as a senior, when he was also named second-team All-State by Cal-Hi Sports (SuperPrep ranked him as the No. 74 player overall in California-Hawaii-Nevada, Scout.com ranked him the No. 42 inside linebacker nationally). Scout.com named him to its West 150 team, the No. 115 player overall and the sixth-ranked middle linebacker. From his sophomore through senior years, he was a three-time, first-team All-CIF Southern Section/Mid Valley Division, first-team Pasadena Star-News All-Area and All-Rio Hondo League performer, including being named his league's defensive player of the year as a junior and senior. He was in on 84 tackles as a senior (47 solo), with eight for losses including two quarterback sacks, seven fumble recoveries (four caused) and 18 passes broken up. On offense (tight end/H-back), he rushed for 260 yards and four touchdowns with seven receptions for 137 yards and two more scores. As a junior, he had 69 tackles (27 solo), 11 for losses with three sacks, as well as three interceptions and three fumble recoveries. He did a little bit of everything on offense, rushing for 85 yards and a TD, catching two passes for 87 yards and a score, as well as completing 21-of-51 passes for 415 yards (with 2 TDs/4 INT). He also started at linebacker as a sophomore, recording 77 tackles (46 solo), with nine for losses, one sack, with two fumble recoveries and an interception. He had 230 total tackles in his prep career, with 12 fumble recoveries. He was called up to the varsity as a freshman for the playoffs and participated on special teams. Top games as a senior: in a 42-31 win over Sierra Canyon, he rushed four times for 149 yards and two touchdowns (including an 85-yard run), caught one pass for 47 yards and had four tackles on defense; in a 35-14 win over Temple City, he had eight tackles, five solo, with four for losses. Top games as a junior: in a 67-21 rout of Whittier Christian, he was in on nine tackles, seven solo which included three for losses and two quarterback sacks, had two interceptions and a touchdown reception on offense that covered 56 yards; in a 40-36 win over Paramount, he had a season-high 10 tackles (eight solo). Top game as a sophomore: in a 27-7 win over Paramount, he had a prep career-high 13 tackles (nine solo, two for losses). Under Coach Ryan Maddox, Monrovia was 12-3 his senior year, 11-3 his junior season and 12-2 his sophomore year, winning the Rio Hondo League title on all three occasions. Monrovia won the CIF Mid Valley title his sophomore and junior years but lost in the semifinals his senior season. He also lettered three times in basketball (power forward) as a freshman, sophomore and senior, and two times in track, participating in the 100-meter run, shot put (career best of 49-0) and discus (155-0).

ACADEMICS—He is interested in majoring in Integrative Physiology at Colorado. Owned a grade point average of 3.5 in high school and was a member of the Honor Roll.

PERSONAL—He was born June 12, 1995 in West Covina, Calif. His hobbies include playing most sports, in particular basketball, and video games, as well as coaching 8th grade football in nearby Duarte. Father (George Frazier IV) played college football (safety) at Fresno State, and an uncle (Damon Griffin) played wide receiver at Oregon and in the NFL with San Francisco, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

JASE FRANKE, DL

6-4, 270, Fr., HS

Camarillo, Calif.
(St. Bonaventure)

92

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected as a defensive linemen as a true freshman in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned first-team All-Marmonte League honors as a senior, when he was in on 75 tackles, 15 of which were for losses, including eight quarterback sacks. He also had 18 quarterback hurries, a forced fumble, one recovery and a pass broken up playing primarily defensive end, though often moved inside to tackle. He played spot duty as an offensive tackle, inserted in situations that required an extra blocker. As a junior, again at both end and tackle, he racked up 60 tackles, with 12 for losses including six sacks, along with 10 pressures. He started the last half of his sophomore year at end. Top games as a senior: in a 31-17 loss to Westlake, he made seven tackles, two of which were sacks, with three hurries; in a 43-7 win over Newbury Park, had had six tackles and four hurries as he helped limit the offense to 60 rushing yards on 20 attempts, over 100 yards below its season average. Under coach John Muller, St. Bonaventure was 8-4 his senior year; for coach Todd Therrien, the team was 11-2 his junior year, Marmonte East champions and CIF Southern Section semifinalist, and 10-3 his sophomore season. He also lettered twice in track (sprints and throws), with career bests of 140-0 (discus) and 42-0 (shot put).

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major at Colorado. He owned a 3.0 grade point average in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born June 2, 1995 in Thousand Oaks, Calif. His hobbies include playing adult league softball. An aunt (Barb Franke) played college basketball at the University of Wisconsin, and an uncle, Al Lorenzen, played basketball at the University of Iowa; his daughter (Jase's cousin), Haley Lorenzen, will be a freshman this fall on the women's basketball team at the University of Florida. (First name rhymes with case, last name is pronounced frank-E.)

Sylmar, Calif.
(Chaminade College Prep)

32

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected as an inside linebacker as a true freshman in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-State (Division II) honors from MaxPreps (second-team by Cal-Hi Sports), in addition to garnering All-CIF Southern Section Western Division and Los Angeles Daily News All-Area team accolades. Rivals.com ranked him as one of the top 100 players in the state of California following being named the Daily News' area and Mission League defensive player of the year as a junior. He was All-CIF, All-State and All-Area as a junior, and honorable mention All-CIF and All-State as a sophomore; he was a three-time, first-team All-Mission League performer (sophomore through senior years). As a senior, he was in on 170 tackles (102 solo), with 12 for losses including five quarterback sacks; he had three games with 20 or more stops and had 10 or more on nine occasions. He also forced three fumbles to go with two passes broken up and an interception. He played some fullback on offense, but it was primarily a blocking role as he did not have any carries. His junior season, he had 159 tackles (95 solo), with 14 behind the line of scrimmage (seven sacks, and one TFL for a safety), with two pass deflections and an interception; he had two games with 20 or more tackles and seven with 10 or more. He had 113 tackles his sophomore year (88 solo), with eight for losses including three sacks; he had three games with 10 or tackles. For his career, a three-year starter at inside linebacker, he had 442 tackles (285 solo, 34 for losses, 15 sacks), with 19 games when he had double figure tackle counts. In the CIF Southern Section title game, a 38-35 win over Serra, he had 13 tackles, two for losses, as one of his top efforts his senior year (he had 20 tackles against Serra in a 28-20 win as a junior). As a junior, he had 22 tackles (11 solo, five for losses with two sacks) in a 49-39 win over Pelaski Academy from Arkansas, one of two five TFL games he had that season (the other came in an overall 18 tackle effort in a loss to Oaks Christian). Under coach Ed Croson, Chaminade was 14-2 his senior year, claiming the CIF Division II state, Division II regional, Western Division and Mission League titles and finishing with a No. 2 ranking in the state; the team was 12-2 his junior season and 11-3 his sophomore year.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Business as his major at Colorado. He maintained a 3.0 grade point average in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born March 31, 1996 in Sylmar, Calif. His hobbies include listening to music; during high school, he coached his little brother's football team.

TY GANGI, QB

6-2, 190, Fr., HS

Glendale, Calif.
(St. Francis)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected to play quarterback as a true freshman in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—He was selected as the San Gabriel Valley Player-of-the Year by the Pasadena Star-News in leading St. Francis to one of its best seasons in school history. He also earned first-team All-CIF Southern Section and All-Mission League honors.

As a senior, he accounted for 3,311 yards and 38 touchdowns: he completed 189-of-342 passes for 2,882 yards and 25 scores (with only six interceptions), while rushing 117 times for 421 yards and 12 TDs; he also caught one pass for eight yards, and it, too went for a touchdown. He threw for 300 or more yards on three occasions and 200 or more eight times, with seven multiple TD-pass games. In a reserve role as a junior, he was 6-of-12 for 38 yards (0 TD/1 INT), and a sophomore, he completed all three of his passes for 47 yards (no scores or picks). He thus passed for 2,957 yards in his prep career. Top games his senior year: in a 48-14 win over Monrovia, he was 12-of-26 for 305 yards and four touchdowns, with 23 yards rushing and two more scores; he threw for a career-high 386 yards on 32-of-46 passing, with three scores, in a 56-35 loss to Chaminade; and in a 45-28 win over Culver City in the CIF playoffs, he was 20-of-29 for 244 yards (1 TD/1 INT). Under coach Jim Bonds, St. Francis was 10-3 his senior year, reaching the CIF Southern Section/West Division semifinals, and was 4-7 his junior season and 9-3 his sophomore year.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in majoring in Business at Colorado. He was one of 43 players honored by the San Gabriel Valley, Pasadena and Whittier Chapter of the National Football Foundation, named one of its Scholar-Athlete recipients for 2013; he was also presented with the Jim Brownfield Memorial Scholarship. In high school, he was a four-time member of the Mission League All-Academic team, and garnered St. Francis Scholar-Athlete honors all four years as a prep.

PERSONAL—He was born Oct. 30, 1995 in Glendale, Calif. His hobbies include water skiing, fishing and playing the piano. His grandfather (Jim Brown) played football for UCLA, earning All-America honors at guard in 1955, and an uncle (Kevin Brown) was a quarterback at Cal. An exceptional student, he was also recruited by Harvard and Yale.

JORDAN GEHRKE, QB

6-1, 195, Soph., RS

Scottsdale, Ariz.
(Notre Dame Prep/Scottsdale CC)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed second at quarterback, but he'll still compete for the top spot in August drills. He had an outstanding spring, completing 36-of-62 passes for 496 yards and four touchdowns (no interceptions) in the four main spring scrimmages (a 146.7 rating). He connected with Bryce Bobo for a 67-yard TD in the spring game.

2013 (Soph.-RS)—Redshirted; he practiced all fall at quarterback and dressed for all 12 games. He was the second to last recruit of Coach Mike MacIntyre's first Colorado class, signing with the Buffaloes on May 18; he joined the team for summer workouts.

AT SCOTTSDALE COMMUNITY COLLEGE: 2011 (Fr.)—He earned second team All-Region honors in helping SCC lead the nation in passing yards (355.2 per game). He played in all 10 games, completing 174-of-366 passes for 2,388 yards and 22 touchdowns; he completed 51.8 percent of his passes and threw 14 interceptions. He was sacked just twice all season and also scored one rushing touchdown. His top game came in the season finale, a 71-29 win over Phoenix College, when he was 29-of-43 for 384 yards and seven touchdowns (three interceptions). SCC was 5-5 under coach Doug Madoski.

HIGH SCHOOL—He was a second-team All-State and a first-team All-II Section III performer as a senior, when he completed 134-of-250 passes for 2,012 yards, a 53.6 completion percentage; he had 23 touchdowns and just 10 interceptions. He also rushed for 133 yards (24 attempts) and scored twice. As a junior, also a first-team All-Conference selection, he was 124-of-183 (a 67.8 percentage) for 2,358 yards with 24 touchdowns against only four picks; his long pass covered 78 yards and his passer rating was 141. He added 16 rushing attempts for 78 yards and a touchdown. He saw spot action on the varsity as a sophomore (2-of-4 for 26 yards passing). He played one snap on defense in his prep career, coming in a playoff game as a senior when he went in as an extra defensive back on the final play of the game in a "Hail Mary" situation. Top games as a senior included a 33-

14 win over Salpointe Catholic, when he completed 13-of-25 passes for 271 yards and five touchdowns; in a 41-14 win over Cactus Shadows (15-of-28, 279, 3 TDs), in a 41-10 win over McClintock (11-of-15, 175, 3 TDs with a 6-yard TD run) and in a 28-24 win over Desert Mountain (10-of-21, 109, 3 TDs). Top games his junior year: in a 49-48 loss to Williams Field, he was 14-of-18 for 359 yards and two scores (the 4A state semifinal game where he was stopped just short of the end zone on a 2-point try with 19 seconds remaining); and in a 42-14 playoff win over Mingus the previous week, he was 10-of-14 for 235 yards and four touchdowns. He had five 200-plus yard games and completed 60 percent or more of his passes in 11 games. Notre Dame Prep was 5-5 his senior season, 11-2 his junior campaign and 7-4 his sophomore year under coach Scott Bemis. He lettered twice in basketball, playing multiple positions (averaged 4.7 points, 2.8 rebounds and 1.4 in 23 games as a senior), and also lettered once in track as a sophomore (sprints and relays).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Psychology at Colorado. He was on the Dean's List throughout high school and graduated with a cumulative 3.64 grade point average.

PERSONAL—He was born July 28, 1994 in Scottsdale, Ariz. His hobbies include playing most sports, including basketball and baseball, along with trying new ones, and playing the guitar; an interesting summer job after high school was working with a friend in construction. A second cousin, Jay Gehrke, was a pitcher for Arizona State in the late 1990s. He has been very active in community service, including working with Boys & Girls Clubs, Hope Kids and various area churches.

JIMMIE GILBERT, DL

6-4, 230, Soph., 1L

College Station, Texas
(A&M Consolidated)

98

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He missed all of spring as he completed rehabilitation from offseason surgery to mend a chronic subluxation.

2013 (Fr.)—He played in all 12 games (one start, at Oregon State), seeing action for 261 snaps from scrimmage. He was in on 11 tackles, eight of which were solo (two for losses including one quarterback sack). He also had five third down stops, three quarterback hurries and a forced fumble. He had a season-high three tackles on two occasions, at Arizona State (all solo) and versus Central Arkansas (two unassisted, including his sack when he played his most snaps in a game – 48). He had his caused fumble against the Sun Devils.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-Central Region honors at defensive end as a senior, when he earned Associated Press second-team All-State honors. The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal named him to its Texas 100 List (one of 12 linebackers). Scout.com ranked him as the No. 74 defensive end in the nation, while 247sports.com listed him among its top five "Texas Sleepers." He earned first-team All-District 14-5A honors as a senior, and was first-team All-District 12-5A his junior and sophomore seasons. As a senior, he played as a hybrid defensive end/outside linebacker and was in on 78 tackles (39 solo), almost a third of which were for losses (25), including 10 quarterback sacks. He recorded 32 quarterback hurries, three passes broken up, two fumble recoveries (one caused) and a blocked field goal. He started at end his sophomore and junior seasons (he had at least 48 tackles, five quarterback sacks, three interceptions and two fumble recoveries as a junior; his coaches didn't always log the tackle numbers and didn't record any his sophomore year). He played tight end on offense in special packages as a junior and senior, primarily a blocker in two-tight end formations. He also played on coverage and FG/PAT units on special teams. One of his top games as a senior came in a 21-14 win over The Woodlands, when he had three quarterback sacks and as many pressures, and one of his best games his junior season came in a 27-20 loss to Cy-Woods, when he had two sacks and returned an interception 18 yards for a touchdown. Under Coach David Raffield, A&M Consolidated was 9-3 his senior year (District 14-5A tri-champions), 5-6 his junior season and 11-2 his sophomore campaign (District 12-5A champions). He lettered four times in basketball (forward, a four-year starter) and lettered three times in track (shot put, with a career personal best of 55-6), reaching the regionals as a senior.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Integrative Physiology at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born November 9, 1994 in College Station, Texas. His hobbies include spending time with his friends, as he one of the few in this day and age who does not play video games. His father (Jimmie Sr.) played college basketball at Texas A&M from 1983-86 (a 6-9 center; he was named to the All-Southwest Conference Newcomer Team in 1983, was a fifth round draft choice by the Chicago Bulls in the '86 NBA Draft and played professionally overseas); his mother (Nelda) played college basketball at North Texas; and his older sister (Karla) was a center for Texas A&M (the team MVP as a senior in 2013-14). He also volunteers at his father's recreation center, spending time with young kids.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He must sit out the season after transferring to CU from Portland State; he did finish the spring listed third on the depth chart at the "mike" inside linebacker position. He joined the team as a walk-on for spring practices, and had three tackles (two solo, one for a loss), in the four main spring scrimmages. He'll have three years to play three once eligible in 2015.

AT PORTLAND STATE (Fr., 2013)—Redshirted; he did not see any action but was a defensive back under coach Nigel Burton. PSU was 6-6 in his lone season there.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was first-team All-State (Division I), first-team All-CIF and first-team All-Orange County in addition to being named the defensive most valuable player in the Trinity League. At his linebacker position, he recorded 106 tackles (74 solo), with 28 for losses including 11 quarterback sacks, also forcing three fumbles. He was in on 66 tackles (31 solo, three for losses) along with an interception as a junior. On offense, he rushed 78 times for 335 yards and six touchdowns his senior season, while gaining 200 yards on 63 tries with four scores as a junior. Top games as a senior included 60 yards rushing and a TD on 11 carries in a 48-13 win over Carson; and in a 24-7 win over Santa Margarita, he rushed for 44 yards on eight attempts with a score while racking up 13 tackles, with 11 solo including four quarterback sacks, on defense. Mater Dei was 11-3 his senior season, reaching the CIF championship game, 4-6 his junior year and 9-4 his sophomore year under coach Bruce Rollinson.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in majoring in Business at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born October 20, 1994 in Newport Beach, Calif. His hobbies include going to the beach and playing video games.

(Foothill)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—

Selected by his teammates as one of six team captains for the season; along with Sefo Liufau, they are the first two permanent captains elected as sophomores in CU history. He enters the fall atop the depth chart at the "mike" inside linebacker position. He was selected preseason second-team All-Pac-12 by Athlon Sports and Phil Steele's College Football (third-team by Lindy's Pac-12 Football), he's ranked as the nation's No. 15 inside linebacker by PSCF. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the linebackers for his spring work in the weight room. To no one's surprise, he led the team in tackles with 28 in the four spring scrimmages (20 solo, two sacks).

Fr. (2013)—In earning unanimous first-team Freshman All-American honors (Athlon Sports, FWAA, Sporting News, Phil Steele's College Football, collegefootballnews.com), he was the first freshman to ever lead CU in tackles since they were first tracked in 1964 (a sophomore had only led the team five times in those 50 seasons). The league coaches saw fit to only make him an honorable mention All-Pac-12 performer (other entities had him as high as second-team), as he earned second-team All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation. He was one of three recipients of the Freshman Athlete of the Year at the CUSPY Awards (CU Sports Performers of the Year), sharing the honors with two others as it was an outstanding year for newcomers across the board in several sports. The coaches selected him as the winner of the Dave Jones Award as the team's most outstanding defensive player. He set seven school records for a freshman: the most defensive snaps played in season (838), in a game (86, twice, versus Oregon and California), the most tackles for a season (119, which also included a record 78 solo), the most third down stops in a season (15) and the most tackles in a game (18, versus Oregon, with a record 14 unassisted). The Colorado NFF chapter selected him as the state's player of the week for that game as well as for the season finale at Utah, when he had 15 tackles (six solo), an interception, two tackles for zero and two third down stops. He had 21 tackles at or behind the line of scrimmage, as he had 10 for losses, which included three quarterback sacks, and 11 stops for zero gain. In recording 10 or more tackles in five games, he also had six passes broken up, three hurries and two touchdown saves and had another three tackles on special teams (all solo). He opened his career with a monster game against Colorado State: 14 tackles (seven solo, two for losses including a sack and three for zero gains) with four third down stops (he was CU's Male Athlete of the Week for that game as well as the Oregon contest). He enrolled at CU for the spring semester and participated in spring drills, emerging first on the depth chart at mike inside linebacker. He had 10 tackles, one for a loss and two for zero gains, and a fumble recovery in the four main spring scrimmages.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-Far West Region honors at linebacker as a senior, when he was also named first-team All-Eastern League, second-team All-North Coast Section and was named his school's Most Valuable Player. He recorded 74 tackles as a senior (39 solo), with eight for losses including two quarterback sacks; he also had seven pass deflections, two interceptions and two forced fumbles. On offense, he saw action in situational play calls, he rushed 26 times for 253 yards (9.7 per) and five touchdowns, with nine receptions for 117 yards (13.0) and two more scores. He saw spot duty on returns, with six combined punt and kickoff for 116 yards. As a junior, he was in on 65 tackles (36 solo), with seven for losses, six passes broken up and an interception. Again, on offense he saw action in specific situations, with 299 rushing yards on 46 attempts (6.5 per) with seven touchdowns, with eight receptions for 104 yards (13.0) and two TDs. He returned seven punts for 189 yards (27.0 average) and two touchdowns, one which covered 71 yards against Red Bluff, and averaged 26.6 yards on five kickoff returns (he was Foothill's Special Teams MVP for the season). Top games as a senior: in a 42-0 win over Pleasant Valley, he rushed four times for 85 yards and two touchdowns (including a 52-yard run), in a 60-0 romp over Dixon, he scored three touchdowns on four touches (two rushing, one receiving); and in a 30-19 win over Deer Valley, he had 14 tackles (7 solo), with three rushes for 26 yards and a score. Top games as a junior: in a 34-6 win over Dixon, he rushed 14 times for 148 yards and three TDs, with one catch for 37 yards and another score; and in a 14-7 win over Lassen, he had a season-high 10 tackles (5 solo), with three passes broken up while scoring a rushing touchdown. Under Coach Bryon Hamilton, Foothill was 10-2 his senior year and 9-3 his junior season, advancing to the second round of the playoffs both years. He played on the junior varsity team as a sophomore and was on the freshman squad in ninth grade (he has played the sport since the sixth grade). He also lettered in basketball (also played on the AAU level) and track (sprints); he was a member of Foothill's 4x100 relay team that set the school record and qualified for the state championships.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring Psychology at Colorado. He was an honor roll student throughout high school.

PERSONAL—He was born April 7, 1994 in Riverside, Calif. An outdoor enthusiast, his hobbies include disc golfing, backpacking, snowboarding and cliff jumping. He signed with San Jose State in its 2012 recruiting class, but was set to grayshirt and enroll there for the spring '13 semester, but decided to attend Colorado after the coaching change and enrolled in classes in Boulder in January. He took nine units at Shasta College in Redding in the fall of 2012, but did not participate in sports. (Last name is pronounced gill-um)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed tied for second at placekicker (including kickoff duties) and third at punter. He made all four extra point tries in the main spring scrimmages but missed his only field goal try (wide right from 47 yards out in the spring game).

2013 (Soph.-RS)—He was the final recruit of Coach Mike MacIntyre's first Colorado class, committing to the Buffaloes on July 23. He had four years to play three in eligibility, but had to sit out the 2013 season due to a requirement to spend a year in residence; he was officially deemed a transfer since he participated in football at a college in Mexico (Monterrey Tech, the English translation for Tecnológico de Monterrey).

AT MONTERREY TECH (Fr., 2012)—He handled the punting and kickoff chores for Monterrey Tech, averaging 43 yards per punt with several kick-offs through the end zone; only one of his punts was returned and that for a paltry two yards as his hang time often pinned opponents inside their own 20.

HIGH SCHOOL—He played three years at Prepa Tec in Monterrey for coach Roberto Rodriguez. His teams were undefeated (12-0) both his junior and senior seasons, winning the state's national championship both seasons. As a senior, he converted 49-of-51 extra point tries and hit 8-of-10 field goals (long of 51); he also averaged 43 yards per punt with several boots over 60 yards (long of 65).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Management) at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born September 11, 1992 in Monterrey, Nuevo Leon, Mexico. His hobbies include playing most sports and movies. He is a left-footed kicker (placements, kickoffs and punts) and performed extremely well in several kicking camps: in Kohl's 2011 Professional Kicking Camp, he was graded as the top placekicker and the fifth punter. He hit multiple 65-yard field goals and honed his hang times in the camp, which he attended on two occasions. Full name is Diego Gonzalez Garza.

D.D. GOODSON, WR

5-6, 175, Sr., 3L

Rosenberg, Texas
(Lamar Consolidated)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He enters the fall listed first on the depth chart at the "H" wide receiver position. He caught a 17-yard touchdown pass in the spring game (from Sefo Liufau), one of three receptions he had in the contest; he had nine for 93 yards and two TDs in the four main scrimmages. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the wide receivers for his spring work in the weight room.

2013 (Jr.)—He played in all 12 games (three starts), as he finished third on the team in receiving; he had 22 catches for 306 yards and two touchdowns, averaging 13.9 yards per catch. He had 12 grabs of 10 yards or longer and three of 20 or more, including his season long of 75 yards for a TD that he hauled in from Paul Richardson on a little trickery against Oregon. He also rushed four times for 42 yards. He caught a career/season-high five passes in the opener against Colorado State, which were good for 44 yards, including an 18-yard TD. He caught at least one pass in 11 games and two or more in seven contests. He also caught 2-point conversion passes against both Colorado State and USC, becoming the sixth Buff to score two in the same season. He also had six special team points on the strength of two tackles, both inside-the-20, and two first downfield credits that altered returns. He lined up at wide receiver for spring practices, and despite it being the first time he had played receiver since high school, he established himself as a regular in the rotation. He led the team in receptions in the four main spring scrimmages with 13, which he caught for 169 yards and three touchdowns. He moved to receiver from tailback for the spring, and the switch was so successful that he was named the recipient of the Fred Casotti Award as the most improved offensive back.

2012 (Soph.)—He saw action in eight games (no starts), though on a limited basis as a reserve tailback. He gained 18 yards on five attempts on the season: he had one carry for 11 yards against Arizona State and two attempts for six yards at Oregon that accounted for the bulk of his stats. He had one punt return attempt, which he fumbled against CSU late in the first half. He moved back over to offense from the secondary for spring drills, and looked very good at times, rushing 13 times for 55 yards in the major scrimmages (long of 24).

2011 (Fr.)—He originally was intended to redshirt, but injuries forced him into action. He started his first game against Oregon in week eight, and would play in four games overall including two starts as the nickel back (the other was against USC). He was in for 98 snaps from scrimmage on the season, logging eight tackles (six solo); he had four tackles (three unassisted) against Oregon in 44 snaps on the field, and also returned kickoffs that game, averaging 19.4 yards for five runbacks. He had two solo stops in 25 plays versus the Trojans in his other start. He was the final high school recruit in Jon Embree's first class, signing with the Buffaloes on June 8. Designated as an "athlete" instead of at a specific position when he reported, the 4.4-speedster started out on offense but was shuttled over to defense due to all the injuries in the secondary.

HIGH SCHOOL—He was selected as the District 23-4A Utility Player of the Year, also earning first-team All-Area and All-District honors at wide receiver. A four-year starter at wide receiver, he caught 30 passes for over 500 yards and two touchdowns as a senior, when he also rushed for 370 yards and nine scores out of the wildcat formation. He was explosive returning kickoffs, as he had around 30 returns with a 35.0-yard average and a touchdown. As a junior, when he was All-Area and All-District, he caught 40 balls for 700 yards and seven touchdowns, with 25 catches for 300 yards and four touchdowns as a sophomore and two receptions for 46 yards and a TD as a freshman. He played defense in spots, at safety as a senior (two forced fumbles and two recoveries) and at cornerback as a junior (one interception). One of his top games his senior year came in a wild 41-40 win over Angleton, when he rushed for over 100 yards and a touchdown while making three receptions for 75 yards and another score. Lamar was 4-6 his senior year under first-year head coach Ronald Patton; his coach his freshman through junior years was Lydell Wilson. Under Wilson, LCHS were the state champions his freshman year with a 13-2 record, defeating Copperas Cove, 20-14 in a game that Goodson said was one of his top prep highlights despite blocking for most of the game. They were district champions his freshman and sophomore (6-3) seasons; Lamar was 4-6 his junior year. He also lettered once in track, participating in the 4x100 and 4x200 relays his senior year; his 4x100 team advanced to the regional meet after placing second in the district.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Sociology at Colorado. He earned honorable mention Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors both his sophomore and junior years. A two-time District All-Academic Team member, the National Honor Society member boasted a 3.67 grade point average in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born May 30, 1993 in Pineville, La. His hobbies include spending time with his Rottweiler (Ace), working out, watching television, and does a good amount of community service, including as a volunteer with the Special Olympics. He is close to his family and loves nothing more than spending time with them. An older brother, Jeremy, played running back and wide receiver at Rice. He hails from the same high school that produced CU All-Big 12 safety and eight-year NFL veteran Michael Lewis. His first name is Joseph; he was given the nickname D.D. while growing up and it stuck.

Burlingame, Calif.

15

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall tied for second at placekicker. He made all 10 kicks in spring scrimmage action (seven PATs, three field goals: those were good from 31, 30 and 39 yards, the latter in the spring game).

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced at both punter and placekicker all fall, and in fact, dressed for all 12 games in case he needed to be activated in case of injury. He joined the team in the summer as a recruited walk-on.

HIGH SCHOOL—A four-year letterman at a variety of positions (kicker, wide receiver, outside linebacker), he was a first-team All-Peninsula Bay League performer at outside 'backer his junior year. Overall as a prep, he was 19-of-21 on field goal attempts, with a long of 50 as a junior a school record, and was 54-of-57 on extra point kick for 111 career points. Burlingame was a combined 17-25 under coach John Philipopoulos during his four years there, including 5-6 marks his junior and senior seasons. He also earned four letters playing basketball (forward), averaging 5.3 points on 55.4 percent field goal shooting and 4.3 rebounds per game as a senior, when Burlingame won the 2013 Central Coast Section title with a 21-9 record (after claiming the Peninsula South crown with a 12-0 mark). He was a first-team All-League performer his senior season.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Integrative Physiology at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born December 10, 1994 in San Jose, Calif. His hobbies include playing golf, and he has aspirations of becoming a doctor after college.

WOODSON GREER III, OLB

6-3, 220, Sr., 3L

Carson, Calif.

(Junipero Serra)

37

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He enters the fall listed first on the depth chart at the "sam" outside linebacker position. He had 11 tackles, two for losses, with three third down stops in the four main spring scrimmages.

2013 (Jr.)—He saw action in eight games (four starts), as his position was the one that came out of the lineup when the Buffs were in the nickel defense. He missed the last four games of the year after suffering a nasty stinger in practice on Nov. 5, one that even prevented him from practicing other than on an extremely limited basis. In playing the most to date in his career, he was in for 268 snaps from scrimmage and recorded 34 tackles, 25 of which were solo including two for losses. He also had four tackles for zero gains, two quarterback hurries, a third down stop and a fumble recovery, the latter coming against Arizona when he was also in on seven tackles (five solo) and played a career-best 62 snaps. He posted a career-high eight tackles (six unassisted) against Charleston Southern. He had a good spring and was the recipient of the Greg Biekert Award as selected by the coaching staff as the most improved linebacker.

2012 (Soph.)—He saw action in nine games, including six on defense at outside linebacker (no starts), recording 12 tackles, seven of the solo variety, in 69 snaps from scrimmage. He saw his most playing time against Arizona State, when he was in for 25 plays and posted a season-high seven tackles (five solo), with his first career quarterback sack. He was third on the team in special team points with 19, on the strength of two solo tackles (one inside-the-20), seven knockdown blocks, three caused penalties, three forced fair catches, two first downfield credits that altered the return path, and a fumble recovery. He had entered the fall listed second at "sam" (outside) linebacker and had six solo tackles, including a sack, in the main spring scrimmages.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action in five games, including three on defense at outside linebacker (no starts), playing a total of 40 snaps from scrimmage. He had three tackles on the year, two solo, with a third down stop and a tackle for zero. He finished eighth on the team in special team points with 11, on the strength of eight knockdown blocks, a downed punt, one tackle and one assist.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was named PrepStar All-Region and SuperPrep All-Far West team member, as the publication ranked him the No. 65 player in the region (the No. 10 linebacker on that list). Scout.com ranked him as the No. 48 outside linebacker in the nation, the seventh best from California. He also earned first-team All-CIF Southern Section Western Division, first-team All-Mission League and first-team All-South Bay Area honors. As a junior, he was first team All-Western League and All-South Bay after garnering second team All-Western League accolades as a sophomore. For his career, he racked up 281 total tackles, which included 113 solo stops and 12½ quarterback sacks. As a senior, he had 69 tackles (41 solo) and one fumble recovery, which followed a monster junior year, which saw him record 140 tackles (41 solo) and 11½ sacks that totaled 76 yards in losses. He also had one forced fumble and one recovery that season. As a sophomore, he had 72 tackles (31 solo), one sack and one interception. Under coach Scott Altenberg, Serra compiled a 42-2 record in his three years there, winning three consecutive Mission League titles and 29 straight games sandwiched between playoff losses that ended his sophomore and senior seasons. Serra was 14-1 his senior year, winning the CIF Southern Section before losing in the state title game, 15-0 his junior season (CIF Southern Section and California state champions) and 13-1 his sophomore year before falling in the CIF Southern Section title game.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Sociology at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born December 26, 1992 in Long Beach, Calif. Hobbies include playing the piano (he has since he was six) and other sports including basketball. He was very active in community service both through his high school and church, the majority of which included outreach to the homeless. His high school sends several players annually to Pac-12 schools as he had played with many in his prep career.

Gilroy, Calif.

(Valley Christian)

49

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr-RS)—He enters the fall listed fourth on the depth chart at right defensive end. In the spring game, he had four tackles, including three solo and half a quarterback sack; he also had a third down stop and recovered a fumble that led to the winning score in the 21-17 win by the Black over the Gold.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced as a defensive end throughout the season after joining the team as a recruited walk-on for August drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was a team captain and earned honorable mention All-West Catholic Athletic League team honors. A two-year starter on both offense (primarily a blocking tight end) and defense (end), he was in 80 tackles, 28 for losses including 13 quarterback sacks his senior season, when he also caused five fumbles, with three recoveries, and 12 passes broken up. On offense, he caught four passes for 76 yards. As a junior, he was a first-team All-WCAL and an honorable mention Central Coast Section performer when he recorded 71 tackles, 12 for losses (five sacks), eight passes broken up and three fumble recoveries; he caught 10 passes for 180 yards on offense. Top career games came his senior year: in the opener, a 35-27 loss to Vacaville, he had 15 tackles and three sacks, and in a 54-22 win over Milpitas, he had 12 tackles that included five sacks. As a sophomore he was in on 84 tackles (14 for losses, eight sacks), with six passes broken up and five fumble recoveries, and as a freshman, when he played linebacker, he recorded 80 tackles, 10 for losses with seven sacks, seven PBU's and five fumble recoveries. Valley Christian won the Division 3 CCS championship as a senior under coach Mike Machado, despite an 8-6 overall record as the team put it together down the stretch, winning its final five games, including a 4-0 mark in the playoffs. He also lettered twice in track, participating in sprints and relays; he had prep bests of 11.5 in the 100-meter dash and 23.5 in the 200.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business at Colorado, but is undecided on his sequence.

PERSONAL—He was born December 7, 1994 in San Mateo, Calif. His hobbies include reading and playing golf. He was very active in community service as a prep, working in grounds and maintenance as teaching Sunday School at his church. After college, he hopes to become a doctor. He played with Coach Mike MacIntyre's son at Valley Christian.

DEVYN GRIMES, WR

5-9, 200, Jr., TR

Grass Valley, Calif.

(Nevada Union/Cabrillo College) 86

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall listed fifth on the depth chart at wide receiver.

AT CABRILLO COLLEGE (2011, 2012/Fr., Soph.)—He lettered twice playing both wide receiver and running back at Cabrillo College in Aptos, Calif. As a sophomore, he earned first-team All-Coast Conference honors as a slot receiver, when he had a team-high 33 receptions for 309 yards and four touchdowns. He caught at least one pass in all 10 games, with his top game coming in a 23-7 win over Monterrey, when he caught six balls for 74 yards and a score. He also rushed 13 times for 70 yards. Under coach Bill Garrison, Cabrillo was 5-5 his sophomore year and 4-6 his freshman season.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he first-team All-Sierra League honors at running back, also earning honorable mention All-CIF honors. He rushed 127 times for 1,216 yards and 11 touchdowns, averaging a healthy 9.6 yards per carry; he also caught 16 passes for 250 yards (15.6 per) and two scores. He had six 100-yard games, including a high of 221 on 17 carries (two TDs) in a 34-27 loss to Roseville; in a 45-32 loss to Granite Bay, he had 17 rushes for 190 yards and two scores. Those were two of four games where he averaged over 10 yards per attempt (in the other pair, he had just nine carries). Under coach Dave Humphers, NUHS was 4-6 his senior year and 13-1 his junior season, winning both the Sierra League and Sac-Joaquin Division I championships. He also lettered twice in wrestling (189-lb. class) and twice in track (sprints, relays).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Integrative Physiology at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born November 21, 1993 in Folsom, Calif. His hobbies include dance and writing.

JEFFREY HALL, DB

5-11, 180, Jr., 2L

Reserve, La.

(St. Charles Catholic)

16

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He did not participate in spring practice, as he was suspended for an off the field incident; it won't be resolved until well into the season.

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in all 12 games, including nine on defense with one start (at UCLA at left cornerback). He was in for 156 snaps from scrimmage and recorded eight tackles (three solo), but his big play of the year came in the finale at Utah, when he scooped up a fumble at the goal line and returned it to near midfield. He played a career-high 57 snaps at UCLA, recording two tackles. He had a brief experiment at wide receiver for the first half of spring practice, but returned to the secondary for the final portion.

2012 (Fr.)—He saw action in nine games (no starts), including six on defense. He was in for 119 scrimmage plays, recording 10 tackles (nine solo, one for a loss). He had a season/career-high three tackles (all solo) against Washington. He also saw spot duty returning kickoffs, with six for 150 yards, a healthy 25.0 per return with a long of 44. He earned 11 special team points, on the strength of seven tackles (four solo), two knockdown blocks, a fumble recovery and a downed punt.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, SuperPrep ranked him as the No. 198 athlete in the nation and the No. 84 prospect overall out of Louisiana, when he earned first-team All-State, All-River Parish, All-Metro and All-District honors. He was a second-team All-District honoree as a junior, and was first-team All-Metro and All-District as a sophomore. A four-year letterman, he played cornerback, wide receiver and running back during his career. In his senior season, his first playing in the secondary, he recorded 55 tackles, 4½ quarterback sacks and forced four fumbles, in addition to making nine interceptions, one of which he returned for a touchdown. On offense, he had 28 rushes for 176 yards and five touchdowns, also catching three passes for 125 yards and another score. He returned a punt 64 yards for another TD, giving him eight touchdowns in four different ways. His top performance as a senior came in a 49-6 win in the state playoffs against Kaplan, when he had scored both rushing and on the punt return, while also causing a fumble, recovering another and grabbing an interception. He had two interceptions in three St. Charles wins as a senior: against Miller-McCoy Academy (55-2), Northshore (36-8) and Port Allen (48-0). He played wide receiver as a junior, making 28 receptions for 608 yards, and running back as a sophomore, averaging over seven yards per carry in gaining 530 yards on 74 rushes. In his four seasons under coach Frank Monica, St. Charles went 49-6 (15-0 as a senior, 13-2 as a junior, 12-2 as a sophomore, and 9-2 as a freshman), winning the state championship his senior season as the Comets advanced to at least the state semifinals in each of three seasons as a starter. He lettered in baseball (centerfield), batting .453 with five home runs as a junior when he earned first-team All-River Parish, All-Metro and All-District and honorable mention All-State honors. He earned first-team All-District honors in four sports, as in addition to football and baseball, he earned the distinction in soccer and track (sprints; 100-, 200-meter dashes).

ACADEMICS—He is interested in majoring in Communication and Business at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born March 22, 1994, in Metairie, La. He enjoys working out and playing different sports in his free time. He also serves his community by making dinners for the homeless at Thanksgiving. He received scholarship offers in both football and baseball but opted for the gridiron and CU.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He suffered a fractured finger in the fourth practice of the spring and missed the remaining practices, but still participated in all team conditioning activities. He joined the team as a walk-on for spring practice.

HIGH SCHOOL—He garnered first-team Division IV All-State and All-Area honors as a senior (second-team All-State as a junior), first-team All-CIF Northeast Division honors as a junior and senior and was a first-team San Luis Obispo All-County performer (senior; second-team as a junior). In earning three letters starting at both receiver and cornerback, he compiled some impressive career numbers in 32 games: he caught 131 passes for 2,550 yards, averaging 19.5 per, scoring 42 touchdowns; Defensively, he made 99 tackles (61 solo), with 12 interceptions and 18 passes broken up. He returned 20 kickoffs for 560 yards (28.0 per), and brought back 29 punts for 394 yards (13.6) with five combined kick returns for scores. His senior year, he hauled in 60 receptions for 1,365 yards and 24 touchdowns, averaging an impressive 22.8 yards per catch; he had 42 tackles, 12 passes broken up and three interceptions on defense. He had 12 career 100-yard games, eight in his senior year, when he caught at least three passes in 12 of 13 games. Top games included a 54-26 CIF semifinal win over Salesian his senior year, when caught four passes for 101 yards (3 TDs), with 14 tackles (12 solo) and five pass deflections on defense. In a 41-8 win over Frazier Mountain, he caught six passes for a career-high 168 yards and two scores. Under coach Chad Henry, Mission Prep was 11-2 his senior year, 8-2 his junior season and 6-4 his sophomore campaign. He also lettered four times in baseball (shortstop); in 92 career games, he batted .343 and owned an on base percentage of .471. He had two home runs, 52 runs batted in and scored 93 runs. He also played varsity soccer as a freshman, scoring two goals with two assists; he was the only frosh starter on Mission Prep's undefeated 23-0 team that won the CIF Southern Section Division V championship.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Mechanical Engineering as his major at Colorado. He made the Principal's Honor Roll every semester in high school, and also took AP and Honors courses each year as a prep.

PERSONAL—He was born February 15, 1994 in San Luis Obispo, Calif.

TERRAN HASSELBACH, DE
6-1, 235, Fr., HS

Parker, Colo.
(Regis)

96

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected to play defensive end as a true freshman in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, the only year he played high school football, he earned

All-Colorado honors from the Denver Post, Mile High Sports Magazine and American Family Insurance/9News All USA Colorado (the Post selected just two for its team). He garnered Mile High's "Comeback Player of the Year" honor and also was the publication's player of the year at his position (defensive lineman). He also earned All-Continental League honors and was its defensive lineman of the year. In just nine games as a starting defensive end (he missed two), he was in on 78 tackles for the year, 57 solo, which included 24 for losses and 11 quarterback sacks for 118 yards in losses. In addition, he had 35 quarterback hurries, four forced fumbles and three passes broken up. Top games as a senior included three double-figure tackle efforts, highlighted by a 31-16 win over Douglas County, when he had 15 stops (11 solo), five for losses including three sacks and four hurries; and in a 35-12 win over ThunderRidge, he had 14 tackles (seven solo, four for losses with a sack). He had eight hurries in a 42-7 win over Chaparral. Under coach Mark Nolan, Regis was 9-2 his senior year, claiming the Continental League title.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Business as his major at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born November 27, 1995 in Centennial, Colo. His hobbies include music (playing the piano included), and films; he has aspirations of becoming a film producer one day. His father, Harald, played collegiately at Washington and for Denver in the NFL; he played 112 games for the Broncos between 1994 and 2000 and was a member of two Super Bowl champion teams. As to why he received the Mile High Sports Comeback Award, he is a true example of perseverance: he was in a near-fatal car accident (with his father) right before the start of the freshman football season in 2010. He wasn't cleared to play until two years later due to the impact on his ribs and internal organs. He was ready to play as a junior, but in practice, he suffered a fluke shoulder injury that required surgery and six months of rehabilitation.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—CU's starting left cornerback. He was selected preseason fourth-team All-Pac-12 by Athlon Sports and Phil Steele's College Football, the latter ranking him as the nation's No. 29 cornerback. He again won the Iron Buffalo

Award for the defensive backs for his spring work in the weight room. He enters his senior year ranked 93rd in tackles (173), tied for 43rd in interceptions (five) and tied for 16th in pass deflections (22) all-time at Colorado.

2013 (Jr.)—He started all 12 games at right cornerback in earning first-team All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation. In playing the most snaps by a Buff on defense (897), he finished third on the team in tackles with 68 (46 solo, with two for losses and another pair for zero gain), and was second with 14 third down stops. He led the team in interceptions with four, returning those for 82 yards, which included a 46-yard return for a touchdown against Central Arkansas; it was the most picks by a CU player since Lorenzo Sims interception five back in 2004. He had a fumble recovery, which he turned into a big 53-yard return for a score against Colorado State that expanded CU's lead to 33-24 early in the fourth quarter. He also led the team in passes broken up with 10, and along the way picked up six touchdown saves. He had four or more tackles in 11 games, including nine twice, against Oregon State and at Washington (when he had a season high eight solo). He had two interceptions against Oregon, with his other coming against Oregon State. He added two assisted tackles and a downed punt inside-the-5 on special teams duty. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the defensive backs for spring conditioning in the weight room, and had a fine spring overall (he had two interceptions in the four main scrimmages).

2012 (Soph.)—He played in 10 games (eight starts) a year ago, missing time in the front third of the season with a knee sprain he suffered in the season opener against Colorado State; he still managed to evolve into a solid cornerback after being thrown into the fire as a true freshman in 2011. For the year, he was in for exactly 600 plays from scrimmage, racking up 47 tackles (31 solo, including three for losses and one tackle for zero). He also had two third down stops, three pass deflections and a forced fumble (the latter against Stanford). He had a season-high six tackles twice, in the last two games of the season (versus Washington, with five solo, and Utah, four being unassisted).

2011 (Fr.)—He played in all 13 games, starting 12 (all but the California game), all at right cornerback. In earning CU's Lee Willard Award as the team's most outstanding freshman, the league coaches voted him as an honorable mention All-Pac 12 team member, collegefootballnews.com tabbed him as a second-team freshman All-American, he was a second-team All-Colorado performer as selected by the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation and rivals.com placed him on its Freshman All-Pac 12 team. He set a school record for the most defensive plays by a freshman with 823, with his 76 against Washington State also a single-game freshman best. He was in on 58 tackles, 44 solo, with three for losses, three tackles for zero (so six at or behind the line of scrimmage), six third down stops, a forced fumble and one recovered. He had one interception, which came against Arizona's heralded quarterback Nick Foles. He led the team with nine pass deflections, the first freshman in school history to ever do so since numbers started being tracked in 1964. He had a season/career-high 10 tackles at Stanford (six solo), seven against UCLA and four on eight other occasions. He added two solo tackles on special teams coverage duty.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 10 cornerback in California and the No. 122 corner in the nation by ESPN in earning first-team All-State, All-CIF Southern Section, first-team All-Riverside County and first-team All-Big VIII honors (he was All-CIF and All-Big VIII his junior year as well). In his career, he totaled over 100 tackles and had 22 passes broken up and nine interceptions, returning one for a touchdown. A double-digit average return man, he returned three punts for touchdowns in his career (all as a junior) and added another score in spot duty at receiver. His senior year, he had 65 tackles (46 solo), 13 pass deflections, seven interceptions, two forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. As a junior, he had 45 tackles (32 solo) and came up with a pair of interceptions and seven pass break-ups. In spot duty on offense, he had a handful of receptions including one for a TD and rushed five times for 22 yards. As a sophomore, he had 13 tackles in backup duty. He lists his biggest game as against Crenshaw his senior year: in a 25-21 win, he had 13 tackles, three PBU's and an interception. Against Redlands in a 34-17 win, he had an interception and broke free for a 50 yard punt return. Against Poly in a 42-21 win, he had six tackles (four solo), an interception he returned 60 yards and a forced fumble. Under coach Todd Gerhart, Norco was 28-10 his three years on varsity and 20-5 his final two years as a starter on defense, winning the CIF Southern Section Big VIII League championship both seasons. He also lettered in track (sprints/relays), participating in the 100-meter dash and 4x100-meter relay his junior and senior seasons. He was a first-team All-League performer in the 100-meters.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Finance) at Colorado. He exceeded a 3.5 grade point average in high school and was on the Honor Roll all four years.

PERSONAL—He was born December 27, 1992 in Los Angeles. His hobbies include playing the drums and an interest in dogs, particularly pit bulls. He participated in a program through his church to help feed the homeless in the Los Angeles area.

TYLER HENINGTON, DL
6-2, 245, Jr., 2L
Centennial, Colo.
(Mullen) 94

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall listed first at left defensive end. Shifting from defensive tackle to end after dropping a little over 20 pounds from his playing weight as a sophomore (265), he exhibited much more speed for his pass rush.

2013 (Soph.)—He played in all 12 games (no starts), as he saw action for 251 snaps from scrimmage; he was in on eight tackles (six solo), with three quarterback hurries, a caused interception, a third down stop and a tackle for zero. He had a season-high three tackles at Arizona State. He had a very solid spring, recording six tackles, including three sacks in the four main scrimmages, and was the recipient of the Dan Stavely Award as selected by the coaching staff as the most improved defensive lineman.

2012 (Fr.)—He played in 11 games as a true freshman (two starts, which came in the last two games of the year against Washington and Utah), with his playing time increasing as the season progressed as he was in for 290 snaps overall. He recorded 25 tackles (13 solo), with seven at or behind the line of scrimmage (five for zero, two for losses) and a third down stop; the five tackles for zero were the second most on the team. He had 19 of his tackles over the course of the final four games, including a season/career-high seven (two solo) against Washington; he also had five (two solo) at Arizona and four (three solo) versus Stanford.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 8 prospect in Colorado and the state's No. 1 defensive lineman by both Rivals and Scout.com. SuperPrep ranked him as the No. 10 player in the state, the No.

3 defensive tackle in the Midlands Region (and No. 49 overall). ESPN.com ranked him the No. 38 defensive tackle in the country and the No. 7 overall player in Colorado. He was named the Colorado Defensive Player of the Year by The Denver Post, in addition to earning All-Colorado honors from the paper. He also was All-State (5A) as a senior, and honorable mention All-State (5A) as a junior. A three-year starter on the defensive line, as a senior he was in on 111 tackles, with 26 for losses and quarterback sacks. He also saw some action at fullback on offense, catching one pass for five yards in primarily a blocking role. He recorded 109 tackles (11 sacks) as a junior, and 80 tackles (six sacks) his sophomore season. Top games as a senior included a 42-13 win over Cherry Creek (seven tackles, three sacks) and a 12-7 loss versus Grandview (eight tackles, two sacks). Under the direction of former CU All-American Dave Logan, Mullen compiled a 37-3 record in his three seasons (9-3 as a senior; 14-0 as a junior; 14-0 as a sophomore) and won back-to-back 5A state championships. He also lettered in wrestling for Mullen, advancing to the state semifinals as a junior in the heavyweight division.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Economics at Colorado. He earned honorable mention Pac-12 All-Academic team honors as a sophomore, with a 3.14 grade point average. He held a 3.5 grade point average and was a member of the Honor Roll at Mullen.

PERSONAL—He was born September 21, 1993, in Torrance, Calif. His hobbies include hunting and fishing, or as he says, you will "Always find him in a pair of Wrangler's and cowboy boots." Both his father (Troy) and grandfather (Scott) played defensive tackle in college at Texas Tech and New Mexico, respectively. He has worked in the community with World Vision, an organization that packs shoes, clothes, and other items to send to those in need in Africa.

CHRIS HILL, TE/LS
6-2, 225, Fr., RS
Highlands Ranch, Colo.
(Mountain Vista) 38

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall listed fourth at tight end and second at the snapper positions (both long and short). He caught two passes for 30 yards in the four main scrimmages, including a 24-yard grab in the spring game.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced as both a tight end and long snapper. He joined the team as a recruited walk-on for August drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered three times playing multiple positions, defensive end, tight end, receiver and long snapper; he was a three-year starter on offense and as a senior on defense. As a senior captain, he was named as a first team all-Continental Football League (5A) at defensive end (second-team at tight end), where he recorded 68 tackles, including 20 for losses with 11 quarterback sacks; he also had four forced fumbles, two recoveries and three passes broken up. He had seven sacks on offense, he caught 23 passes for 361 yards (15.7 per) and three touchdowns. Top games his senior year came against Highlands Ranch (seven sacks in a 40-17 win over rival Highlands Ranch), versus Chaparral (in a 38-34 win, he caught five passes for 57 yards), versus Westminster (a 35-12 win, where both receptions went for touchdowns) and against Regis (five tackles including three sacks and two grabs for 89 yards, including a 70-yard TD in a 28-21 win). As a junior, he caught 15 passes for 195 yards (13.0 avg.). Under coach Ric Cash, Mountain Vista went 4-6 each of his sophomore, junior and senior seasons. He also lettered twice in swimming and was member of the MVHS team that captured the state title in 2010.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born April 1, 1995 in Slidell, La. His hobbies include playing basketball, music and playing the guitar. His great, great uncle, Tom Thevenow, played 15 years in the major leagues with five different teams (1924-38): he led the St. Louis Cardinals to their first-ever World Series victory in 1926 over the New York Yankees, batting .417 in the seven game series (he also set the major league record for the most consecutive at bats without a home run – 3,347). In that game, he tagged out Babe Ruth, who was attempting to steal second base, to end the game; history incorrectly credits Rogers Hornsby with the tag, but the family has a photo.

JESSE HISS, FB

6-1, 230, Soph., VR

Bonner Springs, Kan.
(Basehor-Linwood)

40

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed third at fullback. Primarily a blocking role, he did catch a pass in one of the spring scrimmages where he ran away from the defense for a 45-yard touchdown.

2013 (Fr.-RS)—He did not see any action, but did dress for three games. He has entered the fall listed fourth at the mike inside linebacker position, but midway through August drills he was moved back to fullback where he started his collegiate career.

2012 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced at fullback at the start of the year but moved over to linebacker where he finished the season. He joined the team as a recruited walk-on for August camp.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-State 4A honors and first-team All-Kansas at linebacker by Rivals.com (which also made him a preseason All-State selection), first-team All-Kaw Valley League accolades at linebacker and running back (which he also had earned as a junior), and was an honorable mention All-Metro performer by the Kansas City Star. He finished his career as Basehor-Linwood's all-time leading tackler (428, 220 solo); he had three 100-plus tackle seasons to set the mark. As a senior, he had 63 rushes for 712 yards (11.3 per) with 12 touchdowns and a long run of 80 yards; he also caught 14 passes for 209 yards (14.9) with two scores (long of 48). On defense, he had 115 tackles (59 solo), 13 for losses including six quarterback sacks, four fumble recoveries, three caused fumbles, three pass deflections and an interception. As a junior, he had 115 rushes for 725 yards (6.3 avg.), with 12 touchdowns and a long gain of 58 yards; he had three 100-yard games on the year. He also caught five passes for 79 yards (15.4 per, no TDs). On the other side of the ball, he racked up 111 tackles (61 solo), 12 for losses with five sacks; he had seven fumble recoveries (two caused), four pass break ups and two interceptions. As a sophomore, when he garnered All-League honors at linebacker, he made 98 tackles (48 solo), along with five sacks, two caused fumbles, on recovery, two passes broken up and an interception. He also rushed 29 times for 184 yards and two touchdowns. He played solely on defense as a freshman, recording 104 tackles (52 solo, eight for losses), with one sack, a fumble recovery and two pass break ups. One of his top career games came during his junior year in a 43-20 win over Perry-Leocompton: he rushed 14 times for 118 yards and two touchdowns, with 18 tackles, one for a sack, an interception and a pass deflection. In a 60-0 win over Bishop Ward his senior year, he had seven carries for 146 yards, including his 80-yard run, and two scores, a reception for 16 yards and six tackles. A four-year starter and letterman under coach Steve Hopkins, Basehor-Linwood was 10-1 his senior year, 9-1 his junior season, 8-2 his sophomore campaign and 5-4 his freshman season. BLHS was league champion three times (2009-11), district champions three times (2009-11) and regional champions twice (2010-11). He also lettered four times in track (throws, 4x400 relay), was a state qualifier in the shot put and the league champion his junior and senior years. He also lettered three times in power lifting (team were three-time 4A state champions) and lettered once in basketball (forward).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Finance and Management) at Colorado, and also has an interest in Aerospace Engineering. He was one of the state of Kansas' National Football Foundation's Scholar-Athletes, an honor also afforded him by the Greater Kansas City Football Coaches Association. On the national level, he was one of five NFF honorees nationwide, out of over 3,300, who was selected as a National High School Scholar-Athlete, based on a combination of academic and athletic accomplishments and was honored in New York City at the NFF's national dinner in December 2012.

PERSONAL—He was born July 22, 1993 in Prairie Village, Kan. His hobbies include snowboarding, skiing, fishing, hunting and mountain biking. He has made mission trips to Haiti and is active in Young Life, a non-denominational Christian ministry. During one summer, he started a mowing company. An uncle, Bob Bender, played football at Iowa, and a cousin, Tom Bender, played football at Missouri. He has had five neck surgeries in his lifetime.

ISAIAH HOLLAND, OL

6-5, 330, Fr., HS

Arvada, Colo.
(Valor Christian)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected to be an offensive lineman his true freshman year in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned All-Colorado honors from both the Denver Post and Mile High Sports Magazine. He was the anchor of a dominant offensive line that allowed just three quarterback sacks total in two seasons (none personally), starting all 28 games at tackle over the course of his junior and senior seasons. He registered several touchdown and downfield blocks both years, along with several pancake blocks. He attended Patch High School, located on a U.S. military post in Stuttgart, Germany, as a freshman and sophomore, where he played junior varsity football (offensive line and some defensive end as a frosh). VHS was the two-time 5A Colorado state champion when he anchored the Eagles offensive line: as a senior in 2013 under coach Rod Sherman, Valor was 13-1, and as a junior coach Brent Vieselmeyer, they were 12-2.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Mechanical Engineering as his major at Colorado. He was one of Colorado's 11 Scholar-Athletes as selected by the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame.

PERSONAL—He was born December 18, 1995 in Denver. His hobbies include fishing, camping and robotics. His father, Darius Holland, was a four-year letterman at defensive tackle for the Buffaloes from 1991-94 and played for Green Bay, Detroit, Cleveland, Minnesota and Denver over the course of a 10-year career in the National Football League. Active in his community, he has volunteered in the nursery at the "True Life Church," served as a mentor at the "Dare to Play" football camp for athletes challenged with Down Syndrome, and helped gather Christmas trees for children of underprivileged families. He originally accepted an appointment to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point but had a change of heart. The last high school recruit of the 2014 class, as he signed a grant-in-aid to attend CU on May 24.

AARON HOWARD, DE

6-1, 240, Soph., TR

Denver, Colo.
(East/Willamette)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed fifth on the depth chart at left defensive end. He joined the team as a walk for spring practice.

AT WILLAMETTE (Fr./2012)—He earned one letter playing defensive end at Willamette (Ore.) University. In a reserve role as a freshman, he recorded three tackles (all solo, two for losses) playing for coach Glen Fowles. Willamette was 8-2 his one season there.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned honorable mention All-Denver Prep League honors at defensive end; he also lined up at offensive tackle. That season, he was in on 22 tackles (nine solo, six for losses including three quarterback sacks), along with two hurries and a fumble recovery. A four-year starter, he played under coach and former Buff Ron Woolfork his freshman and sophomore years (7-4 and 6-4 records, respectively), and then under coach Ron McFarland his last two years at East (6-4 mark both seasons). He also lettered twice in lacrosse (attack position).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Psychology at Colorado. An excellent student as a prep, he made East's 4.0+ Honor Roll all four years in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born February 1, 1994 in Denver. His hobbies include playing most sports and music. His father, Paul, was a one-time member of CU's football team.

JONATHAN HUCKINS, OL

6-3, 305, Fr., RS

The Woodlands, Texas
(The Woodlands)

79

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall listed second on the depth chart at both center and left guard. He has bulked up about 15 pounds since his arrival on campus as a true freshman.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced the entire fall on the offensive line.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-Central Region honors at offensive guard as a senior, when the Houston Chronicle named him to its All-Greater Houston team as well as among its Houston Top 100; he also earned honorable mention All-State (from the Associated Press), second-team All-District 14-5A and first-team All-County honors. Rivals ranked him as the No. 75 offensive guard in the nation. As a junior, he was a second-team All-District performer. A two-year starter (26 games), he had 118 career pancake blocks and over 20 direct touchdown blocks for the Highlanders ferocious running game. As a senior, he graded out above 85 percent in allowing just one quarterback sack, five pressures and being called for a single penalty (a false start). He allowed just two sacks and one pressure while being flagged for five penalties. He played some defensive tackle on spot occasions (goal line, short yardage), making three tackles (two for losses) as a senior and five (one for a loss) as a junior. Top games as a senior: in a 53-25 win over Oak Ridge, he had eight pancake and three touchdown blocks, and in a 66-422 win over Klein Collins, he had six pancakes and two TD blocks. Top game as a junior came in a 28-0 win over Kingwood when he recorded his prep best of 15 pancakes. Under Coach Mark Schmid, The Woodlands was 8-4 his senior year, sharing the District 14-5A title, and 12-2 his junior season; TWHS lost in second round of the playoffs his senior year after reaching the quarterfinals the previous season. He also lettered four times in track; participating in throws, he had a career best of 54-6 in the shot put and 159-11 in the discus (finished sixth in the state in the shot as a senior with a throw of 54-2½).

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major at Colorado, though is enrolled in CU's School of Arts & Sciences. He owned a 3.6 grade point average at The Woodlands.

PERSONAL—He was born April 29, 1995 in London, England (where his mother is from and where his parents met; he moved to America as a 4-year old). His hobbies include fishing, playing video games and weightlifting. An older brother (Nick) will be a junior this fall on the lacrosse team at Guilford College. Active in community service, he has regularly worked as a volunteer coach for a special needs football camp.

JEROMY IRWIN, OL

6-5, 295, Soph., 1L

Cypress, Texas
(Cypress Fairbanks)

76

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.-RS)—He was 100 percent healed from a foot injury from the previous summer when suffered a stress fracture of his fifth metatarsal on March 22, forcing him to miss the remainder of spring practice. Upon his return, he is expected to contend for the starting spot at left offensive tackle.

2013 (Soph.)—Redshirted; he suffered a broken bone in his foot doing some yard work on July 30, and was expected to be out at least until the early part of the season. He ended the spring listed second at both left tackle and left guard and figured to be either a starter or a regular in the rotation before the injury.

2012 (Fr.)—He saw action in 10 games on the season (no starts), as he played for the first time in the third game of the year and then played the rest of the way; he was in on offense for seven games. He played 72 total snaps on the year (at guard), grading to 75.0 percent (54 plus plays); he had five "will-breaker" blocks, with his best game grade when he had 10 or more plays coming against Oregon (71.4 percent). He also played 27 snaps on the field goal/PAT unit on special teams.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 47 offensive guard in the nation by ESPN.com and the No. 89 offensive tackle nationally by Scout.com; he earned Texas Top 100 honors from The Houston Chronicle. As both a junior and a senior, he was a unanimous first-team selection to the All-5A District 17 team, after earning honorable mention distinction as a sophomore. A three-year starter at left guard, he only gave up one sack in his entire prep career, and that came during his sophomore season. He played a key role in Cy-Fair averaging over 250 rushing yards per game in his senior season, as the team ran for well over 3,000 yards in 13 games; that included one of his top personal performances that year, when in a 52-7 win over Cypress Springs, he helped pave the way for an offensive attack that gained 398 yards on the ground. One of his most memorable moments came in a 21-14 win over Cinco Ranch in the playoffs, a victory that sent Cy-Fair to the 5A Division I Regional Finals. Under coach Ed Pustejovsky, Cy-Fair improved dramatically each season: 0-10 as a sophomore, 9-3 as a junior, 12-1 as a senior, winning the District 17 championship his senior season after sharing it his junior year. He also lettered in track and field (shot put), advancing to regionals as a junior; his personal best throw was 51-0. He played basketball early in high school but gave it up to concentrate on football.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Economics at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born July 8, 1993, in North Little Rock, Ark. He is the youngest of a set of triplets, born moments after his brothers John and Sean; Sean also was a member of CU's 2012 recruiting class. A grandfather (Roby Irwin) played football at TCU, and an uncle (Jack McClelland) ran track at Texas. His hobbies include playing computer games, working out and eating. He serves his community through PALS, an organization that mentors kids and does other projects such as feeding the homeless.

SEAN IRWIN, TE

6-3, 245, Soph., 1L

Cypress, Texas
(Cypress Fairbanks)

81

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed atop the depth chart at tight end. He caught three passes for 28 yards in the main spring scrimmages, two of which went for touchdowns. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Daniel Graham Award for the spring, presented to the most improved "big skill" player.

2013 (Fr.-RS)—He played in all 12 games, including one start (against California) but was utilized primarily in a reserve role on offense; he had one reception on the year (a 7-yard grab against Oregon). He played all 56 snaps on the field goal/PAT unit on special teams. He caught six passes for 37 yards in the four main spring scrimmages.

2012 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced at tight end the entire fall.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he only played in four games after an ankle injury sustained during two-a-days caused him to miss the Bobcats' first nine games. However, he was still ranked the No. 39 tight end in the nation by Scout.com despite missing the majority of the year with ESPN.com tabbing him as the No. 72 tight end nationally and as the No. 210 player overall from the state of Texas. As a junior, he was named first-team All-Greater Houston by The Houston Chronicle and also earned first-team All-5A District 17 honors. For his career, he made 24 receptions for 495 yards and four touchdowns, the bulk of which came during his junior season (16 catches, 305 yards, two touchdowns); he also was of the best blocking tight ends in the state of Texas. One of his top games as a senior came in the 5A Division I Regional Finals versus Fort Bend Hightower: with Cy-Fair trailing 14-0, he caught a 20-yard touchdown pass to put the Bobcats on the board and provide the team some momentum, but ultimately they lost 21-14 to a school that reached the state championship game. Top outings from his junior season came in a 31-7 win over Cypress Falls in which he had several pancake blocks, and in a 28-14 loss to Cy-Woods, when he had two catches for 30 yards. A two-year starter and three-year letterman at tight end, he played a key role in Cy-Fair's turnaround as under coach Ed Pustejovsky, Cy-Fair improved dramatically each season: 0-10 as a sophomore, 9-3 as a junior, 12-1 as a senior, winning the District 17 championship his senior season after sharing it his junior year. He also lettered in basketball as a sophomore and threw the discus on the track and field team.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Classics at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born July 8, 1993, in North Little Rock, Ark. He is the middle of a set of triplets, born moments after his brother, John, and before his brother, Jeromy; Jeromy was also a member of CU's 2012 recruiting class. A grandfather (Roby Irwin) played football at TCU, and an uncle (Jack McClelland) ran track at Texas. His hobbies include playing computer games and paintballing.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—Enters the fall listed third at the "X" receiver position. He caught one pass for 14 yards in the four main spring scrimmages.

2013 (Fr.-RS)—He did not see any action; he had sat out most of spring practice, other than seeing some limited action, as he completed rehabilitation following knee surgery. He was 100 percent for fall drills.

2012 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he joined the team as a walk-on after the first game, but was injured in practice on October 30, suffering a severe knee sprain (ACL). He would have surgery to repair the knee on November 26.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-West Catholic Athletic League honors and was an honorable mention Central Coast Section performer. A four-year team captain, he completed 81-of-134 passes (60.4 percent) for 1,257 yards, with 15 touchdowns and just two interceptions in his only season as a starter at quarterback. He also ran for 179 yards and a touchdown. Top games: in a 35-21 win over Willow Glen, he completed 8-of-11 passes for 233 yards and three touchdowns; and in a 38-35 win over St. Ignatius, he was 10-of-14 for 177 yards and four TDs (which tied the school record). As a junior, he was the backup quarterback and saw sporadic action on both offense and as a safety on defense. Under coach Nick Navarro, St. Francis was 6-6 his senior year and 6-4-1 his junior season. He also lettered twice in baseball as a middle infielder (second base/shortstop), St. Francis posting a 55-12-1 record in that time frame, spending time each season ranked nationally in the top six, including a No. 1 ranking on several occasions his junior year; SFHS won the WCAL title both those seasons. As a freshman, he led all players on the freshman team with a .612 batting average.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Finance) at Colorado. He earned his way on to the High Academic Honors list at St. Francis his freshman through senior years, and was very active there in student government (including publicity for the Associated Student Body).

PERSONAL—He was born October 4, 1993 in Los Gatos, Calif. His hobbies include most aspects of music, as he is an accomplished piano player, and spending time with friends and family, especially his younger brother (Ryan) and sister (Kelsey). He has helped coach and teach football to young kids and has aspirations of becoming a high school coach one day, preferably for his alma mater. (First name in pronounced coll-in.)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall listed second at fullback; primarily a blocking role, he did catch two passes for 25 yards and rushed once for a four-yard gain in main scrimmage action before he was sidelined the last two weeks with a fractured finger (April 2; he had surgery eight days later).

2013 (Soph.)—He played in the first two games of the season, but in the second game against Central Arkansas, he suffered a severe neck strain and was sidelined the remainder of the year, limited to conditioning and light contact work by the end of the year. He was moved to offense from inside linebacker prior to spring practice.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in four games (no starts, the middle four of the season), including one on defense; that was at Southern California when he was in for four plays where he recorded one solo tackle. He was in all four on special teams and recorded two wedge breaks.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced the entire fall at the inside line-backer spots. He joined the team as a walk-on after the first game of the season.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was named first-team All-Western Catholic Athletic League by the Palo Alto News, the San Jose Mercury News and the league's coaches; he also served as a captain in the Charlie Wedemeyer All-Star Game. As a junior, the Los Altos News named him the top newcomer in the WCAL. As a senior, he recorded 100 tackles with four quarterback sacks, broke up seven passes and had five forced fumbles playing inside linebacker. His junior campaign, he had 50 tackles with a pair of sacks, three pass break-ups and two forced fumbles. He also played fullback and was a long snapper. He had over 200 tackles playing on the junior varsity as a freshman and sophomore. Under coaches Mike Mitchell and Nick Navarro, St. Francis compiled a 15-8-1 record (9-4 as a junior, 6-4-1 as a senior) in his two seasons on the varsity and advanced to the CIF Central Coast Section championship game his junior season, a moment he lists as the biggest of his prep career. He also lettered four times in lacrosse, named an Adidas All-American as a senior, and also played basketball.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Economics at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born May 28, 1993 in Palo Alto, Calif. His hobbies include white water kayaking and he has volunteered as a basketball coach for the Special Olympics. An older brother, Colin, plays club lacrosse at Arizona.

tered twice in basketball (center, averaging six points and five rebounds per game as a senior) and twice in baseball (pitcher: he had a 2-2 record with a 2.95 earned run average as a sophomore; middle relief as a senior with a 2.67 ERA). Christian Brothers was CVC champions as a senior.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Business, likely the Management sequence, as his major at Colorado. An honor roll member since his freshman year, he is a member of the National Society for High School Scholars and a CVC Scholar-Athlete as he owned a 3.7 grade point average.

PERSONAL—He was born November 2, 1995 in Davis, Calif. His hobbies include skiing, riding bikes, hiking, off-roading and playing golf (he breaks 90 regularly with a career-best round of 82). His father, Tom, was an outside linebacker for the University of Nevada-Reno in the late 1970s.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He enters the fall in a three-way tie for second on the depth chart at tailback. He led all players in yards in the four spring scrimmages, racking up 150 on 29 tries with three touchdowns; he was the leading rusher in the spring game (13-88, with a long of 25). He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the running backs for his spring work in the weight room. He enters his senior year ranking 55th in rushing yards (866), 30th in receptions (66) and 92nd in receiving yards (407) all-time at Colorado.

2013 (Jr.)—He played in all 12 games (no starts), and finished third on the team in rushing with 249 yards on 73 attempts (scoring one touchdown). He also caught 13 passes for 93 yards and a TD, averaging 7.2 yards per reception, and overall, earned 13 first downs. His rushing single-game high came in the second game of the season against Central Arkansas (13-58), with his receiving best coming at UCLA (3-42). His rushing touchdown came on a 1-yard run at UCLA, with his TD reception covering 10 yards against California. He accrued six special team points, logging one in six separate categories: an assisted tackle, a knockdown block, a downed punt, a recovered kick, a first downfield credit that altered the path of the return man and a forced fair catch.

2012 (Soph.)—He played in 11 games (two starts, missing the Fresno State game due to a sore ankle), finishing second on the team in rushing with 320 yards; he averaged a team-best 5.1 yards per rush, buoyed by an 84-yard touchdown run at Washington State. That play was key in CU's comeback from 17 points down in a 35-34 win, and tied for the eighth-longest rushing play in school history. He was third on the team in receptions (26) and scoring (18 points), and earned 13 first downs (seven rushing, six receiving). He had a career-high 105 yards on four carries at Washington State, and gained between 31 and 43 yards on five occasions; his other touchdowns came against Arizona State and Utah. He caught five passes (for 19 yards) versus UCLA and had four catches for a season-best 57 yards at USC. He was dedicated in his summer workouts, gaining 12-15 pounds of muscle in his upper body and entered the season at a playing weight of 190, up from 175 as a redshirt frosh. He had 22 touches for 316 yards in the spring (14.4 per, 15-216 rushing, 7-100 receiving) with three touchdowns.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He played in all 13 games, including two starts (Oregon, Arizona State), finishing second on the team in rushing with 297 yards on 78 carries (3.8 per) and two touchdowns. He was also a favorite target out of the backfield, hauling in 27 receptions for 198 yards and two scores; those were the fourth most catches on the team. He earned 22 first downs (14 rushing), picking up four of those in five 3rd-and-1 on third downs. He tried his hand at returning kickoffs, with six for 105 yards, or 17.5 per. He had the bulk of his rushing yards subbing for an injured Rodney Stewart, seeing his first extensive action at Washington after Stewart went down: he had 14 carries for 49 yards which included both his scoring runs (1- and 2-yards) and caught seven passes for 49 yards. In his first start, he

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected as a tight end as a true freshman in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—A two-year starter at both tight end and defensive end (playing some outside linebacker at times as well), along with handling his team's kicking chores, he earned first-team All-Capital Valley Conference (CVC) honors from the Sacramento Bee as both a junior and senior, as well as being selected as a first-team All-Metro performer and the Division 3 player of the year as a senior. He caught 35 passes for 499 yards and two touchdowns as a senior, averaging 14.3 yards per catch, while also performing well in a blocking role with 14 pancake blocks and numerous downfield blocks. On defense, he was in on 35 tackles (15 solo), nine for losses including four quarterback sacks; he also had six hurries and two fumble recoveries. He averaged 34.8 yards for 36 punts, with a long of 63 and 14 inside-the-20, while converting 37-of-46 extra points and 9-of-14 field goals, with a long of 40; seven of his 55 kickoffs went for touchdowns. As a junior, he caught 22 balls for 339 yards and a touchdown (15.4 per), with 70 tackles on defense (25 solo, nine for losses with two sacks) along with five hurries and a fumble recovery. He averaged 33.6 yards for 15 punts and made good on his two placements, one PAT and a 22-yard field goal. Top games as a senior: in a 58-42 win over Placer, he had six catches for 84 yards and a touchdown, converted 7-of-8 PAT kicks with a field goal for 16 points overall, had a sack on defense and two punts inside-the-20 and two kickoffs that went for touchdowns; he had eight receptions for 84 yards and two field goals (40 and 28 yards) and three pancake blocks in a 52-28 loss to Jesuit. His top game as a junior came in a 40-14 win over Bella Vista, when he had his career-long reception of 74 yards (2-84 overall). Under coach George Pettrissans, Christian Brothers was 9-4 his senior season, reaching the CIF Section semifinals, and 6-5 his junior year. He let-had 71 yards on 19 attempts against Oregon, and when Stewart was injured again in the season finale at Utah, he had 72 yards on 12 carries. He also caught seven passes for 61 yards at Arizona State and had his receiving TD's at Stanford and versus Arizona (both five yards in length). He had an outstanding spring, as in the three main scrimmages, he rushed 36 times for 189 yards (5.3 avg.) and two touchdowns.

2010 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced all fall in the offensive backfield and played a key role on the scout team.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned third-team All-America honors by EA Sports. He started all four years at Don Bosco Prep under coach Gary Toal, helping the team to a 47-1 record, four Non-Public Group 4 state championships and a consensus national championship in 2009. Don Bosco Prep won the mythical national championship by finishing in the top spot in the USA Today Super 25 poll and the National Prep Football Poll (and three other polls or rankings). In his career, he rushed 343 times for 2,608 yards and 61 touchdowns. He also caught 39 passes for 481 yards and five touchdowns and returned 17 kickoffs for 341 yards and one touchdown. As a senior, he was the Gatorade New Jersey Player of the Year while The New Jersey Star-Ledger named him the New Jersey Player of the Year, first-team All-State, Non-Public-League Player of the Year, first-team All-Non-Public League, Bergen County Player of the Year and first-team All-Bergen County. He earned North Jersey Record Tri-County Player of the Year, first-team All-Tri-County and first-team All-Conference honors as a senior, as well. He rushed 174 times for 1,387 yards and 34 touchdowns, caught 13 passes for 226 yards and a touchdown and had 13 kickoff returns for 226 yards and a touchdown. His 34 rushing touchdowns and 36 overall touchdowns set new school records. He also blocked one kick on special teams. He was named the North Jersey Record Player of the Week four times and also earned the U.S. Army All-America Bowl National Player of the Week honors after a win over Prattville High School in Alabama, when he rushed 22 times for 220 yards and three touchdowns in a game that secured Don Bosco Prep as the nation's best team. He scored at least two rushing touchdowns in every game, three or more in seven games and four on three occasions. Don Bosco Prep put itself on the map early in the season his senior year, opening the season by traveling across the country to play De La Salle out of Concord, Calif., and earning a 30-6 victory behind Jones' performance of 21 carries for 91 yards and three touchdowns. He closed out his career with 31 carries for 218 yards and four touchdowns against St. Peter's Prep to win the Non-Public League Championship. He scored six total touchdowns in that game, as he had one kickoff return for a 90 yards and two catches for 71 yards and a score. He put up the numbers his senior season despite not playing in the second half of six games. As a junior, he earned second-team Non-Public Group 4 honors from the North Jersey Record despite having a shortened season with a broken collar bone. In eight games, he rushed 41 times for 271 yards and four touchdowns, and had five receptions for 77 yards. He earned third-team All-Bergen County from the New Jersey Record as a sophomore when he rushed 72 times for 487 yards and 15 touchdowns. He also had 11 receptions for 106 yards and two touchdowns and returned eight kickoffs for 171 yards. He opened his sophomore campaign by rushing 11 times for 102 yards and three touchdowns in a 34-20 victory against St. Joseph's (Pa.). As a freshman, he had 56 rushes for 463 yards and eight touchdowns while catching 10 passes for 72 yards and a touchdown. He opened his career as a freshman with 11 carries for 60 yards and a touchdown in a 31-28 win over St. Joseph's (Pa.) and had his first 100-yard game against St. Joseph Regional with just three carries compiling 100 yards that included a 63 yard touchdown. Don Bosco recorded 12-0 records his freshman, sophomore and senior seasons and an 11-1 record his junior year. He also participated in track (sprints, relays) as a freshman.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Ethnic Studies at Colorado. In April 2014, he was one of two recipients of CU's Clancy A. Herbst, Jr., Student-Athlete Achievement Award, presented to those athletes who overcome personal, academic or emotional challenges difficulties to succeed both academically and athletically (the youngest of five siblings, he will be the first in his family to graduate from college).

PERSONAL—He was born March 15, 1992 in Paterson, N.J. He enjoys playing video games and studying to keep his grades up. He volunteered for St. Joseph's hospital as a transport assistant, helping deliver patients throughout the hospital, where he worked for five hours every Sunday for seven months prior to his senior season. As a senior in high school during the holiday season, he worked for a landscape nursery helping trim and deliver Christmas trees. He has a sincere interest in the future to help younger kids attend school and get a degree instead of being on the streets.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He did not participate in spring drills, as he took time to concentrate on his academics; his status for the fall is also dependent on his studies.

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in seven games, including two starts, the latter of which came in the last two games of the year at left defensive end (USC, at Utah). He was in for 184 plays from scrimmage, recording 18 tackles (11 solo), including five for losses, three being quarterback sacks. He also had four third down stops (one of which was on fourth down), two hurries and a chasedown. He posted a career-high six tackles at Utah, when he played his most snaps in game on the year (47; three of the stops were solo, including credit for a half-sack). He added two knockdown blocks on special teams return unit duty. He moved to the outside from tackle during spring drills and had 11 tackles, including five quarterback sacks, in the four main spring scrimmages.

2012 (Fr.)—He first saw action in the third game of the season and played in the final 10 games (four starts) at defensive tackle as a true freshman, with his playing time increasing as the season progressed (249 plays in all). He was in on 20 tackles, 13 of the solo variety (one quarterback sack, three tackles for zero) and had a fumble recovery. He had a season-high five tackles (two solo) against Washington, with four (three solo) against Utah and three (all solo) against Stanford.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked as the No. 77 player in the Far West region by SuperPrep, which ranked him the No. 4 defensive end out of the state of California; Scout.com ranked him as the No. 64 defensive end prospect in the nation. In both his junior and senior seasons, he earned recognition as a first-team All-CIF Southern Section Central Division defensive lineman (second-team as a sophomore). A three-year starter and four-year letterman, he was Arlington's defensive lineman of the year both his junior and senior seasons. For his career, he recorded 127 tackles, four quarterback sacks, two forced fumbles, and a fumble recovery. As a senior, he had 56 tackles (12 solo) and 2½ sacks (for 13 yards in losses). One of his top performances came in a 63-14 win over Vista del Lago as a senior, when he had six tackles and scored on a 2-yard touchdown run on his only career rushing attempt. Other top games as a senior came in a 31-14 loss to La Sierra (nine tackles, one sack) and in a 28-0 loss to Rancho Verde (five tackles, one fumble recovery). Under coach Pat McCarthy, the Lions went 29-15 in his four seasons (5-6 his senior year, 9-3 his junior season, 10-2 his sophomore campaign and 5-6 his freshman year). He played basketball as a freshman, but did not letter and gave the sport up to concentrate on football.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado. He was a solid student as a prep, possessing a 3.3 grade point average in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born February 17, 1994, in Riverside, Calif. His hobbies include playing basketball, playing the bass guitar at his church (his siblings also play instruments there) and helping his family around the house. His older brother, David, is a junior defensive end on the Oregon football team, and a cousin, Calvin Tonga, is a senior defensive tackle for Colorado State. He attended the same high school as former CU tight end David Brown, a member of the 1990 national championship team. (Last name is pronounced KOF-AH-VAH-LOO)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected as an offensive lineman, most likely as a tackle, as a true freshman in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned first-team All-South Coast League and second-team All-Orange County honors as senior, his only year he lined up at offensive tackle. He was key player in a prolific Mission Viejo offense that averaged 45.4 points and over 300 yards rushing per game, as he had well over 40 touchdown blocks, numerous downfield blocks and 18 pancake blocks in allowing just one sack and being flagged for only one penalty all season. As a junior, he played defensive end, recording 30 tackles, with three for losses including one quarterback sack. Under coach Bob Johnson, MVHS was 11-1 his junior and senior seasons, winning the South Coast League title both years and reaching the Southern Section quarterfinals. He lettered in track as a senior (throws); he posted a career-best of 47-0 in the shot put.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major at Colorado, but is interested in criminal justice. He owned a 3.0 grade point average in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born April 10, 1996 in Mission Viejo, Calif. His hobbies include snowboarding, paintball and playing basketball. An older sister, Gabrielle, played college basketball at Long Beach State. He is active in his community, and his high school team has volunteered annually for a local 10-kilometer that serves as a fundraiser for pediatric cancer. (Last name in pronounced ky-zer.)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected to be a tight end, as a true freshman in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, his first and only year playing tight end, he earned first-team All-State (Division I), All-NorCal and All-Sac-Joaquin Section team honors from MaxPreps, in addition to garnering Sacramento Bee All-Metro and National Football Foundation All-Sac Joaquin Section team mention (Cal-Hi Sports named him third-team All-State). An All-Sierra Foothill League performer, he was the league's Offensive Most Valuable Player. Scout.com ranked him as the No. 43 tight end in the nation. He hauled in 40 receptions for 791 yards and 13 touchdowns, averaging a stout 19.8 yards per catch. On defense, he was a starter at times at outside linebacker both his junior and senior years: he was in on 20 tackles, with four quarterback sacks and a couple of hurried throws as a senior, which followed up his junior season when he racked up 30 tackles, with two interceptions and three passes broken up. Top games as a senior included a two 100-yard reception efforts, when he had six grabs for 138 yards and two scores in a 30-28 loss to Del Oro, and 120 yards on two catches in a 46-28 win over Vacaville. He caught at least one pass in all 12 games, and two or more in all but one; he scored twice in four games, including a career-high three TDs (8-76) in a 49-7 triumph over Nevada Union. His two picks as a junior were most significant: both came in Granite Bay's Division I state championship win over Long Beach Poly; he returned his second one 29 yards for a touchdown that put his team up 14-7 in the third quarter en route to the 21-20 victory. GBHS was 8-4 his senior year under coach Skip Albano and was 13-3 his junior for coach Ernie Cooper. He played baseball (pitcher, third base) as a freshman on the junior varsity team.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on major, but is interested in Business at Colorado. He owned a 3.3 grade point average entering his final semester of high school.

PERSONAL—He was born on June 28, 1996 in Walnut Creek, Calif. His hobbies include weightlifting, playing basketball and most recently golf. An older brother, Brendan, was a three-year starting quarterback at Granite Bay and played collegiately at Cal. He is active in his community, working with kids at a local elementary school.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall atop the depth chart at center; he also has extensive experience at guard.

2013 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in all 12 games, nine on offense and all 12 on special teams, serving as one of the three protectors on the punt unit, a rare assignment for an offensive lineman. He played 97 snaps from scrimmage on offense, with 58 plus plays; that worked to a 59.8 plus percentage (actual grade was higher as they take into account neutral results). He had three knockdown blocks and did not allow a quarterback sack or pressure while not being flagged for a penalty. The coaches named him the recipient of the Joe Romig Award as the most improved offensive lineman in the spring.

2012 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced along the offensive line the entire fall. A member of the 2011 recruiting class, he wound up joining the team in January, delaying his enrollment after he suffered a broken ankle playing recreational football in the early summer on a beach near his home. Thus, he was a "grayshirt" (and counts back to the '11 class).

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, SuperPrep named him to its All-Far West team, ranking him the No. 98 player overall in the region, the No. 15 offensive lineman but the first center on the list. Scout.com ranked him as the No. 122 player from California and No. 22 center in the country (the top center in California and the No. 2 center in the west). ESPN also ranked him the No. 122 player from California, the No. 16 center in the country (No. 2 from California). He also earned first-team All-CIF San Diego Section and second-team All-State (by Cal-Hi Sports) honors. He garnered first-team All-League honors twice, in the Avocado League as a senior and in the Palomar League as a junior; Vista switched leagues for the 2010 season. He recorded 108 pancake blocks his senior year, anchoring an offensive line that helped Vista score 34.2 point per game (30 or more points in eight games). The offense racked up 416.8 yard of offense per game (234.7 rushing), totaling over 3,000 net yards rushing for the year, featuring a 1,500-yard rusher. His junior season, he had 60 pancake blocks as Vista averaged 31.3 points per game and 343 yards per game on offense (226 on the ground). As a sophomore, he had 30 pancake blocks. His top game his senior year came when Vista defeated heavily favored Torrey Pines 24-21 in the CIF semifinals en route to the championship. His junior year, his favorite moment came when Vista defeated La Costa Canyon, 47-7, snapping its 23-game win streak in the CIF semifinal match-up. Under coach Dan Williams, Vista was 29-9 in his three seasons there, including two championship seasons his junior (10-3 record) and senior (12-1) years. VHS won the Avocado League and CIF San Diego Section Championship in 2010 after claiming the Palomar League title his junior year, when they advanced to the CIF San Diego Section championship game. He also lettered three times in wrestling, earning first-team All-CIF San Diego Section honors as a junior and senior and a three-time, first-team All-Palomar League performer as a heavyweight.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in both Ecology and Evolutionary Biology at Colorado but is interested in sports medicine or coaching as a possible career after football. As a senior in high school, he was named to the 2010 All-Academic Team by the San Diego Union-Tribune for maintaining above a 3.0 grade point average.

PERSONAL—He was born December 1, 1992 in Madrid, Spain, where his parents were working as missionaries (he was 7-years old when they moved to the states). His hobbies include hanging out with friends and going to the beach. His father (Karry) lettered three times at offensive tackles for the Buffaloes from 1976-79, starting his senior year; an older brother (Hal) completed his career at Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo in 2010, where he started at center for two seasons. He spent two weeks in the summer of 2010 in Haiti passing out supplies to earthquake victims and helping build an orphanage.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall listed third at left offensive guard.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced all fall as an offensive lineman. He missed all of spring ball after undergoing surgery (March

8) to repair a broken bone in his foot he injured in conditioning drills. He signed in the 2012 class but grayshirted, enrolling at CU in January. He spent the fall working out, and gained 25 pounds to bulk up to 295 from the 270 he weighed on signing day.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 113 offensive tackle in the nation by ESPN.com and as the No. 99 player overall in California. He earned first-team All-CIF Southern Section Mid-Valley Division honors as an offensive lineman, and also made the Inland Empire All-Star team. In both his junior and senior seasons, he earned recognition as a first-team All-Valle Vista League performer as a starter both years at tackle. As a senior, he compiled over 50 pancake blocks as he paved the way for an offense that averaged 217 rushing yards per game. He also played defensive tackle, totaling 38 tackles and recovering two fumbles. Despite losing 24-7, one of his most memorable games as a senior came against Monrovia in the playoffs when he had four tackles. Another top performance from his senior season came in a 45-14 win versus Northview when he had eight tackles and two sacks on defense, and Pomona rushed for 240 yards offensively. Under coach Anthony Rice, Pomona went 11-10 combined in his junior and senior seasons; he had followed Rice to Pomona from Colony High School (Ontario, Calif.), which had gone 10-2 his sophomore year and won the Mount Baldy League title. As a sophomore, he was named second-team All-League as an offensive lineman and also played varsity as a freshman. He also lettered in track (shot put).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born March 26, 1994, in La Habra, Calif. An older brother (Robert) is a junior defensive end at Army. His hobbies include fishing and playing most sports. While at Colony, he teamed with CU sophomore defensive back Jered Bell as CU's roots are deep at Pomona: they join Buffalo alumni Jo Jo Collins (1984-88), J.J. Flannigan (1986-89) and Lamarr Gray (1986-90) on that list. (Name is pronounced JAIR-ED KOH)

The Woodlands, Texas

71

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall listed second at right offensive tackle, and is also on the left side in the third spot.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced all fall as an offensive lineman.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned PrepStar All-Central Region honors at offensive tackle. The Houston Chronicle named him as a member of its Houston Top 100, and he earned honorable mention All-State, first-team All-District 14-5A, first-team All-County and first-team All-Greater Houston honors. He played in the International Bowl, as he was a member of Team USA (U-18) that squared off against Team Canada in Austin, Texas. He also was a second-team All-District performer as a junior. A two-year starter at offensive tackle, he had over 80 pancake blocks, 20 direct touchdown blocks and did not allow a quarterback sack in his 26-game career. As a senior, he graded out to 89 percent, highest on the team; he allowed four quarterback pressures and was called for five penalties. As a junior, he allowed five pressures and was flagged just three times. Top game as a senior came in a 42-33 win over College Park, when he graded out to 93 percent and had six pancake blocks; his best game as a junior was against Dallas Skyline (a 35-31 loss in the state 5A quarterfinals), when he had a 95 percent game grade with three pancake blocks. Under Coach Mark Schmid, The Woodlands was 8-4 his senior year, sharing the District 14-5A title, and 12-2 his junior season; TWHS lost in second round of the playoffs his senior year after reaching the quarterfinals the previous season.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in majoring in Geology at Colorado. He owned a 3.0 grade point average at The Woodlands.

PERSONAL—He was born May 8, 1995 in Houston, Texas. His hobbies include anything outdoors, especially fishing, golf and tennis. An older brother, Jake, will be a senior on the lacrosse team this fall at Mississippi. Community service in high school included coaching 7-on-7 in the SCFL (South County Football League) in Houston. (Last name is pronounced kronn-sage)

DONOVAN LEE, ATH

5-8, 170, Fr., HS

West Hills, Calif.
(Chaminade College Prep)

29

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected as wide receiver or running back as a true freshman, but could also wind up at cornerback.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-State (Division II) honors from both Cal-Hi Sports and MaxPreps, in addition to being named All-CIF Southern Section Western Division and garnering All-Area team accolades from both the Los Angeles Times and Los Angeles Daily News. He was the Mission League's Most Valuable Player on defense, and Chaminade's MVP overall, culminating a career where he was a three-year starter on both offense (running back and wide receiver) and defense (cornerback). He was also team MVP his junior season, when he garnered honorable mention All-CIF, All-State and first-team All-Mission League honors; he made the All-State Underclassmen Team as a sophomore. As a senior, he rushed for 1,979 yards on 247 attempts with 37 touchdowns, averaging 8.0 per carry, while hauling in 29 catches for 610 yards and four more scores. He had three games with over 200 yards rushing and nine with 100 or more. On defense, he was in on 63 tackles (40 solo, three for losses with a quarterback sack), with five interceptions, returning three of those for TDs, 10 pass deflections, a forced fumble, a recovery and a blocked kick. As a junior, he had 76 carries for 652 yards and 12 touchdowns, with 22 receptions for 299 yards and two TDs. He had 52 tackles (42 solo), with six interceptions (123 return yards), 11 passes broken up, two forced fumbles and two recoveries (for 74 yards in returns). His sophomore year, he rushed 20 times for 136 yards and three scores, with one reception for 14 yards; he racked up 60 tackles (50) solo with six interceptions and 10 deflections. For his career, he rushed for 2,770 yards, with 923 receiving yards, 17 interceptions, 31 pass deflections and 65 touchdowns, the latter including seven return scores. He saw spot action on the varsity as a freshman (four rushes, three yards). Top games as a senior: in a 56-35 win over St. Francis, he rushed 24 times for 274 yards and seven touchdowns (with 74 more yards on three receptions); he had 222 yards and five TDs in a 46-43 win over Notre Dame and 133 yards and four scores in the big win over Serra; and in the state championship game, a 41-9 throttling of Enterprise, he had three interceptions, one for a TD, with a rushing TD on offense. In a 64-11 romp over Pacifica his junior year, he had two kick return touchdowns, two interceptions, 56 yards rushing and a score and a 41-yard reception. Under coach Ed Croson, Chaminade was 14-2 his senior year, claiming the CIF Division II state, Division II regional, Western Division and Mission League titles and finishing with a No. 2 ranking in the state; the team was 12-2 his junior season and 11-3 his sophomore year. He also lettered four times in track (sprints and relays), with career bests of 10.8 in the 100 and 51.0 in the 400-meter dash, though he posted a 50.0 on the third leg in a 4x400.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Integrative Physiology at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born January 31, 1995 in Beaumont, Texas. He is involved with his high school aerial team as well as its choir (Lord's Chorus). A younger brother (Dymond, a high school sophomore) is a wide receiver and defensive back who is already receiving scholarship offers from Division I schools.

PHILLIP LINDSAY, TB

5-8, 175, Fr., RS

Aurora, Colo.
(Denver South)

23

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr-RS)—He enters the fall tied for second on the depth chart at tailback. He received plenty of reps in the spring, with 22 rushes for 77 yards in the four main spring scrimmages (with five receptions for 44 yards and a touchdown).

The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Fred Casotti Award for the spring, presented to the most improved running back.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced the entire fall at running back but filled in where needed on the scout team and earned the Offensive Scout Player of the Year honor as selected by the coaches.

HIGH SCHOOL—The No. 5 overall and top running back prospect in the state by the Denver Post, he earned PrepStar All-Central Region honors at running back as a senior, despite suffering a knee injury in the season opener. He sat out one game and came back to play in South's third game (against rival East), but came out after one quarter as was injured again. It was then determined he had a torn ACL instead of a sprain, and underwent surgery on September 19. In those two games, he still rushed for 299 yards on 31 carries, scoring two touchdowns, with one reception for 18 yards and a punt return for 35; he thus had 33 touches for 352 yards, or 10.6 per. On defense, he had 12 tackles (five solo). SuperPrep named him to its preseason All-Midlands team, the No. 49 player overall in the region and the third-ranked running back. As a junior, he earned first-team All-State honors from the Denver Post; his freshman through junior seasons, he earned first-team All-Conference honors on offense (4A West Metro as a frosh, 5A Denver League as a sophomore and junior); he was first-team on defense as a junior and second-team as freshman and soph. He finished his prep career as South's all-time leader in rushing yards (545 attempts for 4,587 yards, averaging 8.4 per carry) and all-purpose yards (5,747, a shade under 9.5 yards for his 606 touches). He had 57 career touchdowns (44 rushing, nine receiving, three interception and one kick-off return), with 23 100-yard rushing games (five 200-plus) and 15 games where he scored multiple touchdowns. As a linebacker on defense, had 285 tackles, 10 quarterback sacks and three interceptions. As a junior, he had 192 rushes for 1,762 yards (9.2 per) and 13 touchdowns, with 10 receptions for 177 yards and three scores; he racked up 94 tackles on defense (65 solo), with five or losses (three sacks), an interception, a pass broken up and a forced fumble. He returned eight kickoffs for 130 yards and four punts for 54. His sophomore season, he carried 164 times for 1,261 yards and 16 TDs, with 13 catches for 219 yards and four scores; he had 101 tackles (75 solo, three sacks) and an interception with five kick-off returns for 146 yards and four punt returns for 125 yards. Making the varsity as a freshman, he rushed for 1,265 yards and 13 touchdowns on 158 carries, caught 10 passes for 169 yards and two touchdowns, recorded 78 tackles (36 solo, four sacks), an interception, a caused fumble and a recovery. In his two games as a senior, he had 22 rushes for 160 yards and a TD in a 42-34 win over Mesa Ridge (when he had his reception and punt return), and in a 53-34 win over Denver East, he had nine carries for 139 yards and a score (including a 66-yard run) in just the first quarter before exiting with the knee injury. Top games as a junior: in a 64-13 win over Lincoln, he had 17 rushes for 300 yards and four touchdowns, returning an interception 39 yards for another TD; he had three other games over 200 yards, against Niwot (19-231, 1 TD in a 49-12 win), George Washington (15-225, 2 TD and a season-high 13 tackles in a 50-28 win) and Poudre (15-206, 1 TD and 12 tackles in a 23-20 loss). Top games as a sophomore: in a 41-34 win over Lakewood, when he had 18 rushes for 138 yards and a score, caught two passes for 38 yards, both for touchdowns, and returned a kickoff 82 yards for a fourth TD; and in a 48-0 win over Lincoln, he carried 17 times for 250 yards and two TDs. As a freshman, he burst on the scene with seven 100-yard games, including 175 and a touchdown on 15 carries in his first varsity game (a 47-33 loss to Golden, in which he also caught a 9-yard TD pass); he also had his career-high in tackles, posting 18 (nine solo with a sack) in a 26-12 win over Kennedy. Under Coach Tony Lindsay (his uncle), Denver South was 12-2 his senior season, the 4A Plains League champions and the state runner-up (falling 17-14 to Monarch in the 4A title game), 6-4 his junior year, 7-3 his sophomore campaign and 6-4 his freshman year. He lettered in basketball (guard) as a freshman, and lettered four times in track (sprints and relays); he had personal bests of 10.9 in the 100-meter dash, 22.2 in the 200 and 49.0 in the 400.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major at Colorado. He owned a 3.49 grade point average in high school, just .01 shy of making the Honor Roll.

PERSONAL—He was born July 24, 1994 in Denver. His hobbies include riding his mountain bike on area trails, playing video games and playing with his younger brothers. Father (Troy) was a fullback at Colorado State; two cousins, Gabe and Tony Lindsay, played college football at Oklahoma State; and two older sisters were collegiate athletes, Cheri, an All-SWAC volleyball player at Prairie View A&M and Sparkle, who lettered in basketball at Mesa (Colo.) State. Three days after he underwent knee surgery, he received a personal call to cheer him up from Denver Bronco running back Willis McGahee, who rebounded from a similar injury to continue his pro career. He will be the first player on the roster from Denver South since 1983, when seniors Scott Martin and Shelby Nash were seniors; but he will be the first to join the team as a true freshman since 1967 (defensive ends John Bliss and Dave Turner). The first player to commit in CU's 2013 recruiting class (on March 22, 2012), his family's house was robbed and his dog (Rambo) beaten that same night; the burglars were apprehended and the dog fully recovered.

JOHN LISELLA, OL

6-4, 265, Fr., HS

Littleton, Colo.
(Columbine)

78

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He enters the fall listed third at right offensive tackle; originally a member of Colorado's 2013 recruiting class, he "grayshirted" and delayed his enrollment until the 2014 spring semester. In that time away from football, he hit the weight room and gained 30 pounds of muscle

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-Central Region honors at offensive guard as a senior, when SuperPrep selected him Preseason All-Midlands (ranking him the No. 37 player overall and the No. 10 offensive lineman) and the Denver Post naming him to its 5A All-State team. He earned first-team All-5A Super 6 League honors as both a junior and senior. He played a significant role in Columbine's powerful running game, blocking for backs who ran for 3,489 yards (317.2 per game) his senior year and an incredible 5,008 yards (357.7 ypg) as a junior, leading Columbine to the state title. A play specifically designed for him was simply called "99," where he would pull to the outside and level the line-backer and/or safety to clear the path for the quarterback or tailback, with Columbine scoring at least 10 touchdowns his junior and senior seasons on the play. He did not allow a quarterback sack or a pressure either year, and was called for only one penalty (illegal procedure), something he took great pride in as he felt it was a testimony to his discipline. He played end on defense, with 32 tackles (12 solo) and four quarterback hurries as a senior, to go with 28 tackles (10 solo) with two sacks, four hurries, one forced fumble and a pass broken up his junior year. His prep career high in tackles were six on two occasions: as a senior in a 38-15 win over Chatfield, he had two solo, one for a loss, and four assists, and as a junior in a 38-20 win over Bear Creek, he also had two solo, one for a quarterback sack, four assists and two hurries. He was a reserve defensive end as a sophomore, recording five tackles (two solo, with one a sack). Under Coach Andy Lowry, Columbine was 14-0 his junior season, winning the Colorado 5A state championship and the 5A Super 6 League crown; CHS was 7-4 his senior season and 9-2 his sophomore campaign. He has lettered twice in lacrosse, and plans to earn a third letter this spring (he's a defender). He missed his entire sophomore season (and summer football workouts) after undergoing surgery for thoracic outlet syndrome (compression between the clavicle and the first rib, requiring the latter to be removed). But he worked hard at rehabilitation and returned in time to play to play an important part in Columbine's 2011 football title run.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Finance) at Colorado, and is also interested in Integrative Physiology. An Honor Roll member throughout high school, he owned a 3.5 grade point average and was named to the state's All-Academic Team.

PERSONAL—He was born June 16, 1995 in Salem, Mass. His hobbies include playing most sports, especially basketball (he grew up also playing ice hockey and baseball), playing chess and traveling, especially into Colorado's high country where he loves to hike; he is also heavily involved in church activities. His father (John Sr.) played football at William & Mary (punter/tight end), but was on the national stage as a 12-year old: he won the NFL's Punt, Pass & Kick competition at Super Bowl VIII at Rice Stadium in Houston (where Miami beat Minnesota, 24-7). With his lacrosse teammates, he participated in Meals on Wheels, delivering food to the needy. (Last name is pronounced lih-sell-uh)

SEFO LIUFAU, QB

6-4, 230, Soph., 1L

Tacoma, Wash.
(Bellarmine Prep)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—Selected by his teammates as one of six team captains for the season; along with Addison Gillam, they are the first two permanent captains elected as sophomores in CU history. He participated in the prestigious Manning Passing Academy in the summer (second week in July). He has bulked up some 20 pounds from his playing weight as a freshman, and won the Iron Buffalo Award for the quarterbacks for his spring work in the weight room. He is already 20th all-time at CU in career passing yards (1,779) and is tied for 16th in touchdown passes (12).

2013 (Fr.)—He earned honorable mention Freshman All-America honors from collegefootballnews.com and won the team's Lee Willard Award, presented to the most outstanding freshman. Only the 10th freshman (six true, four redshirt) to ever start a game at quarterback at Colorado, he became just the third freshman to lead the Buffaloes in single-season passing, joining Craig Ochs (2000, also a true frosh) and Cody Hawkins (2007, a redshirt freshman). He played in eight games, starting seven; he did not play in the first four games of the year, but appeared for the first time at Arizona State. He then made his first start in a 43-10 win against Charleston Southern in the sixth game of the season (going 14-of-20 for 198 yards with a TD and no interceptions); those were the fourth-most yards in a CU frosh debut. His best game of the year came in a 41-24 win over Cal, when he completed 23-of-36 passes for 364 yards and three touchdowns (one pick); that tied for the 16th most passing yards for a single-game in CU annals, but the second-most by a freshman (behind only 418 by Koy Detmer vs. Oklahoma in 1992). He was the Las Vegas Bowl's player of the week for his effort against the Bears. He also set true freshman records in five single-season categories: efficiency (128.3), attempts (251), completions (149), passing yards (1,779) and touchdowns (12), also tying the single-game mark the most TD passes by a frosh with the three versus Cal. He had 40 rushes for 43 yards by NCAA calculation, but minus sacks, he really rushed 30 times for 118 yards; he also caught a pass for 32 yards, the latter from Nelson Spruce in the season finale at Utah. He accounted for 91 first downs earned overall, and put the Buffs in position to score 36 of 91 drives (39.6 percent). He threw for over 200 yards four times, and completed at least 50 percent of his passes in all eight games he appeared.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors at quarterback as a senior, when the Seattle Times tabbed him as one of 16 "Red Chips" in the state of Washington (the top honor in the paper's Seattle 100) and he was selected as one of 12 quarterbacks on the prestigious Tacoma News-Tribune's Western 100. He was also selected as an honorable mention "Northwest Nugget" by the News-Tribune, its Top 20 in the Pacific Northwest (seven made the first-team) and was the paper's Area Player of the Year (he also was the 4A Narrows League player of the year). ESPN.com ranked him as the No. 19 quarterback in the nation while Rivals.com ranked him No. 27 and SuperPrep tabbed him preseason All-Far West and ranked him as the No. 6 overall player in Washington (the No. 2 quarterback). Scout.com named him to its West 150 team, the No. 126 player overall and the 11th-ranked quarterback. In his career, he started at quarterback his sophomore through senior years and led Bellarmine to a 34-5 record, completing 522-of-838 passes for 7,297 yards and 68 touchdowns (with only 20 interceptions); that worked to a 62.3 completion percentage, as he completed over 50 percent of his passes in 33 of 39 games. He had three 300-yard games, 12 200-yard games and 36 100-yard games in throwing at least two touchdown passes 21 times (he threw three or more 10 times and four or more on four occasions). He also rushed for 606 career yards and 18 touchdowns, and in his prep career, accounted for 87 tackles overall. As a senior, he directed about as balanced an offense as possible, one that averaged 181.6 yards rushing and 182.1 yards passing. He completed 193-of-280 passes for 2,518 yards (24 TD/5 INT), while rushing 78 times for 291 yards and eight touchdowns; he also handled some spot kicking duties, punting nine times for a 35.4 average (57 long, three inside-the-20) and kicked off four times, three for touchbacks. As a junior, he was 137-of-228 for 2,253 yards (long of 88, 23 TD/6 INT), with 66 rushes for 249 yards and eight scores. As a sophomore, he was 192-of-330 for 2,526 yards (21 TD/9 INT), with 66 yards rushing and two touchdowns. Top games as a senior: despite losing in the state title game to Skyline, 49-24, he threw for a prep career high 373 yards on 33-of-45 passing (3 TD/2 INT); in a 31-12 win over South Kitsap, he was 18-of-25 for 309 yards and four touchdowns; and in a 42-38 loss to Lakes, he was 27-of-38 for 327 yards and three touchdowns (no interceptions). Top games as a junior: in a 63-0 win over Stadium, he was 11-of-15 for 274 yards and five TDs; in a 37-19 win over Graham-Kapowsin, he completed 13-of-19 passes for 298 yards and three scores (rushing for 27 yards and a fourth TD). Top games as a sophomore: in a 35-21 win over Shelton, he completed 21-of-30 passes for 249 yards and four touchdowns, with two rushes for 25 yards; he was 17-of-22 for 277 yards and a score in a 26-0 win over Stadium; and in a 28-21 comeback win over Bothell in the state quarterfinals, he threw for 202 yards and four touchdowns, as he helped rally the Lions to the win after they fell behind 21-0. Under Coach Tom Larsen, Bellarmine Prep was 12-2 his senior year, reaching the state title game, 11-1 his junior season (losing in the quarterfinals) and 11-2 his sophomore campaign (reaching the semifinals). Bellarmine was the 4A Narrows League champions for 2011 and 2012 and was the runner-ups his sophomore year. He lettered four times in basketball (power forward/center), starting all four years in being named first-team All-Narrows League as a junior and senior. He had a big junior year, as he averaged 12.5 points and 10.1 rebounds per game in earning first-team All-League honors and was his team's MVP in leading the Lions to a 24-5 mark and the Narrows League title. His top game came in a 66-50 win over Mount Rainier in the state quarterfinals, when he had 20 points (on 9-of-12 shooting), 22 rebounds and seven assists; that game followed a 25-point, 12-rebound effort (also shooting 9-of-12) in a 75-54 win over Snohomish (he was named to the state's All-Tournament team). He earned All-Narrows (4A) League honors as a senior, averaging 10.1 points, 9.0 rebounds and 2.6 assists per game.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in majoring in Business at Colorado. At CU's 2014 academic recognition breakfast, he received the Buffalo Leadership and Initiative Award for the entire freshman class (all sports); those are presented to those who have exhibited outstanding initiative and demonstrate a strong commitment to service to the CU and Boulder communities. He owned a grade point average of 3.6 in high school and has been on the Honor Roll throughout; he also received his school's Scholar-Athlete Award.

PERSONAL—He was born October 29, 1994 in Fort Lewis-Madigan, outside of Tacoma, Wash. An avid soccer fan, his hobbies include playing board games with friends and family. Father (Joe) was born in American Samoa and was stationed in Colorado Springs from 1986-89 while in the U.S. Army and became a fan of the Buffaloes. Three uncles played college football, with two going on to play pro ball: Sale Liufau (defensive tackle at Iowa Wesleyan), Sale Isaia (offensive lineman at UCLA and with the New England Patriots) and Jack Thompson (also known as the "Throwin' Samoan," a quarterback at Washington State and in the NFL with Cincinnati (which selected him third overall in the 1979 draft) and Tampa Bay. He is active in community service, volunteering at the Nativity House with his teammates and being an Acolyte (altar server) with his younger cousins. (Name is pronounced seff-oh loo-fow)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected as defensive lineman, most likely a tackle, for his true freshman year in college.

HIGH SCHOOL—A two-year starter at defensive tackle, as a senior, he earned first-team All-District 1-5A and first-team All-City honors along with the El Paso Times naming him as the co-defensive player of the year; he was second-team All-District as a junior. As a senior, he was in on 69 tackles (42 solo), with 16 for losses including four quarterback sacks; he pressured 31 throws by opposing quarterbacks. He was in on 41 tackles as a junior, with 21 of his 27 solo tackles behind the line of scrimmage, including three-and-a-half sacks; he had 23 quarterback hurries, a fumble recovery, a pass broken up and a blocked kick. He was a part-time starter at fullback and tight end as a sophomore (no defense), rushing once for 15 yards. Top games as a senior: in a 59-0 win over Socorro, he had a career-high 10 tackles, three for losses including a sack with five hurries; in a 24-23 win over Montwood, he had six tackles (two TFLs) and seven hurries. His top game as a junior came in a 41-7 win over Hanks, when he had six tackles, all for losses (three sacks, three TFLs) and also had six hurries. Under coach Bob Anderson, Coronado was 8-3 his senior year, 4-6 his junior season and 4-7 his sophomore year. He also lettered three times in basketball, playing both power forward and center his freshman through junior years, though mostly was a reserve performer.

ACADEMICS—He is planning to pursue a major in Integrative Physiology at Colorado. He had the equivalent of a 3.1 grade point average in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born July 29, 1996 in El Paso, Texas (he'll be the last member of CU's 2014 recruiting class to turn 18). His hobbies include snowboarding, paintball and playing golf (though he's only been playing since his junior year in high school, he already breaks 90 regularly). His prep coach, Bob Anderson, had this to say of him after he was named co-defensive player of the year: "There weren't too many people that could block him. He was getting double- and triple-teamed because he was that big of a force for us."

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected as a wide receiver in his true freshman season.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned All-Colorado honors from both the Denver Post and Mile High Sports Magazine along with all-Mountain League honors. As a junior, playing for San Jose's Valley Christian, he earned first-team All-West Catholic Athletic League honors (second-team as a sophomore, when he was Valley's sophomore of the year for all sports). As a senior, he rushed 80 times for 696 yards and 14 touchdowns, averaging 8.7 yards per carry with a long run of 55; he completed 32-of-54 passes for 986 yards and 12 touchdowns (with only two interceptions), a completion rate of 59.3 percent while averaging a gaudy 18.3 yards per attempt and 30.8 per completion (for a passer rating by NCAA standards of 278.6). He also returned eight punts for 225 yards and three touchdowns (28.2 per, long of 50); he had six kickoff returns for 320 yards and three scores (53.3 per, long of 94). On defense, playing cornerback, he had three interceptions, returning those for 57 yards with a touchdown (which covered 55 yards) and 16 passes broken up. Overall, he accounted for 1,682 yards of total offense, and 1,298 all-purpose yards on 97 touches, or an average of 13.4 per play; and these numbers despite the fact that Monarch was so far ahead of its opponent in the second half, the "mercy rule" was enacted in seven of its 12 games (played with a running clock). He also punted six times for a 34.5 average (with a long of 66)—the only six punts Monarch had all season. Top games included throwing four touchdown passes in the first four minutes of the game against John F. Kennedy, as MHS scored 42 first quarter points en route to a 56-6 win; in a 45-18 triumph over Wheat Ridge, he was 4-of-5 for 142 yards and a touchdown (the incompleting was a spike), rushed for 54 yards and a score, and picked off two passes, returning one for a touchdown. As a junior at Valley Christian, he had 71 rushing attempts for 436 yards and five touchdowns, while completing 42-of-82 passes for 979 yards (11 TDs/4 INT); as a sophomore, he rushed for 228 yards and five scores on 51 tries and completed 37-of-78 passes for 550 yards and seven TDs. He played defense when needed, either as a safety or the nickel back. His top game as a junior came in the CIF Southern Section championship, a 51-20 win over Altos: in being named the game's MVP, he completed 7-of-8 passes for 116 yards and three touchdowns, rushed six times for 36 yards and a score, and had nine tackles and an interception on defense. In a wild 49-42 loss to Archbishop Mitty, he rushed for 109 yards and a touchdown and passed for 100 and another score; as a sophomore in a 35-28 win over Mitty, he completed 10-of-13 passes for 161 and two TDs with a third TD rushing. Under coach Phil Bravo, Monarch was 10-2 his senior year, the Mountain 4A champs and state semifinalist; under coach Mike Machado, Valley Christian was 8-6 his junior year, the Division 3 CIF Central Coast Section champions, and was 6-6 his sophomore year. He lettered four times in basketball; he played his first two seasons at Valley Christian, where he scored his career-high of 29 points against Monte Vista Christian, and the last two at Monarch (averaging 15 points as a senior).

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Education as his major at Colorado. He owned a 3.3 grade point average in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born April 9, 1995 in Martin, Tenn. His hobbies include playing video games and spending time with his family's golden retriever, Millie. His father (Mike) is CU's head football coach, who played collegiately at Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech; is uncle (Matt MacIntyre) played football at Western Kentucky; his grandfather (George MacIntyre) played collegiately at Miami-Florida and was a longtime college coach, including head coach at Vanderbilt, where his other grandfather (Ben Rowan) played basketball; and an aunt (Debbie Rowan) played college basketball at Lipscomb

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He is projected as a defensive lineman, most likely as an end, in his true freshman season.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-State (Division I) honors from Max Preps (third-team from Cal-Hi Sports), in addition to also being named first-team All-CIF Southern Section All-Pac 5 Division and to the Los Angeles Times All-Area and the Orange County Register All-County teams as well as Mission Viejo's Most Valuable Player. A first-team All-South Coast League performer, he was selected as the league's Defensive Player of the Year. A two-year starter at defensive end, he had a banner senior season, living in the backfield of the opponent as evidenced by his 26 tackles for loss, including 14 quarterback sacks, among his approximate 60 tackles for the year. He also had two fumble recoveries, a forced fumble, a handful of passes broken up and an interception that he returned for touchdown. He had one of his best career games as a prep in a 28-25 win over New Jersey's Don Bosco Prep, as he was named the Rivalry Series MVP for what one game accounts claimed "wreaking havoc all day in the backfield, with his size giving Bosco's line problems all night." As a junior, when he earned second-team All-League honors in addition to earning the Future Pride of the Diablos Award, he was in on approximately 50 tackles, with 11 sacks and two fumble recoveries. He saw limited action as a sophomore, as he played on the junior varsity team during the regular season but was called up to the varsity for the CIF playoffs. On offense, he started at offensive tackle the last few games of his junior year and the entire season as a senior, though he also played some spot tight end and fullback in blocking situations. Under coach Bob Johnson, MVHS was 11-1 his junior and senior seasons, winning the South Coast League title both years and reaching the Southern Section quarterfinals. The team was 10-3 his sophomore year, claiming the lead title and reaching the section semifinal. He lettered twice in wrestling, competing as a heavyweight as a senior (10-3 record; he was the Sea View League champion and finished eighth in his CIF section). He also lettered three times in track (throws); he owned a career best of 58-0 in the shot put (he was fifth in his CIF section and seventh in CIF Masters as a senior). He served as a team captain for all three sports he participated in at Mission Viejo.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Business as his major at Colorado. Selected as one of the National Football Foundation's (Orange County Chapter) Scholar-Athlete award winners, he was also a member of the Principal's Honor Roll all four years as he owned a 3.8 grade point average as a prep.

PERSONAL—He was born August 18, 1995 in Mission Viejo, Calif. His hobbies include playing the guitar, spending time at the beach and playing most sports. A cousin on his mother's side, Henrik Thomsen, was a Scandinavian champion who was just shy of qualifying for the Olympics in the sport of Greco-Roman wrestling. He is active in his community, and his high school team has volunteered annually for a local 10-kilometer that serves as a fundraiser for pediatric cancer.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—Enters the fall listed first at right defensive end. He won the Dan Staveland Award as selected by the coaching staff for being the most improved defensive lineman in spring practices, when he had 12 tackles, five for losses including four quarterback sacks, in the four main scrimmages.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; did not see any action. He won the team's award as the Defensive Scout Player of the Year for his efforts on the scout team. He ended spring practices tied for second at the right defensive end position; he had seven tackles in the main scrimmages. He was awarded the Jim Hansen Award for outstanding academics, selected by the coaching staff after spring ball. He joined the program in January for the 2013 spring semester; he signed in the 2012 recruiting class but grayshirted. He weighed 215 on signing day, but bulked up to just over 230 by the time he reported to campus. He might also participate in track (throws).

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned first-team 2A All-State (Denver Post) and All-Flatirons League honors his sophomore through senior seasons as a starter for Faith Christian. He played both defensive end and tight end for the Eagles, compiling 132 tackles and 30 quarterback sacks on defense, and 15 catches for 187 yards and a touchdown in his career. As a senior, he had 62 tackles (42 solo), 16 sacks, three forced fumbles, two fumble recoveries, and two pass deflections, in addition to blocking both a punt and a field goal. On offense, he had eight catches for 53 yards. His top games as a senior came in a 35-7 win against Platte Valley (11 tackles, three sacks, blocked punt) and a 23-13 loss to Kent Denver (eight tackles, three sacks). In his junior season, he tallied 40 tackles (23 solo), including six sacks and four forced fumbles on defense, while also catching five balls for 47 yards and a touchdown at tight end. As a sophomore, he had 30 tackles with eight sacks and two fumble recoveries, also intercepting three passes on defense. Offensively, he had two receptions for 87 yards. In his four years as a letterman, Faith Christian went 44-7 under coach Blair Hubbard, winning the Flatirons League all four seasons; included in that mark was a 14-0 record and a state championship his sophomore season. He also lettered in basketball (forward/center), earning second-team 2A All-State honors as a junior and helping the Eagles to a No. 1 ranking as a senior, when he was honorable mention 3A All-State (FCHS moved up one classification in basketball). In the spring, he lettered in track (throws); as a senior, he was the state 3A champion in the discus (154-11) while placing fifth in the shot put (3A, with a throw of 47-5½). He was second in the shot put in the (3A) state as a junior (49-10¼); he was 14th in the discus (124-3, thus he improved by over 30 feet between his junior and senior years).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Integrative Physiology at Colorado. While sitting out the fall 2012 semester, he attended Front Range Community College and took eight credits worth of classes. He was an Honor Roll member in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born November 22, 1993, in Chicago, Ill. His grandfather is legendary Bill McCartney, the all-time winningest football coach in Colorado history and member of the College Football Hall of Fame. His father is former CU and Green Bay Packers defensive tackle Shannon Clavelle. His older brother, T.C. McCartney, played football at LSU and was a graduate assistant with the Buffs for two years (2012-13); he is now in quality control with the Cleveland Browns. He enjoys reading and hanging out with friends in his free time. He also assists his grandfather with his organization, Promise Keepers.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He missed all of spring practice healing from a chronic stress reaction in a foot, participating in conditioning on a limited basis. He will enter his senior tied for 36th in receptions (58) and 45th in receiving yards (670) all-time at Colorado.

2013 (Jr.)—He played in all 12 games (no starts), despite his being hampered much of the season with an injured foot (deemed a stress reaction). He caught 14 passes for 138 yards and a touchdown, all but one in the first half of the season. His top game came against Central Arkansas, when he had five grabs for 50 yards; he scored his touchdown on a 24-yard pass from Connor Wood at Oregon State (he caught two balls for 29 yards in that contest). He also made three receptions for 41 yards at Arizona State.

2012 (Soph.)—He played in all 12 games, including 10 starts, finishing second on the team in both receptions (34) and yards (436), as well as owning the second best yards per catch (12.8) for those with 10 or more receptions. He was also second in catches for 20 or more yards (6) and those that went 10-plus (17). He scored two touchdowns, which came against CSU and Fresno State, and had at least one catch in 11 games with a high of seven (for 69 yards) versus UCLA. His yardage best came in the season finale against Utah, when he had six receptions for 88 yards. He earned 16 first downs (including six of eight catches on third downs), and he caught 15 balls on first down throws (for a team best 13.5 yards per). He had one special teams point, coming on a knockdown block on return unit duty. He was one of only three receivers on the roster who entered the year that had caught a pass in college.

2011 (Fr.)—He played in all 13 games, including two starts (California, Colorado State), becoming just the seventh true freshman to start at least one game at wide receiver since 1973 (but the fifth since 2007). He caught 10 passes for 96 yards and a touchdown, with six of the receptions earning first downs. He caught two passes in three games and one in four others; he had two for 25 yards in his first career game, the season opener at Hawai'i. He also caught a pair against Cal and Stanford, and his touchdown came on a 14-yard throw from Tyler Hansen at Ohio State. He also saw action on special teams, racking up five special team points on the strength of four knockdown blocks and a fumble recovery (the latter against Oregon).

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-State honors from the coaches at both wide receiver and defensive back, along with first-team All-District 2-5A accolades at both positions. Rivals.com ranked him as the No. 10 player overall in the state of New Mexico, as well as the top receiver; NewMexicoPreps.com ranked him No. 14 and third, respectively. As a junior, he was first-team All-District 5-5A at wide receiver. As a senior, he missed all but five games after suffering a lacerated liver and spleen early in the year, though he was able to return by the end of the season and participate in the playoffs. Despite missing just over half the season, he still caught 40 passes for 570 yards and nine touchdowns. On defense, he played both cornerback and safety, racking up 42 tackles, with five passes broke up, two fumble recoveries and a caused fumble. As a junior, he hauled in 52 passes for 720 yards and 11 touchdowns. His two top games as a senior bookended the season: in a 46-26 win over West Mesa in the opener, he caught 11 passes (three one-handed) for 130 yards and a touchdown, and in a 28-27 loss to Las Cruces in the quarterfinals of the state playoffs, he had seven receptions for 186 yards and all four Eldorado touchdowns (53, 7, 19 and 6 yards); Eldorado went for two points with 1:18 left but couldn't convert. Under coach Charlie Dotson, Eldorado was 9-3 his senior year, 6-6 his junior season, and 12-1 and District Champions his sophomore year. He also lettered twice in baseball (pitcher/outfield), and played basketball as a freshman.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado (owner of a 3.34 grade point average). He earned honorable mention Pac-12 All-

Academic Team honors as both a junior and sophomore. Owner of a 3.9 grade point average in high school, he was an Academic All-Albuquerque Metro Team member as a senior and an Academic All-District honoree as a junior and senior.

PERSONAL—He was born April 8, 1993 in Albuquerque. His hobbies include playing basketball, golf and video games. His uncle is Tommy Sheppard, the former Denver Nuggets media relations director who is currently the vice president of basketball operations for the Washington Wizards (his mother, Barbara, is Tommy's sister). As a third grader, he was earned the President's Physical Fitness Award. (Last name is pronounced Muh-cull-ock).

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr-RS)—He enters the fall listed second on the depth chart at free safety. He had a big spring, posting the second-most tackles in the four main spring scrimmages with 24 (20 solo); seven of those came in the spring game (six unassisted).

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced at defensive back over the course of the fall, also doing whatever was asked of him on scout team duty. He joined the team as a recruited walk-on for August drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-Colorado honors from the Denver Post, which also selected him first-team All-State (3A); he was also the 3A state player of the year in being named first-team All-Western Slope League and he was a second-team All-American (small schools) by Max Preps. He was the seventh leading rusher in the nation (second in Colorado) in 2012, as he had 272 carries for 3,002 yards and 43 touchdowns; that was an average of 11.0 per try and included a long TD run of 94 yards. He also caught five passes for 209 yards (41.8 per) with three scores, one of which also covered 94 yards. He scored 50 touchdowns overall, as he had eight interceptions with two "pick-sixes" and two more scored on punt returns. He racked up 57 tackles (39 solo), with two forced fumbles and two pass deflections. As a junior, the Post selected him to its first-team All-State squad and he was also All-League; in addition, he was the Wendy's Colorado player of the year. He was 12th nationally in rushing with 280 carries for 2469 yards and 22 touchdowns (8.8 per attempt), with a 97-yard scoring run; he had 53 tackles on defense (39 solo), with two interceptions, three hurries, two forced fumbles and two recoveries. For the 24 games over the course of his junior and senior seasons, he rushed for 5,471 yards and 65 touchdowns, despite playing in the second half only six times (four as a senior, two as a junior). As a sophomore, he earned first-team All-WSL accolades with 144 carries for 1,500 yards (10.4), with 18 touchdowns. Thus for his career as a three year starter at tailback and strong safety, he had 697 rushing attempts for 7,043 yards and 84 touchdowns, averaging a gaudy 10.1 yards per carry; overall, he scored 93 touchdowns (and accounted for one more with a TD pass as a junior). He had 31 games of 100-plus yards, with 16 of 200 or more and four at 300-plus; he had 17 career runs of 60 yards or longer. He had 14 career interceptions. Top career games: as a senior against Moffat County, in a 45-0 win, he rushed 20 times for 416 yards and five touchdowns; Glenwood Springs (34-326, 3 TD in a 28-0 win) and Erie (22-262, 4 TD in a 42-0 win). As a junior, his best games came versus Delta (20-321, 4 TD in a 41-7 win) and Moffat County (26-319, 5 TD in a 48-6 win). Under coach Damon Wells, Rifle went 13-1 his senior year and 11-1 his junior season (14-0 combined in league play), but lost in the 2012 state championship game and in the 2011 quarterfinals; RHS was 6-4 his sophomore year and 4-6 his freshman season when he was a reserve on offense and played special teams (he had one rush that year, which went for 72 yards and a score). He also lettered in wrestling (171 lb. class) and track (sprints and jumps); Rifle was the 3A state champion his sophomore year. As a junior, he was on the state champion 4x200-meter relay team and he owned prep bests of 22-0¼ in the long jump and 45-3¼ in the triple jump. He lettered as a freshman in baseball, batting .263 with one home run (a 340-foot slam), but summed up his career as the "King of swinging bunts."

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado. He owned a 3.3 grade point average in high school and earned Academic All-State honors as a sophomore (and honorable mention status as a junior).

PERSONAL—He was born July 14, 1995 in Denver. His hobbies include snowboarding, camping, fishing and playing basketball. His father, Jay, lettered in football and wrestling at Northern Iowa (he also played semi-pro football). Among many summer jobs he has had, perhaps the most

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Originally scheduled to report with the other members of his recruiting class, due to shoulder surgery in the spring, he will delay his enrollment until January and will thus "grayshirt." He is planning to take a couple of classes in the fall at his own expense to get acclimated in advance of enrolling full-time for the spring semester.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior team captain, he earned All-Colorado honors from both the Denver Post and Mile High Sports Magazine in addition to being named All-Northern Conference. He was unanimously rated as one of the top 10 recruits in the state of Colorado, and as the No. 2 offensive lineman. He was an All-Region performer as both a junior and senior as selected by the Longmont Times-Call, and was a first-team All-State (3A) team member as a junior (no All-State teams were issued in 2013 for the state). A two-and-a-half year starter at left offensive tackle (he was required to sit out the first five games his sophomore season after transferring from Niwot), he allowed just three sacks over his junior and senior seasons; the coaches did not track statistics for offensive linemen, but observers noted multiple pancake blocks in all of his games. He played some spot defensive tackle at times, and did block a field goal against Coronado as a senior. Under coach Mike Apodaca, Silver Creek was the 3A state champion his junior year (12-2), and the state runner-ups his senior (10-3) and sophomore seasons (11-2); that worked to a combined 33-7 during his prep career.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Integrative Physiology as his major at Colorado. He was one of 11 players in the state to be named as a prestigious National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete. A member of the Honor Roll all four years at Silver Creek, he owns a weighted 4.3 grade point average in high school, as he was a member of the Academic All-State team his sophomore through senior years.

PERSONAL—He was born March 22, 1996 in Boulder. His hobbies include weightlifting, playing basketball, Frisbee and anything that involves the outdoors. His father (Russell) played college football at Jamestown College in North Dakota. He is active in the community and has volunteered with Special Olympics, working with the kids in both softball and swimming. He was the first commitment of CU's 2014 recruiting class, doing so on May 24.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters fall camp listed second on the depth at strong safety. He had five tackles, all solo with one for a loss, in the four main spring scrimmages. He begins his junior year 21st in all-time kickoff return yards at Colorado

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in 11 games, 10 on defense (no starts; did not play at UCLA) and was in for 127 plays from scrimmage. He racked up 16 tackles (11 solo, one for zero), and also had three third down stops (one on fourth down), two touchdown saves and a forced fumble, the latter coming in the season finale at Utah. He had two solo stops in the opener against Colorado State, both big plays as one was a third down stop and the other stifling the Rams on a fourth down try at CU's 17-yard line with just less than two minutes remaining in the game. His season-high in tackles were three on three occasions (at Arizona State, at Washington, at Utah). He earned four points in CU's elaborate special teams scoring system, coming on the strength of three tackles (two solo) and a downed punt. In the preseason, Phil Steele's College Football selected him as the third-team kick returner on its All-Pac 12 preseason team (collegesportsmadness.com selected him on its second-team). He was also one of 36 players on the preseason watch list for the top kickoff returners as determined by the College Football Performance Awards.

2012 (Fr.)—He earned honorable mention All-Pac 12 honors at defensive back from the league coaches, and was a second-team All-Pac 12 choice at kickoff returner by collegesportsmadness.com. He played in all 12 games, including starts in seven, three at nickel back and the final four games of the season at strong safety. He finished sixth on the team in tackles with 56 (27 solo), as he saw action for 524 snaps from scrimmage, the fourth most ever played on defense by a true freshman in school history. He recorded a season-career-high 14 tackles (five solo) against Stanford, and had seven on two other occasions (Fresno State, Washington). He also had a quarterback sack on a safety blitz, two third down stops, three hurries, a pass broken up, an interception (which he had versus Fresno) and two touchdown saves. He led the team in kickoff returns, averaging 26.1 yards for 21 returns; that included a 100-yard return for a touchdown against Utah, CU's first kickoff return for a score in three years (and was the Kickoff Return Performer of the Week as selected by Intersport). He was the seventh freshman to lead CU in kickoff returns, with the 26.1 average second only to Ben Kelly's 31.1 in 1997. On special teams, he earned three points, as he had a solo tackle inside-the-20 and a forced fumble. In the first extensive scrimmage of August camp, he returned a kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown, which turned out to be glimpse of how he would conclude his freshman year.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 91 safety in the nation and the No. 128 player overall out of California by ESPN.com; he starred in all three phases of the game, at defensive back, wide receiver and kick returner. He was a first-team All-CIF Inland Division selection and earned first-team All-Baseline League honors at defensive back, while garnering second-team accolades at receiver; he was an honorable mention All-League performer as a junior. In his senior season, he recorded 64 tackles (43 solo), had two interceptions, four passes broken up and a fumble recovery. On offense, he had 19 receptions for 387 yards and three touchdowns, with 326 yards rushing with five touchdowns on 19 carries, with a long rush of 78 yards. His best game as a senior came in a 54-27 win over Norco, when he returned two kickoffs for touchdowns (83 and 95 yards), had one catch for a 48-yard touchdown, had an interception and was in on eight tackles. Another top contest came against Los Osos, when he had four carries for 68 yards and a TD on offense, in addition to an interception, five tackles and a pass deflection on defense in a 49-21 Upland victory. A two-year starter on defense, as a junior he tallied 65 tackles (47 solo), one interception, two pass breakups, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. Under coach Tim Salter, the Scots were 43-10 in his four seasons (12-1 his senior year, league champions; 8-4 as a junior, 12-2 as a sophomore and 11-3 as a freshman). He also lettered in track and field, competing in the 100- and 200-meter dashes, the 4x100-meter relay, triple jump, and high jump. He played basketball as a freshman but did not letter.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born May 31, 1994, in Artesia, Calif. His hobbies include hanging out with friends and playing video games, in addition to being very talented musically: he plays the drums and the ukulele, along with writing and producing music. He has given back to his community by working at his local church and coaching Pop Warner football. A cousin, Sirr Parker, played running back at Texas A&M and in the NFL. Parker scored on a 32-yard touchdown pass in the 1998 Big 12 Conference championship to give the Aggies a 36-33 overtime victory over Kansas State, and his life was the subject of a 2001 Showtime movie entitled They Call Me Sirr. He played in high school with fellow CU 2012 signee Donta Abbron. (First name is pronounced mar-kease)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—CU's starting right offensive guard. He was elected by his teammates as one of six team captains for the 2014 season. He was selected preseason second-team All-Pac-12 by Athlon Sports and was a third-team choice by Phil Steele's College Football. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Eddie Crowder Award for the spring, presented to a player who provided outstanding leadership.

2013 (Jr.)—He started all 12 games at right offensive guard, playing 742 snaps from scrimmage (fifth-most among the linemen). He had 510 plus plays, grading to a 68.7 plus percentage; his actual game and season grades were higher as they took neutral results into the equation. He tied for the team lead in direct touchdown blocks with six, and was second in knockdown blocks with 41 (combined pancakes, blown the opponent off the line and/or driving finishes). He was called for juts two penalties, allowed two-and-a-half sacks and allowed eight pressures. The coaches presented him with CU's Tyronee "Tiger" Bussey Award, presented to the player who displays inspiration in the face of physical adversity. He suffered a fractured fibula in spring drills (March 21, in a fumble recovery drill), and missed the last eight practices. He was limited in fall camp, and two-thirds of the way in he was still not all the way back though was increasing his participation in contact drills. Athlon Sports selected him as a third-team guard on its All-Pac 12 preseason team.

2012 (Soph.)—He earned honorable mention All-Pac 12 honors from the league coaches, and was a mid-season All-Pac 12 choice by Phil Steele's College Football. He started all 12 games, six at right guard and six at center, the latter due to injuries, and played the most snaps of all the offensive linemen with 785. He had 653 plus-plays, thus graded out to 83.2 percent for the season, and graded to 80 percent or higher in nine of 12 games, with a high of 88.6 percent against Stanford. He led the team in will-breaker blocks (essentially pancakes-plus) with 49, and tied for the lead in touchdown blocks with seven. He was not called for a penalty and allowed only two-and-a-half quarterback sacks and three pressures. He played another 10 snaps on the field goal/PAT unit on special teams.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in seven games (three starts); he emerged as the starting center at the end of spring drills and held it through competition in August camp. He started the first three games before going down with a severe ankle sprain against Colorado State that forced him to miss the next four games. On the year, he was in for 205 snaps from scrimmage, grading out to 76.1 percent, with his best game grade a solid 81.0 percent against California. He had five great effort blocks, allowed one quarterback pressure, three sacks and was called for two penalties. He also had three plays on the Field Goal/PAT unit on special teams. The coaches selected him as the Dan Stavelly Award winner following spring practice, the honor going to the top redshirt freshman-to-be.

2010 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced all along the offensive line as a member of the scout team. He earned the Offensive Scout Team Award for the Colorado State game.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned All-State, All-Area (Los Angeles and San Fernando Valley), All-Sierra League and All-Pac 5 Conference honors. He garnered All-Far West honors from both PrepStar and SuperPrep, the latter ranking him as the No. 129 player from the region (California, Hawai'i, Nevada), the 13th offensive lineman on that list. Scout.com listed him as the No. 61 offensive guard in the country. A three-year starter at offensive line and one year starter on the defensive line, he helped Notre Dame to a 28-7 record in his career. His senior year, he helped anchor a line that averaged 198.7 yards rushing and 188.3 yards passing per game on offense, helping Notre Dame (9-3) to the Sierra League championship and second-round appearance in the playoffs under coach Kevin Rooney. On defense, he had 53 tackles, 17 for losses including four sacks, three pass break-ups and two forced fumbles. His top game came when the team flew to Dallas to play Klein Oak at the brand new Cowboys Stadium and he had five tackles for loss in a 37-7 win. Against Crespi, Notre Dame won 23-21 on a 53-yard field goal on the last play of the game, and against Birmingham, he had two sacks as Notre Dame turned a 14-10 halftime lead into a 48-10 victory. He was a team captain and member of the team council, leading his group of linemen as a liaison with the coaching staff. As a junior, he earned All-State and All-Sierra League honors helping Notre Dame to an undefeated regular season and final record of 11-1 after winning the Sierra League. That season, Notre Dame averaged 274.5 yards passing and 180.7 yards rushing per game. He saw limited action on the defensive line that season and had 16 tackles and two sacks. He also lettered in track and field (throws); he was the CIF Section champion in the shot put as a junior with a career-best throw of 55-0.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado, and is also working toward a Certificate in Digital Media. He was named to the honorable mention Pac-12 All-Academic Team as a redshirt freshman, sophomore and junior. He earned All-Academic team mention for his high school for both football and track & field and was honored by maintaining a 3.0 or higher grade point average.

PERSONAL—He was born March 4, 1992 in Harbor City, Calif. He enjoys fishing, hiking, playing video games, hanging out with friends and watching movies and lists the best movie he has seen recently as the Book of Eli. He volunteered about 30 hours of his time to help his school host a Renal Prom for local kidney patients who can't regularly attend high school. He also volunteered at his high school's youth sports camps for the last two summers.

JORDAN MURPHY, FB

Castle Rock, Colo.
(Lutheran/Colorado State)

33

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall listed atop the depth chart at fullback. Though his is primarily a blocking role, in the spring, he did get three carries (for 10 yards) in the main scrimmages; those included a 1-yard plunge for a touchdown in the spring game (where he also caught a pass for four yards).

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in 10 games, including one start (which came against Central Arkansas); he missed the USC game after suffering a concussion in practice leading up to the game, and as a result, he also didn't travel to Utah or the season finale. He didn't record any offensive statistics, but on special teams, he made five knockdown blocks that helped spring the return man for additional yardage. He had a solid spring, and caught a touchdown pass in one of CU's four main scrimmages.

2012 (Soph.-RS)—He was ineligible to play due to NCAA transfer rules, as he joined the Buffs as an invited walk-on for August camp. He practiced the entire season at fullback, as the reason he transferred to CU from Colorado State was that the new coaching staff in Fort Collins didn't utilize his position in their new offense.

AT COLORADO STATE: 2011 (Fr.)—He played in eight games, all on special teams, recording three tackles (two solo); he joined the team as a preferred walk-on for preseason drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned first-team 1A All-State honors (Denver Post) as a junior and senior, along with first-team All-Metro South League honors his sophomore through senior years. He was selected as the conference's defensive most valuable player his senior season, when he recorded 116 tackles (94 solo), with five interceptions, two fumble recoveries and two forced; he had 10 or more tackles in eight of 10 games. Primarily a blocking fullback on offense, he rushed four times for 22 yards and caught two passes for 17 yards. Top games as a senior included racking up 16 tackles (11 solo) against Byers, 14 (all solo) versus Clear Creek and 13 (also all solo) against Nederland; against arch rival Denver Lutheran, in a 42-20 win, he had 15 tackles (12 solo), while also scoring a rushing touchdown. He set all his school tackles records for career, season and single-game. Under coach Daryl Moe, Lutheran was 6-4 his senior year; he was coached by Steve Fickert previously, with LHS going 4-5 his junior season, 5-4 his sophomore campaign and 4-5 his freshman year. He also lettered three times in track (throws, setting the school shot put record of 48-6 and placing fourth in the 2A state finals) and twice in basketball (guard).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Marketing) at Colorado. He earned honorable mention Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as a sophomore (with a 3.02 grade point average).

PERSONAL—He was born June 7, 1993 in Littleton, Colo. His hobbies include playing the guitar (including in church) and singing. An uncle, Tom Murphy, played basketball at Colorado Christian University and holds the record for highest single-season scoring average (27.8 in 1990-91). He was a survivor of the Century 16 Theater shooting in Aurora, Colo., just after midnight on July 20, 2012; he was in Theater No. 9 where the gunman entered through an exit door and proceeded to murder 12 innocent people, including a 6-year old, and would 58 others, paralyzing some for life. He knows he was lucky to escape the tragedy with his life.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall atop the depth chart at left offensive tackle, but the competition will continue well into August drills.

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in the first six games of the season, but he suffered a fractured fibula against Charleston Southern and was lost for the remainder of the year. He was in on four games on offense, playing a total of 27 snaps from scrimmage; the bulk of those came at Arizona State (18). He had 21 plus plays, thus owned a 77.8 plus percentage for the year (grades were higher as they included neutral results); he had two knockdown blocks, while not allowing a quarterback sack (he did allow two pressures and was flagged for one penalty). He also lined up at tight end for three snaps in short-yardage situations. As a member of the FG/PAT unit on special teams, he played an additional 24 snaps. He missed spring practice as he was recovering from injuries he sustained when he was hit by a sport utility vehicle while riding his bike in January. It was the second time in his life he was injured in an automobile accident, and he also suffered injuries when he fell while hiking on Long's Peak.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in seven games (no starts), playing 32 snaps from scrimmage and grading out to 71.9 percent for the year. He had three will-breaker blocks on the year and he played an additional 19 snaps on the field goal/PAT unit on special teams.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced on the offensive line the entire fall.

HIGH SCHOOL—A SuperPrep All-American and All-Midlands team member, as the publication ranked him as the No. 32 player in the region and he was the No. 3 offensive lineman and No. 2 player from Colorado on that list. PrepStar named him All-Region. He was named to the prestigious Tacoma News-Tribune Western 100 as one of 21 offensive linemen on the list. Scout.com had him as the No. 33 offensive tackle in the country, while Rivals.com ranked him as the No. 51 offensive lineman in the country and the No. 5 player from Colorado. ESPN ranked him the No. 45 offensive tackle and the No. 4 player from Colorado. He was an All-Colorado selection by the Denver Post as a senior, when he was also first-team All-State (5A) and All-Big 6 Conference. He earned second-team All-Big 8 honors as a junior. Playing offensive tackle as a senior, he helped Arvada West average 343.6 yards of total offense (202.5 yards passing and 141.1 yards rushing per game). As a junior, the team averaged 30.3 points and 291.2 yards of offense per game. He sat out his sophomore season due to state transfer rules because he began the fall camp at another school. His freshman season, he lettered on the offensive line at Broomfield High School. Under head coach Casey Coons, Arvada West went 17-7 his two seasons as a starter, including 11-2 his junior season when A-West won the Big 8 Conference championship and advanced to the state semifinals. His freshman season under coach Gary Davies, Broomfield compiled a 12-1 record, winning the 4A Northern League Championship and advancing to the state semis.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Ecology and Evolutionary Biology at Colorado. He earned honorable mention Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as a sophomore. He was twice named Academic All-Colorado in high school for maintaining a grade point average above 3.8.

PERSONAL—He was born January 31, 1992 in Denver. His hobbies include anything where he can enjoy the mountains including hiking, camping, fishing, skiing and other outdoor activities. He also enjoys reading.

STEPHANE NEMBOT, OL

Van Nuys, Calif.
(Montclair Prep)

77

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—CU's starting right offensive tackle, and this could be his breakout season. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Joe Romig Award for the spring, presented to the most improved offensive lineman.

2013 (Soph.)—He started all 12 games at right offensive tackle, playing the second-most snaps on offense both overall and by the linemen (823). He had 484 plus plays on the year, earning a 58.8 plus-play percentage; his actual game and season grades were higher as they took neutral results into the equation. He led the team in knockdown blocks with 45 (combined pancakes, blown the opponent off the line and/or driving finishes), and tied for the team lead in touchdown blocks with six. Improved as the season progressed, as he was still learning the nuances of the position; he was called for three penalties, allowed seven-and-half sacks and 20 pressures. He also played an additional 29 snaps on the field goal/PAT unit on special teams. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the offensive linemen for spring conditioning in the weight room.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He played in all 12 games, 10 on offense at right tackle, starting seven, and appeared in two others on the FG/PAT unit on special teams. He was in for 422 snaps from scrimmage, and had 30 will-breaker blocks (highest percent of those to snaps on the team), along with five touchdown blocks. He graded out to 74.6 percent for the season, and played his best games in the second half of the season, first at Arizona, where he graded out to 83.9 percent (52 plus plays out of 62), with five "will-breaker" blocks and two touchdown blocks. The next week against Washington, he had a career-best seven will-breaker efforts. Due to injuries, he played more as a redshirt frosh than anticipated due to injuries, and was thrown into the fire against several top defenders, thus did allow five-and-a-half quarterback sacks and five pressures, still not bad numbers. He bulked up some 25 pounds (all muscle) since arriving as a freshman and his second year on campus.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he was projected as a defensive end and practiced there early in camp, but then was moved to offense where he started learning the offensive tackle position the remainder of the year.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was an All-Region selection by PrepStar and All-Far West team member by SuperPrep, the latter publication's No. 74 player in the region, the No. 69 player from California and No. 11 defensive end in the region. ESPN ranked him as the No. 45 defensive tackle in the country and the No. 49 player from California (the sixth DT in the state). Rivals.com ranked him the No. 51 defensive end nationally, No. 80 in California (the eighth strong side DE statewide), while Scout.com ranked him the No. 70 offensive tackle in the nation, No. 97 player from California (fifth OT in the Golden State). The Alpha League most valuable lineman, he also earned first-team mention. Rivals.com tabbed him, "the most intriguing prospect in the west." He earned second-team All-Alpha League as a junior, his first year playing football. As a senior, he totaled 61 tackles (44 solo) with 11 quarterback sacks, two forced fumbles, two recoveries and one pass break-up. On special teams, he kicked off 35 times with three touchbacks and also returned a kickoff 10 yards. His junior season he had 36 tackles (27 solo) with one fumble recovery while he kicked off twice. Top career games included a 30-6 win over St. Anthony when he had seven tackles and four sacks, and in a 42-8 loss to Paradiete, he had 12 tackles and three sacks. He also lettered in basketball (Alpha League's best defender as a junior), soccer (defender) and volleyball (front row/middle blocker).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in International Affairs at Colorado (owner of a 3.28 grade point average). He earned second-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors both as a sophomore and a redshirt freshman. He was a member of his high school's Honor Roll all eight semesters as a prep, maintaining better than a 3.5 grade point average.

PERSONAL—He was born December 7, 1991, in Douala, Cameroon. His hobbies include watching movies, television sitcoms and football and basketball games, art, kickboxing and martial arts (Tai Chi). He speaks three different languages (French, English and Spanish) and nine different African dialects (Bafoussam, Baleng, Bangala, Bangante, Badjoun, Bafang, Bayangam, Batick and Trshang). He participated in a program through Montclair Prep to help feed the homeless up to twice a week and says it is his dream to come to the United States and make enough money to go back to Africa and help the needy. (Name is pronounced steff-on name-bot.)

ANDRE NICHOLS, DE

6-4, 230, Sr., 1L

Colorado Springs, Colo.
(Rampart)

58

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He entered the fall listed fourth at left defensive end. He had two tackles, one solo, which was tackle for zero, in the spring game.

2013 (Jr.)—He saw his first collegiate action, playing in two games on special teams (Charleston Southern, Arizona) but was injured in practice and tests would reveal he had a herniated disk; he missed the remainder of the season. He played 11 snaps in all on the FG/PAT unit. He had also missed most of spring practices after suffering a shoulder subluxation on the third day of drills (March 12).

2012 (Soph.)—He did not see any action, but dressed for three games and practiced all year at defensive end. He got plenty of reps during spring drills with a depleted corps of defensive linemen and had four tackles (three solo, one for a zero gain) in the main spring scrimmages.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He did not see any action; he suffered a fractured jaw that required surgery and was on a liquid diet at one point, which made him drop some weight. He had joined the team as a walk-on for spring practices and had three tackles (one solo) in the three main spring scrimmages.

2010 (Fr.)—He attended Colorado as a student, but was not a member of the football team; however, his NCAA "clock" started once he enrolled and started taking classes.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered three years in football first playing running back and then both tight end and defensive end at Rampart. As a senior, when he was team captain, he had 20 solo tackles, six for losses including three quarterback sacks, while catching three passes for 80 yards on offense. He rushed for over 700 yards combined with seven touchdowns as a freshman and sophomore, with a long run of 60 yards. RHS was 5-5 his sophomore year and 2-8 both his junior and senior seasons under coach Dan Morse. He also lettered three times in track (sprints, relays); as the team captain, he led his 4x100 and 4x200 relays teams, as both qualified for the state championships his senior year.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Psychology at Colorado. He was a member of the Honor Roll his sophomore through senior years in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born January 29, 1992 in Richmond, Va. His hobbies include music, trivia, playing Xbox and keeping up on technology.

CLAY NORGARD, DT

6-0, 240, Soph., 1L

Highlands Ranch, Colo.

36

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He entered fall camp listed second at one of the two defensive tackle spots. He moved from inside linebacker to defensive tackle during spring drills, as the coaches wanted to find a position that better suited his size and particular talents.

2013 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in three games toward the end of the season, all on special teams (Washington, USC and Utah); he dressed for eight others. He made his presence known in that short period, recording five knockdown blocks on the kickoff return unit that helped clear a path for additional yardage. He was moved from offense (fullback) to inside linebacker prior to spring drills, and he looked good making the transition. He had five tackles (four solo, one for a loss) in the main spring scrimmages.

2012 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he was projected as a fullback upon his arrival in college and practiced there and on the scout team throughout the fall. He joined the team for spring drills, as he enrolled at CU in January after graduating from high school early.

HIGH SCHOOL—He was ranked as the No. 4 fullback in the nation by Rivals, which also listed him as the No. 7 prospect out of the state of Colorado. MaxPreps ranked him as the No. 21 inside linebacker, while Scout.com tabbed him as the No. 105 defensive end nationally and the No. 11 player overall from Colorado; ESPN ranked him as the No. 56 defensive end nationally, the No. 101 player in the Midlands, and No. 7 player from Colorado. The Denver Post tabbed him as a first-team All-Colorado and first-team 5A All-State selection both as a junior and senior, and he garnered first-team All-Centennial League accolades his sophomore through senior seasons. A three-year starter on defense, he recorded 218 tackles, including 88 for losses with 32 quarterback sacks, 19 forced fumbles and 10 fumble recoveries over his last two seasons. He had 115 tackles as a senior, including 45 for a loss (17 sacks) while forcing 10 fumbles and recovering six. In a playoff game against Douglas County in a 18-14 victory, he recorded 15 tackles and a pair of sacks. He opened the season in a 50-7 win over Smoky Hill with 11 tackles, including nine solo. His junior season, he had 103 tackles, including 43 for a loss with 15 quarterback sacks, forcing nine fumbles and recovering four. He played defensive tackle, defensive end and both inside and outside linebacker throughout high school. Under coach Ric Cash, Mountain Vista was 4-6 his senior season, 4-6 his junior year and 7-4 his sophomore season. He also lettered three times in track and was named first-team All-State at the 5A classification by the Denver Post. He set school records in the shot put, discus and javelin.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring Economics at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born November 1, 1993 in The Woodlands, Texas; he is part Native American (Cherokee). His father (Erik) played center at Colorado for two years (1987-88) and was named All-Big Eight as a senior before going on to enjoy an 11-year NFL career with the Houston Oilers organization. His mother (Lisa) also attended CU. His hobbies include snowboarding and long boarding, and his favorite athlete is Clay Matthews. He lists the biggest moment of his prep career as when he earned All-Colorado honors his junior season.

DARRAGH O'NEILL, P

6-2, 190, Sr., 3L

Louisville, Colo.
(Boulder Fairview)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—CU's fourth-year punter and one of the best in the nation (he has been CU's punter for all 25 games in his career). He is bidding to join Stan Koleski (1973-76) and Matt DiLallo (2006-09) as the only players in school history to lead the team in punting for four seasons. He was selected preseason second-team All-Pac-12 by Athlon Sports and was a fourth-team choice by Phil Steele's College Football. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the specialists for his spring work in the weight room. He enters his senior season tied for first all-time at Colorado with 216 career punts (second in yardage with 9,132, just 13 off the lead), and is already the career leader in punts inside-the-20 (68) and inside-the-10 (25). He is usually a right-footed kicker, but with his soccer background, can punt with his left; of his 216 career punts, 207 have been right-footed, nine with his left (for 369 yards, an average of 41.0 per with a long of 51 and two inside-the-20).

2013 (Jr.)—Once again, he was CU's punter for the third straight season, averaging 40.5 yards for 66 punts; his average dipped a bit because the average yardline of his kicks was the CU37 (compared to the 32 in 2012). Sixteen of those kicks originated in opponent territory (35.1 average), had he placed 13 of those inside-the-20. He owned the same average, 42.2, for punts on CU's side of the 50 as well as for 10 that were inside the Buff 25. Only 20 of his kicks were returned, with another 19 fair caught (four went for touchbacks). He placed 22 kicks inside-the-20, 18 of which were inside-the-15; his 10 inside-the-10 set a school record (three were placed inside-the-5). He had a punt blocked against USC, which ended a streak of 131 without one that dated back to 2011; it was the second-longest streak in school history (to 153 by Barry Helton, 1984-87). He did make some school history, however, when he converted a 2-point conversion on a run against Charleston Southern, the first CU punter to ever score a 2-point PAT (he also attempted a failed pass for one at Arizona State). For the second straight year, he was one of 25 players on the official preseason watch list for the Ray Guy Award, which is presented to the nation's top punter (and was one of 36 players on the preseason watch list for the top punter as determined by the College Football Performance Awards). He was the unanimous preseason choice as the first-team Pac-12 punter, selected by Athlon Sports, Lindy's Pac-12 Football, Phil Steele's College Football, The Sporting News and USA Today.

2012 (Soph.)—He earned honorable mention All-American honors from Sports Illustrated, and honorable mention All-Pac 12 accolades from the league coaches (he was a honorable mention Sophomore All-American by collegefootballnews.com). He averaged 43.5 yards for 76 punts in 2012, placing a school record 25 inside-the-20 (14 inside-the-15, seven inside-the-10 and two inside-the-5), forcing 23 fair catches as 60.5 percent of his kicks were not returned; his average jumped to 44.5 when accounting for eight punts coming inside opponent territory (he put six of those inside-the-20), and he had 16 kicks of 50 yards or longer. All but two of his punts were with his right leg, he did two with his left, averaging 47.0 yards on those with one inside-the-20 (both were rugby style). He tied the school record for the most punts in a single season, and set CU marks for season punting yards (3,307) and punts inside-the-20 with the 25. He was model of consistency, averaging at least 42.5 yards per punt in nine of 12 games, and over 40 in 11 games. He was one of 25 players on the official preseason watch list for the Ray Guy Award (and was one of 44 on a similar list for the College Football Performance Awards punter of the year). A former walk-on, he was placed on scholarship permanently beginning in the 2012 spring semester.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He became just the fifth player in CU history to serve as the team's regular punter as a freshman, joining Stan Koleski ('73), Andy Mitchell ('94), Matt DiLallo ('06) and teammate Zach Grossnickle ('10); his 74 punts were the most ever by a Buff frosh, breaking Grossnickle's record of 60. He played in all 13 games, and by the end of the season, he had become just the seventh walk-on to play as a true freshman since 1986, and would be rewarded by earning a scholarship. He earned second-team Freshman All-American honors from both collegefootballnews.com and Phil Steele's College Football and was a rivals.com first-team Freshman All-Pac 12 performer. Phil Steele's also tabbed him mid-season third-team All-Pac 12. He was a three-time honorable mention Intersport Performer of the Week selection for his efforts against Colorado State (43.7 average on seven punts), Oregon (43.2, 12) and UCLA (44.0, 6). He averaged 42.6 yards per punt, with a 38.8 net figure; 21 of his 74 kicks placed inside-the-20 (eight inside-the-10, three inside-the-5) and 17 traveling 50 yards or longer with 57 his longest. His 21-to-2 ratio of inside-the-20 punts to touchbacks was fourth best in the nation and only 29 were returned, the longest for 31 yards; 20 were fair caught. He averaged 43.5 yards for 19 punts inside the CU 25, and 43.4 on 65 boots from the 50 or further out. His 42.6 average was the second-best by a freshman in the nation, trailing only LSU's Brad Wing (44.4 on 59 punts); it was the second highest ever by a CU frosh, behind a 43.7 figure in 2006 by DiLallo. The 74 punts were the second most for a single-season in school history, well over the previous most by a freshman, 47, also by DiLallo; his net average of 38.8 set a CU freshman record, besting DiLallo's 38.5 mark. Against Oregon, he placed six punts inside-the-20, setting a CU single-game record as it topped the five that Mitch Berger had against Texas in 1993; four of those were inside-the-10, also a school best as several had done it three times. He joined the team as a walk-on in spring practices, trying out as a punter; it was the first time he had ever played organized football.

2010 (Fr.)—He attended Colorado as a student, but was not a member of the football team; however, his NCAA "clock" started once he enrolled and started taking classes.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered three times in both basketball and soccer for Boulder's Fairview High. He was the Max Preps Player of the Year as a senior in basketball, earning first-team All-Colorado, All-State (5A) and All-Front Range League honors in leading Fairview to a 22-6 record and to the state championship game (where the Knights lost to Regis, 68-58). He averaged 23.4 points per game (609 total in 28 games), with a career-high of 42 against Chatfield, a game in which he went 21-of-23 from the free throw line. He had nine games with 30 or more points, eclipsing 40 on two occasions. In fact, he made 191 of 213 free throws on the year (89.7 percent), shot 49 percent from the field (30-of-85 three pointers, 35 percent) and also averaged 3.9 rebounds, 3.0 steals and 2.2 assists per game. As a junior, he averaged 10.5 points, 2.1 assists, 2.0 rebounds and 1.2 steals per game as Fairview was 26-1, not losing until the state semifinal game against George Washington (76-74). FHS was 62-18 in his three varsity seasons under coach Frank Lee, which included back-to-back 11-0 records in Front Range League play his junior and senior years. In soccer, playing forward for coach Stan Jozwiak, he scored 35 goals in his three-year career, including 13 his senior season when he earned honorable mention All-State honors. He had 12 goals as a junior and 10 as a sophomore.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Accounting) at Colorado, and is the owner of a 3.29 grade point average. He earned second-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as a junior (honorable mention as a sophomore).

PERSONAL—He was born December 21, 1991 in Cork, Ireland, the southernmost major city in the country, about 10 miles inland from the Celtic Sea. His family moved to the United States when he was three, but all their relatives are still in Ireland and they visit there every summer. His hobbies include playing basketball; in fact, the University of Denver recruited him as a basketball player. His father, Colm, is the owner and proprietor of Boulder's popular restaurant, Conor O'Neill's, located on 13th Street just off Boulder's famous Pearl Street Mall. A younger brother, Shane, was a high school soccer All-American and signed with the Colorado Rapids organization in the summer of 2012; he is now a starting midfielder for the team. AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He is one of 30 players on the official initial watch list for the 23rd Annual Lou Groza Award, presented to the nation's top placekicker. He was selected preseason third-team All-Pac-12 by Phil Steele's College Football and was a fourth-team choice by Athlon Sports. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Jim Hansen Award for the spring, presented to the player who is the most outstanding academically. He enters his senior year eighth in scoring (fourth in kick scoring) at Colorado with 189 points, and has made 60 consecutive PAT kicks dating back to his freshman year (the second-longest streak in school history). He has made 34-of-48 career field goals, both numbers the fourth-most at CU.

2013 (Jr.)—He earned honorable mention All-Pac-12 honors as voted on by the league coaches, and was also one of 20 semifinalists for the Lou Groza Award, which is presented to the nation's top placekicker. The coaches named him the co-recipient of the Bill McCartney Award, given for special teams achievement. He led the team in scoring with 81 points, connecting on all 30 extra-point kicks (extending his streak to 60 in a row) and making good on 17-of-24 field goals (the same exact figures he had compiled over his first two seasons). He opened the year strong by scoring 15 points in CU's 41-27 win over Colorado State: he made all seven kicks he attempted in the game, three PATs and four field goals, which came from 22, 41, 44 and 52 yards, and he had two touchbacks kicking off; the Groza committee made him one of its "three stars of the week." He made three field goals in two other games, Oregon (3-of-3, from 33, 22 and 31 yards) and at UCLA (3-of-5, from 23, 47 and 37 yards). He drilled a career-long 53 yard field goal against Arizona, and also kicked a 48-yarder (both kicks were five minutes apart in the second quarter). The average distance of his makes was 33.6 yards (and misses from 46.3 yards), as he was 13-of-15 inside of 45 yards. He assumed the regular role of kicking off for the first time in his career with 56 total, 29 of which were returned; 26 went for touchbacks (16 through the end zone) with the other being fair caught. Of those kicks that were returned, nine did not make it back past the 25 and six not beyond the 20. He connected on 24-of-25 kicks in the four spring scrimmages.

2012 (Soph.)—He saw action in 11 games, and led the team in scoring with 46 points; he didn't have an opportunity to overly show his talents, attempting only eight field goals all year (made six). His long make was just 37 yards as he had one attempt all year over that distance (a 43-yard try that was blocked against Utah), and he converted all 28 extra-point kicks. He had his first real pressure PAT kick of his career (he had some critical field goal tries as a frosh) when he made the game-winner in CU's 35-34 win at Washington State. He also made a 30-yarded field goal early in the fourth quarter that gave CU a 17-16 lead in the season opener against Colorado State, and drilled a 36-yarder as time expired to pull CU within 20-17 of Arizona State at halftime. He kicked off seven times, with the opponent starting on average at its own 23. He missed the last portion of spring practice due to a chronic shoulder issue, but was deadly before he was sidelined. He made good of 9-of-10 kicks in three main spring scrimmages (he sat out the spring game), with a long of 58 and the average distance of his makes covering 48.6 yards — his miss was from 60 and it was wide left, not short.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action in 12 games, setting a school record for the most points scored (62) by a freshman in CU history, besting the old mark by 10 points (Mason Crosby scored 52 in 2003). He also set frosh school marks for field goals made (11) and attempted (16) while making good on 29-of-31 PAT kicks. In just his second game, Oliver was named one of the three "Stars of the Week" by the Lou Groza Award, as he kicked four field goals and three extra points in CU's 36-33 overtime loss to California. He nailed a 32-yarder to send the game into overtime in the final minute, made a 22-yarder to account for CU's OT scoring, and in the first half, made good on a 52-yard kick that was the longest by a freshman in CU history and the longest in the nation by a true freshman in 2011 (the second-longest by any freshman and just one of three of 50 yards or longer by all frosh; it tied for the 22nd longest in the nation and the third longest in the Pac-12 in 2011). He opened 6-of-6 in field goal attempts, the first player at Colorado to make his first six field goals in a career in a single season (old mark was five by Crosby in 2003). He missed out tying the record for the most consecutive made field goals to start a Buff career (7, by Jeremy Flores, over two seasons, 2000-01); his seventh try was blocked by Washington State as the right side of the FG/PAT unit was over-run on the attempt. He bounced back to make two 48-yard efforts, however, and the average distance of his 11 makes were 37.2 yards. He also made his first 22 career PAT tries before missing wide left against Arizona, though that miss was aided by winds gusting to 60 miles per hour. While just 6-of-10 on field goals inside 40 yards as the four misses were all blocked, he was a very impressive 5-of-6 outside of 40 yards. He became just the seventh true freshman to attempt a placekick in Colorado history, joining Tim Mangnall (1976), Tom Field (1979), Ken Culbertson (1986), Eric Hannah (1987), Mason Crosby (2003) and Justin Castor (2010); he joined Field and Crosby as the only ones to play in the season opener.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 31 kicker in the nation by ESPN, No. 5 from California; kicking "guru" Chris Sailer ranked him as the No. 12 kicking prospect in the country when he was named first-team All-Mission League as a kicker and first-team All-Area as a punter. As a junior, he was a first-team All-Del Ray League performer before his school switched league affiliations. In his prep career, he connected on 18-of-23 field goals and 50-of-50 PAT kicks for 104 total points; his senior season he made 6-of-9 field goals and all 25 extra-point kicks for 43 points. Two of his field goals came from 40-plus yards and his kickoffs resulted in touchbacks 85 percent of the time. He punted for the first time as a senior, averaging 38.0 yards per punt, pinning nine inside-the-20 (with a long of 59). As a junior, he hit 6-of-8 field goals with four makes from 43 yards or longer, including kicks from 51 and 50 yards. He made good on all 10 point after touchdown tries, with 80 percent of his kickoffs resulting in touchbacks. As a sophomore, he was perfect: 6-of-6 on field goals and 15-of-15 PAT's, for 33 points. He was the National Kicking Event Prep Camp Champion in the summer of 2010, and the year before, he was a two-time finalist in the field goal kicking events at two separate Chris Sailer camps. He also lettered in lacrosse and soccer, the only student at H-W in each of his sophomore, junior and senior seasons to be a three-sport varsity athlete; he was presented with the prestigious Schumacher Award as a senior which is given to the outstanding three-sport performer who contributes the most to the athletic program. In lacrosse, as a crease attack man, he scored a school and a Mission League record 56 goals as a senior (the old mark had been 45), which also included a record nine goals in one game (old mark was six); he was the league MVP leading his team to a 13-1 record, including an 8-0 mark in conference play. As a junior he tallied 31 goals and one assist and was named the team's offensive most valuable player; as a sophomore, he injured his thumb after just three games but had already scored eight goals. His 95 career foals shattered the old mark of 80 for both H-W and the league. He also lettered in hockey, but for Venice High School because there weren't enough kids to compose a hockey team at Harvard-Westlake. Prior to settling on those four sports, in middle school he also played water polo, baseball, tennis and ran track.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Finance) and is also working toward his Master's in Accounting on a concurrent basis; he is interested in sports management or sports marketing as a career choice. He was inducted into CU's prestigious 4.0 GPA club for his perfect mark for the Fall 2013 semester. He earned first-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as a junior with a 3.67 grade point average, and was a second-team selection as a sophomore. He was a member of the Honor Roll in high school maintaining above a 3.2 GPA at Harvard-Westlake, which in April 2010 was ranked the No. 12 prep school in the country by Forbes and the top one of its kind west of the Mississippi River.

PERSONAL—He was born November 23, 1992 in Santa Monica, Calif. His hobbies include playing the viola in his school's symphony orchestra and playing most other sports. His family owned a house until he was 10 years old in Aspen, where he learned to both play hockey and ski. He worked for two years as an usher at the Hollywood Bowl, the famous amphitheater set against the backdrop of the famous Hollywood sign and hills. He also dedicated some of his spare time to the Riviera Foundation and volunteers teaching kids how to play tennis. He requested a switch from No. 91 he wore as a freshman to No. 28 because he is a devout Los Angeles Kings fan; Luc Robitaille, former player and currently in the Kings' front office, introduced him to Adam Deadmarsh, the one-time Avalanche and former Kings player who wore... No. 28.

KENNETH OLUGBODE, OLB

6-0, 210, Soph., 1L

San Jose, Calif.

(Bellarmine Prep)

31

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed first on the depth chart at the "will" inside linebacker position. He had four tackles in the four main spring scrimmages, including two in the spring game. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Greg Biekert Award for the spring, presented to the most improved linebacker.

2013 (Fr.)—He saw action in all 12 games, including five on defense (no starts) as he was in for 61 plays from scrimmage. He made six tackles (three unassisted), with a third down stop. He earned a spot playing on CU's special teams, and accrued 11 points in CU's elaborate point system on the strength of two tackles (one solo and an assist inside-the-20) along with eight knockdown blocks that helped clear the path for additional yardage on returns.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors at outside linebacker as a senior, when MaxPreps.com named him first-team All-Northern California for all divisions with Cal-Hi Sports naming him second-team All-State in its multi-purpose category. The Contra-Costa Times selected him to its "Cream of the Crop" team, ranking him No. 14 of the 20 players on its list. He was also the West Catholic Athletic League Player of the Year as well as the San Jose Mercury News CCS Player of the Year in making the paper's All-Area team. He earned second-team All-State and first-team All-WCAL honors. As a senior, he played running back and tight end on offense, rushing for 787 yards and 14 touchdowns, a 7.7 average for his 102 carries. He caught eight passes for 207 yards and another score. He was the backup quarterback as a junior, rushing 11 times for 72 yards but did not throw a pass. Defensively, at inside linebacker as a senior, he racked up 103 tackles, with 13 quarterback hurries, three forced fumbles, three passes broken up, two quarterback sacks and a blocked punt. He played outside linebacker as a junior, making 50 tackles which included three sacks, along with three forced fumbles, one recovery, three hurries, two passes broken up and an interception. He was on the varsity as a sophomore but did not see any action. Top games as a senior: in a season opening loss to DeLaSalle, he recorded a career-high 13 tackles, two for losses; in a 38-35 win over Valley Christian, he rushed for over 150 yards and three touchdowns (including a 46-yard dash). Under Coach Mike Janda, Bellarmine was 12-2 his junior year, winning the CIF Central Coast Section championship, and was 11-2 his senior season, losing in the CIF-CCS final (13-10 to St. Ignatius in overtime); it claimed the West Catholic Athletic League title both years (7-0 in league play). He lettered four times in basketball (guard).

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major but is enrolled in CU's School of Arts & Sciences. He owned a 3.5 grade point average in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born September 19, 1995 in San Jose, Calif. His hobbies include playing basketball and most sports in general. Two older brothers are playing college football: Kyle will be a sophomore safety at Stanford this fall, while Kristoffer will be a sophomore running back at Idaho. He is very active in community service through an after school program with Bellarmine, as he has worked extensively with the elderly, children with disabilities and the underprivileged. He also serves as a presidential ambassador for the school, representing Bellarmine at most school events. He originally committed to San Jose State. (Last name is pronounced oh-lew-bo-day.)

ROBERT ORBAN, TE

6-6, 195, Fr., RS

Denver, Colo.

(Regis)

82

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr-RS)—He finished up spring ball listed third on the depth chart at the "X" receiver position, having officially switched over from tight end where he mostly practiced as a frosh.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced at tight end after joining the team as a recruited walk-on for August drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—In earning three letters playing tight end and wide receiver, he was a two-time All-Continental Conference performer as a junior and senior, when he combined to make 77 receptions for 874 yards and seven touchdowns. Under coach Mark Nolan, Regis was 5-6 his senior year, 5-5 his junior season and 13-1 his sophomore year, when the Rangers won its league title and reached the state championship game (he was promoted to the varsity for the playoffs). His offensive coordinator on the varsity was former Buff quarterback Bobby Pesavento ('01). He also lettered three times in lacrosse (defender); he was first-team All-Conference as a senior after being named honorable mention as a junior. Regis won the conference title both those seasons.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Civil Engineering at Colorado. He was a first-team Academic All-State team member in both football and lacrosse as a junior and senior in high school. He earned "First Honors" from Regis his sophomore through senior years.

PERSONAL—He was born September 3, 1994 in Littleton, Colo. His hobbies include skiing, playing the piano and guitar and playing video games. His father, Bob, was a center at Harvard from 1980-82 and his grandfather, Roger Orban, was an offensive guard at Kansas State. Since he was 6-years old, his family has been season ticket holders for CU games at Folsom Field.

JUDA PARKER, DL

6-2, 270, Sr., 3L

Aiea, Hawai'i
(St. Louis)

56

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He was elected by his teammates as one of six team captains for the 2014 season. He moved from defensive end to defensive tackle for spring practices, and looked good at his new position inside, as he enters the fall listed first at one of the two tackle spots (he bulked up some 20 pounds for his new position). He was in on nine tackles (eight solo, two for losses) with a forced fumble in the four main spring scrimmages.

2013 (Jr.)—He saw action in all 12 games, including making starts in nine; he was in for 461 snaps from scrimmage (over 100 more than he played combined as an underclassman). He recorded 28 tackles, 18 solo with a quarterback sack and a tackle for zero; he also had two quarterback pressures, a third down stop, fumble recovery and a pass broken up. He had a career/season-high seven tackles against Oregon (five solo), along with a hurry in playing 71 snaps, the most in a game in his career; he posted four tackles in two other games (Charleston Southern, at UCLA), while his fumble recovery came at Arizona State. He participated on a limited basis in spring practice, as he completed rehabilitation from off-season shoulder surgery, but was 100 percent come August drills. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the defensive linemen for spring conditioning in the weight room.

2012 (Soph.)—He saw action in all 12 games (no starts), playing 241 snaps from scrimmage as he worked his way into the basic rotation at defensive end. He was in for 19 tackles (14 solo, one for a loss), with one third down stop and three quarterback hurries. He had a season/career-high four tackles against both Arizona State and Oregon (three solo in each game); he also had three tackles, all unassisted, against Colorado State. He added two tackles on special teams duty, one of which was a solo stop on a two-point conversion run attempt by Southern California. Following the season, he had surgery on Nov. 30 to mend some chronic issues he was experiencing with one of his shoulders. He had a solid spring and recorded seven tackles in the main scrimmages.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action in nine games, including one start (versus Washington State), just the sixth true freshman to start at least one game at defensive end/outside linebacker since 1973. He was in for 109 plays from scrimmage, making six tackles (all solo), with two tackles for loss, a third down stop and a tackle for zero gain. He had two solo tackles at Arizona State, one a third down stop and a tackle for loss, with one tackle in four other games. He was the recipient of the Buffalo Leadership and Initiative Award for all CU athletic freshmen, as the honor is given for outstanding initiative and demonstration to strong commitment to service to the CU and Boulder communities.

HIGH SCHOOL—A SuperPrep All-Far West selection, as he was the No. 51 player in that region (No. 4 from Hawai'i) and the fifth-rated defensive end overall. Rivals.com ranked him the No. 28 defensive end in the country and No. 1 player from Hawai'i while Scout.com ranked him the No. 36 defensive end in the country and No. 2 player in the state. He earned mention on the prestigious Tacoma News-Tribune Western 100 team as he was one of 19 defensive linemen. He participated in the Army All-American Bowl and was a headliner in the game, recording six tackles, a fumble recovery and had two big special teams plays, blocking one field goal and tackling the kicker for a sack on a fake kick attempt. At the National Underclassmen Football Combine, the coaches placed him on the offensive line, where he had never played, and he came away with the OL Most Valuable Player Award for the camp. The Honolulu Advertiser named him the state's Defensive Player of the Year and the No. 4 prospect from Hawai'i. He earned the ILH Defensive Player of the Year honors as well, and was named first-team All-State and All-ILH; he had earned second-team All-ILH honors as a junior. He had a monster senior season, recording 65 tackles which included 24 for losses and 16 quarterback sacks; he added three forced fumbles, several batted passes and what he termed, "too many quarterback hurries to count." St. Louis' defense allowed 13 points or less in seven games and just one score in five games to go with one shutout. One of his top games as a senior came against Iolani, when he posted 11 tackles, two sacks, at least eight pressures and a forced fumble in an all-around dominant performance. St. Louis was 11-1 and the ILH and state champions under coach John Hao. He transferred to St. Louis his senior season after his previous school since seventh grade, Word of Life Academy, a school with under 300 students, was in the process of closing down mainly due to financial issues.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado. He earned mention on his high school Honor Roll every semester as a prep and maintained a 3.5 grade point average. He was the recipient of the 2012 and 2014 Buffalo Leadership and Initiative awards (freshman and junior years), presented to the student-athlete who has exhibited outstanding initiative and demonstrates a strong commitment to service to both CU and the Boulder community.

PERSONAL—He was born May 11, 1993 in Honolulu, Hawai'i. His hobbies include lifting weights and hanging out with his friends. An uncle, Brian Norwood, played football at Hawai'i and is currently the associate head coach and defensive coordinator at Baylor. A cousin, Jordan Norwood, was on the practice squad for the Cleveland Browns as a wide receiver in 2010, and also was on the Philadelphia Eagles' roster after his collegiate career at Penn State. Another cousin, Levi Norwood, plays football at Baylor and an older cousin, Gabriel Norwood, is a professional basketball player in the Philippines. He has completed numerous hours of community service through his church and high school, spending time with children during Sunday School and helping feed the homeless during the holidays. He was part of an ambassador's program at St. Louis and served as a host and tour guide to new students. At CU, he participates in Read with the Buffs (CU's program for fifth-graders) as well as in "Buffalo Hugs" (hospitalized children), assembles food baskets at The Pantry (Longmont, Colo.), personalizing them for families in need and delivers them as well; has donated blood and bone marrow; he serves as the lead liaison for the team with the Friends of Jaclyn Organization where he works with children with brain cancer; one of the student leaders with CU's Healthy Kids Day; and is the football team's representative to CU's SAAC (Student-Athlete Advisory Committee). He was CU's nomination for the 2014 AFCA Good Works Team.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall listed atop the depth chart at tailback; he also will shift over and lineup at fullback, where is also considered the best player on the team at the position. Once again CU's nominee for the Doak Walker Award, he is 36th on CU's all-time rushing list with 1,253 yards.

2013 (Soph.)—Colorado's leading rusher, with 562 net yards on 147 attempts, or 3.8 per carry; he scored three touchdowns; 47 of his tries gained five or more yards with 14 gaining 10-plus. He also caught eight passes for 71 yards (8.9 per). The coaches selected him as the John Mack Award winner, presented to the team's outstanding offensive player. His top came at UCLA playing before family and friends, gaining 97 yards on 22 rushes. He also had 78 yards (20 carries) against Oregon, giving him 199 against the Ducks in his career. He earned 37 first downs (33 rushing, four receiving), and converted 4-of-6 times with 1-yard to go on third and/or fourth down. He also saw special teams duty, and recorded seven knockdown blocks on the kickoff return unit to help clear the way for additional yardage. Lindy's Football made him a preseason third-team All-Pac 12 team member, and he was one of 63 players nationwide on the official watch list for the Doak Walker Award, which is presented to the nation's top running back. He worked hard in conditioning and lost 10 pounds from his frame from his freshman playing weight (240).

2012 (Fr.)—He earned honorable mention Freshman All-America honors (collegefootballnews.com) and honorable mention All-Pac 12 Conference honors (league coaches) in becoming just the fifth freshman to ever lead Colorado in rushing. He saw action in 10 games, including nine starts, missing two games to injury (Arizona State, Utah); he played fullback in the season opener but moved to tailback for the second game and remained there the remainder of the season. He had 158 attempts for 691 yards and seven touchdowns, numbers that were all the second-most by a CU freshman. He had three 100-yard games, tying the most ever by a CU frosh (joining Lamont Warren in 1991 and Rodney Stewart in 2008), with his 64-yard run for a touchdown against Sacramento State the fourth longest rush by a true Buff freshman. In the latter, he made his starting debut at tailback and had 28 carries for 147 yards and three scores, with the yards the eighth most by any CU player in a first career start and the three touchdowns tying the CU frosh mark. His other 100-yard games came on the road, at Arizona (32-137, 2 TD) and at Oregon (20-121, 2 TD); the 32 carries against Arizona also were the most by a CU freshman. He gained the bulk of his yards on first down plays (88 for 437, a 5.0 average), and converted 8-of-11 third/fourth-and-1 rushing tries for first downs. He also caught seven passes for 30 yards, had a kickoff return (13 yards), led the team in all-purpose yards (734) and was second in scoring (42 points). He earned 31 first downs (30 rushing) and 10 special team points on the strength of six knockdown blocks, two tackles (one solo), a forced fumble and a downed punt. He earned the team's Lee Willard Award, an honor bestowed the most outstanding freshman.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was one of the top-ranked fullbacks in the country, he was listed as the No. 3 prospect at the position by ESPN.com and No. 4 by Scout.com. SuperPrep slotted him as the No. 97 overall player in the Far West region and the No. 2 fullback out of the state of California; Rivals.com ranked him as the No. 55 athlete in the nation. He earned first-team All-CIF Southern Section Inland Division and All-Baseline League honors on the defensive line as both a junior and a senior. He also was named first-team All-Baseline as a fullback for his senior season, and as sophomore at Alta Loma High School, he garnered honorable mention All-Baseline League honor as a defensive lineman. In his senior season, he rushed 40 times for exactly 400 yards and seven touchdowns and had seven receptions for 116 yards, all while clearing the way for fellow CU signee Donta Abron to rush for 1,754 yards and 33 touchdowns. On defense, he recorded 90 tackles (50 solo), including 15 quarterback sacks, three safeties and two passes broken up. Top games as a senior included a game against Murrieta Valley in the first round of the playoffs, when he rushed three times for 83 yards and two touchdowns, breaking one for a career-long 53 yards. He also had six tackles in the 59-21 victory for the Highlanders. Another top game from his senior season was a 54-27 win versus Norco when he had a career-high 17 tackles. As a junior, he had 63 tackles (36 solo), eight sacks, five forced fumbles, and an interception on defense, while toting the ball four times for 45 yards and catching two passes for 17 yards and a touchdown on offense. His best performance as a junior came in a 41-14 win against Glendora, when he sacked the quarterback four times and recorded six total tackles. In his sophomore season with Alta Loma, he had 104 tackles (51 solo), three sacks, two fumbles caused, and two recovered fumbles. On the other side of the ball, he rushed 27 times for 150 yards and four scores, while catching seven passes for 42 yards. Upland was 12-1 (Baseline League champions) as a senior and 8-4 as a junior under coach Tim Salter. He also lettered in track (shot put), and was the Baseline League champion as a junior.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall listed second at the right defensive end position, but with the rotation of players in games, figures to see his significant first action. He had four solo tackles in the main spring scrimmages. He has added 15 pounds of muscle to his frame since the end of his true freshman year.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced the entire fall along the defensive line after moving to end from outside linebacker during August camp. He was a December High School graduate and thus was able to enrolled for the spring semester and participate in spring drills. He had three solo tackles in the four main spring scrimmages.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors at defensive end as a senior, when he was first-team All-Napa Valley and first-team All-Monticello Empire League (second-team All-MEL at running back) while being a finalist for the area's defensive player of the year. As a junior, he was first-team All-Napa Valley and second-team All-MEL. He played three positions in high school, shifting between outside linebacker and defensive end and running back. On defense, as a senior he recorded 69 tackles (42 solo), with six quarterback sacks, two forced fumbles, a fumble recovery and a pass broken up, while as a junior, he had 43 tackles (27 unassisted), with six tackles for loss including three sacks, a forced fumble and a recovery. He played offense (running back) as a senior, averaging 5.8 yards per carry as he ran for 730 yards and nine touchdowns on 125 tries with a long gain of 60. His top games as a senior included three 100-yard rushing games: in a 14-12 win over Woodland, he had 24 rushes for 156 yards and both VHS touchdowns, with eight tackles and two sacks on defense; in a 17-13 win over Vallejo, he carried 21 times for 128 yards, also scoring both TDs while recording nine tackles; and in a 21-0 win over Rodriguez, he had 14 tries for 100 yards, with eight tackles, a sack and a fumble recovery. Top games as a junior, when he played solely on defense: in a 23-6 loss to Clayton Valley, he had nine tackles, three for losses; and in a 38-33 win over Wood, he had seven tackles which included three quarterback sacks. Under Coach Dave Shipp, Vintage was 4-6 his senior year and 3-7 his junior season.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Journalism (Broadcast News) at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born April 9, 1995 in Seattle, Wash. He has lived in six different cities in three states, including Boulder. He was the first commitment in the 2013 class after Mike MacIntyre and his staff were hired (he committed on January 7, 2013). (First name is pronounced mark-keese.)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed second on the depth chart at the “sam” outside linebacker position. He had a solo tackle and a quarterback hurry in the spring game.

2013 (Fr.-RS)—He had to sit out the season per NCAA rules after transferring to CU from the University of Pittsburgh; he joined the program in time for August drills.

AT PITTSBURGH (Fr./2012)—Redshirted; he practiced at inside linebacker as a true freshman.

HIGH SCHOOL—A four-star recruit, he was a four-year letterman, joining the varsity as a freshman and went on to be Considered as one of Pennsylvania’s top prospects in the 2012 recruiting class: he was rated the No. 8 prospect in Pennsylvania by Scout.com and No. 9 by Rivals.com; nationally, they ranked him as the Nos. 18 and 21 outside linebacker, respectively. He earned first-team All-State Class A honors by the Pennsylvania Sports Writers, garnered first team All-Class A accolades from the Pennsylvania Football News along with making the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette’s “Fabulous 22” and the Pittsburgh Tribune-Review’s “Terrific 25” teams. A two-time, first-team All-Big Seven performer, he was the league’s defensive player of the year as a senior. He was also selected to play in the Semper Fidelis All-American Bowl, which showcased 100 of the country’s premier senior players at Chase Field in Phoenix. Always around the ball, he averaged close to 15 tackles a game as an upperclassman: as a senior, he was in on 190 tackles, with 28 for losses including 17 quarterback sacks (in addition to making three interceptions), while as a junior he registered 145 tackles with 13 sacks. He also emerged as a big-play wide receiver his final two years at Sto-Rox, with 46 receptions for 906 yards (19.7 avg.) with 12 touchdowns. He enjoyed a two prolific years as a underclassman: he was in on 77 tackles as a sophomore (45 solo, seven sacks) and as a freshman, he racked up 55 (40 unassisted, four sacks). He had 11 tackles (10 solo) in a 20-17 win over South Park that year, his first double-digit game and a prelude to the future: he had 14 the next week versus Keystone Oaks and had five 10-plus tackles games his soph campaign, including 15 in a 25-7 win over LaSalle where 10 were unassisted including six sacks. He had five career games with four or more quarterback sacks and topped the 20-tackle plateau on three occasions. Under coach Ron Butschle, Sto-Rox was 12-1 his senior year (WPIAL Big Seven champions and state runner-ups) and 7-3 his junior year; under coach Jason Ruscitto, they were 8-3 his sophomore and freshman seasons (Century League tri-champs in the latter).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Ethnic Studies at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born August 12, 1993 in Pittsburgh. His hobbies include playing basketball, hiking and biking. His first cousin, Doug Rippy, was a four-year letterman at linebacker for the Buffaloes from 2009-12. Originally had committed to Florida but switched to his hometown Pitt after it became apparent the Gators had too many commitments for the number of scholarships they could offer.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall listed second on the depth chart at the “H” receiver position. He caught three passes for 27 yards in major spring scrimmage action.

2013 (Fr.)—He saw action in 10 games, playing for the first time in the second game of the season, but he missed the finale at Utah after suffering a concussion the previous game (USC). He caught six passes for 24 yards on the year, including one for seven yards against Central Arkansas in his first collegiate game; his top game was at UCLA, when he caught two passes for 11 yards. On special teams, he returned five kickoffs for 107 yards (21.4 per), with most of those coming at Arizona State (4-for-86).

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors at wide receiver as a senior, with SuperPrep naming him to its preseason All-Far West team (the No. 102 overall player in the California-Hawai’i-Nevada region and the 17th receiver). Scout.com named him to its West 150 team, the No. 112 player overall and the 15-ranked receiver on the list. He earned first-team All-Serra League accolades and the Los Angeles Daily News selected him second-team All-Area. He played in the Semper Fidelis All-American Bowl (Carson, Calif.), where he caught one pass and returned a kickoff 18 yards. He was a second-team All-Serra League performer as a junior, his first year on the varsity after being named the team’s Most Valuable Player on the Junior Varsity his sophomore year. As a senior, he caught 32 passes for 523 yards and four touchdowns, averaging 16.3 yards per catch. He averaged over 45 yards on four kickoff returns, including two he ran back for touchdowns (long of 99 yards). He caught 17 passes for 380 yards (22.4 average) with a touchdown as a junior, when he saw some spot play at running back and gained 50 yards on a handful of carries. He also returned six kicks (punt and kickoff) for touchdowns. He was an occasional starter at cornerback on defense, racking up 17 tackles (seven solo) as a senior, with two pass deflections and a fumble recovery his senior year; he has 12 tackles and two interceptions as a junior. Top games as a senior: in a 54-14 win over J.W. North, he caught three passes for 100 yards and two touchdowns, including a 74-yard bomb, and returned the second half kickoff 99 yards for a third score; and in a 56-35 win over Bishop Amat, he caught two passes for 93 yards, one of which covered 79 yards for a touchdown. His top game as a junior came in a 28-21 win over Crespi, when he caught seven passes for 130 yards and a TD. A two-year letterman for Coach Dean Herrington, Alemany was 9-3 his senior year, losing in the Pac-5 Quarterfinals, and 8-3 his junior season, winning the Serra League title both years. He also lettered in track as a sophomore, participating in sprints (career bests of 11.3 in the 100-meters and 23.1 in the 200); he has trained with the team in the spring but did not compete after his sophomore year.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major at Colorado. He owned a grade point average in excess of 3.1 at Bishop Alemany and has been a member of the Honor Roll his freshman through senior years.

PERSONAL—He was born August 12, 1995 in Los Angeles, Calif. His hobbies include watching movies. A cousin and teammate, Steven Mitchell, committed to Southern California, and two other cousins played college ball at USC, Chris Hale (cornerback, who also spent time in the NFL with Buffalo) and William Harris (safety). Active in community service in high school, he volunteered at a local shelter and collected food and clothing.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed second on the depth chart at the "will" inside linebacker position. In the four main spring scrimmages, he recorded 11 tackles (seven solo, one for a loss and one for zero) along with a third down stop.

2013 (Fr.)—He saw action in 11 games (no starts; he missed the Arizona State game with a slight hamstring pull), as he appeared only on special teams, but he made his mark. The seventh freshman to lead the team in kickoff returns in school history, he returned 36 for 795 yards, the third-most single-season yards in CU annals. He returned eight kickoffs for 171 yards at Washington, the eight returns tying for the second most with the yards the fifth most in CU history for a single game. He finished eighth on the team with 12 special team points (CU's elaborate scoring system), as he was in on two tackles (one inside-the-20), along with forcing four fair catches, downing three punts and earning two first downfield credits that altered the return path.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors at running back as a senior, when MaxPreps.com named him second-team All-State at the position while Cal-Hi Sports named him third-team All-State in its multi-purpose category. He was named the San Jose Mercury News Offensive Player of the Year on its All-Area team, with the San Francisco Chronicle naming him to its All-Metro First-Team. The Contra-Costa Times selected him to its "Cream of the Crop" team, ranking him No. 17 of the 20 players on its list. He earned first-team West Catholic Athletic League honors and third-team All-Central Coast Section accolades (as a junior, he was first- and third-team, respectively). As a senior, he rushed 166 times for 1,951 yards and 32 touchdowns with a long run of 95 yards; he had 10 100-yard games, two 200-yard games and eight carries of 50 yards or longer. He also caught 14 passes for 385 yards and five more scores and added two touchdowns on returns (one punt and one kickoff), thus accounting for over 2,500 yards and 39 touchdowns for the year (he scored three or more TDs in eight games). As a junior, he rushed 49 times for 576 yards and nine touchdowns (long of 70), with six receptions for 111 yards and one TD; he also returned one kickoff for a score. On defense, he recorded over 100 tackles and had three interceptions as a senior, with 113 tackles, six forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries, two interceptions and two blocked kicks as a junior. Top games as a senior: in a 42-21 win over Bishop O'Dowd, he rushed 10 times for 232 yards and three scores (including the 95-yarder), with two interceptions on defense; in a 38-35 loss to Bellarmine, he had 21 carries for 277 yards and two touchdowns while making 13 tackles; and in a 56-14 rout of Burlingame, he gained 196 yards on just six carries, four going for touchdowns (including a 70-yard run); he had an interception on defense and scored five touchdowns overall. Top games as a junior: in a 49-20 win over Archbishop Riordan, he had 10 rushes for 193 yards and four touchdowns; and in a 43-42 loss to St. Ignatius, he had eight carries for 116 yards and two scores. Under Coach Mike Machado, VCHS was 8-6 his senior year, which included a 5-0 run in the playoffs where the Warriors averaged 51 points per game on their way to the CIF Central Coast championship (Severson scored 19 touchdowns in the playoffs). Valley Christian was 6-6 his junior year. He also lettered three times in track (sprints); he was second in both the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes in sectionals as a junior (he also exhibited 4.46 speed in the 40-yard dash).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business at Colorado, but is undecided on his sequence.

All-Big 8 Conference honors and was the team's second leading receiver with 41 catches for 605 yards and four touchdowns. He led the team in receiving as a sophomore and earned second-team All-Big 8 Conference honors, catching 19 passes for 291 yards and four touchdowns. Against Pomona his sophomore year, he had three key catches as Chatfield defeated the second-ranked team in the state. He also lettered three times in basketball, averaging 4.1 points and 2.8 rebounds as a senior for a 20-5 Chatfield team.

ACADEMICS—He graduated with a degree in Communication at Colorado in December 2013; he is currently pursuing a second major in Political Science. In high school, he was twice named to Chatfield's Honor Roll (3.5 or higher GPA for the semester).

PERSONAL—He was born August 31, 1991 in Walnut Creek, Calif. His hobbies include playing lacrosse, video games, lifting weights and hanging out with his friends. His family has been CU football season ticket holders for 20 years and he has been coming to Folsom Field for as long as he can remember and his parents and grandparents all attended CU. His grandfather, Jack Anderson, played baseball at CU and was a long-time member of the CU Board of Regents, where he was a key figure in CU's change to blue uniforms in the early 1980s. His football team volunteered at the Denver Rescue Mission and served food and he has volunteered though his church, packaging and shipping food.

TERREL SMITH, DB

5-9, 190, Sr., 3L

Paterson, N.J.

(Passaic County Tech)

41

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—Elected by his teammates to serve as one of six team captains for the 2014 season. He only participated in spring practice on a limited basis as he finished rehabilitation from shoulder surgery last September. A three-year regular who's played 1,371 career snaps on defense, he enters his senior year ranked 99th in defensive tackles (166) and 15th in special team tackles (24) at Colorado.

2013 (Sr.-RS)—He decided to use a redshirt year available to him and opted to have a chronic shoulder injury repaired; he underwent surgery on September 5 and started the rehabilitation process soon thereafter.

2012 (Jr.)—He played in all 12 games, including seven starts, and was CU's second-leading tackler with 70 (48 solo). He recorded a team-high seven touchdown saves and added three third down stops, three passes broken up, two fumble recoveries and three quarterback pressures. He had a season-high 12 tackles (seven solo) and a fumble recovery against Arizona State, with 11 (eight solo) at Oregon; he had six games in all with eight or more tackles. He earned 11 special team points, on the strength of five solo tackles (one of which was inside-the-20), two knockdown blocks, a downed punt, a forced fair catch and a caused penalty. He had a fine spring, with eight tackles and an interception in the main spring scrimmages.

2011 (Soph.)—He saw action in all 13 games, 11 on defense including six starts. He was in for exactly 400 snaps from scrimmage, recording 36 tackles (29 solo), with three third down stops, a quarterback chasedown (near sack) and an interception (which he made at Stanford). He had a season-high eight tackles (seven solo) against Southern California, with six (five solo) at Washington and five (four solo) versus Arizona; one of the stops against the Wildcats was a key fourth down stop when he sniffed out a fake punt attempt on UA's first drive of the second half. He led the team in special team tackles with 14 (11 solo, three inside-the-20) and he was second in overall points with 25; he also had three forced fair catches, two first downfield credits that altered returns, a touchdown save, a knockdown block and a caused penalty. His biggest tackle came on punt coverage, when he tackled Oregon's Cliff Harris in the end zone for a safety, helping the Buffs avert a shutout as those were CU's only points in a 45-2 loss. He was the special teams award winner for his efforts in the Colorado State game.

2010 (Fr.)—He was originally penciled in to redshirt, practicing at safety over the first half of the season, but after the season-ending injury to Anthony Perkins, he was "activated" and started the last six games of the year at strong safety (or in each one he appeared in). He finished fourth on the team in tackles with 60 (30 solo, two for losses), but his 10.0 average per game was a team-best; the 60 tackles were the third-most in a single-season by a true freshman in school history (behind Jordan Dizon, 85 in 2007, and J.J. Billingsley, 67 in 2002). In 414 snaps from scrimmage, he also had a quarterback sack, one tackle for zero, three third down stops, a pass broken up and an interception, the latter coming at Kansas. In his first career game against Texas Tech, he tied the school record for the most tackles in a game by a true freshman with 15 (four solo including his sack); he matched the mark set by J.J. Billingsley against San Diego State in 2002. He then took over the record for himself in the season finale at Nebraska, recording a career-high 17 tackles (11 solo); that matched the overall freshman mark by Matt Russell, who had 17 at Oklahoma State in 1993. Those were his two double-figure tackle games, and he also had nine (four solo) at Kansas and eight (five solo) at Oklahoma. He also had seven special team points on the strength of five tackles (three solo, one-inside-the 20) and a knockdown block. He was one of seven true freshmen to play for the Buffs in the 2010 season.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned third team All-State, first-team All-Passaic County and first-team All-Tri County A League honors as a senior (he was also first-team All-League as a junior). Started both ways for three seasons (running back, safety), and broke into the starting lineup on defense the second half of his freshman season. As a senior, he rushed for 1,261 yards on 215 attempts (5.9 per), with 10 touchdowns and seven 100-yard games; on defense, he racked up 117 tackles (61 solo), with three interceptions, 24 passes broken up and two forced fumbles. He returned 20 punts for 232 yards (11.6 per) and a touchdown, and averaged 17.2 yards on 13 kickoff returns. As a junior, he had 185 carries for 936 yards and 6 TDs, with 87 tackles (49) solo on defense, where he also had four pass deflections, two forced fumbles, on recovery and an interception. He returned five punts for 98 yards (19.6 per) with a touchdown, and averaged 20.1 for 12 kickoff returns. He had 392 yards as a sophomore (90 carries, 3 touchdowns), with 60 tackles on defense (31 solo), with five passes broken up, an interception and a caused fumble. He had 13 tackles, 12 solo, his freshman year. Top games as a senior included a 25-22 win over Clifton, when he rushed for a career-high 234 yards (on just 22 carries, or 10.6 per), and had 13 tackles on defense; a 35-0 win over Bloomfield, when he scored four touchdowns (two rushing, one receiving and one via punt return); and in a 22-15 win over rival Passaic, when he rushed for 133 yards and two scores, with 10 tackles and two PBU's. One of his best games as a junior came in a 14-0 loss to Milford, when he rushed 33 times for 181 yards. Under coach John Iurato, PCT was 8-3 his senior year, reaching the state playoffs, and was 6-4 his junior season, 4-6 his sophomore campaign and 2-8 as a freshman. He also lettered three times in track (sprints, freshman through junior years).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado. He owned a 3.1 grade point average as a prep and made the Principal's Honor Roll as a senior.

PERSONAL—He was born August 29, 1992 in Passaic, N.J. His hobbies include fishing, bowling, movies and video games. (First name is pronounced ter-rel.)

WYATT TUCKER SMITH, SN

6-2, 235, Jr., JC

Gulfport, Miss. (Gulfport/Mississippi Gulf Coast CC)

69

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He signed with the Buffaloes during the December junior college signing period and enrolled in classes in Boulder for the spring semester; he participated in spring practice and exited atop the depth chart at long snapper. He has three years to play two in eligibility.

AT MISSISSIPPI GULF COAST (2011-12/Fr., Soph.)—He served as the snapper for punts and placekicks for two seasons at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College (Perkinston, Miss.), handling every snap both years (122 placement, 60 punt). As a sophomore, he forced 25 fair catches, altered returns three times, had two assisted tackles and a fumble recovery. He snapped for two very good kickers, first-team JUCO All-American placekicker Stephen Brauchle (who went on to UL-Lafayette) and second-team All-American punter Kevin Phillips. Playing for coach Stan Campbell, MGCCC was 8-2 his sophomore year and 9-2 his freshman season, winning the South Division title of the MACJC (Mississippi Association of Community and Junior Colleges) and reaching the state championship game.

HIGH SCHOOL—A three-year letterman, he was his team's regular long snapper and a versatile performer on the offensive line. He earned the starting spot at right guard but broke his leg in practice after the season opener his senior year; he returned for the last two games of the year in his snapper role. He played tackle and tight end his junior season, though in more of a blocking role in the latter (no receptions) in addition to his snapping duties. He was basically a reserve lineman and tight end as a sophomore. Under coach Mike Justice, Gulfport was 9-4 his senior year and 11-2 his junior season, advancing to the second round of the state playoffs both times, and was 6-5 his sophomore year. He also lettered once in golf, doing so his senior year.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Journalism at Colorado. He earned his A.A. Degree from MGCCC in December 2013.

PERSONAL—He was born July 5, 1994 in Marietta, Ga. His hobbies include golf and playing the guitar. Two uncles, Tri and Trent Weaver, played baseball at Mississippi State. He has coached for Team (Brian) Jackson Kicking, tutoring the long snappers who range in age from sixth-graders to high school seniors throughout the Southeast. He finished third in the nation at the Chris Riviera Special Teams Camp. He is the first player from Mississippi to sign with the Buffaloes since 1989, when free safety Dwayne Davis did so; he went on to letter four times and also hailed from Gulfport High.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall listed second on the depth chart at one of the two defensive tackle positions. He sat out spring practices to concentrate on his academic studies, which he did accomplish and will be back competing on the field in August.

2013 (Soph.)—He played in all 12 games, including seven starts (the last seven games of the year). In 479 snaps from scrimmage, he recorded 39 tackles (24 solo), with three for losses including a quarterback sack, along with three additional stops for zero gains. He had five third down stops and a quarterback chasedown (near sack). He posted a career/season-high six tackles (three solo) against Oregon, and was credited with five against both UCLA (four solo) and Southern California (three unassisted). He was also a regular on the field goal/PAT unit on special teams, playing all 56 snaps that the unit was utilized.

2012 (Fr.)—He played in seven games, including one start (versus Stanford); he did not play in the opener against Colorado State and missed the other four games due to injuries (concussion suffered in practice on September 25, and a severe neck sprain he suffered in the second half against Stanford on November 3). He was in on 17 tackles on the season, six of the solo variety including two tackles for loss and a tackle for zero; he also recorded a third down stop, a quarterback hurry and a pass broken up. He had a season-high four tackles on two occasions, at Fresno State (two solo) and Stanford (all assisted). He also caused an interception at Washington State, on a fourth-and-three play by the Cougars deep in CU territory, he got his hand on the ball and diverted it just enough for Jon Major to intercept the pass and quash what could have been a clinching score by WSU; instead, CU scored five plays later to cut the lead to 31-21 and eventually rallied for a 35-34 win.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was a member of the PrepStar Top 150 All-America team, with the publication ranking him as the No. 141 overall player and No. 7 defensive tackle in the country. SuperPrep ranked him the No. 48 player in the Far West Region (No. 43 from California) and as the third-ranked defensive tackle. Scout.com ranked him the No. 36 defensive tackle in the country and the No. 2 defensive tackle out of California (Rivals.com ranked him No. 45 and second, respectively). ESPN.com ranked him as the No. 48 defensive tackle nationally, the No. 66 player from California and No. 95 overall in the West Region. He earned Defensive Player of the Year honors for the CIF Southern Section-Northern Division as well as for Ventura County and the Marmonte League; The Ventura County Star also named him the Defensive Player of the Year. He was named first-team All-Southern Section-Northern Division, All-Ventura County (coaches and Ventura County Star) and All-Marmonte League. As a junior, was named the Defensive Lineman of the Year for the CIF-SS Northern Division, Ventura County and the Marmonte League, earning first team honors from all three and was selected to play in the California High School All-State Game. He moved to California from (Queens) New York prior to his sophomore season; in his first year on the west coast, he was named first-team All-Marmonte League, first-team All-Ventura County and first-team All-CIF SS Northern Division. MaxPreps named him an All-American and he was named to the Cal-Hi All-State Sophomore team. For his career, he racked up 296 tackles and 23 quarterback sacks, with stellar numbers as a senior: 102 tackles (61 solo), with seven sacks, two forced fumbles, two recovered fumbles and an interception. His junior year, he had 99 tackles (42 solo), with nine sacks and one fumble recovery. As a sophomore, he recorded 95 tackles (37 solo), with seven sacks, a fumble recovery and pass break-up. He also participated on the PAT and field goal units on special teams. His biggest games were the CIF championship games his sophomore and senior seasons and his junior season when he recorded five sacks and eight tackles in a 38-7 win over Newberry Park. A three-year starter under coach Jim Benkert, Westlake was 40-3 those three seasons (14-1 as a senior, 12-2 as a junior, 14-0 as a sophomore) with three Marmonte League championships and two CIF Southern Section Northern Division titles. He also helped the freshman team to a 10-0 record. He also lettered three times in basketball (forward/center).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado. He maintained above a 3.0 grade point average throughout high school.

PERSONAL—He was born June 28, 1994 in Woodland Hills, Calif. He grew up in Queens, N.Y., and moved to California with his grandmother, Barbara Owens, prior to the start of his freshman year. His mother, Shannon, graduated from Westlake and the family thought it was in his best interests to attend high school on the other coast. His hobbies include working out, hanging out with friends, scuba diving and traveling. He and his grandmother were featured in The New York Times for their traveling habits, which started when he was 5-years old and have taken the duo to 48 of the 50 states and countless places around the world including China, Egypt, Russia, Germany, Poland, England, France, Italy, Greece, Finland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, Croatia and many more. He has spent the last three summers working with kids' sports camps at Westlake. (Last name is pronounced so-lease.)

NELSON SPRUCE, WR

6-1, 195, Jr., 2L

Westlake Village, Calif.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—Elected by his teammates to serve as one of six team captains for the 2014 season. He enters the fall atop the depth chart at the "Z" receiver position after another excellent spring, one in which he competed at about 10 pounds lighter than he did his sophomore season. Phil Steele's College Football selected him to its third-team All-Pac-12 team for the pre-season (and also tabbed him as the fourth-team punt return man). He won the John Wooten Award as selected by the coaching staff for having the most outstanding work ethic during spring practices; he caught nine passes for 123 yards and a score in the four main scrimmages. He enters his junior year 13th in receptions (99) and is 20th in receiving yards (1,096) all-time at Colorado.

2013 (Soph.)—He started all 12 games at receiver, finishing second on the team in receptions (55), receiving yards (650) and receiving touchdowns (4), while averaging 11.8 yards per catch. He caught 23 balls for 10 or more yards (seven for 20-plus), and caught four or more passes in eight games. He earned 29 first downs, 28 receiving and one passing, the latter coming on a 32-yass pass the throw to quarterback Sefo Liufau against Utah. He caught 15 passes on third/fourth downs (for 151 yards), picking up 10 of those first downs on clutch plays. He earned CU's Athlete-of-the-Week honor for his game against Cal, when he caught eight passes for 140 yards (both single game season bests) including his career long of 62, and when he returned an onside kick 46 yards for a touchdown—the first such instance in CU history. He also led the team in punt returns with nine for 45 yards, or a 5.0 average; he was the only player to field a punt for the Buffs all season, and had two kickoff returns for a 31.5 average with the one TD. He was third on the team in all-purpose yards with 758, averaging 11.5 yards per his 66 touches, and was fourth in scoring with 30 points. The coaches named him the co-recipient of the Tom McMahon Award, presented to the player(s) with great dedication and work ethic. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the wide receivers for spring conditioning in the weight room.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He played in all 12 games, starting nine, including the last eight of the season and became just the third freshman to lead the Buffaloes in single-season receptions, doing so with 44. He also led the team in receiving yards with 446, averaging 10.1 per catch with three touchdowns. He had 22 catches of 10 yard or longer (three 20-plus), with 29 of his receptions earning first downs, including 11 on 15 third/fourth down grabs. He also caught 15 passes on first downs and 14 on second downs. His top games all included one touchdown receptions: at Washington State (8-103), versus Utah (season/career high 10 catches for 98) and Colorado State (8-64).

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned PrepStar All-America honors, with the publication ranking him the No. 60 player overall in the nation on its Top 150 Dream Team. SuperPrep placed him on its All-Far West team and ranked him the No. 64 player in the region, the ninth wide receiver. Scout.com ranked him the No. 95 wide receiver in the nation, the 10th best from California (as well as the No. 10 wide receiver in the West on another listing). He earned first-team All-CIF Northern Division and first-team All-Area (Los Angeles Daily News) honors at wide receiver both his junior and senior seasons and was named All-State by Cal-Hi Sports at wide receiver as a junior and a second-team all-purpose performer as a senior. The Los Angeles Times selected him a first-team All-Star at receiver (junior) and defensive (senior). He was named to the Ventura County All-Decade team at receiver; he was also first-team All-Ventura County as a junior and senior, the latter year being named the Defensive Back of the Year in the county. He was the Marmonte League Wide Receiver of the Year both his junior and senior seasons and was a second-team selection at defensive back as a sophomore. He was the co-MVP for Westlake both his junior and senior years after he was named the Most Improved Player his sophomore season. For his career, he had 149 receptions for 2,795 yards and 37 touchdowns, 12 games with 100 or more yards, caught at least three passes in 26 of 28 games his final two years (with at least seven receptions seven times) and scored multiple touchdowns 11 times. He was just the third receiver at Westlake to have back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons. He also returned 23 punts for 462 yards and two touchdowns. On defense, he had 141 tackles (88 solo), eight interceptions, eight pass break-ups and one forced fumble. As a senior, he caught 73 passes for 1,292 yards and 18 touchdowns and returned 15 punts for 236 yards (15.7 per return) and a score, impressive numbers considering he played in the second half in just four of 14 games. On defense in spot duty, he had 31 tackles (19 solo) with three pass break-ups and two interceptions. As a junior, he had 65 receptions for 1,325 yards and 18 touchdowns on offense. He returned eight punts for 226 yards (28.3 average) with one touchdown; three returns covered over 50 yards. On defense, he had 54 tackles (32 solo) and two interceptions. His sophomore season, he played primarily on defense and had 56 tackles (37 solo), four interceptions, five pass break-ups and a forced fumble. On offense, he had 11 receptions for 178 yards and a touchdown with one rush for 15 yards. Top games his senior year: in a 31-12 win against Oaks Christian he caught seven passes for 130 yards and two touchdowns; in a 32-31 loss to St. Bonaventure, he matched his career high with nine catches for 133 yards (2 TDs) with an interception and seven tackles (but in a playoff rematch won by Westlake, he had seven receptions for 132 yards and a score); in a 49-28 win over Palos Verdes in the playoffs, he caught five balls for 131 yard and three TDs. In his first career start at receiver in his junior season opener, he caught five passes for a career-high 233 yards (46.6 average) with four touchdowns, including a 94-yarder, in a 48-26 win over Paso Robles. Other top games as a junior: he had nine catches for 196 yards (21.8 per, 2 TDs) and seven tackles in a 31-27 win over Newbury Park; in a 49-27 win over Ventura, he had five receptions for 143 yards and two touchdowns, one covering 71 yards; in a 17-7 playoff win over St. Bonaventure, he had a career-high eight tackles and two interceptions on defense while catching three passes for 40 yards; and in a 14-10 win over Moorpark in CIF championship game, he had seven receptions for 107 yards and a touchdown and five tackles. Under coach Jim Benkert, Westlake compiled a 33-7 record his time there, including a perfect 14-0 mark his junior season and 12-2 mark as a senior with a 22-game win streak over the course of those two seasons. He also lettered in baseball, earning All-Marmonte League honors as a third baseman his sophomore season when he batted .400; he played shortstop as a junior (did not play as a senior).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Finance) at Colorado. He earned second-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as both a sophomore (with a 3.619 grade point average) and a redshirt freshman. He was named to the All-Ventura League Academic Team as a senior for maintaining a 3.8 or above grade point average.

PERSONAL—He was born December 5, 1992 in Venice Beach, Calif. His hobbies include playing golf (he's a scratch player), Xbox, lifting weights and working out. He did some community service work in high school with his baseball team, working with the local Little League.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall listed third on the depth chart at right offensive guard.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced on the offensive line the entire fall.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors at offensive guard as a senior, when SuperPrep ranked him as the No. 93 prospect in the states of California, Hawai'i and Nevada in naming him to its preseason All-Far West team. SuperPrep wrote about him: "He mauls opposing linemen, plays with leverage, can get out in space and is an effective blocker downfield. He's a tireless worker off the field and is one of the strongest linemen in the state." Also as a senior, he earned first-team All-Orange County and first-team All-Trinity League honors while being named an "Athleader of the Year" by NCSA Athletic Recruiting, an honor bestowed for numerous criteria including academic success, a solid work ethic, gives back to his community and puts the team first in leading by example. A three-year starter at offensive guard (shifting to tackle on occasion), he did not allow a quarterback sack or even a single pressure his junior and senior seasons. He had 52 pancake and 10 direct touchdown blocks his senior year, when he wasn't called for any penalties, with over 50 'cakes and eight touchdown blocks as a junior, when he was flagged for two penalties. He allowed just one sack and a couple of pressures his sophomore season. He played nose guard on the freshman team, with six quarterback sacks and four passes broken up. Under Coach Chuck Petersen, Orange Lutheran was 6-4 his senior season; OLHS was 6-4 his junior year and 5-5 his sophomore season under Coach Jim Kunau. He played basketball (center) as a freshman.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business at Colorado, but is undecided on his sequence. He was a member of the Honor Roll throughout high school with a grade point average of 4.3 (on a 4.0 scale).

PERSONAL—He was born October 11, 1994 at Vandenberg Air Force Base (near Lompoc, Calif.). His hobbies include hiking, working out and playing video games. Active in his community, he has volunteered at his church's Sunday School. An older sister (Chloe) is a two-time Olympic swimmer, participating in the Beijing (2008) and London (2012) games for the U.S. Team. His father (David) lettered four years as an offensive lineman (C, OG and OT) at Air Force from 1982-85 and is a U.S. Air Force officer who was in the Pentagon during the terrorist attacks on Sept. 11, 2001. (First name is pronounced kaw, as in caution, -lynn.)

TRAVIS TALIANCO, DB

6-1, 210, Soph., TR

Sierra Madre, Calif. (St. Francis/San Jose State/College of the Canyons)

27

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He joined the team in July after meeting all the requirements of a "4-2-4" transfer. He enrolled at Colorado after spending the 2013-14 school year at the College of the Canyons (Valencia, Calif.), but he did not play football there.

AT SAN JOSE STATE (Fr./2012)—He signed with San Jose State out of high school in what turned out to be Mike MacIntyre's final recruiting class there. He earned a letter as he played in 11 games for the Spartans, mainly on special teams, though on defense he recorded an assisted tackle against New Mexico State and a solo stop versus Bowling Green in the Military Bowl.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, on defense he was a first-team All-Mission League, first-team All-Area (Los Angeles Daily News) and a first-team All-CIF Southern Section Division IV performer; he also played in the 2012 Daily News' All-Star Game. As a junior, he garnered first-team All-League, first-team All-CIF and second-team All-State honors by Cal-Hi Sports at wide receiver (he was also first-team All-League and second-team All-CIF as a sophomore). As a senior, he caught 44 passes for 687 yards (15.6 per) and three touchdowns; that followed a prolific junior year when he had 59 receptions for 946 yards and 17 touchdowns (averaging 16.0 per catch). Including 52 catches for 859 yards (16.5 per) and seven TDs as a sophomore, he had career numbers of 155 receptions, 2,492 yards and 27 scores (16.1 per catch), and had seven career 100-yard receiving games. On defense, he was in on 56 tackles as a senior playing safety, 42 of the solo variety (one for a loss), with six pass deflections, two fumble recoveries an interception. He made 25 tackles as a junior (18 solo) and was in on eight as a sophomore (five unassisted). Top games: in a 28-22 win over St. Paul as a senior, he had 11 tackles (nine solo), with a fumble recovery and a pass broken up, while catching four passes for 86 yards; in a 28-25 loss to Dominquez in the CIF first round playoffs as a junior, he caught eight passes for 169 yards and three touchdowns. Under coach Jim Bonds, St. Francis was 9-3 his senior year, 6-5 his junior season and 9-3 his sophomore campaign. He also lettered twice in basketball, playing his freshman and sophomore years, and once in track (long jump).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado. He earned Mission League All-Academic team honors as a senior in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born February 8, 1994 in Sierra Madre, Calif. His hobbies include reading, running, swimming and spending time at the beach. He belonged to the Life, Learning & Safe Experience Club at St. Francis.

TEDRIC THOMPSON, DB

Valencia, Calif.
(Valencia)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed first on the depth chart at strong safety, but the competition at the position will continue well into August drills with Terrel Smith back in the fold. He had 11 tackles and an interception in the four main scrimmages, which included a team-high six tackles (five solo) to lead the Gold team in the spring game.

2013 (Fr.)—He saw action in all 12 games, including three starts: at free safety against Oregon and at strong safety versus California and USC. He was in for 323 plays from scrimmage and recorded 32 tackles (22 solo), along with three passes broken up and two third down stops. He had a career/season-high six tackles on two occasions, versus Oregon (four solo) and at Arizona State (three unassisted). He had five tackles against Washington and Utah, with four against California when he played 85 snaps from scrimmage, the third-most by a true freshman in a game at Colorado (behind teammate Addison Gillam, who played 86 twice that year). He earned nine special team points in CU's elaborate special teams scoring system, accrued via six tackles (five solo), a knockdown block and two touchdown saves.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned PrepStar All-West Region honors at defensive back as a senior, when he was afforded preseason SuperPrep All-Far West accolades; Scout.com named him to its West 150 Team (the No. 145 player overall and the 11th safety); ESPN.com ranked him as the No. 60 safety in the nation. A three-time, first-team All-Foothill League performer, he was second-team All-State (MaxPreps) and All-CIF Southern Section (North Division) as a senior. A three-and-a-half year starter at safety (he was called up to the varsity for the last six games as a freshman), he recorded 170 career tackles, six interceptions and approximately 40 passes broken up. As a senior, he was in on 58 tackles (23 solo), deflected 15 passes, forced three fumbles (one recovered), made one interception and blocked a field goal. His junior year, he racked up 43 tackles (17 solo, three for losses), intercepting three balls, with 14 passes broken up, two forced fumbles, one recovery and a blocked PAT kick. He had 57 tackles (28 solo) with two picks and a forced fumble as a sophomore, and he was in on 12 tackles (3 solo) as frosh. On offense (two-year starter and in the rotation as a soph), he had 93 career receptions for 1,272 yards (13.7 per catch), with 15 touchdowns; he had 26 catches for 386 yards (7 TD) as a senior, 42 for 431 yards (2 TD) as a junior and 25 for 431 (6 TD) as a sophomore. Top games as a senior: in a 31-20 win over Hart, he recorded a career-high 15 tackles and had a key pass broken up to thwart a late scoring drive, and he caught four passes for 62 yards, including a 40-yard catch and run that set up the go-ahead score; in a 54-41 win over Canyon, he caught five passes for 86 yards and two touchdowns with six tackles and three pass deflections on defense; he also had 13 tackles in a 43-36 win over Paso Robles. Top games as a junior: in a 19-14 loss to Hart, he had career bests of nine receptions for 98 yards (1 TD), making six tackles on defense; in a 17-0 win over Santa Monica, he recorded nine tackles, two passes broken up and a forced fumble. Under Coach Larry Muir, Valencia was 9-4 his senior year, 6-5 as a junior, 11-2 his sophomore season and 12-1 his freshman year (5-1 after he was called up to the varsity); VHS won or shared the Foothill League title all four years and reached the CIF semifinals on three occasions.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Sociology at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born January 20, 1995 in Inglewood, Calif. His hobbies include playing basketball and spending time with friends and family. An older brother, Cedric, will be a junior safety this fall at Minnesota. In conjunction with one of his classes, he has done community service, volunteering with the homeless. (First name is pronounced teh-drick)

K.T. TU'UMALO, LB
 6-2, 220, Sr., 3L
 Honolulu, Hawai'i
 (Punahou) 42

AT COLORADO: This Season (Sr.)—He enters the fall listed third at both the “will” inside and “sam” outside linebacker positions. He had five tackles and a forced fumble in the spring game.

2013 (Jr.)—He saw action in 11 games, one on defense, but in all of those on special teams. In his one game on defense, which came against Southern California, he was in for 14 plays, making four tackles (all solo, one of which was a 1-yard quarterback sack) along with a third down stop. He earned seven points on special teams duty in CU's elaborate point scoring system on the strength of three tackles (one solo, one inside-the-20) and three knockdown blocks. He opened the year practicing at “will” inside linebacker position, but eventually practiced at “sam” outside spot as well; he returned to linebacker from the safety position, where he had moved to (from linebacker) as a sophomore.

2012 (Soph.)—He saw action in nine games (no starts), all on special teams and in one on defense. He was in for 16 snaps against Oregon, where he made four tackles, three of which were solo stops that included a tackle for zero gain and a third down stop. He finished fourth on the team in special team points with 18, on the strength of five tackles (two solo, two inside-the-20), six knockdown blocks, two forced fair catches, a caused penalty, a first downfield credit that altered the path of the return and a forced fumble. He moved from safety to linebacker during the spring, eventually settling on the outside.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action in eight games, five on defense (no starts). In 78 plays from scrimmage, he had eight tackles (four solo), with a third down stop and pass broken up. He played in the season opener on special teams, appearing in his native Hawai'i. He saw the bulk of his defensive play against Oregon, when he was in for 56 plays; he had six tackles, three solo, with the third down stop and PBU; he had two tackles the next game at Arizona State.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 5 player in Hawai'i by Rivals.com (the No. 2 linebacker) and the No. 13 player in the state by ESPN, but the top linebacker on its list. He earned third-team All-State honors (Honolulu Advertiser), was named first-team All-ILH and was the Defensive Most Valuable Player for Punahou. He racked up 97 total tackles, with 18 for losses including 12 quarterback sacks, along with two interceptions, two fumble recoveries and once caused fumble. Offensively, in spot duty as a running back, he ran the ball 10 times for 107 yards and a touchdown. As a junior, he had 67 tackles overall, 10 which went for losses including six sacks, to go with one forced fumble and a blocked kick he returned for a touchdown. Playing behind Manti Te'o as a sophomore, he saw action in spot duty on defense and had one interception returned for a touchdown. He saw action on every special teams unit his sophomore and junior seasons, recording many tackles and other big hits. Under head coach Kale Ane, Punahou compiled a record of 23-9 his three years, including a 12-1 record that culminated with an ILH and Hawai'i state championship his sophomore season. He lists his top game as his senior year against St. Louis, when despite suffering a sprained MCL, he remained in the game and registered two sacks in addition to neutralizing some key players on the opposite side of the ball. He also lettered once in basketball, with Punahou taking third place in the state as a junior, and three times in track (sprints and relays). He competed in the 200- and 400-meter dashes and the 4x400 relay, the latter on a team that won the state title three times (sophomore through senior seasons), helping PHS to the state title twice (and to within a half-point for a third one when he was a sophomore). He took second place in the 400-meter dash as a junior (49.7) and fourth as a senior (50.2). His fastest time in the 200 was a 23.0 when he was a sophomore, with a 23.2 clocking his best as a senior.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado. He maintained a 3.0 grade point average as a prep and is the first person in his extended family to attend college.

PERSONAL—He was born April 29, 1992 in Honolulu, Hawai'i. His hobbies include going to the beach, body surfing and music; he loves to mix and edit songs and is interested in becoming a disc jockey. In his free time during his senior year in high school, he spent time tutoring kids at his former middle school. First name is actually Kyle, but goes by his initials. (Last name is pronounced two-oo-h-mah-low.)

JOSH TUPOU, DL

6-3, 325, Jr., 2L

Buena Park, Calif.
(Buena Park)

55

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall listed atop the depth chart at one of the two defensive tackle positions. He had an outstanding spring, and Athlon Sports selected him as a preseason third-team All-Pac-12 performer. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Dick Anderson Award for the spring, presented to a player with outstanding toughness. A little heavier than his playing weight as a sophomore, his added pounds were gained from working out in the weight room. When the seniors were charged with drafting the teams for the annual spring game, he was the No. 1 selection overall by the Black team's captain, Kaiwi Crabb.

2013 (Soph.)—He started all 12 games at defensive tackle, playing 598 snaps from scrimmage. He was in on 38 tackles for the year (three for losses, including a half-quarterback sack), along with three third down stops, three quarterback hurries, a caused interception, a pass broken up and a quarterback chasedown (near sack). He had a career/season-high nine tackles in the finale at Utah, where he was credited with his half-sack; he had four tackles in three other games. He also played an additional 17 snaps on the field goal/PAT unit on special teams. He dropped 25 pounds from his frame (to around 310) between January and the start of August drills.

2012 (Fr.)—He earned honorable mention Freshman All-American honors from collegefootballnews.com. He played in 10 games, including seven starts; he missed the Oregon and Stanford games due to a severely sprain ankle, which he suffered in practice on September 11 but he kept playing on and reinjuring over the course of the six-week period until he finally was held out of action. On the year, he recorded 37 tackles, 20 of the solo variety, in 343 snaps from scrimmage, the most snaps played by a true freshman defensive lineman at Colorado dating back to at least 1984. He was in on five tackles for losses, including a quarterback sack as well as a tackle for zero, to go with a quarterback pressure. He had a season-high eight tackles (two solo) against Washington, when he also played a season most 57 plays; he had six tackles (three unassisted) against Fresno State and five against both Arizona State and Sacramento State.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, his first time playing on defense, SuperPrep ranked him as the No. 88 overall player in the Far West Region and the No. 82 player from California (the No. 5 defensive tackle); Scout.com ranked him as the No. 70 defensive tackle in the country. He was named the Freeway League Defensive Player of the Year, earning first-team All-Freeway League honors, along with first-team All-CIF Southern Section and second-team All-Orange County accolades. As a senior playing defensive tackle, he was in on 78 tackles (36 solo), with five sacks and four forced fumbles; he played guard on offense and did not allow a quarterback sack and also was on the field goal/PAT unit on special teams. He transferred to Buena Park from Orange High School after his junior year; at Orange, he was a first-team All-Golden West League selection at offensive guard as a junior. He claimed he did not have a top or most memorable game in high school because he played at the same speed all the time. Under coach Anthony White, Buena Park was 8-3 his senior year, and under coach Dan Stroup, Orange was 2-8 his junior year. He also lettered in track, throwing the shot put.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born May 2, 1994 in Long Beach, Calif. His hobbies include spending time with his family and playing basketball; he also has a keen sense of humor (he informed the SID staff that he is half-mermaid, with X-ray vision, and he can communicate with lions). He has three cousins playing college football, including two in the Pac-12: Walton

Taumoepeau (senior defensive lineman at New Mexico State), Mo Latu (redshirt freshman offensive lineman at Arizona State) and Siosifa Tufunga (redshirt freshman offensive lineman at Washington). An uncle, Viliami Maumau, is former CU defensive tackle who played from 1994-97 for the Buffaloes and in the NFL with the Denver Broncos. (Last name is pronounced tuo-poe.)

JOHN PAUL TUSO, DL

Englewood, Colo.
(Cherry Creek)

51

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He is expected to miss the entire season after he suffered ACL and meniscus tears in practice (March 17); he underwent surgery on April 10.

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in one game but did dress for all 12; he was in for two snaps against Charleston Southern. He had three solo tackles, including a quarterback sack and two third down stops, in the four main spring scrimmages.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in one game, Stanford, getting in for eight snaps in his collegiate debut (but did not register any statistics). With so few linemen available for spring practice, he got in some decent reps to develop; he had an assisted tackle in main scrimmage action. He has gained about 15 pounds of muscle since enrolling as a freshman.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he joined the team as a walk-on after the season opener and practiced all fall on the defensive line.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered three seasons at defensive end. As a senior, he started all 11 games and recorded 31 tackles (eight solo), with five for losses and a quarterback sack. He also recovered two fumbles and caused one. He had a career high five tackles against Denver East and four on two other occasions. He had 15 tackles as a junior (six solo), with four for losses and a sack with a fumble recovery. Under coach Mike Brookhart, Cherry Creek was 7-4 his senior year, 5-6 his junior season and 11-3 his sophomore campaign.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Geology at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born January 2, 1993 in Frisco, Colo., just on the other side of the Continental Divide; he was basically raised there until moving to Denver as a teenager. His hobbies include skiing and hiking. As a youngster, he broke his growth plate in a knee, and there was a time he thought he'd never walk again, much less play sports.

JOHN WALKER, DB

5-9, 175, Soph., 1L

Washington, D.C.
(H.D. Woodson)

26

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed third on the depth chart at right cornerback. He had three tackles (all solo) in the four main spring scrimmages.

2013 (Fr.-RS)—He played in 10 games, starting one (at nickel back at Arizona State), but missed the last two games after suffering a hip contusion in practice (on November 19). He was in for 85 snaps from scrimmage (46 in his one start), and was credited with seven tackles (three solo). He had two tackles (one unassisted) against Arizona State, with one stop in five other games. On special teams, he earned 15 points in CU's elaborate scoring system, tying for the fourth-most on the team; he was in on seven tackles (four solo, one inside-the-20), along with five knockdown blocks and two forced fair catches. He had a tremendous spring, recording 22 tackles (21 solo, one for a loss) and five third downs stops in the four main spring scrimmages.

2012 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced the entire fall in the secondary. He suffered a severe cut to his hand and in particular his flexor tendon on the third day of practice that ticketed him for a redshirt year.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, was ranked the No. 51 cornerback in the country by ESPN.com, which also ranked him as the No. 6 player from the District of Columbia and No. 118 overall player in the Atlantic Region. SuperPrep ranked him as the No. 7 player from Washington D.C., and No. 48 player in the Mid-Atlantic Region (the eighth defensive back). He was named All-Met (Metro Area Washington, D.C.) by the Washington Post and the Pigskin Club of Washington, D.C. He had 84 tackles (57 solo) with four quarterback sacks, three forced fumbles and two interceptions while averaging over three pass break-ups per game; all three of his forced fumbles were picked up by fellow CU signee De'Jon Wilson. He was stellar on special teams as the gunner on punt return and also played on kickoff return. He blocked three kicks on the season, two punts and a field goal. H.D. Woodson was his third high school in four years, as he attended Archbishop Carroll High School his sophomore and junior seasons, playing quarterback as a sophomore and cornerback as a junior (48 tackles, 29 solo). He attended Frost Friendship Collegiate his freshman year but did not play any sports. Under coach Greg Fuller, Woodson was 6-5 his senior season; under Rick Houchens, Carroll was 6-4 his junior year and 2-8 his sophomore season.

ACADEMICS—He is major in Sociology at Colorado. He was on the Honor Roll throughout high school, attaining a perfect 4.0 grade point in his final three quarters, and was Woodson's salutatorian.

PERSONAL—He was born July 23, 1994 in Washington D.C. His hobbies include riding dirt bikes, playing basketball, swimming and snow skiing. He is active in the D.C. community, including helping at his church in the past on Thanksgiving delivering turkeys and with a food drive. He won a sportsmanship award through the Boys & Girls Club. An older sister, Sydney Leonard, played basketball at St. Thomas.

LEE WALKER, WR

6-0, 175, Fr., HS

San Diego, Calif.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—He enters the fall listed second on the depth chart at the "X" receiver position. He enrolled at Colorado for the spring semester after taking a year off to improve his test scores (he originally signed with Arizona).

He caught nine passes for 112 yards and two touchdowns in the four main spring scrimmages (one of the scores came in the spring game on an 18-yard pass from Sefo Liufau).

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-Western League and second-team All-CIF honors on defense (cornerback). He had 1,838 all-purpose yards as a senior, accumulated mostly on 41 receptions for 755 yards (18.4 avg., with 12 touchdowns and a long play of 87 yards) and 21 kickoff returns for 549 yards (26.1 average); he also returned 21 punts for 481 yards (22.9 per), with four TDs via returns. He had two 100-yard receiving games and nine contests with over 100 all-purpose yards. On defense, he was in on 15 tackles, 14 solo, made three interceptions and had six passes broken up. He caught 21 passes for 572 yards (27.3) and seven touchdowns as a junior, when he had 891 all-purpose yards. He had 48 tackles, 35 solo, four interceptions (for 79 yards in returns) and three PBU's. For his career, he had 2,877 all-purpose yards (1,327 receiving, 700 punt return, 682 kickoff return, 75 rushing and 93 interception return). Top games as a senior included the state title game, a 38-35 win over Marin Catholic (three receptions, 77 yards, 1 TD; three solo tackles on defense); in a 42-20 win over Mission Bay, he caught six balls for 101 yards and three touchdowns; in a 35-21 win over St. Augustine, he had five receptions for 136 yards and a score; and in a 35-31 triumph over Mount Miguel, he had a career-best 304 all-purpose yards (including 238 via return). As a junior, he had five catches for 212 yards and two scores in a 38-28 win over Hoover, and added a five-catch, 121-yard effort, also with two TDs, in a 45-17 win over Mater Dei Catholic. Under head coach Rick Jackson, Madison was 14-1 his senior year, winning the CIF Division III state championship, along with the regional and Western League titles. MHS was 10-1-1 his junior season and 12-2 his sophomore year (losing in the state title game). He also lettered in track (sprints, relays).

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Communication as his major at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born August 25, 1995 in San Diego, Calif. In his spare time, he enjoys reading the Bible and playing video games. A cousin, Akili Smith, played quarterback at Oregon and was the third overall pick in the first round by the Cincinnati Bengals in the 1999 NFL Draft. He originally signed with Arizona in its 2013 recruiting class, but didn't qualify academically; instead of attending junior college, he opted to improve his test scores, which he accomplished and he decided to re-open his recruitment.

GRANT WATANABE, ILB

5-11, 230, Fr., HS

San Antonio, Texas
(Brennan)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Originally scheduled to report with the other members of his recruiting class, due to an injury he will delay his enrollment until January and will thus “grayshirt.”

HIGH SCHOOL—He was the first player in Brennan history to play four seasons on the varsity. He earned APSE Class 4A All-State honorable mention as a senior, first-team All-District 28-4A honors as a junior and senior, and was named the area defensive player of the year by the San Antonio Express-News as junior. He was rated as the No. 83 overall prospect in the state of Texas. He was selected to play for the USA Under-19 game for the USA-Canada All-Star game in Arlington, Texas on February 7 (he will not play in the game). As a senior, he played in 11 of his team’s 16 games, as he battled several injuries (hairline fracture and torn ligaments in his foot, sprained knee, strained hamstring and a concussion) but still managed to record 122 tackles, 10 behind the line of scrimmage including four quarterback sacks; he also had two forced fumbles, six passes broken up and four interceptions, returning one for a touchdown. As a junior, he posted monster numbers: 167 tackles, with 29 behind the line of scrimmage including three sacks; he had four interceptions and two fumble recoveries; Between his junior and senior seasons, he had 21 games with 10 or more tackles. As a sophomore, he racked up 98 tackles, 16 for losses with five sacks, and made three interceptions, while as a freshman, he was in on 56 stops, eight for losses. Overall, he had 443 career tackles, 63 for losses, with 11 interceptions. Top games as a senior: he was the MVP in the state title game despite his team falling 31-7 to Denton; he was in on 13 tackles with two for losses. In a 62-0 win over Lanier, he had 15 tackles, with two for losses. Top games as a junior: in a 24-0 win over East Central, he had 11 tackles, two interceptions and a sack; in a 31-28 win over Cedar Park Vista Ridge in the playoffs, he posted 13 tackles and a fumble recovery; and in a 52-6 win over Lanier, he had 19 tackles in just 43 plays. Under coach Stephen Basore, BHS was 15-1 his senior season and 13-1 his junior year, claiming the 28-4A district title both times, reaching the state finals and quarterfinals, respectively; Brennan was 7-4 his sophomore year and 0-10 his freshman year, the school’s first year sponsoring varsity football. He lettered in basketball and track earlier in his high school career, throwing a career-best 50-0 in the shot put.

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Business as his major at Colorado, but is undecided on what sequence.

PERSONAL—He was born August 9, 1995 in West Valley City, Utah. His hobbies include watching movies and playing video games; he is also an Eagle Scout. He has four relatives who have played or are playing in the National Football League: a cousin, Stanley Havili (fullback with Indianapolis, played collegiately at USC); another cousin, Paul Soloiai (defensive tackle with Miami, college ball at Utah); an uncle, Tony Moeaki (tight end with Buffalo, collegiately at Iowa); and another uncle, Harvey Unga (running back with Chicago, college at BYU). He is very active in his community, performing landscaping and clean-up duties and helping to feed the homeless. He was the second commitment of CU’s 2014 recruiting class and has been a classmate of George King, a true freshman on CU’s basketball team, since grade school. (Last name is pronounced what-ah-na-be.)

CHELDON WEST, JR., WR

6-0, 175, Jr., RS

Moorpark, Calif.
(Moorpark/Moorpark College)

80

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.-RS)—He enters the fall tied for third at the “H” receiver position. He caught five passes for 81 yards and a touchdown in the four main scrimmages (one for 24 in the spring game).

2013 (Jr.)—Redshirted; he practiced at Moorpark the entire fall; he joined the team as a walk-on for August drills after transferring to CU from Moorpark (Calif.) College.

AT MOORPARK COLLEGE (2011/2012, Fr./Soph.)—He was a two-year starter and lettered twice at receiver for Moorpark, located northwest of Los Angeles. He caught 25 passes for 285 yards (11.4 per catch) with three touchdowns as a sophomore, with his top game in a 41-9 loss to Ventura, when he had seven receptions for 125 yards a touchdown. He caught 38 passes for 698 yards (18.4) with nine touchdowns as a freshman. Under coach Will Thurston, MC was 2-8 his sophomore year and 6-4 under Jim Bittner and Thurston his freshman year.

HIGH SCHOOL—A four-year letterman at wide receiver, he earned first-team All-Ventura County, All-Marmonte League and All-CIF as a senior, when he had over 800 receiving yards and 10 touchdowns. He also started at cornerback and made two interceptions, one of which he returned for a score, and averaged 12 yards on punt returns. Under coach Tom Lins, Moorpark was 7-4 his senior year, 12-2 his junior season (CIF Section champions), and 9-1 his sophomore and freshman years (a combined 37-8).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Political Science at Colorado. He has aspirations after college of becoming a lawyer.

PERSONAL—He was born April 25, 1993 in Inglewood, Calif. His hobbies include snowboarding, playing basketball and reading, and he can also play the piano and drums. An older brother, Chastin, played collegiately at Fresno State (wide receiver) and for two seasons each in the NFL with Green Bay and Jacksonville. He cited as one of his biggest prep moments as scoring a touchdown on now teammate Nelson Spruce.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—Projected as an offensive lineman in his first year at a four-year college; he enrolled at CU in June and has three years to play two in eligibility.

AT AMERICAN RIVER COLLEGE (2012/2013, Fr./Soph.)—He earned first-team All-State honors as a sophomore and first-team All-Valley Conference twice at American River College (Sacramento, Calif.), with JC.Gridiron.com listing him as the No. 8 interior offensive line prospect in the nation. He started both years, at offensive tackle as a sophomore (allowing no sacks or pressures, with just two penalties and averaging three pancake blocks per game); he was a guard as a freshman. Under coach John Osterhout, ARC was 8-3 both his sophomore and freshman years, winning the conference title in the latter.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned first-team All-State honors as a senior (second-team as a junior) and was a first-team All-Southern Idaho Conference performer his sophomore through senior years, when he lined up at right offensive tackle. A four-year starter on the varsity, he played left guard as a freshman. He blocked for two premier prep quarterbacks at Eagle, Taylor Kelly (Arizona State) his first two seasons and then Tanner Mangum (Elite 11, BYU) the last two. Under coach Paul Peterson, EHS was 41-7 in his prep career, state 5A champions his sophomore year (11-1), and runner-ups his freshman (11-1) and senior (12-2) seasons. He also lettered three times in wrestling and twice in track (throws).

ACADEMICS—He is interested in Political Science or Sociology as his major at Colorado. He graduated from American River College with his A.A. degree in June 2014. DE'JON WILSON, DL

6-1, 255, Soph., 1L

Washington, D.C.

(H.D. Woodson)

90

AT COLORADO: This Season (Soph.)—He enters the fall listed second on the depth chart at left defensive end. He had a productive spring, and tallied eight tackles (four solo, two for losses with a half-sack), along with three quarterback hurries, a third down stop and a tackle or zero. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the defensive linemen for his spring work in the weight room.

2013 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in 11 games (no starts; he did not play against Central Arkansas), and was in for 176 snaps from scrimmage. He posted 12 tackles (eight solo, two for losses including a half-quarterback sack and two tackles for zero), along with a fumble recovery, a quarterback pressure, a caused interception and a pass broken up. He had a career/season-high five tackles at Washington (two solo, with a half-sack and a tackle for zero), when he played his most snaps in a game (50). He also had three stops against Charleston Southern, when he recovered a fumble. He did not participate in most of spring drills as he was concentrating on academics.

2012 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced on the defensive line during the season.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, SuperPrep ranked him the No. 27 player from the Mid-Atlantic Region and was the eighth defensive lineman and fourth player from Washington D.C. on that list. He was also the No. 4 player from the District of Columbia by Rivals, No. 6 by Scout and No. 7 by ESPN.com. The Pigskin Club of Washington, D.C., named him first-team All-Metropolitan as a junior and senior, an honor he also earned from the Washington Post and DCSports.com. As a junior, he earned defensive player of the year honors for the DCIAA Eastern Division. In his prep career, he attended three high schools in the D.C. area; he lost some credits with one of the transfers and originally was allowed to play a senior, but an emergency change in the rules allowed him to play after missing the first two games of the season. He finished his senior year with 60 total tackles, 24 for losses and 11 quarterback sacks, along with forcing six fumbles and an interception. He returned three fumbles for touchdowns, all three forced by fellow CU recruit John Walker. Against Fairmont Heights, a 22-8 victory, he recorded 11 tackles with one sack and against Wilson in a 24-6 win, he had eight tackles with two sacks. His junior season he set school records with 33 tackles for a loss and 21 sacks and he also had four forced fumbles. Under coach Greg Fuller, Woodson was 6-5 his senior season and under coach Trey Taylor, was 9-3 his junior year; they were 4-0 both years in the DCIAA Eastern Division, earning Woodson a spot in the Turkey Bowl, also the DCIAA championship game, which Woodson won both times. He also lettered in basketball and track; on the hard court, he was named most improved player two years in a row and as a senior averaged 17 points and eight rebounds per game. He ran relays and threw the shot put in track and field, twice named first-team All-Met.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado. He was named H.D. Woodson's student of the week a total of eight times in his high school career.

PERSONAL—He was born January 7, 1993 in Washington, D.C. Two cousins, Tavon Wilson and Joelil Thrash, played football at Illinois; Wilson is now with the New England Patriots. He was named Homecoming King

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado.

PERSONAL—He was born March 5, 1993, in Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, an island in the southern portion of the Windward Islands at the southern end and eastern border of the Caribbean Sea. He enjoys playing basketball, fishing and cricket, the latter of which he is very talented. He also plays the violin and the drums. In his spare time at home, he volunteers at a soup kitchen and at a daycare.

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.-RS)—He enters the fall listed third at one of the two defensive tackle positions. He has added 20 pounds to his frame since his arrival on campus as a true freshman.

2013 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced the entire all along the defensive line. He joined the team as a recruited walk-on for August drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered three times at offensive tackle; he did not play any defense as a prep; he played both left and right tackle during his senior season when he allowed only three quarterback sacks and was not called for a penalty the entire year. He was a reserve performer as a junior. Under coach Anthony Lacsina, Otay Ranch was 6-5 his senior season and 5-5 his junior year. He was promoted to the varsity at the conclusion of the J.V. season his sophomore year and saw some limited action.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on his major, but is interested in Economics. He graduated with honors from Otay Ranch, and was a member of the CIF All-Academic team as a junior and senior (he owned a 3.42 cumulative grade point average in high school).

PERSONAL—He was born April 15, 1995 in San Diego, Calif. His hobbies include wakeboarding, snowboarding and building computers, in fact, anything dealing with computers and other kinds of highly technical devices.

RICHARD YATES II, DB

6-2, 190, Jr., 2L

Lakewood, Colo.
(Kent Denver)

33

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He enters the fall listed third at free safety. He had a very active spring, recording nine tackles (seven solo, including a quarterback sack and a tackle for zero), along with a third down stop and a forced fumble in the four main scrimmages.

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in all 12 games, all on special teams; he tied for third on the team with 15 points in CU's elaborate special teams scoring system. He was in on four tackles (one solo) and had 11 knockdown blocks on the kickoff return unit which helped clear the path for additional yardage.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in 10 games on special teams, but did not get in on defense. He recorded six knockdown blocks on return unit duty to help clear the way for the return man. He had seven tackles (three solo) in the main spring scrimmages but missed the spring game with a mild knee sprain.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced the entire fall in the secondary. An invited walk-on, he joined team for August camp.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-State honors from the Denver Post at defensive back, along with earning first-team All-2A Colorado League accolades at both quarterback and safety; he was the league's offensive and defensive player of the year. He recorded 143 tackles, which included 101 solo, to go with five interceptions, nine passes broken up, six forced fumbles and three recoveries. On offense, he completed 98-of-160 passes (61.3 percent) for 1,450 yards and 17 touchdowns, while throwing just four interceptions. Two of his top games his senior year came in the playoffs: in a 21-14 quarterfinal win over Aspen, he scored from a yard out to put his team ahead in overtime, and then intercepted a pass in the end zone to end the game. Then in a 29-25 loss to Brush in the semifinals a week later, he set a school record with 32 tackles, which also included a record 24 unassisted; however, Brush won the game on the last play. He did not play his junior season until the state playoffs, as he suffered a torn ACL playing in summer league basketball; when he returned, he saw action solely on defense and special teams in four playoff games, making 10 tackles with an interception, a forced fumble and the recovery (all three of the later against Erie). As a sophomore, when he was honorable mention All-League at quarterback, he threw for 905 yards and nine touchdowns, while rushing for 106 yards and another two scores. Kent Denver was 10-3 his senior season, claiming the 2A Colorado League title, was 11-3 his junior season (the 2A state runner-up), 10-2 his sophomore year and 6-4 his freshman campaign (6-0 in league play and Colorado League champs) under coach Scott Yates, his father. He also lettered three times in basketball (guard/forward), with KDS the Metro League champions his sophomore and junior seasons, and four times in baseball (catcher/outfielder). As a senior, he was a first-team All-3A/2A Metro League performer as an outfielder, batting .354.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Mechanical Engineering at Colorado and is the owner of a 3.55 grade point average. He earned second-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors both as a sophomore and redshirt freshman. As a senior at Kent Denver School, he was a finalist for two of the most prestigious prep awards that combine athletic and academic achievement in the state of Colorado, the Freddie Steinmark Award and the John Lynch Scholarship Award.

PERSONAL—He was born September 8, 1992 in Lakewood, Colo. His hobbies include fishing, hunting and playing guitar, and he also has earned his black belt in Taekwondo. His father, Scott, lettered at safety for the Buffs as a senior in 1979, and an uncle, Shannon Yates lettered in football at the Air Force Academy.

STATISTICS—Special Team Tackles: 1,3—4 (2013).

2013 YEAR-IN-REVIEW

COLORADO 41 COLORADO STATE 27

SEPTEMBER 1, 2013

SPORTS AUTHORITY FIELD AT MILE HIGH, DENVER

DENVER — The Colorado Buffaloes rumbled into the Mike MacIntyre era with a gutsy 41-27 victory against rival Colorado State in the Rocky Mountain Showdown.

In his first game in CU's multiple/pistol offense, Connor Wood completed 33-of-46 passes for 400 yards and three touchdowns. Two of the TD passes – 82 and 75 yards – went to Paul Richardson, playing in his first game after sitting out last season with a knee injury.

And with the CU defense needing a big play in Sports Authority Field at Mile High, Greg Henderson delivered a monstrous one. With the Buffs cradling a 26-24 lead early in the fourth quarter, he scooped up a CSU fumble and raced 53 yards to score.

The Buffs couldn't have had a more effective start – scoring on their second play from scrimmage – an 82-yard Wood-to-Richardson pass.

After his PAT pushed CU ahead 7-0, Oliver then kicked a 22-yard field goal in the final minute of the first quarter and the Buffs were up 10-0. CSU's first points then came courtesy of a 39-yard Jared Roberts field goal three plays into the second quarter, cutting CU's advantage to 10-3 with 14:17 left before intermission.

It took nearly 11 minutes for either team to score again, but in the final 3:56 of the half CU got 10 points and CSU seven. Wood drove the Buffs 63 yards in seven plays, hitting D.D. Goodson in the back of the end zone with an 18-yard touchdown.

CSU answered immediately with a seven-play, 74-yard march capped by Kapri Bibbs' first career TD – a 7-yard run around left end. Roberts' extra point brought the Rams to within 17-10 and the Buffs had 1:13 remaining to respond.

Starting at his own 25, Wood used six plays to cover 51 yards and position Oliver for a 41-yard field goal on the first half's final play. The Buffs trotted to their locker room holding a 10-point lead (20-10).

CU accepted the second-half kickoff and was forced to give the ball back to CSU. Darragh O'Neill's punt traveled 46 yards, but sophomore Joe Hansley's return covered 74 – and the Rams suddenly were down only by three points (20-17).

With momentum swinging to CSU, CU needed an answer – and the Buffs drove as far as the Rams' 24-yard line before a holding call snuffed the drive. The Buffs forced a punt and this time marched to the Rams 18-yard line, where the drive stalled again but Oliver connected on a 44-yard field and CU increased its lead to 23-17.

CSU got another long return – this one 84 yards by junior Thomas Coffman on Oliver's kickoff – and set up at the CU 16-yard line. It took three plays to score, with Bibbs running 2 yards to give the Rams their first lead of the afternoon, 24-23, with 2:51 left in the third quarter.

When CU's ensuing drive stalled at the CSU 35-yard line, Oliver tied a career-long kick with a 52-yarder, giving the Buffs a 26-24 lead with 13:07 remaining.

Grayson moved the Rams to mid-field and on second down hit Bibbs across the middle for a short gain – but he couldn't escape Chidera Uzo-Diribe's strip, which Henderson scooped up and raced 53 yards to put CU up 33-24.

CSU again responded with 3:47 to play as a 30-yard Roberts filed goal allowed the Rams to pull within 33-27.

Wood and Richardson then delivered again – this time connecting for a 75-yard score. For good measure, Wood hit Goodson for the two-point conversion and the Buffs had their largest lead of the game – 41-27, which would eventually become the final.

BOULDER — The Colorado Buffaloes rallied with three fourth-quarter touchdowns to put away stubborn Central Arkansas squad, 38-24, and win its home opener under first-year coach Mike MacIntyre. In the process, CU improved to 2-0 and ended a six-game losing streak at Folsom Field.

CU quarterback Connor Wood passed for 341 yards (23-of-36) and submitted his second straight three-TD game of the season. Wood outdueled UCA quarterback Wynrick Smothers, who was 33-of-55 for 280 yards (2 TDs/2 INT) for the Bears, who came into the game ranked No. 5 in the FCS.

Wood connected with Richardson 11 times for 209 yards and two of his three scores. The Buffs took a 7-0 lead early in the second quarter after a 55-yard Wood-to-Richardson touchdown pass, and then Greg Henderson made it 14-0 with a 46-yard interception return, the first pick for the Buffs secondary in 267 pass attempts.

The Bears didn't blink as Wood fumbled as he was sacked by defensive end Markeith Gaines. Fellow end Derek Floyd recovered at the UCA 31, and six plays later Smothers hit Lewis with a 23-yard TD pass to make the game 14-7.

On CU's next series, Wood suffered his first interception of the season – a deflected ball intended for slot receiver D.D. Goodson that was lunged for and grabbed by defensive back Bobby Watkins at his own 24-yard line.

Ten plays later, Smothers capped a 76-yard march with an 11-yard scoring pass to tight end Chase Dixon. Denker's extra point tied the score at 14-14 with 22 seconds remaining before intermission.

Things appeared to settle down for the Buffs, but it was short lived as the Buffs gave up an 88-yard kickoff return to set up a 28-yard Denker field goal and the Bears' first lead (17-14) of the game.

Wood and CU answered with a 55-yard march that positioned Oliver for a 31-yard field goal that tied the score at 17-17 with 11:28 left in the third quarter.

It held until UCA's Gaines got his hands on Wood once more – and once again Wood fumbled. Defensive end Jonathan Woodard scooped up the ball and ran to the CU 16 before being hauled down from behind by Buffs tackle Stephane Nembot.

The Bears ran six plays and advanced to the Buffs' 1-yard line, where on the first play of the fourth quarter Smothers scored on a quarterback sneak to push UCA up 24-17 with all but four seconds of the last quarter remaining.

Time was on the Buffs' side, but the Bears weren't clock watching – they were zeroing in on Wood. The pressure continued, and Wood tossed his second pick of the game – this one picked by free safety Marvin Mitchell at the UCA 44.

Smothers drove the Bears as far as the Buffs' 24-yard line before CU safety Jered Bell stepped in front of a Smothers pass, picked it and ran 79 yards for the TD to tie the game once more (24-24).

The Buffs went ahead with 9:16 to play when Chidobe Awuzie pilfered the football from Wilson after a short reception and set up Wood & Co. at the UCA 30-yard line. On the second play, Wood found Richardson open again – this time for 30 yards and their fourth TD hookup of the season to make the game 31-24 in the Buffs favor.

The Buffs couldn't relax until Wood hit Nelson Spruce on a third-and-20 receiver screen which he took 39 yards for a touchdown to push the Buffs lead to 38-24.

CU corner Kenneth Crawley intercepted Smothers in the end zone with 1:50 to play. The Buffs took over at their 20-yard line, got one first down and put a period on a wild home opener.

GAME NOTES

Colorado last opened with a pair of wins in 2008 ... CU improved to 2-2 all-time against FCS schools ... The temperature at kickoff – 90 degrees – tied for the ninth warmest for any game in CU history and tied for the second warmest ever in Boulder (with the Aug. 26, 2001 Fresno State game; both are tied for the warmest night game in Boulder) ... WR Paul Richardson became the first player in Pac-12 Conference history to have back-to-back 200-yard receiving games ... Ralpie V did not lead the team out for the first time since 2003 (against Nebraska) because of a timing snafu; she made the second half run just fine, however ... Colorado scored 30 points in back-to-back games for the first time since the 10th and 11th games of the 2010 season, and has allowed under 30 for two games in a row since games 4 and 5 of that same year ... Henderson's interception was the first by a Buff in a 10-game span and 267 opponent passes since the last one (a fourth quarter pick by ILB Jon Major at Washington State on Sept. 22, 2012) ... The Buffs returned two interceptions for scores in the same game for the first time since the last day of the last century: Dec. 31, 1999 when ILB Jashon Sykes and SS Rashidi Barnes did it against Boston College in the Insight.com Bowl ... The attendance of 35,168 was the smallest for CU home game in Boulder that wasn't affected due to the weather since 1988.

GAME NOTES

A storm blew into Corvallis the night before the game (it lingered for three days), as it brought winds gusting to 30 miles per hour and constant rainfall (light to moderate) during the game ... This was the first game in 2013 that Colorado did not hold a lead ... TB Michael Adkins made his debut responding with 14 rushes for 98 yards, the second most yards by a true freshman in his first game at Colorado (the record is held by TB Marcus Houston, who had 100 versus Colorado State in Denver on Sept. 2, 2000) ... CB Greg Henderson made his second interception of the season and his third in his career (he has returned the pair for 82 yards) ... WR Tyler McCulloch had his fourth touchdown catch of his career ... Colorado outrushed Oregon State last Saturday (154-140); it was a rare loss when CU had the edge in rushing yards, as the Buffs are 137-17-3 since 1989 when doing so.

CORVALLIS, Ore. — If it was questionable whether a three-week layoff had an ill effect on Colorado, the answer was given in a 44-17 loss to Oregon State in CU's 2013 Pac-12 Conference opener.

CU (2-1, 0-1) trailed 17-3 at halftime, but hung tough with Oregon State for the majority of the first half.

The teams traded field goals in the game's first 13 minutes, OSU striking first with a 36-yarder from Trevor Romaine and the Buffs answering four minutes later with a 19-yarder from Will Oliver set up by a Greg Henderson interception, his third of the young season. Mannion hit Caleb Smith for the TD with 2:09 left in the first quarter from 3-yards out.

The Buffs' defense appeared fairly sound throughout the first half, snuffing a pair of Beavers' drives with an interception by corner Greg Henderson and a sack/forced fumble by end Chidera Uzo-Diribe and fumble recovery by end Juda Parker.

But following Parker's fumble recovery, which stopped an OSU drive at the CU 19, the Buffs couldn't capitalize. They went three-and-out, with an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty on Daniel Munyer ruining the series and forcing a punt.

The game remained 10-3 for the majority of the first half with the second quarter's only score the second connection between Mannion and Crooks, capping a 12-play, 71-yard march to end the half.

If the Buffs were going to rally, they needed to stop the Beavers immediately in the second half. It didn't happen; OSU took the second half kickoff and fashioned a drive that nearly matched their final first-half march.

It covered 75 yards, required seven plays and concluded with another Mannion-to-Cooks scoring pass – this one for 22 yards. Romaine's extra point pushed the Beavers comfortably in front 24-3 with 12:03 left in the third quarter.

Then the wheels appeared to be close to coming off for the Buffs. But after Marques Mosley fumbled the kickoff and Romaine recovered at the OSU 46, the Beavers were forced into a three-and-out. It didn't matter.

When CU again failed to generate any offense and punted, Mannion completed a 76-yard drive with his third TD pass of the afternoon – a 42-yard screen taken to the end zone by Terron Ward. Romaine made it 31-3 – and another special teams blunder awaited the Buffs on Romaine's kickoff.

When his squib kick wasn't handled by up man Brady Daigh, OSU's Zack Robinson recovered at the CU 26. Four plays later, Mannion tied the OSU single-game record with his fifth TD pass, this one covering 4 yards to Smith to make it 38-3. The disastrous third quarter was and including the final score of the first half, the Beavers put up 28 unanswered points in just over 10 minutes of game action.

Connor Wood and Tyler McCulloch hooked up for the Buffs score with 10:51 to play. When Wood hit freshman Devin Ross with a two-point conversion pass, the score was 38-11 – but time and most everything else wasn't on CU's side.

After Wood was intercepted with just under 7 minutes remaining, Mannion broke the OSU record for TD passes in a single game, hitting tight end Connor Hamlett with an 11-yard toss.

That made the game 44-11 with 6:48 remaining, but if anything can be said about the Buffs it's that they didn't give up.

Wood hit Paul Richardson from 28 yards out with just 13 seconds left in the game, little solace but giving the nation's leading receiver his fifth touchdown in three games on the season. The 2-point conversion failed and ended the game at 44-17.

OCTOBER 5, 2013

FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Colorado had its early moments against No. 2 Oregon, but the Buffaloes couldn't make them last. The day belonged to Oregon quarterback Marcus Mariota, his hurry-up offense and his cadre of super-fast skill players.

Shrugging off early 3-0 and 10-8 deficits that might have offered Buffs fans a flickering glimpse of a shock-the-universe upset, the unbeaten Ducks won in a walk, 57-16, before 45,944 at Folsom Field. CU dropped to 2-2 overall and 0-2 in the Pac-12 while the Ducks improved to 5-0 and 2-0, respectively.

Mariota's night was finished midway through the third quarter, but he did more than enough to win Pac-12 player of the week honors. He accounted for seven touchdowns, hitting on 16-of-27 passes for 355 yards and five TDs, with seven rushes for 43 yards and two more scores.

CU receiver Paul Richardson caught five passes for 134 yards and completed one pass for 75 yards and his team's only TD. Christian Powell showed flashes with 20 carries for 78 yards.

CU was unconventional from the opening kickoff, calling for an on-sides kick that the Ducks recovered. But the Buffs forced a three-and-out, took possession and drove 69 yards to position Will Oliver for a 33-yard field goal that gave CU a 3-0 lead.

But that CU advantage lasted all of 1:49 – the time required for Oregon to score on its next possession. Mariota capped the 75-yard, nine-play march with a 2-yard run, then tight end Pharaoh Brown took a direct center snap and ran for the 2-point conversion. Oregon 8, CU 3.

The Buffs responded with a 75-yard pitch-and-catch from Richardson on a flanker reverse pass to receiver D.D. Goodson to put the Buffs back up, 10-8, with 9:35 left in the first quarter.

An ill-advised Wood pass under pressure was picked off by Oregon corner Terrance Mitchell, resulting in a short (43 yards) seven-play drive and a 2-yard scoring run by Thomas Tyner to go up 15-10. A 75-yard Mariota-to-Addison scoring pass shot Oregon in front 22-10 and preceded Wood's second interception. Mitchell got that one, too, and the Ducks quickly capitalized, with Mariota hitting Keanon Lowe for a 17-yard score that capped a 34-second possession to make it 29-10 Oregon at the end of the first quarter.

CU cut into the lead with another pair of Oliver field goals (22, 31 yards) to pull to within 29-16. Mariota then took advantage with 6:04 left before intermission with a rushing TD to make it 36-16, and Oregon added another TD – this one on a 4-yard Mariota-to-Huff pass – to take its 27-point (43-16) halftime lead.

Oregon further blew it open by scoring on its first two second-half possession, with Mariota hitting Addison for a 44-yard score, then finding Huff for a 26-yarder. With 6:50 left in the third quarter, the Ducks were cruising 57-16 and had comfortably entered name-your-score mode.

CU linebacker Addison Gillam finished with a CU freshman record 18 tackles (14 solo), four third down stops and two tackles for loss, one of which was a sack.

A fumble forced by Chidera Uzo-Diribe and recovered by CU linebacker Derrick Webb at the Oregon 10-yard line offered the Buffs a chance for a third-quarter score, but they couldn't take advantage. The Buffs actually took the ball away on three straight possessions, the other two coming on Greg Henderson interceptions, but the Buffs couldn't take advantage. CU closed the game with four straight three-and-outs, as the high-scoring affair saw a scoreless fourth quarter.

GAME NOTES

Colorado lost its 10th straight Pac-12 game ... The teams combined for 493 yards of offense in the first quarter (UO 262, CU 231), when they also combined for 12 possessions ... Colorado led for 6:29 in the first quarter, the most any team has led Oregon in five games this year (Tennessee led Oregon for 5:26 in the first quarter of their game); the 10 first quarter points were the most by an opponent in a quarter against UO this year ... Colorado had 318 yards in the first half, just 2.5 yards shy of what Oregon came in allowing per game (320.5); but the Buffs managed just 56 after halftime ... Oregon's 755 yards of total offense were the second most ever against a CU defense, trailing 875 by Oklahoma in an 82-42 loss on Oct. 4, 1980 (758 of those were rushing) ... Oregon became the first CU opponent to amass at least 400 yards of either rushing or passing and 300 of the other (406 pass/349 rush); the 406 passing yards were the 13th most ever by an opponent ... Colorado was 0-of-15 on third down, eclipsing its old worst mark on the down, as the Buffs were 0-of-13 against Kansas State in a 20-14 loss at Manhattan on Nov. 6, 1999 ... CB Greg Henderson was the first Buff to have two interceptions in the same game since Oct. 27, 2007, when CB Terrence Wheatley snared three at Texas Tech.

ARIZONA STATE 54 COLORADO 13

SUN DEVIL STADIUM, TEMPE

GAME 5

TEMPE, Ariz. — Host Arizona State jumped out to an early 25-0 lead in the game's first 10 minutes, forcing Colorado to change quarterbacks en route to a 54-13 win over the Buffaloes.

True freshman Sefo Liufau replaced Connor Wood after just three series, the coaches making the call after Wood opened 0-of-4 with an interception and two sacks.

Liufau, the first true freshman to quarterback the Buffs since Tyler Hansen in 2008, directed a pair of scoring drives, finishing his debut completing 18-of-26 passes for 169 yards, with one touchdown and two interceptions. He also ran three times for 19 yards, not including the one time he was sacked.

On their first possession under their new quarterback, the Buffs marched 80 yards in 11 plays and scored on a 10-yard Liufau-to-Nelson Spruce pass. Nice start, but the talented kid from Tacoma was up against nasty odds when he took his first college snap.

By the time Liufau entered the college game, the Buffs trailed 25-0 – and that was with 4:45 left in the first quarter. Wood was pulled after his pick by corner Lloyd Carrington that set up ASU at the CU 15-yard line and led to a 1-yard run by Marion Grice.

The Sun Devils kept the heat coming and had pushed their lead to 47-6 by intermission. ASU scored on eight of its nine first-half possessions and sacked Liufau in the end zone for a safety.

ASU outgained CU 392-94 in the first half (532-268 for the game), with Grice rushing 13 times for 88 yards and his pair of TDs and catching two passes for 46 yards. Like Kelly, he was done for the night as was receiver Jaelen Strong, whose three receptions went for 109 yards and one score. Kelly's other TD pass – a 1-yarder – went to Davon Coleman, who normally plays defensive end.

Kelly was replaced to start the second half by backup Mike Bercovi, who doubles as ASU's holder and hit Strong with a two-point conversion pass after the Sun Devils' second TD.

The Buffs, meanwhile, struggled to find any first-half offense with the exception of the 80-yard Liufau-led drive. Leading receiver Paul Richardson did not have a first-half catch, and didn't get one until CU's opening possession of the second half. Spruce, with three catches for 25 yards, was the Buffs' top receiver in the opening half.

The Buffs defense was minus CU senior safety Parker Orms for half the second quarter through the rest of the game. He was flagged for allegedly targeting an ASU receiver and ejected, spending the rest of the game in the locker room.

After Liufau suffered his second interception – a pick in the end zone on a pass intended for Richardson – Bercovi engineered a 14-play, 80-yard drive that was capped by senior R.J. Robinson's 1-yard run – the first scoring run of his career. With Gonzalez's PAT, ASU went ahead 54-6 with 3:22 left in the third quarter, and the final quarter started with that score.

Liufau led the Buffs on their second scoring drive of the night, this one 89 yards in 11 plays, with Christian Powell running 8 yards for the score. Will Oliver's PAT made it 54-13.

GAME NOTES

Colorado donned black helmets for just the sixth time in its history, and are now 1-5 in the head gear (this was the third road game; the other two were losses at UCLA in 2011 and at Arizona last year) ... The game time was exactly 3:00 (only 26 in CU's last 284 have been played un under three hours) ... CU lost its 11th straight Pac-12 game (school record for most consecutive losses in conference play; old mark was eight twice) ... CU snapped an 0-for-19 streak on third downs in the first quarter (last try at Oregon State; 0-of-15 vs. Oregon and 0-of-3 before converting against ASU); Colorado was 5-of-5 on third down in the second half ... TB Christian Powell's 8-yard run for a touchdown in the fourth quarter was CU's first rushing touchdown this season ... PK Will Oliver improved to 10-of-10 on PAT kicks in 2013, extending his consecutive streak made to 40 ... SN Ryan Iverson had one tackle on punt coverage, giving him 13 (10 solo) for his career, tying the most career tackles in school history by a long snapper (Chris O'Donnell had 13 from 1987-90) ... QB Sefo Liufau became the ninth true freshman to play for the Buffs this season when he appeared in the first quarter; the last true freshman to appear in a game at quarterback for CU was Tyler Hansen, who made his debut in a 14-13 win against Kansas State in Boulder on Oct. 18, 2008; he completed 7-of-14 passes for 71 yards (1 TD/1 INT). He made his starting debut the following week at Missouri.

GAME NOTES

Colorado averaged eight yards per play on offense (8.0) for the first time since 2005 (8.14 vs. North Texas) ... Colorado dropped to 0-6 on the coin toss in 2013 ... The first half took 1 hour, 16 minutes to play ... The final game time was 2:50, CU's first sub-3:00 game since 2011 at UCLA (2:54), and the fastest since Nov. 23, 1991 at Iowa State (a 17-14 win in a blizzard) ... Colorado improved to 3-2 all-time vs. FCS programs, Charleston Southern fell to 0-23 against FBS teams ... TB Michael Adkins and QB Sefo Liufau made their first collegiate starts today; it marked the first time in CU history a true freshman at both quarterback and running back made their starting debuts in the same game ... Junior DE Andre Nichols saw his first college action (FG/PAT unit) ... Colorado held CSU to 46 yards and just two first downs in the second half (0-of-6 on third downs) ... DE Chidera Uzo-Diribe forced his fifth fumble of the year (leads the NCAA) ... There were just 111 total plays in the game (CU averaged 8.0 on its 52, CSU 3.3 on its 59 (which ate up 36:47 on the clock); 34 fewer than in any game to date involving CU ... The two-point conversion was added to college football in 1958; this marked the first time a CU punter played a role in converting one when Darragh O'Neill ran it in.

BOULDER — Stepping away from their Pac-12 Conference schedule on a perfect mid-October Saturday, the Colorado Buffaloes eventually stepped out of Folsom Field with a 43-10 win over Charleston Southern.

Michael Adkins II, a true freshman from San Diego, accounted for a freshman school record four touchdowns on runs of 23, 5, 33 yards and 34 yards. Entering Saturday's game, the Buffs had scored one rushing TD in their previous five games.

Tailback/fullback Christian Powell also scored on a 2-yard run as the Buffs enjoyed their most productive running afternoon of the season (218 yards).

The Buffs broke a three-game losing streak, evened their record at 3-3 and won their first game under first-time starting quarterback Sefo Liufau.

In his first start Saturday, he was 14-of-20 for 198 yards. Liufau's TD pass covered 60 yards, most of them courtesy of fleet junior Paul Richardson in the second quarter. Richardson finished with eight receptions for 122 yards.

The game against previously unbeaten CSU, the FCS' No. 23-ranked team, was arranged on Sept. 30; it replaced a Sept. 14 game against Fresno State which was postponed due to the record rainfall and floods that ravaged the Boulder and area.

CSU, which entered the afternoon 7-0, was without its first two quarterbacks and started freshman Kyle Copeland, who was playing in only his third game and had thrown two incompletions in his only two attempts. Copeland's final passing stats: 7-of-14 for 48 yards, one TD, one interception.

CU outgained CSU 416-196 in total offense, with the Buffs adjusting to CSU's option attack and holding them to zero points and 46 total yards in the second half.

The Buffs got out of the first half with a 22-10 lead largely made possible by a timely forced fumble from Chidera Uzo-Diribe and Paul Richardson's runaway speed. Uzo-Diribe stripped CSU quarterback Kyle Copeland at the Buccaneers' 12-yard line in the second quarter. Two plays later, Adkins took a handoff headed off left tackle, weaved to his right and scored from 5 yards out for his and the Buffs second score of the game. He previously broke free for a 23-yard TD on the opening drive. Punter Darragh O'Neill then scored on the two-point conversion.

CU's 15-3 lead ballooned to 22-3 after a three-and-out CSU series and the 60-yard pitch-and-catch executed by Liufau and Richardson. Credit Liufau with keeping the play afloat; he fielded a bouncing center snap, collected himself and spotted Richardson crossing right to left in front of the formation. Richardson took the short pass, reversed his field and outran two Buccaneers in pursuit to the right pylon.

But after CU had surged in front 22-3, CSU collected itself for its second 9-plus minute drive of the half — the first ended with a field goal when an apparent TD pass on a well-designed pitch was reviewed and overruled — and scored on a 7-yard Copeland to Colton Korn pass six seconds before intermission.

The Buffs scored on their first possession of the second half, opening a 29-10 lead after a 13-play, 64-yard march capped by Powell's 2-yard run. Exactly 3 minutes later — at 4:11 — Liufau and his offense failed to capitalize on a Jered Bell interception near midfield, and the quarter ended with CU clutching its 19-point advantage.

With 11:22 remaining, Adkins' 33-yard jaunt and Oliver's extra point sent the Buffs comfortably ahead 36-10. Just over 5 minutes later, Adkins shook loose again and broke three tackles and ran 34 yards en route to his record-setting fourth TD.

Wood replaced Liufau and Tony Jones replaced Adkins with just over 3 minutes remaining, with CU taking possession near its 15-yard line and ending the game near midfield.

GAME NOTES

It was the annual Blackout Breast Cancer game, so the Buffaloes wore all black, including pink accessories (and the Ralphie logo was pink as well); but the Buffs dropped to 21-22-1 all-time wearing all black (0-3 with black helmets) ... Colorado fell to 61-33-5 in 99 homecoming games, to 50-50-2 in night games overall (6-1 vs. Arizona, 24-13-2 at home) ... WR Paul Richardson's 75-yard TD reception was his sixth play of 50 yards or longer this season, tying the modern day record for most plays 50 yards or longer in year (and it was the 12th of his career) ... OLB Woodson Greer started on the inside (at the will spot) with the Buffs opening in the nickel ... DL Samson Kafovalu returned to action as he completed all requirements to play after violating assorted team rules ... Arizona ran 39 first down plays, and gained yardage on 36 of those; the other plays were two rushes for zero and an incomplete pass as UA averaged 9.97 yards on first down; CU averaged a healthy 6.4 ... FS Jered Bell made his third interception of the season, which he has returned for 109 yards and a TD; his four career picks he has returned 146 yards ... P Darragh O'Neill punted three times inside UA territory, placing all inside the 15 ... PK Will Oliver made his career long field goal of 53 yards; he previously had two from 52 yards.

BOULDER — Behind a career-high 192 yards rushing by QB B.J. Denker and another 119 by tailback Ka'Deem Carey, low by his standards, the Arizona Wildcats slowly pulled away to a 44-20 win over the Colorado Buffaloes.

Denker also completed 21-of-32 passes for 265 yards and a touchdown, giving him 457 yards in total offense – the sixth-highest output in school history, with his 192 yards rushing believed to be a school record for a QB. The Buffs held Carey, the nation's leading rusher, to 42 yards below his average but he did find the end zone four times.

Sefo Liufau, making his first Pac-12 start for the Buffaloes (3-4, 0-4 Pac-12), finished 17-for-32 for 212 yards and a 75-yard touchdown to Paul Richardson, who made seven catches for 132 yards. The Buffs managed 349 yards in total offense, 137 of them on the ground.

Indeed, the Buffs played the Wildcats toe-to-toe through the game's first 27 ½ minutes, even taking a 13-10 lead on Liufau's 75-yard TD pass to Richardson and a pair of Will Oliver field goals that were set up by Arizona turnovers.

CU linebacker Woodson Greer recovered an Arizona fumble that led to Oliver's career-long 53-yard field goal and tied the score at 10-10 with 14:50 left in the second quarter. Just under 5 minutes later, after Oliver was just wide left on a 52-yard attempt, Denker was intercepted by Buffs safety Jered Bell, who returned the pick 26 yards to the Wildcats 49, a drive that ended with an Oliver 48-yarder to make it 13-10 with 5:07 left in the first half.

Allowing the Wildcats (5-2, 2-2 Pac-12) two touchdowns in the first half's final 2:28, the Buffs found themselves trailing 24-13 at intermission. Arizona got the first of those two scores on a 7-yard run by Carey, capping a nine-play, 75-yard march. Then, after Arizona's defense forced a CU three-and-out, Carey ran 30 yards and Denker connected with slot receiver Nate Phillips, who got a step on Bell, for a 44-yard TD pass.

CU tied the score on the long Liufau-Richardson scoring pass, then Jake Smith's 37-yard field goal sent Arizona up 10-7 with 4:34 left in the first quarter.

Needing a defensive stop to open the second half, the Buffs got a partial stop. Three plays – two of them runs by Denker that netted 65 yards – put the Wildcats inside the Buffs' 10 with first-and-goal. But CU held Arizona to a field goal – a 26-yarder by Smith – then responded with its own 75-yard drive (nine plays) and pulled to within seven (27-20) on Michael Adkins II's 1-yard plunge and Oliver's PAT.

Carey scored his third TD of the night – another 1-yard dive – and Smith kicked Arizona ahead again by two touchdowns (34-20) with 7:55 left in the third quarter.

Liufau, with the help of a personal foul (facemask) on Arizona cornerback Jonathan McKnight that nullified an interception, drove CU to the Arizona 4-yard line but no further. Liufau's fourth-down pass to the end zone fell incomplete.

After it was made, just over 3 minutes later, the fourth quarter began with the Buffs still trailing by 14 points.

And the end was beginning ... CU attempted a fake punt at its own 15-yard line, with punter Darragh O'Neill trying to skirt left end but being hammered after a 3-yard gain to the 18. Carey needed two runs to cover that distance, scoring his fourth TD on a 6-yard run up the middle.

After Smith's extra point the Wildcats were cruising, 41-20, with 14:30 remaining. He added a 28-yard field goal to make it 44-20 with 9:10 to play and that ended the scoring.

ROSE BOWL STADIUM, PASADENA

GAME 8

COLORADO	3	10	0	10	—	23
UCLA	7	14	14	10	—	45

PASADENA, Calif. — What started as a promising day for Colorado ended in a 45-23 loss to the No. 17 UCLA Bruins on a beautiful Saturday at the Rose Bowl.

UCLA trailed 10-7 in the second quarter, but scored a pair of quick touchdowns to go ahead 21-10 and forced CU to play from behind the rest of the way.

Paul Richardson made seven catches for 70 yards, while Christian Powell carried 22 times for 97 yards and kicker Will Oliver hit three of his career-high five field goal attempts, uncharacteristically missing a pair of 45-yarders. Sefo Liufau, making his first Pac-12 road start, finished 25-of-36 passing for 247 yards and one TD.

UCLA quarterback Brett Hundley accounted for four touchdowns, completing 19 of 24 passes for 273 yards and two scores, and running 11 times for 72 yards and another pair of TDs.

Before the Bruins' final first-quarter possession, the Buffs had outgained them 111-17 in total offense and had six first downs to none for the Rose Bowl hosts. CU also had a 3-0 lead, courtesy of Oliver's 23-yard field goal, which followed a wide right 45-yard attempt on the Buffs' first possession and marked Oliver's first miss of the season from that distance.

But it took UCLA two plays — one of them a run for minus-one yard — to take the lead. Following that loss of a yard on first down, Hundley teamed with receiver Devin Fuller for a 75-yard TD pass that put UCLA up 7-3 with 19 seconds left in the first quarter.

The Buffs' effort spilled into the second quarter; Liufau drove them 73 yards in 10 plays, hitting Richardson with a 7-yard scoring pass, moving CU back in front 10-7 with 11:04 left before the half.

In the next 4:27, the Bruins scored twice to take a 21-10 lead. The first TD followed a 61-yard, eight-play drive and was scored by Hundley on an 11-yard run through the middle of the CU defense, then on the ensuing kickoff, Buffs returner Ryan Severson's fumble was recovered by Bruins freshman linebacker Jayon Brown at the CU 14. Three plays later, Hundley and Fuller hooked up again, this time for a 6-yard score. With Fairbairn's extra point, the Bruins took a deep breath and were up 21-10.

CU had 6:20 left before intermission to answer, and Oliver did with his second field goal of the half — a 47-yarder that pulled the Buffs to within eight (21-13).

Hundley took the Bruins 70 yards in 12 plays, scoring the TD on a 1-yard run two plays after he had run 14 yards — again up the middle — to convert a third-and-10 at the CU 19 and that put the Bruins up 28-13.

Liufau then pointed the Buffs in the right direction, marching them to the UCLA 28-yard line before the drive stalled. Oliver came on for a 45-yard field attempt, but it was wide right and after UCLA took possession at the Buffs 48-yard line on the next possession, UCLA extended its lead to 35-13.

CU opened the fourth quarter by completing a 75-yard, 13-play march, capped by Tony Jones' 2-yard dive. The Buffs pulled back to within 15 points (35-20). UCLA hit a 45-yard field goal on its next possession and the Buffs answered that with Oliver's third field goal of the day from 37-yards out to make the score 38-23.

After CU was unsuccessful on an on-sides kick attempt, UCLA benefitted from a short field (47 yards) and scored its final touchdown on an 8-yard Hundley-to-Fuller lateral. UCLA won 45-23.

GAME NOTES

Colorado finally won the pregame coin toss, after losing it the first seven games ... CU has lost 13 straight against ranked teams (last win: 34-30 over Kansas in 2009); the Buffs have lost 21 straight road games against ranked opponents, with the last win a 31-17 over UCLA at the Rose Bowl in 2002 ... CB Jeffrey Hall made his first career start, subbing for an injured Kenneth Crawley ... CU forced UCLA into a "three-and-out" on its opening drive, the fourth time in eight games the Buff defense has accomplished that (the Bruins had four in 12 drives, scoring three of their six TDs on drives started in CU territory) ... CU's 11:33 in time of possession for the first quarter was a quarter high this season, as was its 20:38 in the first half for a half and 35:59 for a game ... CU gained a Pac-12 season best 381 yards, and moved the ball into UCLA territory on seven of 10 drives ... UCLA's 412 total yards and 215 first half yards were the fewest against CU in a league game this year (ASU had the previous game low of 532, OSU had the previous first half low of 285) ... It was feast or famine for the Bruins: their 15 plays of 10 yards or more gained 317 yards; the other 42 just 95 ... CU running backs have combined for 234 carries without a fumble this season ... ILB Addison Gillam had seven tackles, bringing his season total to 81, just four shy of the school's freshman record ... With 97 rushing yards, TB Christian Powell became the 50th player in school history to rush for 1,000 career yards (1,067, 44th on CU's all-time list).

WASHINGTON 59 COLORADO 7

NOVEMBER 9, 2013

HUSKY STADIUM, SEATTLE

GAME 9

SEATTLE — Washington used a wealth of offensive weapons and broke open a close game with two late first half touchdowns in defeating the Colorado Buffaloes, 59-7, on a cold, drizzly night at Husky Stadium.

After turning a 17-7 edge into a 31-7 halftime lead, Washington (6-3, 3-3 Pac-12) converted three consecutive CU turnovers in the third quarter into 21 points to put the game out of reach.

Two of the Buff turnovers were interceptions thrown by freshman quarterback Sefo Liufau, a product of Bellarmine Prep in nearby Tacoma. His first pick was returned 84 yards for a touchdown by safety Tre Watson, the second pick jump-started a seven-play, 40-yard scoring drive capped by quarterback Keith Price's 4-yard run.

And following those turnovers was a fumble by Tony Jones that was recovered and returned 53 yards for a touchdown by corner Marcus Peters, who also was credited with a tipped pass on Liufau's first pick. It was the first fumble by a CU running back in 2013. When the smoke finally cleared, the Huskies had built an insurmountable 52-7 lead entering the fourth quarter.

CU (3-6, 0-6 Pac-12) finished the night with 299 yards in total offense to UW's 628. The Buffs converted six of 15 third down attempts to the Huskies' eight of 13 — and two of those conversions were for 14 and 12 yards.

Colorado junior Paul Richardson, one of the nation's leading receivers, was still hampered by a sprained ankle he suffered two weeks earlier against Arizona, and in fact wore a protective boot when he exited the team bus and still had it on during the initial walk-through. But in the final warm-ups 30 minutes before the game, he shed the boot and appeared to fairly healthy.

Entering the game in pursuit of a pair of school records, Richardson only played the first half. His 53-yard first-half TD catch was his ninth of the year, two short of Derek McCoy's school record of 11 set in 2003. His 77 yards made him the seventh player to record over 1,000 yards in a season, with his 1,061 by game's end inching him closer to Charles E. Johnson's season mark of 1,149 set in 1992. And that 53-yard catch gave him seven plays (all receptions) of 50-plus yards this season, setting a school record.

UW, which had already scored on four of its first five possessions, drove 66 yards in 46 seconds and got a 15-yard TD pass from Price to Austin Seferian-Jenkins two seconds before halftime, its second score in the half's final four minutes. The Huskies had gone ahead 10-0, but CU answered with a seven-play, 76-yard march highlighted by the Liufau-to-Richardson play to cut it to 10-7.

Price, a senior, was a thorn in CU's side for three years, personally amassing close to 1,000 yards of total offense in leading UW to three wins by a combined score of 149-34. The Huskies had nine possessions in the game, and drove into CU territory on all nine, running 55 of their 80 plays on the Buffs side of the field.

GAME NOTES

Washington now leads the all-time series 8-5-1, having won the last five meetings (the first three with both as members of the Pac-12) ... The five straight wins ties the second longest current winning streak over CU; USC has won seven straight and Missouri and Texas also own wins the last five times out against the Buffs ... Colorado dropped to 79-34 against teams with three or more losses dating back to the 1985 season ... Since 1989, CU is now 56-38-1 in its last 95 November games (50-26 against all-comers aside from Nebraska, going 6-12-1 against the Huskers, and 51-15 against unranked teams) ... ILB Clay Norgard saw his first career action, playing on special teams (kickoff return unit) ... Of the 70 players on the trip, 59 played in the game (with six redshirting) ... Washington converted all three CU turnovers into touchdowns (21 points); two via return (interception, fumble), the first defensive returns for scores against CSU this year ... the fumble (by TB Tony Jones) came after 253 carries without a fumble by CU running backs in 2013 ... The 53-yard TD reception by WR Paul Richardson was his ninth of the season, and he became just the fourth Buff to have that many in a year; the nine have covered 465 yards, or 51.7 per; his 20 career have spanned 836 yards (41.8) ... It was also his 13th career play of 50 yards or longer, the seventh in 2013; both are modern day Colorado records (the only players possibly with more would have been Kayo Lam in 1935 and Byron White in 1937, but those records do not exist) ... Richardson also surpassed the 1,000-yard mark for receiving yards for the season, just the seventh CU player to accomplish that feat ... ILB Addison Gillam recorded seven tackles to give him 88 for the season, a CU record for the most tackles by a freshman for a single season in school history ... ILB Ryan Severson tied for the second most kickoff returns in a game at Colorado (8), with the 171 yards the fifth-most ever.

COLORADO 41 CALIFORNIA 24

NOVEMBER 16, 2013

FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — On a cold and windswept afternoon at Folsom Field, the Colorado Buffaloes presented coach Mike MacIntyre with his first Pac-12 Conference win in a 41-24 victory over California, ending a 14-game league losing streak that also marked CU's 300th win at Folsom Field, its home since 1924.

The Buffs' 485 yards in total offense against the Bears marked their most productive game since getting 509 in the season-opening win against Colorado State. The bulk of CU's total was produced by freshman quarterback Sefo Liufau, who completed 23 of 36 passes for 364 yards and three touchdowns, with one interception.

The fleet Paul Richardson did his part, as did Nelson Spruce. Over half of Liufau's completions went to "P-Rich" (11 catches, 140 yards) and Spruce (eight for a career-high 140). Richardson's 11 catches tied the school single-game record.

Liufau's three TD tosses were to tailbacks Michael Adkins II (63 yards) and Tony Jones and tight end Kyle Slavin. Tailback Christian Powell ran for a 2-yard score and Spruce returned an on-side kickoff 46 yards for CU's final TD.

The Buffs (4-6, 1-6 Pac-12) closed out the half by scoring twice in just under 2 minutes to take a 24-10 lead. That pair of swift scores came on a 10-yard pass from Liufau to Jones and the TD run by Powell, who finished with 60 yards on 18 carries. Adkins ran nine times for 39 yards and Jones' eight attempts netted 22 yards.

CU never trailed, going up 3-0 on a Will Oliver 27-yard first-quarter field goal, and increased the margin to 10-0 on a 10-yard Liufau pass to Slavin, his second career TD.

Cal pulled to 10-3 on a 42-yard Vincenzo D'Amato field goal with 8:25 left before halftime. Less than 2 minutes later, the Bears tied the score at 10 on a 55-yard sprint by Khalfani Muhammad. The Buffs answered with their two quick scores and had their first halftime lead in Pac-12 play of the season.

CU dodged a bullet early in third quarter when Liufau was intercepted after his arm was hit in mid-release; the fluttering pass was picked off by Cal linebacker Jalen Jefferson at the CU 38-yard line. But the Buffs allowed the Bears only three yards and stopped them on fourth down to escape any damage.

After Cal coach Sonny Dykes pulled Goff on the Bears' fourth series of the third quarter, replacing him with redshirt freshman Zach Kline, the Buffs held the Bears to a three-and-out.

Liufau promptly drove CU to the Cal 7-yard line, where the drive stalled and Oliver kicked his second field goal of the game – a 24-yarder that pushed the Buffs up 27-10.

In the first 3 minutes of the final quarter, CU clinched the 'W' on the 63-yard catch-and-run from Liufau to Adkins. He scrambled out of at least four tackles, sprinting and weaving in front of the Buffs bench on his way to the end zone, making the score 34-10.

Two series later, Jared Goff drove the Bears 52 yards in 10 plays, with running back Brendan Bigelow scoring on a 1-yard run, pulling pulled Cal to within 34-17. But the Bears' onside kick attempt backfired when Spruce fielded the ball cleanly and returned it untouched for 46 yards and a touchdown.

Cal (1-10, 0-8) scored its final TD on a 26-yard Bigelow run with 1:23 left; this time, the Bears executed the onside kick, but Goff was intercepted in the end zone by corner Kenneth Crawley to prevent a final cosmetic score.

GAME NOTES

This was the second time in seven series games that the two schools played with first-year head coaches (Mike MacIntyre, Sonny Dykes); back in 1982, they opened the season against each other with Bill McCartney (CU) and Joe Kapp (Cal) coaching their first-ever games ... Spruce's return of the onside kickoff for a touchdown was the first in CU history ... The Buffs improved to 300-159-10 in its 90th season playing home games at Folsom Field ... Colorado cut the Cal lead in the series to 4-3; the Buffs lead in Boulder, 3-2 ... The 41 points were the most by the Buffs in the series ... The 21 second quarter points matched CU's high for a quarter this year (also in the fourth vs. Central Arkansas), and the 24 points were a first half high, as was its 324 total yards ... The Buffs scored their first touchdown of the year in the last two minutes of the first half (came in outscored 56-3) ... Richardson broke the school record for single-season receiving yards, ending the game with 1,201; that eclipsed the 21-year old mark of 1,149 set by Charles E. Johnson in 1992. He also tied the single-game reception mark and the season best for 100-yard games (six) ... Spruces enjoyed his second 100-yard day, thus it was the 15th time two players had 100-plus games ... QB Sefo Liufau had his first multi-TD game; the 364 yards tied for the 16th most in a game in CU history, the second-most by a freshman (Koy Detmer had 418 against Oklahoma in 1992; he was also a true frosh) ... P Darragh O'Neill had one punt inside-the-20, the 65th of his career, tying John Torp's CU record set from 2002-05.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA 47 GAME 11 COLORADO 29

FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Southern California turned Colorado's Senior Night at frigid Folsom Field sour, beating the Buffs 47-29 for its eighth consecutive win in the series and snuffing CU's hopes of reaching the postseason.

The loss dropped the Buffs to 4-7 overall (1-7 Pac-12), while USC (9-3, 6-2) kept rolling under interim coach Ed Orgeron (6-1 since he took over) and took advantage of a pair of late first half turnovers and turned a 9-0 lead into 23-0 in the final six minutes of the half.

But in mid-20-degree temperatures, the Buffs converted a Trojans fumble into a score before the second half was a minute old, but never could generate enough offense to catch USC. USC outgained CU 449-312 in total offense, with just over half of the Buffs' output coming in the fourth quarter. Through three quarters, CU had 150 yards of total offense against a USC defense that ranked second in the Pac-12.

Although they able to generate only 36 yards in total offense in the first quarter, CU had stayed close, trailing only 9-0. USC drove 71 yards in 10 plays on its first possession and went ahead 7-0 on Allen's 12-yard run and Andre Heidari's extra point kick. With 1:04 left in the quarter, USC's added a safety when Soma Vainuku blocked Darragh O'Neill's punt out of the end zone.

Pulled down from the backside by defensive end Leonard Williams, Liufau lost the ball and USC end George Uko gathered it in at the CU 20-yard line. Five plays later, Allen scored his second TD, this one on a 1-yard run. The Trojans went up 16-0.

On CU's next series, USC free safety Dion Bailey pulled in a Liufau pass that appeared headed for the Buffs bench. Cody Kessler took the Trojans the distance in eight plays, hitting receiver Nelson Agholor with a 20-yard scoring pass, making it 23-0 at the half.

CU needed a break — and got it — to start the second half. On USC's first possession, Allen was stripped of the ball by CU safety Jered Bell, who scooped and scored with a 31-yard run, making it 23-7.

USC went 75 yards on the ensuing possession, getting a 46-yard run from Allen and scoring on a 10-yard pass from Kessler to tight end Randall Telfer. The Buffs were again looking at a 23-point deficit (30-7) with 11:29 left in the third quarter.

Less than 5 minutes later, Allen took revenge on Bell, juking him with an outside fake and cutting inside on the way to a 23-yard TD. USC went up 37-7 and Allen went over 100 yards rushing (123) with his third TD of the night.

Less than a minute into the fourth quarter, Liufau and Spruce teamed for their 38-yard score, with Spruce taking the ball off the back of a USC defender at the 1-yard line and stepping into the end zone to make it 37-14 but then Heidari's 39-yard field goal extended the Trojans' margin to 40-14 with 10:14 to play.

A 30-yard Liufau completion to Richardson set up a 3-yard TD run by Adkins that got the Buffs to within 40-21. That was followed by a Liufau-to-Richardson 5-yard scoring pass and Liufau's two-point conversion pass to D.D. Goodson that drew the Buffs to within 40-29.

CU attempted an on-sides kick, but USC recovered with 3:16 left and when Vainuku scored on a 52-yard run a minute later and Heidari booted the extra point, the night's scoring and CU's home season were done.

GAME NOTES

USC now leads the series, 8-0 (CU's longest active losing streak to any school)... The temperature at kickoff was 29 degrees, the 14th coldest for a game at Folsom Field; CU dropped to 11-2-1 all-time at home in sub-30 degree weather at game time (it was the second coldest game in USC history) ... CU finished the year with an attendance total of 229,778 for the season; an average of 38,296 for six games ; though CU's lowest figure since 1985 (36,789), it still ranks second for the 19th straight year for per game average in the state for all sport teams in 2013, trailing the Denver Broncos (76,987) but ahead of the Colorado Rockies (34,491) ... On USC's first scoring drive, CU held the Trojans to 3 yards on first down (four rushing plays); however, USC gained 28 yards on second down and 40 on third ... Colorado did not run a play in USC territory until its 28th of the game, with 2:40 left in the first half; it was the only play in plus territory for the half (and was an interception) ... FS Jered Bell's 31-yard fumble return for a touchdown was the fifth return TD for the Buffs this year, the most since six in 2004 ... SS Parker Orms was presented with the 16th annual Buffalo Heart Award, given by the "fans behind the bench" to the players with those qualities they feel best exemplifies the heart of a Buff ... WR Paul Richardson (8-88, 1 TD) now has 79 catches for 1,289 yards, 16.3 per, with 10 touchdowns; he now holds CU's mark for single-season receptions with 79, breaking the old mark of 78 by D.J. Hackett set back in 2003. He set the yards mark last week and added to it and pulled to within one of the TD mark (11 by Derek McCoy, 2003).

GAME NOTES

Colorado wore all white uniforms for the first time since the 2010 finale at Nebraska and for the first time with black helmets ... Utah's starting right offensive tackle, Siaoi Aiono, is the son of former CU guard, Junior Ili (1981-85) ... WR Nelson Spruce's 32-yard completion to QB Sefo Liufau was the first completion to a quarterback since Oct. 20, 2012, when Jordan Webb caught a 15-yard pass from Spruce at USC (Spruce is thus 2-of-2 for 47 yards in his career as a passer) ... Colorado recovered an onside kick to open the second half; the Buffs had been 0-of-their-last 8 in onside kick tries; the last recovery of one was on Sept. 11, 2009 (Jeff Smart at Toledo) ... CU outscored Utah 14-3 in the second half and outgained the Utes, 209-158 ... Colorado had three fumbles, for a total of 14 for the season; that still was a school low for an 11-plus game season, as the old best was just 18 fumbles in the 1993 and 2004 seasons ... TE Scott Fernandez (4-61, 1 TD) caught his second career touchdown, covering 34 yards from QB Sefo Liufau; his two career scores covered 105 yards, or 52.5 yards per (he had a 71-yard grab at Arizona in 2012). He also caught a career-high four passes ... ILB Addison Gillam (15 tackles) finished the season as the first freshman and just the sixth underclassman to lead CU in tackles with 119 ... TB Michael Adkins had 38 yards rushing to finish the season with 535, the sixth-most yards by a freshman in school history (fifth by a true frosh) ... P Darragh O'Neill had three punts inside-the-20 to break a tie with Jon Torp for the most in a career, ending his junior year with 68.

SALT LAKE CITY — Turnovers and red zone failures helped bring Colorado's season to a frustrating end as Utah capitalized just enough to ease past the Buffaloes, 24-17, sending the Buffaloes back across the Rockies disappointed but not disillusioned after one season under Mike MacIntyre.

"Our kids fought extremely hard," said MacIntyre, whose first CU team finished 4-8 overall and 1-8 in the Pac-12 Conference. "I believe in our last two Pac-12 games we've outplayed the opponent decidedly in the second half and just came up short. I've got to do a better job of getting it started in the first half. We had a couple of plays here and there we could have made and didn't."

The Utes (5-7, 2-7 Pac-12) snapped a five-game losing streak and finished a game ahead of CU in the league's South Division, largely due to taking advantage of two early first half fumbles by CU freshman quarterback Sefo Liufau. Those enabled Utah to build a 21-0 halftime lead, and the Utes would eventually end the game by intercepting Liufau and snuffing a final Buffs threat after they had closed to 24-17 with 2:30 to play.

In addition to limiting Utah to just a field goal in the second half, CU's defense allowed only 158 of their 388 total yards in the final two quarters (and just 46 in the fourth). But as it couldn't the previous week against USC, CU couldn't overcome a calamitous first half.

Utah constructed its three-TD lead on scoring drives that covered just 120 yards (34, 6, 8), yet the Buffs had a golden opportunity to cut into that lead midway through the second quarter. After freshman Addison Gillam made an interception deep in Utah territory, CU would squander a first-and-goal at the Ute 5-yard line; Utah made another great defensive stand early in the fourth quarter in the first half, forcing CU to settle for a field goal after earning a first down at the Utah 3. The Utes had driven to the CU 5, where safety Marques Mosley — playing after senior Parker Orms suffered a first-half shoulder sprain — jarred the ball loose from Jake Murphy at the goal line. Cornerback Jeff Hall retrieved it and nearly reached midfield with his return, with an extra 15 yards added on for a personal foul call on the Utes.

Will Oliver's 19-yard field goal cut the lead to 21-10, CU's second score of the game after Liufau hit a streaking Scott Fernandez for a 34-yard touchdown to cap a 78-yard, seven-play drive on the Buffs' second possession of the half. But Utah came right back and pumped the lead back up to 24-10 on a 46-yard Andy Phillips field goal with 8:39 to go.

After CU punter Darragh O'Neill pinned Utah at its own 1-yard line, the CU defense held and the Buffs took over after a Ute punt at their own 48. Liufau engineered an eight play, 52-yard drive capped by a fourth-and-10 pass at the Utah 14 to Nelson Spruce for a touchdown; Oliver's PAT kick, his 60th in a row, pulled CU to 24-17, but his onside kick attempt went out of bounds and Utah took over at the Buffs 44 with 2:29 left.

CU's defense did its part, stopping the Utes, using timeouts judiciously and forcing another Utah punt. CU took over at its 10 with 2:01 to play, and had a chance, until Liufau was intercepted by linebacker Trevor Reilly at the 36 on the drive's first play. The Utes then ran out the clock and both school's seasons came to a close.

COLORADO'S CONFERENCE HISTORY

The Pac-12 Conference is technically the seventh conference in which the University of Colorado has been a member.

There were no organized leagues in the Rocky Mountain region when CU started playing football in 1890. In 1893, Colorado was a charter member of the Colorado Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA; also known as the Colorado Football Association), joined by Denver, Colorado College, Colorado Mines and Colorado A & M. CU remained a member through 1908 (except 1905, when it withdrew from the state conference prior to the season).

In 1909, a new alignment called the Colorado Faculty Athletic Conference came into existence, with CU, CC, A & M and Mines the charter members. One year later in 1910, the name was changed to the Rocky Mountain Faculty Athletic Conference, as the league expanded geographically to include Utah and Denver, and later, Utah State (1914), Montana State (1917), Brigham Young (1918), Wyoming (1921), and Colorado Teachers College (now Northern Colorado) and Western State (1924). This new league, built on a foundation of faculty control, lasted through the 1936-37 school year.

On Dec. 4, 1937, after a serious gap that had developed between the elite of the RMAC and the smaller schools, seven schools split to form the Mountain States Conference. This new league consisted of CU, DU, A & M, Wyoming, Utah, Utah State and BYU. The remaining five schools continued on as the RMAC, which today remains one of the oldest conferences in the nation.

A decade later, CU athletics would change forever, as the Buffaloes were accepted into the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association (also known as the Big Six) on Dec. 1, 1947. Colorado started competition in this league in the 1948-49 school year, thus changing the group's name to the Big Seven. Other schools in the league were Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma. When Oklahoma State rejoined the group after a three decade absence in 1958, the conference became known as the Big Eight.

On Feb. 25, 1994, the Big Eight announced expansion plans to include Baylor, Texas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech from the Southwest Conference, a league plagued with NCAA violations and probations over the previous decade; the merger of the four gave those schools a new start in the new Big 12. Later that year, Colorado was invited to join the Pacific-10 Conference, but because the Buffaloes had played a major role in helping form the Big 12, CU's Board of Regents voted 6-3 to remain in the Big 12, which assumed operations on July 1, 1996.

Then on June 11, 2010, Colorado was the first of several "dominoes" to fall nationally in conference realignment. The Buffaloes accepted an invitation to join the Pac-10, along with Utah to form the Pac-12 Conference on July 1, 2011. CU and Utah, old rivals from the first half of the 20th Century, joined Arizona, Arizona State, California, Oregon, Oregon State, USC, Stanford, UCLA, Washington and Washington State in what is known as the "conference of champions," the 12 schools owning 451 NCAA championships, over 200 more than any other conference.

Since 1950, CU has averaged 5.3 yards on the first play from scrimmage. Of the 64 plays for 340 yards, CU has passed 13 times (completing nine). CU has not scored on the first play from scrimmage in this time frame, and has just one turnover (lost fumble) on the first play of the year (in 1990; *—at Anaheim; #—in Denver).

NOTE—CU did score the first time it touched the ball in the 1975 season opener. Mike McCoy returned a California punt 61 yards for a touchdown two minutes into the game.

DID YOU KNOW?...The last time Colorado scored on its first offensive play of any game was at Texas A&M on Sept. 28, 1996. Rae Carruth scored from 28 yards out on a reverse after CU recovered a fumble on the opening kickoff.

Willie Beebe is the only player to be involved in CU's first play of the year three straight seasons.

CU's all-time record at Folsom Field, through 2013, is 300-159-10 for a .650 winning percentage.

THE TOP CROWD EVER AT FOLSOM?... It was for a rock concert, not a football game. On May 1, 1977, for one of the popular Colorado "Sun Day" concert series, 61,500 turned out to see Fleetwood Mac, Bob Seger, Firefall and John Sebastian. Folsom has played host to many top national recording acts, including The Rolling Stones, The Who, Paul McCartney, The Eagles, Van Halen, REO Speedwagon, The Beach Boys, The Grateful Dead, The Doobie Brothers, Journey, Jethro Tull, John Mellencamp and the Dave Matthews Band.

#—Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.

Head Coach: Dal Ward. Assistant Coaches: Ray Jenkins (ends), Frank Prentup (backfield), Will Walls (tackles), Marshall Wells (guards/centers), Hugh Davidson (freshmen), Bob Beattie (freshmen assistant).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Single-wing/Wing-T), Defense (5-3)—LE Jerry Leahy/Frank Clarke, LT Dick Stapp/Bob Salerno, LG John Wooten, C Jim Uhlir, RG Dave Jones/Bill Mondt, RT Ken Schlagel, RE Wally Merz, QB Boyd Dowler, LH Bob Stransky/Howard Cook, RH Eddie Dove/Gene Worden, FB John Bayuk/Leroy Clark. Specialists—PK Ellwyn Indorf/Stransky, P Dowler.

Note: No. 1 Oklahoma rallied with 21 unanswered second half points to beat CU, 27-19, but CU's second place league finish sends the Buffaloes to the Orange Bowl, where a 27-21 win over Clemson is the first bowl victory in school history.

#—Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Switching T: Slot-I Triple Option)—WR Bob Masten, TT Jim Phillips, TG Dick Melin, C Don Popplewell, SG Dennis Havig, ST Eddie Fusiek, TE Mike Pruett, SE Monte Huber, QB Jim Bratten/Paul Arendt, TB Bobby Anderson, FB Ward Walsh. Defense (4-3)—LE Herb Orvis, LT Dave Perini/Bill Collins, RT Dave Capra, RE Bill Brundige, OLB Bill Blanchard, ILB Phil Irwin, OLB Rick Ogle, LC Jim Cooch, LS Pat Murphy, RS Pete Jacobsen, RC Eric Harris. Specialists—PK Dave Haney, P Dick Robert.

Note: Bobby Anderson started the first two games at quarterback, but in perhaps the most successful in-season position switch in CU history, he goes on to earn All-America honors at tailback. He closes with a 254-yard, three touchdown effort against Alabama and legendary coach Bear Bryant in the Liberty Bowl.

Head Coach: Eddie Crowder. Assistant Coaches: Jerry Claiborne (AHC/DC), Kay Dalton (QB), Rick Duval (WR), Larry Kennan (TE), C.B. McGowan (RB), Jim Mora (DL), Steve Ortmayer (OL), Steve Sidwell (LB), Augie Tammariello (OL), Dan Stavely (freshmen).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Switching T: Slot-I Triple Option)—TE Bob Masten/J.V. Cain, TT Greg Horton, TG Bill Kralicek, C William McDonald, SG Chuck Mandril, ST Jake Zumbach, SE Cliff Branch/Willie Nichols, QB Ken Johnson/Joe Duenas, TB Charlie Davis, FB John Tarver/Bo Matthews, SB Larry Brunson. Defense (Wide-tackle 6)—LE Rick Kay, LT Herb Orvis/Mark Cooney, LB Randy Geist, LG Carl Taibi, LB Billie Drake/Lenny Ciufo, RT Chris Havens, LB Bud Magrum/Dave Orvis, RE John Stavely, LH Cullen Bryant, RH Brian Foster/Loren Richardson, S John Stearns. Specialists—PK J.B. Dean, P Stearns.

Notes: Artificial surfacing makes its debut in Boulder, as an AstroTurf carpet blanketed Folsom Field. CU's stunning road upsets of Louisiana State and Ohio State pave the way for a 10-2 season, as the Big Eight owned the top three spots in the final Associated Press poll after the bowls. With Nebraska (#1), Oklahoma (#2) and Colorado (#3), it was the first and to date only time in history one conference has occupied all top three positions at the end of the year.

#—Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Slot-I Triple Option)—TE J.V.Cain, LT Greg Horton, LG Chuck Mandril, C William McDonald, RG Gregg Parr, RT Jake Zumbach, SE Steve Haggerty/Rick Ellwood, QB Ken Johnson/Joe Duenas, TB Charlie Davis/Gary Campbell, FB Bo Matthews, WB Jon Keyworth. Defense (4-4)—LE Rick Kay, LT Stu Aldrich, RT Mark Cooney, RE Lennie Ciufo, LB Jeff Geiser, LB Billie Drake, LB Bud Magrum, LB Randy Geist, LC Cullen Bryant, S John Stearns, RC Lorne Richardson. Specialists—PK Fred Lima, P John Stearns/Mike Wedman.

Notes: Freshmen were deemed eligible to play once again (for the first time since the early 1950s). Colorado opened the year with the highest preseason ranking in its history, and the win over No. 2 Oklahoma was the first time CU defeated a team ranked in the nation's top three.

Note: CU almost knocked off No. 1 Oklahoma, but did knock the Sooners from No. 1 to No. 2 in the polls. CU pulled to within the eventual final score of 21-20 with 1:19 left, but elected to go for the tie against OU, which was riding a 32-game unbeaten streak at the time, but the extra point kick sailed off to the left. Mallory went for the tie on the belief that a tie could give CU the conference championship later in the year.

Usual Lineup: Offense (I-Formation)—TE Bob Niziolek, TT Matt Miller, RG Dave Griffin, C Leon White, LG Bruce Kirchner, ST Stan Brock, SE Steve Gauntly, QB Jeff Knapple, FB James Mayberry/Mike Holmes, TB Howard Ballage/Mike Kozlowski, WB Robert LaGarde. Defense (5-2)—OSE Stuart Walker, LT Ruben Vaughan, OSLB Brian Cabral, MG Laval Short, CSLB Tom Perry, RT Mike Hagan/Dan Kennelly, CSE Randy Westendorf, OCB Odis McKinney, CCB Jesse Johnson, AP Mark Haynes, S Tom Tesone. Specialists—PK Pete Dadiotis, P Knapple/Lance Olander.

Note: CU climbs as high as No. 3, its highest ranking in five years, but a 17-17 tie at Kansas starts a 2-3-1 second half of the year to knock the Buffs out of bowl contention.

Usual Lineup: Offense (I-bone)—WR Mike Pritchard/Rico Smith, LT Ariel Solomon, LG Joe Garten, C Jay Leeuwenburg, RG Russ Heasley/Bryan Campbell, RT Mark VanderPoel, TE Jon Boman/Sean Brown, QB Darian Hagan/Charles Johnson, FB George Hemingway, WB Michael Simmons, TE Eric Bieniemy. Defense (3-4)—OLB Alfred Williams, LT Leonard Renfro/Marcellous Elder, NT Joel Steed, RT Garry Howe, OLB Kanavis McGhee, ILB Greg Biekert, ILB Chad Brown/Terry Johnson, LC Dave McCoughan, SS Tim James, FS Greg Thomas, RC Deon Figures. Specialists—PK Jim Harper, P Tom Rouen.
Notes: Colorado clinches its first national championship in football with the Orange Bowl win over Notre Dame. Alfred Williams wins the Butkus Award, becoming the first player in CU history to win one of college football's major postseason trophies. And unbeknownst to all involved at the time, CU gets a fifth down at Missouri to score the winning touchdown as time expired. In actuality, Colorado had two second downs when the marker and scoreboard did not change (and when factoring in reality, CU spiked the ball to stop the clock on what it thought was third down, and never would have called that play on fourth down).

Head Coach: Rick Neuheisel (QB). Assistant Coaches: A.J. Christoff (DC/DB), Karl Dorrell (OC/WR), Brian Cabral (LB), Jon Embree (DE), Bob Hauck (ST), Chuck Heater (TE), Tim Hundley (DT), Terry Lewis (OL), Kennedy Pola (RB).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Phil Savoy, WR Darrin Chiaverini, LT Andrew Welsh, LG Aaron Wade, C Adam Reed, RG Melvin Thomas, RT Ryan Johanningmeier, TE Tennyson McCarty, WR Marcus Stiggers, QB John Hessler, TB Herchell Troutman. Defense (4-3)—DE Terrell Cade, NT Ryan Olson, DT Viliami Maumau, DE Nick Ziegler, WLB Hannibal Navies, MLB Mike Phillips/Ty Gregorak, SLB Ron Mersherson/Brandon Southward, LC Damen Wheeler, SS Ryan Black, FS Ryan Sutter, RC Marcus Washington/Ben Kelly. Specialists—PK Jeremy Aldrich, P Nick Pietsch.

Notes: For the second time in the 1990s, Colorado played the nation's toughest schedule as determined by the NCAA. Due to the use of an ineligible player, all five wins were officially forfeited, although the NCAA recognizes all results on the field for its records (as does the University of Colorado).

†—Mile High Stadium, Denver.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR John Minardi, WR Javon Green, ST Tom Ashworth, SG Justin Bates, C/TG Andre Gurode, C Ryan Gray, TG Karl Allis, TT Victor Rogers, TE Daniel Graham, QB Craig Ochs, TB Cortlen Johnson, FB Scott Nemeth. Defense (4-3 Base/Multiple)—OLB Anawawn Jones, DT Justin Bannan, DT Sean Jarne, DE Brady McDonnell, ILB Andy Peeke, ILB Jashon Sykes, OLB Kory Mossoni, CB Donald Strickland, SS Michael Lewis, FS Robbie Robinson, RCB Phil Jackson. Specialists—PK Mark Mariscal, P Jeremy Flores.

Notes: Playing the fourth toughest schedule in the nation, 10 true freshmen and only six seniors, the Buffaloes finish with their worst record since 1984; however, six of the losses are by eight points or less. By going 0-5 against ranked opponents, CU sees its streak of 12 consecutive years with at least one win over a ranked team come to an end.

★—Jim Thorpe Association Football Classic; †—INVESTCO Field at Mile High, Denver; ◆—Big 12 Championship game at Irving, Texas; #—Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.
Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR John Minardi/Cedric Cormier, WR Derek McCoy, ST Justin Bates, SG Justin Bates, SG Marwan Hage, C Wayne Lucier, TG Andre Gurode, TT Victor Rogers, TE Daniel Graham, QB Craig Ochs/Bobby Pesavento, TB Chris Brown/Bobby Purify/Cortlen Johnson, FB Brandon Drumm. Defense (4-3 Base/Multiple)—DE Tyler Brayton, DT Justin Bannan, DT Brandon Dabdou/DeAndre Fluellen, DE Marques Harris, ILB Sean Tufts, ILB Jashon Sykes/Joey Johnson, OLB Drew Wahlroos, LCB Donald Strickland, SS Michael Lewis, FS Robbie Robinson, RCB Roderick Sneed/Phil Jackson. Specialists—P Mark Mariscal, PK Jeremy Flores, KR Roman Hollowell.
Notes: A Sept. 15 game at Washington State scheduled was cancelled due to the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks on the east coast. CU plays in its first Big 12 Championship game and wins the title with a 39-37 win over Texas in basically a road game at Irving; a 62-36 win over Nebraska the previous week gave the Buffs their first North Division title. Daniel Graham wins the John Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end, and is named the school's sixth unanimous All-American.

†—INVESCO Field at Mile High, Denver.

Head Coach: Gary Barnett. Assistant Coaches: Brian Cabral (AHC/ILB), Shawn Watson (OC/QB), Vince Okruch (DC/S), Dave Borbely (OL), Ted Gilmore (WR), Vance Joseph (CB), Shawn Simms (RB), Chris Wilson (DL), John Wristen (TE).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Derek McCoy, WR D.J. Hackett, ST Sam Wilder, SG Brian Daniels, C Marwan Hage, TG Derek Stemrich, TT Karl Allis, TE Joe Klopfenstein, QB Joel Klatt, TB Brian Calhoun, FB Lawrence Vickers. Defense (Multiple/4-2-5 Base)—DE Gabe Nyenhuis, DT Matt McChesney/DeAndre Fluellen, DT Brandon Dabdoub, DE James Garee, MLB Sean Tufts, WLB Akarika Dawn/Walter Boye-Doe/Chris Hollis/Thaddeus Washington, SS Brian Iwuh/Clyde Surrell, FS Medford Mooror, WS J.J. Billingsley, LCB Sammy Joseph, RCB Phil Jackson.

Specialists—P John Torp, PK Mason Crosby, PK Kevin Eberhart, KR Jeremy Bloom.

Notes: A young team, tough schedule and early-season injuries to three key seniors (DE Marques Harris, TB Bobby Purify and TE Quinn Sypniewski) were all major factors in CU's missing a bowl berth for only the fourth time since the 1984 season. Freshmen and sophomores accounted for 110 starts, while for only the eighth time in history sophomores led the Buffs in both rushing (Brian Calhoun) and in passing (Joel Klatt). Senior receiver D.J. Hackett set a school record for receptions (78), and teamed with fellow senior wideout Derek McCoy and Klatt to establish over two dozen records in the passing game.

◆—Big 12 Championship game at Kansas City, Mo.; #—Houston Bowl at Houston, Texas..

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Derek McCoy, WR Evan Judge/Blake Mackey, ST Sam Wilder, SG Terrence Barreau, C Mark Fenton, TG Brian Daniels, TT Clint O'Neal, TE Joe Klopfenstein, QB Joel Klatt, TB Bobby Purify, FB Lawrence Vickers/TE Jesse Wallace. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—DE Alex Ligon/Abraham Wright, DT Matt McChesney, NT Vaka Manupuna/Brandon Dabdoub, DE James Garee, ILB Akarika Dawn/Thaddeus Washington, ILB Jordan Dizon, OLB Brian Iwuh, LCB Lorenzo Sims, FS-SS Tyrone Henderson/Dominique Brooks, SS Tom Hubbard, RCB Gerett Burl/Terrence Wheatley. Specialists—P John Torp, PK Mason Crosby, KR Stephone Robinson/Terrence Wheatley.

Notes: Entering November with a 1-4 record in league play, most had written off the Buffaloes' chances for the Big 12 North title... except nobody told CU. Six specific things needed to happen for CU to reach the title game, first and foremost a Colorado sweep of its turkey-month games. CU did just that and the other things all fell into place and the Buffs won their third division title in four years. TB Bobby Purify enjoyed a 1,000-yard season and finished his career third on CU's all-time rushing charts. CU rallied for a 33-28 win in the Houston Bowl to snap a 2-game bowl losing streak

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Dusty Sprague, WR Evan Judge, ST Clint O'Neal, SG Edwin Harrison/Daniel Sanders/Jack Tipton, C Mark Fenton, TG Brian Daniels, TT Gary Moore, TE Joe Klopfenstein, QB Joel Klatt, TB Hugh Charles, FB Lawrence Vickers/TE Quinn Sypniewski. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—DE Abraham Wright, DT James Garee, NT Vaka Manupuna, DE Alex Ligon/Maurice Lucas, ILB Thaddeus Washington, ILB Jordon Dizon, OLB Brian Iwuh, LCB Lorenzo Sims, SS J.J. Billingsley, FS Tyrone Henderson, RCB Gerett Burl. Specialists—P John Torp, PK Mason Crosby, KR Stephone Robinson/Terry Washington.

Notes: Colorado reappeared in the national rankings after a 25-month drought and was as high as No. 22 after a 7-2 start, but dropped out again after losing their final four games of the year. CU still won the Big 12 North Division and appear in the league championship game for the fourth time in five years (a feat matched by no other team in either division); but Gary Barnett was relieved of his duties as head coach after losing to Texas in the Big 12 title game, replaced for the bowl by Mike Hankwitz. PK Mason Crosby was the runner-up for the Lou Groza Award, becoming CU's first-ever first-team All-American placekicker, and P John Torp second in the balloting for the Ray Guy Award.

†—INVECO Field at Mile High, Denver.

Head Coach: Dan Hawkins. Assistant Coaches: Chris Strausser (AHC/OL), Ron Collins (DC), Mark Helfrich (OC/QB), Eric Kiesau (PGC/WR), Romeo Bandison (DL), Greg Brown (DB), Brian Cabral (LB), Darian Hagan (RB), Kent Riddle (TE/ST).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Patrick Williams, WR Alvin Barnett, LT Tyler Polumbus, LG Brian Daniels, C Mark Fenton/Bryce MacMartin, RG Daniel Sanders, RT Edwin Harrison, TE Riar Geer/Tyson DeVree, QB Bernard Jackson, TB Hugh Charles/Mell Holliday, FB Samson Jagoras/Maurice Cantrell. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—LE Abraham Wright, DT George Hypolite, NT Brandon Nicolas, RE Walter Boye-Doe, ILB Thaddeus Washington, ILB Jordan Dizon, OLB Brad Jones, LC Lorenzo Sims/Terry Washington, SS J.J. Billingsley/Lionel Harris, FS Ryan Walters, RC Terrence Wheatley. Specialists—P Matt DiLallo, PK Mason Crosby, KR Stephone Robinson/Terry Washington.

Notes: Colorado suffered just its second 10-loss season in history, though it was nothing like the first time in 1980. There were a long list of positives, including a plus-8 in turnover margin, CU's best since 1993, as were the 16 turnovers committed; the Buffs had a school record four games without a turnover over the course of the season. CU allowed its fewest points (22.3) per game since 1998, and allowed only six plays of 40 yards or longer, tied for the fewest over the last 20 seasons. For just the 10th time in school history, three players rushed for 500 or more yards. PK Mason Crosby repeated as a first-team All-American, and was joined by DE Abraham Wright and CB Terrence Wheatley as first-team All-Big 12 performers.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Scotty McKnight, WR Dusty Sprague, WR Patrick Williams/Josh Smith, LT Tyler Polumbus, LG Wes Palazzi/Kai Maiava, C Daniel Sanders, RG Devin Heagy/Edwin Harrison, RT Edwin Harrison/Ryan Miller, TE Riar Geer/Tyson DeVree, QB Cody Hawkins, TB Hugh Charles/Demetrius Sumler. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—LE Maurice Lucas, DT George Hypolite, NT Brandon Nicolas, RE Alonzo Barrett, ILB Jordon Dizon, ILB Jeff Smart, OLB Brad Jones, LC Terrence Wheatley, SS D.J. Dykes, FS Ryan Walters, RC Benjamin Burney, N Cha'pelle Brown. Specialists—P Matt DiLallo, PK Kevin Eberhart, KR Chase McBride/Terrence Wheatley/Hugh Charles.

Notes: Kevin Eberhart's 45-yard field goal as time expired gave CU a 27-24 win over No. 3 Oklahoma, snapping a 14-game losing streak to ranked teams; coupled with the 65-51 win over Nebraska, it marked just the fifth time Colorado defeated both OU and NU in the same season. CU's three-and-a-half game improvement over 2006 under Dan Hawkins (2-10 to 6-7) tied for the ninth best in the nation and matched the best in school history from the first to second year under a new head coach (Bill Mallory, 5-6 to 9-3, 1974-75). ILB Jordon Dizon earned consensus first-team All-America honors, was the Big 12 Defensive Player-of-the-Year and finished as the runner-up for the Butkus Award; he was joined by George Hypolite and Terrence Wheatley as first-team All-Big 12 selections.

Notes: What started out as a promising season with a 3-0 beginning, capped by a 17-14 overtime win over No. 21 West Virginia, turned into a near-nightmare with a 2-7 finish after the team was besieged by injuries. CU lost 122 games by players in the two-deep, and being a young team to begin with, could never fully recover. There were some good moments, though, as in a 14-13 win over Kansas State, CU held that 1-point lead for the final 25:49, the longest any Buff team had to hang on to a 1- or 2-point lead in 72 years and the longest any team, pro or college, had to do so in 2008. The Buffs appeared bowl-bound until a Nebraska school-record 57-yard field goal in the final two minutes paved the way for a 40-31 Husker win, eliminating CU from bowl eligibility.

Head Coach: Dan Hawkins (WR). Assistant Coaches: Brian Cabral (AssocHC/LB), Ron Collins (DC), Eric Kiesau (OC/QB), Romeo Bandison (DL), Greg Brown (DB), Bob Foster (OLB), Darian Hagan (RB), Denver Johnson (OL), Kent Riddle (TE/ST).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Scotty McKnight, WR Markques Simas, LT Nate Solder, LG Ethan Adkins/Blake Behrens, C Keenan Stevens, RG Ryan Miller/Matt Bahr, RT Bryce Givens/Ryan Miller, TE Riar Geer, QB Tyler Hansen/Cody Hawkins, TB Rodney Stewart, TE Ryan Deehan/WR Will Jefferson. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—LE Marquez Herrod, DT Curtis Cunningham, NT Will Pericak, ILB Marcus Burton, ILB Jeff Smart, OLB B.J. Beatty, LC Jalil Brown, SS Ben Burney, FS Anthony Perkins, RC Jimmy Smith, N Cha'pelle Brown. Specialists—P Matt DiLallo, PK Aric Goodman, KR Brian Lockridge/Jason Espinoza/Darrell Scott.

Notes: Four losses by eight or fewer points sent the Buffs to a 3-9 record, as CU missed the postseason for the second straight year, which had not happened since a six-year bowl dry spell from 1978-84. The Buffs did defeat No. 17 Kansas in a thriller, 34-30, and battled No. 2 Texas deep into the second half as the Longhorns needed three return touchdowns to pull away (only Alabama in the BCS title game held the lead longer against the 13-1 'Horns than Colorado). CU also had No. 13 Oklahoma State on the ropes most of the game before succumbing, 31-28. The defense shined at times, holding Big 12 division champs Nebraska (217) and Texas (313) to just 530 combined yards, but on the year, surrendered 70 percent of the opponents' total yards on just 18 percent of their plays. WR Scotty McKnight ended the season with a school-record 36 straight games with at least one reception.

†—INVESCO Field at Mile High, Denver.

Head Coaches: Dan Hawkins (3-6); Brian Cabral (Interim, 2-1). Assistant Coaches: Brian Cabral (AssocHC/LB), Ron Collins (DC), Eric Kiesau (OC/QB), Ashley Ambrose (DB), Romeo Bandison (DL), Darian Hagan (RB), Denver Johnson (OL), Robert Prince (WR), Kent Riddle (TE/ST).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)— WR Scotty McKnight, WR Toney Clemons, LT Nate Solder, LG Ethan Adkins, C Mike Itlis, RG Ryan Miller, RT David Bakhtiari, TE Ryan Deehan, QB Tyler Hansen/Cody Hawkins, TB Rodney Stewart, WR Will Jefferson/WR Paul Richardson/TE Luke Walters. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)— LE Josh Hartigan, DT Curtis Cunningham, NT Will Pericak, ILB Michael Sipili, ILB Jon Major/Lilao Nobriga, OLB B.J. Beatty, LC Jalil Brown, SS Anthony Perkins/Terrel Smith, FS Ray Polk, RC Jimmy Smith, N Travis Sandersfeld/Patrick Mahnke. Specialists— P Zach Grossnickle, PK Aric Goodman, KR Travon Patterson/Toney Clemons/Brian Lockridge/Arthur Jaffee.

Notes: Despite a one-sided loss at California, the Buffs got off to a 3-1 start after a thrilling 29-27 win over Georgia at Folsom Field, honoring the 1990 national championship team that was being honored that weekend. But a five-game losing streak, culminated with a 52-45 loss at Kansas after CU held 45-17 lead with 11 minutes to play, led to the early dismissal of coach Dan Hawkins on Nov. 9. Long-time assistant coach Brian Cabral assumed the reins on an interim basis and led the team to a 2-1 record in the final three games, but a loss at Nebraska (combined with bad officiating that helped Kansas' comeback) kept the Buffs from winning the required minimum of six games to qualify for a bowl. It was CU's final season in the Big 12 as on June 11, CU accepted an invitation to join the Pac-12 beginning in 2012. OT Nate Solder was a consensus All-American and finalist for the Outland Trophy; WR Scotty McKnight ended his career as CU's all-time leading receiver (receptions), catching a pass in all 48 career games, while QB Cody Hawkins set most of the school's major passing marks.

Notes: For the first time since 1948, the Buffaloes played in a new league as Colorado officially joined the Pac-12 Conference on July 1, 2011. CU lost 10 games in a season for just the fourth time in its history, playing 13 games in a year for the seventh time; the opener at Hawaii marked CU's first regular season game outside the continental United States since Jan. 1, 1925. TB Rodney Stewart became the first player in school history to lead the team in rushing four times, with PK Will Oliver setting the school record for most points scored by a freshman with 62. WR Paul Richardson shattered CU's single-game receiving yards record with 284 against California, with QB Tyler Hansen matching the school mark with 474 passing yards in the game. In the first meeting between the two schools in 49 years, CU closed the year with a 17-14 upset win at Utah, which prevented its long-lost rival an opportunity to play in the inaugural Pac-12 Championship game.

†—Sports Authority Field at Mile High, Denver.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Paul Richardson, WR Nelson Spruce, LT Jack Harris, LG Kaiwi Crabb, C Gus Handler, RG Daniel Munyer, RT Stephone Nembot, TE Scott Fernandez, QB Sefo Liufau/Connor Wood, TB Christian Powell, TE Kyle Slavin. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—LE Juda Parker, DT Josh Tupou, DT Nate Bonsu/Justin Solis, RE Chidera Uzo-Diribe, MLB Addison Gillam, WLB Derrick Webb, SLB Woodson Greer, LC Kenneth Crawley, SS Parker Orms, FS Jered Bell, RC Greg Henderson, N Chidobe Awuzie. Specialists—P Darragh O'Neill, PK Will Oliver, KR Ryan Severson, PR Nelson Spruce, SN Ryan Iverson.

Notes: Record rainfall and subsequent flooding in Boulder forced the cancellation of a Sept. 14 game against Fresno State (FCS Charleston Southern was added as a replacement game on Oct. 19). MacIntyre joined Rick Neuheisel (1995) as the only CU head coaches to win their first games since 1932. WR Paul Richardson, who set CU single-season records for receptions (83) and yards (1,343) and was the first Buff to earn first-team All-Conference honors at receiver since 1997, declared for the NFL Draft and bypassed his senior season in 2014. ILB Addison Gillam set a CU freshman record for tackles (119) and plays (838) and was a first-team Freshman All-American. The same five players started every game on the offensive line since 2004. Colorado improved in 29 major statistical categories from its numbers in 2012 and had its fewest penalties and yards since 1985 (just 10 in the last four games, tied for the third fewest in any 10-game span in school history).

MEMORABLE CU OPENERS

Quite often, the first career start, or coming out party, is intertwined with making a season opener a memorable one. Perhaps the biggest example of this in Colorado history came in 1989, when sophomore Darian Hagan made his debut as CU's starting quarterback; he may or may not have won the job, but with senior Sal Aunese stricken with stomach cancer the previous March, Hagan was handed the keys to the CU offense. On the second play of the game, Hagan raced 75 yards on the option to the Texas 2, starting the Buffaloes on their way to a 27-6 win, the first triumph en route to an 11-0 record in the regular season. Hagan rushed for 116 yards and a touchdown, and passed for 95 yards and another score. Other memorable CU openers and/or game one performances include:

1937 Colorado 14, Missouri 6 Boulder

Erv Cheney scores both CU touchdowns, Byron White boots a still-CU record 83 yard punt, and for the first time in school history, there is a charge for parking on the Boulder campus (15 cents a game).

1953 Colorado 21, Washington 20 Seattle

The Buffs, a two-touchdown underdog, win in Seattle as Homer Jenkins, in his first collegiate game, did it all in CU's single-wing offense to often fill in for an injured Carroll Hardy. Jenkins threw two TD passes to Gary Knafelc, while Emerson Wilson added 87 yards on the ground and a score.

1965 Colorado 0, Wisconsin 0 Madison

The Buffs and Badgers battle to a 0-0 tie in Madison, the third-to-last scoreless tie in Division I-A history as the two combine in "hot and sticky" conditions for just 496 yards of total offense.

1971 Colorado 31, LSU 21 Baton Rouge

Charlie Davis rushes for 174 yards and two TDs in win at No. 9 LSU, the catapult to a 10-2 season and No. 3 rank.

1977 Colorado 27, Stanford 21 Boulder

Current assistant head coach Brian Cabral goes nuts as he racks up 25 tackles in CU's win.

1979 Oregon 33, Colorado 19 Boulder

The Buffs fall in the much ballyhooed first game for new head coach Chuck Fairbanks; it's also the first game televised by a fledgling sports network named ESPN that went on the air one day earlier.

1981 Colorado 45, Texas Tech 27 Boulder

Walter Stanley hauled down five catches for a CU record 222 (it still stands today), as CU's first game after a 1-10 season in 1980 exorcises some demons. Randy Essington throws for 345 yards in the win.

1989 Colorado 27, Texas 6 Boulder

In addition to Hagan's effort (see above) the CU defense stifled Texas in limiting the Longhorns to 268 yards.

1990 Colorado 31, Tennessee 31 Anaheim

Mike Pritchard subs for Eric Bieniemy at tailback and rushes for a CU season opener record of 217 yards as the Buffs open what would be their national championship season with a tie against Tennessee in Anaheim in the inaugural Disneyland Pigskin Classic.

1992 Colorado 37, Colorado State 17 Boulder

Kordell Stewart takes over from Darian Hagan and passes for 409 and 4 TDs in the win over the Rams.

1995 Colorado 43, Wisconsin 7 Madison

The NFL plucked off 10 CU starters in the draft in April, but new CU head coach Rick Neuheisel readied the Buffaloes in fine fashion as CU drilled Wisconsin in Madison. Koy Detmer threw for 267 yards and three TDs as CU scored 23 second quarter points to build a 26-7 halftime lead on the way to the win.

1998 Colorado 42, Colorado State 14 Denver

Mike Moschetti throws for 257 yards and 3 TDs in the his first CU game and the first contest between the two in-state rivals in Denver at the old Mile High Stadium.

2003 Colorado 42, Colorado State 35 Denver

Joel Klatt comes in unsung and exits as the national player-of-the-week as he threw for 402 yards and 4 TDs in a 42-35 thriller over the Rams. CSU pulls even late, but Bobby Purify's 9-yard TD run wins it with :40 left.

2004 Colorado 27, Colorado State 24 Boulder

CU led the entire way, but CSU had a chance to steal it at the end; the Rams had a first-and-goal at the CU 1 with just under a minute left, but the Buffalo defense rose to the occasion and stuffed two plays, the last as time ran out, to seal the win. The Rams had fought back from 17-0 and 27-17 deficits.

2005 Colorado 31, Colorado State 28 Boulder

Mason Crosby drilled a 47-yard field goal with four seconds left to rally CU to the win. The Buffs trailed 21-10 entering the fourth quarter, having tied the game at 21 on a 48-yard Crosby kick with 2:32 left. CU turned an interception into the go-ahead touchdown, a 23-yard run by Hugh Charles, with 1:30 remaining, but CSU rallied with an 80-yard TD drive to tie the game with 36 ticks to go on the clock. Stephone Robinson returned the kickoff to the 40 and three plays later, the Buffs were in position for Crosby's winning kick, as the teams scored 20 points in just 152 seconds.

2007 Colorado 31, Colorado State 28 (OT) Denver

Kevin Eberhart dutifully waited for his chance playing behind two-time All-American Mason Crosby for three years, but when the fifth-year senior had his chance in the spotlight, he connected on field goals to force overtime and then to win the game as the Buffaloes defeated CSU, 31-28. Crosby was the hero in 2005, and this time around Eberhart made clutch kicks from 22 yards out with 13 seconds left in regulation, and then the game winner in overtime from 35 yards after Terrence Wheatley snuffed out CSU's overtime chance with an interception in the end zone. The Rams worked to a 28-17 lead early in the third quarter but were shut down after that point by a staunch Buff defense, as CU rallied from 11 down for the second time in three years against their in-state rivals.

2013 Colorado 41, Colorado State 27 Denver

Connor Wood completed 33-of-46 passes for 400 yards and three touchdowns, with Paul Richardson catching 10 of those for throws for 208 yards and two scores in leading CU to a 41-27 win over Colorado State. It marked just the second time since 1932 that a CU coach won his first game at the helm of the program, as Mike MacIntyre joined Rick Neuheisel (1995) as the only two to start their Buffs careers 1-0.

CONFERENCE OPENERS

In 120 conference openers in its history, Colorado has compiled a 79-39-2 record (a 66.7 winning percentage), including a 36-14-1 mark at Folsom Field (and 51-15-1 at home overall). Colorado was not a member of a conference from 1890-92 and did not play a conference schedule in 1905. The breakdown:

DID YOU KNOW... Several University of Colorado graduates have made their careers in the field of sports broadcasting. The first was also a football letterman, Tom Brookshier, who did NFL color commentary for several years on CBS. Another has made his niche in broadcasting, as Dave Logan is the play-by-play voice for the Denver Broncos, following up a stellar career as an NFL receiver. One of the most visible people on the national college football beat is ESPN's Chris Fowler, a 1985 CU graduate who worked three years in CU's sports information office. Another '80s grad and SID office veteran, Jim Gray, as a reporter with NBC, made a name for himself in breaking several stories and is now with ESPN/ABC. Solomon Wilcotts, who lettered two years at cornerback and played several seasons in the NFL, worked for CBS and ESPN and is now with the NFL Network. Kevin Corke, another CU journalism grad, was an anchor on ESPN after a long career at Denver's KUSA-TV. Behind the scenes, Peter Lasser was a top producer for TNT's NFL football coverage, and Jay Rothman is one of ABC's and ESPN's most respected producers, having worked college football and is now the producer of Monday Night Football.

(*—fifth largest comeback in NCAA bowl history.)

Kevin Eberhart celebrating after his 45-yard field goal rallied CU to a 27-24 win over No. 3 Oklahoma in 2007

NOTE: The largest deficit CU has ever overcome to tie or take the lead in a game is 24 points. On Nov. 26, 1999, the Buffs trailed Nebraska, 27-3, early in the fourth quarter but rallied to tie the game with 2:59 remaining. A game winning field goal sailed just wide at the final gun, but the Buffs did take a 30-27 lead in over-time before succumbing to the Cornhuskers, 33-30.

LARGEST LEADS CU FORFEITED

Here's a look at the biggest leads Colorado could not hold on to:

TELEVISION APPEARANCES

Colorado has appeared on either national or regional television 264 times since the 1951 season, posting a 115-146-3 record in these games (56-53-2 in Boulder). The Buffaloes have been on national TV a total of 174 times, owning a 69-102-3 record (37-35-2 in Boulder). Since 1990, the Buffaloes have been one of the most televised teams in the nation, as 215 of their 294 games (73 percent) have been broadcast either nationally or regionally. The first appearance on TV by Colorado was in 1951, as the Nebraska game in Lincoln on Nov. 17 was broadcast to 19 states in the central part of the nation as part of the NCAA television testing program; an estimated 8-to-10 million people watched the Buffs win in impressive fashion. An interesting fact is that the first college football game ever televised on ESPN involved Colorado, as the fledgling cable network broadcast the Oregon-CU game on Sept. 8, 1979. A detailed look at Colorado's all-time national and regional televised games (with announcers, if known):

COLORADO VS. NO. 1 TEAMS

The Buffs are 0-10 in their history when they have come up against the number one ranked team. Colorado has played only three teams with number one rankings—Nebraska (0-3); Oklahoma (0-6) and Southern Cal (0-1). In eight of these games, the Buffs have given the nation's best a solid run for their money. Here's a look at each CU No. 1 matchup (both AP & UPI/Coaches unless otherwise noted):

COLORADO	7	0	0	13	—	20

NOTE: Colorado is 1-1 as the nation's No. 1 team, losing 21-6 to Notre Dame in the 1990 Orange Bowl and defeating Notre Dame 10-9 in the 1991 Orange Bowl.

DID YOU KNOW . . . That despite not having beaten a No. 1 team, Colorado has twice knocked Oklahoma out of the No. 1 slot? CU's efforts in 1957 and 1975 knocked the Sooners from No. 1 to No. 2 in the AP poll.

COLORADO VS. HEISMAN WINNERS

Colorado has played 10 opponents which featured the eventual Heisman Trophy winner for that season. Here's a look at how each fared against the Buffs:

Sept. 27, 1952 vs. Oklahoma in Boulder: HB Billy Vessels

Rushing: 21-110, 2 TD; Passing: 3-1-0, 37; Kick Returns 4-39.

Oct. 18, 1969 vs. Oklahoma at Norman: TB Steve Owens

Rushing: 28-112, 4 TD; Passing: 1-1-0, 16.

Nov. 4, 1972 vs. Nebraska in Boulder: WB Johnny Rodgers

Rushing: 5-minus 6, 1 TD; Receiving 4-79, 1 TD.

Nov. 4, 1978 vs. Oklahoma in Boulder: HB Billy Sims

Rushing: 27-220, 1 TD.

Oct. 22, 1983 vs. Nebraska at Lincoln: IB Mike Rozier

Rushing: 19-156, 4 TD; Receiving: 1-26; Kickoff Returns 4-90.

Oct. 8, 1988 vs. Oklahoma State in Boulder: TB Barry Sanders

Rushing: 24-174, 4 TD.

Sept. 13, 1997 vs. Michigan at Ann Arbor: CB Charles Woodson

Receiving: 1-29. Defense: 5 tackles, 1 interception.

Nov. 23, 2001 vs. Nebraska in Boulder: QB Eric Crouch

Rushing: 18-162, 2 TD; Passing: 28-13-2, 198, 0 TD.

Sept. 14, 2002 vs. USC in Boulder: QB Carson Palmer

Rushing: 4-minus 5, 1 TD; Passing: 30-22-0, 244, 1 TD.

Oct. 25, 2003 vs. Oklahoma in Boulder: QB Jason White

Rushing: 2-minus 12; Passing: 28-19-0, 248, 3 TD.

THE BUFFS AND THE WEATHER

Colorado's wacky weather, for the most part, has not played too much havoc with the Buffaloes through the years. Here are the last times the elements affected games in Boulder.

Snow: There has seldom been snowfall during a game in Boulder. In fact, only six times since 1949 has any real snowfall of note occurred during a game. It last happened on Nov. 11, 2000, when it snowed the entire game in a 35-27 loss to Iowa State. It marked the first time snow had fallen during a game in Boulder since 1996 (light snowfall throughout the first half in a 12-0 win over Kansas State on Nov. 16, and just the second time since 1991, when it started snowing lightly late in a 30-24 win over Kansas, also on Nov. 16. There was light snowfall in a 21-6 win over Kansas State in 1979, but nothing major. In 1971, about two feet of snow fell the morning of a 56-13 win over Wyoming; what made that day unique is that it was Sept. 18, and was CU's first home game on artificial turf. The two most famous snow games came in 1969 (a 30-7 win over Indiana where it snowed all game, and in 1949, when it was sunny at kickoff prior to a 14-7 win over Utah. But the clouds rolled in and by halftime, there were snow flurries. By game's end, there was six inches of snow on the ground. There have been major snowstorms on Fridays but the weather cleared prior to game time (in 1986 before Kansas, in 1987 and 1991 before Nebraska, and in 1992 and 1994 before Iowa State).

Rainfall: Rain during a game in Boulder is about as rare as snowfall; light rain or annoying drizzle have happened on occasion. Light rain fell sporadically during the second half of the Texas Tech game on Oct. 14, 2006. The last time there was heavy rain during a game in Boulder was in the fourth quarter in a 20-13 loss to Michigan in 1996; otherwise you have to go back to Sept. 11, 1982, in a 31-17 loss to California (Bill McCartney's first game). The last road games with rain were both in 2013 at Oregon State and at Washington.

'82 CU-California

'91 CU-Nebraska

Bitter Cold: There have been only five occasions where the temperature was below 20 degrees at kickoff at Folsom Field in its history. The last time was the Iowa State game in 2000 mentioned under "snow" above. On Nov. 16, 1996, it was 16 degrees at the start of both halves in a 12-0 win over Kansas State, and the mercury reached 12 degrees with a wind-chill of minus-8 in a 19-19 tie against Nebraska on Nov. 2, 1991.

Wind: Despite the Midwest and Boulder being known to experience high winds on occasion, only four times since 1985 have winds really affected a CU game. The last time was on Nov. 12, 2011, when winds gusted from 32 to 62 miles per hour in CU's 48-29 win over Arizona; the time before that was on Nov. 11, 1995, when winds gusting from 30 to 67 mph were prevalent during most of Colorado's 21-0 victory over Missouri (winds gusted from 18-35 mph in the first half of the Sept. 18, 2018 West Virginia game but subsided for the second half). On the road, the Great Plains winds were quite common, especially later in the fall; on Nov. 12, 2005, a tornado warning/sighting delayed the start of the CU-Iowa State game in Ames; winds would gust 20-45 mph throughout after a nearly two hour delay. On Nov. 9, 1991 in Stillwater, a 16-12 CU win became known for one of the gutsiest play calls in CU history—a fake field goal with 12 seconds left in the game that produced the winning points; the call was because of the wind, blowing upward of 30 mph at the end of the game.

COLORADO'S WARMEST GAMES (*—night game)

Since 1950, Colorado is 45-31 when it has been 80 degrees or warmer at kickoff.

Date	Opponent	Result	Temperature/Conditions
Sept. 8, 2007	*at Arizona State	L 14-33	102 / clear skies

CU'S 242-GAME SCORING STREAK

Colorado's 242-game scoring streak from 1988 to 2008 stands as the 13th longest in Division I-A college history. In the 242-game run, CU scored on its first possession 95 times, plus another three occasions where it scored on returns on its first touch of the game. The Buffs scored in the first quarter 166 times during the streak, and had it extended by halftime 219 times. Here's that list: (#—329 games including I-AA games prior to joining I-A in 1992; *—includes score on a kickoff return to start the 1998 Aloha Bowl; an interception return prior to the first offensive possession in the 2002 Alamo Bowl; and an interception return for a score on the first touch against Arizona State in 2007):

Colorado had a 154-84-4 record during the scoring streak, averaging 35.4 points in the wins and 16.4 points in the losses (and 23.5 the four tied games). The Buffs had only nine occasions where they were delayed extending the streak until the fourth quarter. The last came in 2007 in a 16-6 loss to Florida State, where it marked the latest in a game CU scored to maintain the streak; it was also the only fourth quarter touchdown in the streak that took place on fourth down. Here's a look at those occasions (*—denotes in Denver):

There have been 16 occasions where Colorado scored just once to continue the streak. PK Mason Crosby by far has played the biggest individual role, personally extending the streak six times, or four more than the only other player do it even twice, WR/KR Jeremy Bloom. CU'S 1990 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The 1990 edition of the University of Colorado football team accomplished two of the biggest “firsts” in its storied history. The Buffaloes played the nation’s toughest schedule and posted an 11-1-1 record overall, with the win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl cementing the school’s first national championship. For the second straight year, CU logged a 7-0 record in league play, marking the first time that the Buffs had claimed the Big Eight Conference title in back-to-back years.

Colorado had flirted with the national championship just one season earlier, owning an 11-0 regular season record and entering the Orange Bowl ranked as the nation’s No. 1 team. A 21-6 loss to Notre Dame, however, ended CU’s dream season and the Buffs finished No. 4 in the national polls. Little did anyone know at the time that the Buffaloes would have the chance to redeem themselves.

Questions prior to the start of the 1990 season included, “What do you do for an encore?” and “Is Colorado for real or was last season a fluke?” Coach Bill McCartney didn’t set winning the national championship as the team goal; winning back-to-back Big Eight titles was what he wanted his men to aim for. Shooting for all the marbles includes too many variables that are out of a team’s control, while one holds its own destiny in pursuit of a league title. McCartney was not the kind to set a national title as a goal, anyway.

Joe Garten

In the Associated Press preseason poll, the Buffs were ranked No. 5; its first opponent, Tennessee in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic, was ranked No. 8.

Colorado overcame three first-quarter turnovers against the Volunteers (that was almost one-fourth of the entire turnover total of the season before) to lead 24-10 early in the fourth quarter. The Buffs couldn’t sustain the lead, and Tennessee caught CU with the game ending in a 31-31 tie.

In game two, Eric Bieniemy scored on fourth-and-goal from the one with 12 seconds remaining to give CU a 21-17 win over Stanford. This was alarming in that Stanford had the worst record in 1989 of the five non-league teams on CU’s schedule, along with the fact that the Cardinal led 14-0 at halftime and had stifled the high-powered CU offense.

Illinois dealt CU what proved to be its only loss of the season on Sept. 15, as the 23-22 defeat to the Illini sent the Buffs reeling to No. 20 in the polls. A game that Colorado should have won (CU led, 17-3, in the second quarter) turned into a loss and gave CU a 1-1-1 start. Talk of 1989 being a fluke started to surface, that CU had won only because of emotion in response to the death of quarterback Sal Aunese.

The next two games put the Buffaloes back on track, and ended talk that Colorado was not for real. A 29-22 win at No. 22 Texas, with CU rallying from a 22-14 deficit early in the fourth quarter, was the game that McCartney and the team pointed to as the turning point of the season. Then a 20-14 win over No. 12 Washington a week later reinforced the national opinion of the Buffaloes, as CU took over the No. 12 spot in the polls after its defeat of the Huskies.

Colorado came through the fierce non-league portion of its schedule with a 3-1-1 record and prepared to defend its Big Eight crown earned the season before. The Buffs topped Missouri, 33-31, in their league opener amid controversy of the now famous “fifth down.” CU’s Charles Johnson scored the game-winning touchdown as time expired on what turned out to be fifth down. The play, created through an incredible mistake by the officiating crew, and unnoticed by Missouri game administration and virtually everyone in the stadium, tainted the CU win and hurt the Buffs' image. Even though the Buffs defeated Iowa State, 28-12, the following week, Colorado had dropped back to No. 14 in the rankings though it sported a 5-1-1 record.

Still, the Buffaloes were off to a 2-0 start in league play, and improved to 3-0 with a 41-10 drubbing of Kansas at Lawrence in week three of the Big Eight season. The win pushed CU back into the top 10 (No. 10), with the "Big Reds" next up on the schedule.

Colorado knocked off Oklahoma, ranked No. 22 nationally, 32-23 to deal the one-time fourth-ranked Sooners their third straight defeat. The Buffs trailed, 14-6, late in the first half, with OU in position to kick a field goal. Greg Thomas skied to block the attempt, and quarterback Darian Hagan took over to lead the Buffs to a touchdown right before the halftime gun. Bieniemy broke free for a 69-yard TD run in the third quarter, and the Buffs pulled away in the final 15 minutes to dispose of the first of the Big Reds.

A week later, Colorado, now No. 9, traveled to Lincoln and defeated No. 3 Nebraska, 27-12, in rainy, cold and windy conditions. Bieniemy overcame five fumbles to score four touchdowns in the fourth quarter to rally the Buffaloes to the win. The end result was that Colorado had defeated both Oklahoma and Nebraska for the second straight year, and in back-to-back weeks, no less. The Buffs, with an 8-1-1 record, zoomed to No. 4 in the nation in the polls, and needed just one win in their last two games to get back to the Orange Bowl.

The Buffs steamrolled both Oklahoma State (41-22) and Kansas State (64-3) to finish the regular season at 10-1-1. The wins also marked the second straight year that CU took the Big Eight title with an undefeated 7-0 record in league play.

When Penn State knocked off Notre Dame hours after CU's win over K-State, the Buffs became the nation's new No. 1 team. Thus, as was the case in 1989, the Buffaloes entered the Orange Bowl to defend the nation's top ranking against Notre Dame, the team that lost to hand CU the No. 1 claim.

Colorado had the rare chance to play for the national championship a second straight year, and this time around, the Buffs made the most of their opportunity. Colorado overcame the loss of Hagan and Kanavis McGhee to injuries in the first half, taking the lead for good in the third quarter in defeating the Irish, 10-9. The win kicked off a wild celebration by some 20,000-plus CU fans in Miami and hundreds of thousands back home in Colorado.

McCartney's ninth Colorado team attained its goals of claiming the Big Eight title in back-to-back years, and surpassed it by winning the national championship. In the process, CU established itself among the elite in college football.

CU's National Title Display at the College Hall of Fame

CU IN THE BIG 12 CHAMPIONSHIP

2001 COLORADO 39, Texas 37 December 1, 2001 (Irving, Texas)

IRVING, Texas — Texas Stadium just north of Dallas was supposed to be a neutral site for the sixth annual Big 12 Championship game, but it was the 7,000 or so Colorado fans who left happy as the No. 9 Buffaloes claimed their first Big 12 crown with a 39-37 win over the No. 3 Texas Longhorns.

A hostile environment was taken up a notch before the game when it was announced that No. 2 Florida had lost to Tennessee, paving the way to the national championship game in the Rose Bowl for the 10-1 Longhorns if they could beat the Buffs. And UT came out inspired, stifling the CU offense on the game's first possession and then scoring on its first drive, marching 85 yards in just six plays to take a 7-0 lead with 9:56 left in the first quarter.

Two series later, Texas was again driving and had reached the CU 22, but linebacker Aaron Killion picked off a Chris Simms pass and raced 73 yards to the UT 12. Chris Brown scored on a 10-yard run three plays later, and it ignited a 29-3 scoring spree for the Buffaloes over the next 15 minutes as the Buffs used four Longhorn turnovers to take control of the game.

On CU's next possession, Brown got things going with a 24-yard run to get the Buffs into field goal range, enabling Jeremy Flores to make good on a 39-yard kick on the second play of the second quarter. The Buffs took a 10-7 lead, one it would never relinquish, and following a Joey Johnson interception of Simms, CU was back in business at its own 36. Bobby Purify's 51-yard run to the UT 3 set up Brown's second touchdown, but Flores' PAT kick sailed left to leave CU up, 16-7. Dusty Mangum answered for the Longhorns on the very next drive with a 50-yard field goal, but on the first play of UT's next possession, DeAndre Fluellen sacked Simms and forced a fumble that Matt McChesney recovered at the Texas 22.

Bobby Pesavento hit tight end Daniel Graham on the very next play to pad the lead to 22-10, but the two point try failed. CU finished the scoring blitz when Medford Moorer picked off his first career pass three plays later and returned it 64 yards for a touchdown and a 29-10 Colorado advantage. Major Applewhite replaced Simms at quarterback for UT and hooked up with B.J. Johnson on a 79-yard scoring play on a busted coverage to slice the Buff lead to 29-17 at halftime.

Roman Hollowell, the nation's leading punt returner, brought a short UT punt back to the Texas 40 after the Buff defense forced the Longhorns into a three-and-out to open the second half. Derek McCoy made an acrobatic 33-yard catch of a Pesavento pass to get CU to the UT 13, and two plays later, Brown used an Andre Gurode block to spring free for an 11-yard touchdown run and a 36-17 score in favor of CU.

Texas added a couple of Mangum field goals to get to within 36-23 with 13:42 left in the game, and a CU fake punt that went awry saw Roderick Babers return an interception 54 yards for a touchdown to narrow the lead to 36-30 just four minutes later. But the Buffs came back with a 16-play, 51-yard drive that produced a 43-yard field goal by Flores to again make it a two-score game, but with only 1:58 remaining. Texas didn't give up the fight, as Applewhite and Johnson hooked up a 1-yard score with 31 seconds left, but Graham recovered the onside kick try to seal the Big 12 title for the Buffaloes.

Brown was the individual star with 182 yards and three TDs to lead CU, while Johnson caught four balls for 107 yards, including the two touchdowns. CU became the fifth different school in six years at the time to win the Big 12 crown, joining Nebraska (twice), Oklahoma, Texas and Texas A&M.

2002 Oklahoma 29, COLORADO 7 December 7, 2002 (Houston, Texas)

HOUSTON — Quentin Griffin rushed for 188 yards and two touchdowns and Nate Hybl passed for two more as No. 8 Oklahoma wrestled the crown away from defending champion Colorado, as the Sooners downed the No. 12 Buffaloes, 29-7, to win the 2002 Big 12 Conference title.

Some say it's hard to beat a team twice in the same season, but Oklahoma pulled it off in defeating CU for the second time in five weeks. The first time, turnovers helped do the Buffs in, but this time around, Colorado never got untracked offensively.

It looked good for CU out of the gate, as freshman running back sensation Brian Calhoun scooted around the right side for a 37-yard gain on the first play of the game. The Buffs drove to the Sooner 23 before the drive stalled, and it ended without points when Pat Brougham's 41-yard field goal try sailed wide right.

Oklahoma answered with a 13-play, 77-yard drive with Hybl throwing a touchdown pass to Trent Smith on a 3rd-and-goal from the CU 3. OU made it 13-0 after a 21-yard TD pass from Hybl to Mark Clayton five minutes into the second quarter; it culminated a 12-play, 80-yard drive, but Phil Jackson snuck through to block Trey DiCarlo's extra point kick.

Two series later, CU used runs of 25 and 23 yards by Calhoun to work to the OU 14, but again was stopped by a buckling down Sooner defense. Brougham's 32-yard field goal matched his first in missing wide right, and the half would end with Oklahoma up by 13.

Colorado got back in the game and had momentum on its side for the first half of the third quarter. The defense came out of the lockerroom and held the Sooners to three-and-out on their first series. Blake Ferguson hit a 51-yard punt, fielded by Jeremy Bloom at the Buff 20; the freshman slash Olympian raced up the gut and sprinted 80 yards for a touchdown, his second punt return score of the year, and Brougham's extra point cut the deficit to 13-7.

The Buffs held the Sooners again, and on their next possession, Brandon Drumm's 44-yard run on a third-and-2 set CU up in the red zone. But once again the drive sputtered, and Brougham's 33-yard field goal just missed wide right. The Buffs were a bit deflated after that point, and OU seized the opportunity to drive 80 yards in 11 plays, with Griffin scoring from 36 yards out. The Sooners missed the deuce and took a 19-7 lead into the fourth quarter.

Any hopes of a comeback were all but dashed when Oklahoma drove from its 5 to the CU 5 over the course of a 16-play, seven-plus minute drive. Though CU kept OU out of the end zone, DiCarlo made a 28-yard field goal to extend the Sooner lead to 22-7. Griffin's 27-yard touchdown run late in the game closed the night's scoring.

Calhoun finished with 122 yards, a sterling effort since CU was without the services of Doak Walker finalist Chris Brown and sidekick Bobby Purify, who played a few snaps in special third down situations. The Buffs managed only 67 passing yards and 193 overall, while OU piled up 401 in the turnover free game.

2004 Oklahoma 42, COLORADO 3

December 4, 2004 (Kansas City, Mo.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Colorado came into the 9th annual Big 12 Championship with no less intention than to win the game, but No. 2 Oklahoma came in on a mission to avenge its bad memories from the year before and in the end, the Sooners' will was overwhelming as OU defeated the Buffaloes in Arrowhead Stadium, 42-3.

The Buffs, who won their third North Division title in four years, were a surprise entrant in the game to many, though several also felt CU was the best team in the division despite claiming it with only a 4-4 mark. Oklahoma, on the other hand, was the No. 2 team in the nation from wire-to-wire and was out for redemption after losing 35-7 to Kansas State in the same venue in 2003.

The Sooners methodically dismantled the Buffaloes, using the run (15 plays) and pass (10) to score touchdowns on its first three possessions in taking a 21-0 lead just seven seconds into the second quarter. Fab freshman Adrian Peterson and senior quarterback Jason White, both Heisman candidates, were the stars of the Sooner Show but both had plenty of support.

Peterson had runs of 18 and 24 yards on OU's first drive, which featured three third down conversions, with White getting Oklahoma on the board with a 5-yard TD pass to Will Peoples, the fifth time CU allowed a touchdown on the game's first possession.

The Buffs' response to the opening score likely could dictate the way the game would play out. CU picked up a first down by penalty on its second play when quarterback Joel Klatt was the victim of a late hit, but two straight penalties against Colorado linemen (holding and a false start) set up a first-and-25 that the Buffs could not get out of. A 55-yard punt by John Torp, who was one of few bright spots on the night, got the Buffs out of trouble, or so it seemed.

The Sooners countered with a quick 6-play, 63-yard effort topped off by a 22-yard pass for a score from White to Mark Clayton. After the Buffs lost 10 yards on three plays when they got the ball back, the duo repeated the feat on OU's next drive in building a 21-0 lead. Peterson scored on a 1-yard after an Antonio Perkins interception of a Klatt pass put the Sooners in business at the CU 40. The 28-0 score held at intermission, and extended to 35-0 after Peterson scored on a 3-yard run to cap a 41-yard drive that ensued following a failed fourth down punt fake by the Buffaloes.

Late in the third quarter, Colorado enjoyed its best moments of the game. Lorenzo Sims picked off his fifth pass of the season and returned it 40 yards to the Oklahoma 32. The Sooner D stiffened, but the Buffs averted a shutout when Mason Crosby made good on a 34-yard field goal. Peterson added a 32-yard TD run early in the fourth to close the game's scoring.

Oklahoma gained 498 yards on offense, though CU had 10 tackles for loss, but the Sooners limited CU to its third fewest yards in history, as the Buffs netted 46 on just 44 plays from scrimmage.

2005 Texas 70, COLORADO 3

December 3, 2005 (Houston, Texas)

HOUSTON — Three turnovers and a blocked punt fueled a 56-point scoring spree in just over 19 minutes as No. 2 Texas ran away from Colorado in defeating the Buffaloes, 70-3, to win the Big 12 Conference championship game.

The Longhorns, on a mission to win their first league title since the conference's inaugural season in 1996, scored on nine of their first 10 possessions in finishing the regular season with a 12-0 record, earning a spot against USC for the national championship in the Rose Bowl.

Colorado came out of the gates decent enough, actually outgained Texas 120-101 in the first quarter, but saw two long drives end with a fumble and a blocked field goal. The 'Horns turned that first miscue, a Hugh Charles fumble, into a quick score, marching 65 yards in seven plays (and in just 116 seconds) to set the tone for the day after a -yard run by Henry Melton. UT scored again on its next possession, a 3-yard run by Jamaal Charles, to go up 14-0 just over nine minutes into the game.

Mason Crosby scored CU's only points on the afternoon with a 25-yard field goal to open the second quarter, pulling the Buffs to within 14-3. That's when Texas countered with eight unanswered touchdowns, which included three TD passes by Heisman Trophy runner-up Vince Young, with two more Jamaal Charles' scoring runs, one each by both Youngs, Vince and Selvin and a blocked punt return for a score. When the smoke cleared, the Longhorns turned an insurmountable 42-3 halftime lead into a 70-3 advantage with 7:36 left in the third quarter.

Leading by 67 and still blitzing, the Longhorns' Drew Kelson ended CU quarterback Joel Klatt's career with an illegal vicious cheap shot to the head in the third quarter. Klatt sustained a concussion, and spent the night in a Houston hospital for observation. He would miss CU's bowl game but still set 44 school records.

Five of the Texas scoring drives fell between 16 and 46 yards, as turnovers and other miscues set the Longhorns up with a short field much of the game. Texas finished with 486 total yards, including a season-high 268 yards rushing against CU's No. 2 ranked defense against the run. Colorado could not muster much offense after the first quarter, gaining just 71 yards in the final three quarters to finish with 191 on the day.

COLORADO'S BIGGEST WINS

Nov. 26, 1891—Colorado 24, Colorado Springs A.A. 4

(at Colorado Springs)

The first win in the program's history (after eight straight losses).

Oct. 8, 1904—Colorado 6, Nebraska 0 (in Boulder)

Referred to as the program's biggest victory at that point in history, as CU upset heavily favored Nebraska.

Nov. 25, 1920—Colorado 40, Oklahoma A&M 7

(at Stillwater, Okla.)

In Myron Witham's first year as coach, CU won its only non-league game to close with a 4-1-2 record.

Nov. 6, 1937—Colorado 17, Utah 7 (at Salt Lake City, Utah)

The win secures CU the title in the first year of the Mountain States Conference, and paves the way for CU's first-ever bowl game appearance (against Rice in the Cotton).

Oct. 9, 1948—Colorado 19, Nebraska 6 (in Boulder)

Another benchmark in the program, as the win was both CU's first in the Big Seven Conference, and the first for coach Dal Ward.

Oct. 6, 1951—Colorado 35, Kansas 27 (in Boulder)

Colorado's first-ever win over a ranked opponent (Kansas was No. 20).

Sept. 27, 1952—Colorado 21, Oklahoma 21 (in Boulder)

Not a win, but not just a tie—the only blemish on Oklahoma's amazing 47-0-1 record in Big Seven Conference play (1948-57).

Jan. 1, 1957—Colorado 27, Clemson 21 (Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.)

The first-ever bowl victory by the Buffs comes over No. 19 Clemson.

Nov. 4, 1961—Colorado 7, Missouri 6 (in Boulder)

The win over No. 10 Missouri paved the way for CU's first Big Eight Conference title.

Nov. 18, 1961—Colorado 7, Nebraska 0 (at Lincoln, Neb.)

On a cold day in Lincoln, CU limits Nebraska to zero first downs and just 31 yards on offense to clinch the Big Eight crown.

Oct. 21, 1967—Colorado 21, Nebraska 16 (at Lincoln, Neb.)

The win vaults CU to a No. 3 national ranking, its highest in history at the time, and returns CU to the national college football map.

Oct. 25, 1969—Colorado 31, Missouri 24 (in Boulder)

CU stops unbeaten and No. 5 Missouri.

Dec. 13, 1969—Colorado 47, Alabama 33

In one of the most exciting bowl games ever, CU defeats Bear Bryant's Crimson Tide to climb back into the final national rankings (No. 16).

Sept. 26, 1970—Colorado 41, Penn State 13 (in Boulder)

CU blows out No. 4 Penn State, ending the Nittany Lions' 31-game unbeaten streak.

Sept. 11, 1971—Colorado 31, Louisiana State 21

(at Baton Rouge, La.)

CU grabs season-opening win over No. 9 LSU in Cajun Country.

Sept. 25, 1971—Colorado 20, Ohio State 14 (at Columbus, Ohio)

Colorado's second win on the road at a top 10 school (Ohio State was No. 6) gives CU instant national respect and a No. 6 ranking.

Dec. 31, 1971—Colorado 29, Houston 17

(Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Texas)

CU posts its first-ever 10 win season (10-2), and the win enables the Big Eight to finish 1-2-3 in the nation (Nebraska No. 1, Oklahoma No. 2, Colorado No. 3—still the only time one conference has had the top three spots in the final poll).

Darian Hagan

Oct. 21, 1972—Colorado 20, Oklahoma 14 (in Boulder)

CU tops No. 2 Sooners, the highest-ranked team CU had defeated at the time (and to this date—CU has beaten No. 2 twice).

Nov. 20, 1976—Colorado 35, Kansas State 28 (at Manhattan, Kan.)

Buffs stave off Wildcats in a wild one, and the win enables CU to claim a share of the Big Eight title—and with CU winning the tiebreakers, the Buffs earn a trip to the Orange Bowl.

Oct. 28, 1978—Colorado 28, Missouri 27 (at Columbia, Mo.)

Colorado rallied from 20 points down in the third quarter to defeat the No. 13 Tigers, the most points the Buffaloes have ever rallied from behind to post a victory.

Sept. 28, 1985—Colorado 14, Arizona 13 (at Tucson, Ariz.)

CU holds off Arizona, ranked in the coaches poll, to move to 3-1 on the season and show the first indication that the program is headed for its first winning season since 1978.

Oct. 25, 1986—Colorado 20, Nebraska 10 (in Boulder)

Referred to as "The Turning Point" in CU's return to national prominence, as the Buffs defeat Nebraska, ranked No. 3 in the nation, for the first time since 1967.

Oct. 31, 1987—Colorado 42, Iowa State 10 (at Ames, Iowa)

The 500th win in Colorado's history, as the Buffs join a select group of schools to accomplish the feat.

Sept. 17, 1988—Colorado 24, Iowa 21 (at Iowa City, Iowa)

The Buffs dominate from the start to finish and rally to win at No. 19 Iowa in a big challenge the second week of the season.

Sept. 4, 1989—Colorado 27, Texas 6 (in Boulder)

Expectations are high, as CU is ranked in the preseason for the first time since 1978 (No. 14)—Darian Hagan erases the butterflies with a 75-yard run to set up a score on the game's second play.

Sept. 30, 1989—Colorado 45, Washington 28 (at Seattle, Wash.)

No. 5 Colorado wins at No. 21 Washington, but the real story is the emotional win one week after quarterback Sal Aunese died due to complications from stomach cancer.

Oct. 28, 1989—Colorado 20, Oklahoma 3 (at Norman, Okla.)

The nation finds out the Buffs are for real with CU's first win in Norman since 1965.

Nov. 4, 1989—Colorado 27, Nebraska 21 (in Boulder)

No. 2 Colorado defeats No. 3 Nebraska to all but clinch league title and the Orange Bowl berth that goes with it.

Sept. 22, 1990—Colorado 29, Texas 22 (at Austin, Texas)

Called the impetus for CU's national title run after a 1-1-1 start, CU rallies from 22-14 deficit in the fourth quarter to grab the win.

Oct. 27, 1990—Colorado 32, Oklahoma 23 (in Boulder)

The win over the No. 2 Sooners, only the third time CU had ever beaten OU back-to-back, set up CU for a title showdown at Nebraska the following week.

Nov. 2, 1990—Colorado 27, Nebraska 12 (at Lincoln, Neb.)

Colorado beats No. 2 Nebraska on four fourth-quarter Eric Bieniemy touchdown runs to win Big Eight for second straight season.

Jan. 1, 1991—Colorado 10, Notre Dame 9

Colorado wins its first national championship in football with the win over the Irish.

Oct. 16, 1993—Colorado 27, Oklahoma 10 (at Norman, Okla.)

The 78th win of Bill McCartney's coaching career, making him the program's all-time winningest coach.

Sept. 24, 1994—Colorado 27, Michigan 26 (at Ann Arbor, Mich.)

"The Catch." Kordell Stewart's 64-yard touchdown pass to Michael Westbrook, via a Blake Anderson tip, wins the game after time expired. It was the national play-of-the-year in all of sports and won an ESPY.

Nov. 19, 1994—Colorado 41, Iowa State 20 (in Boulder)

The win had two significant highlights: eventual Heisman Trophy winner Rashaan Salaam went over the 2,000-yard mark in rushing and quarterback Kordell Stewart became the Big Eight's all-time total offense leader. And following the game, head coach Bill McCartney announced his retirement.

Sept. 23, 1995—Colorado 29, Texas A&M 21 (in Boulder)

CU rallies for win over No. 3 Aggies, as John Hessler comes off the bench to lead CU to the win after replaced injured quarterback Koy Detmer.

Sept. 30, 1995—Colorado 38, Oklahoma 17 (at Norman, Okla.)

CU becomes only the third school in history to win four straight times in Norman, defeating the No. 10 Sooners and moving to No. 4 in the nation.

Dec. 30, 1996—Colorado 33, Washington 21

(Holiday Bowl at San Diego, Calif.)

The win enables CU to enjoy its third straight 10-win season, a first in school history.

Dec. 25, 1998—Colorado 51, Oregon 43

(Aloha Bowl at Honolulu, Hawaii)

The win is CU's fifth straight in bowl games, the longest active streak in the nation, and comes in the program's 1,000th

Dec. 31, 1999—Colorado 62, Boston College 28

(Insight.com Bowl at Tucson, Ariz.)

Colorado defeated the No. 25 Golden Eagles in one of its most dominant performances ever. The Buffs built a 35-0 lead in the second quarter on touchdown runs by Cortlen Johnson and Mike Moschetti, interception returns for scores by Jashon Sykes and Rashidi Barnes, and the longest punt return in NCAA bowl history, 88 yards, by Ben Kelly. It was also the sixth straight bowl win for the CU, adding to its nation's best active streak.

Nov. 23, 2001—Colorado 62, Nebraska 36 (in Boulder)

Colorado's 62-36 win over No. 2 Nebraska sent shockwaves throughout the college football world. In scoring the most points ever against a Husker defense, the Buffaloes matched NU's 7-1 record in the Big 12 North Division with the win and earned the right to play Texas the following week in the league title game. Chris Brown rushed for 198 yards and a school record six touchdowns, with Bobby Purify racing for 154 yards and one score.

Dec. 1, 2001—Colorado 39, Texas 37

(Big 12 Championship Game at Irving, Texas)

In July, when Coach Gary Barnett attended the Big 12's media day in Dallas, he asked Chris Theisen of the league office if the Buffaloes could stop by Texas Stadium on the way back to the airport. Barnett, along with seniors Andrew Gurode and Michael Lewis, who both hailed from Texas, had a mini-tour of the stadium after meeting with the press. Then as conference play began two months later, co-defensive coordinator Vince Okruch purchased a replica of the stadium, and the team soon placed the opposing team's helmet decal on it after each victory. But one was missing—Texas was the only team to defeat the Buffs during the regular season, but CU would exact its revenge and in defeating the No. 3 Longhorns, 39-37, claimed its first Big 12 title. Chris Brown followed up his stellar performance against Nebraska in rushing for 198 yards and three scores, while the Buff defense intercepted UT's Chris Simms three times in the first half.

Sept. 21, 2002—Colorado 31, UCLA 17 (at Los Angeles)

The Buffs, reeling with a 1-2 record, were coming off their worst home loss in 19 years and had a game at No. 20 UCLA. But thanks to 188 rushing yards and three touchdowns from Chris Brown, three Patrick Brougham field goals and a solid game from quarterback Robert Hodge (117 yards), CU's 31-17 win ignited the season and started an 8-1 run over the next nine games.

Sept. 4, 2004—Colorado 27, Colorado State 24 (in Boulder)

The entire program was in the midst of surviving a largely manufactured ordeal off the field, and when the season opener rolled around, the team had a lot of pent up frustration. Rival CSU was set on ruining the opener, rallying from 10 down in the final five minutes to close to within 27-24 and faced a first-and-goal from the CU 1 in the final minute of the game. But the Buffalo defense rose to the occasion, stuffing two running plays as time ran out to preserve the win.

Sept. 29, 2007—Colorado 27, Oklahoma 24 (in Boulder)

The win, which snapped a 14-game losing streak to ranked teams, was the first over a top 25 teams for second-year head coach Dan Hawkins as the Buffs rallied from a 24-7 deficit midway through the third quarter for a 27-24 win over the No. 3 Sooners. Kevin Eberhart's 45-yard field goal as time expired completed the fourth biggest comeback in school history and was only the fourth such instance in school history where the Buffs won on a score as time expired.

Nov. 23, 2007—Colorado 65, Nebraska 51 (in Boulder)

Colorado needed a win to become bowl-eligible, took a 17-7 lead over the rival Huskers only to fall behind 35-24 at halftime but scored 41 points after halftime to roll to the victory. The outburst tied the school record for the most points in a second half and prevented Nebraska from qualifying for the postseason for just the second time in four decades.

Nov. 25, 2011—Colorado 17, Utah 14 (at Salt Lake City)

In the resumption of the CU-Utah series which had been dormant since 1962, CU jumped up early on Utah, 10-0, and then held on for the win which would snap a school record 23-game road losing streak for the Buffs. It also eliminated the Utes from contention for the first Pac-12 South Division title, and was a little payback to the school which had ended CU's national championship hopes in 1961.

DID YOU KNOW?... That CU's records for rushing yards in a single game and season have a common link? In 1971, Charlie Davis rushed for 342 yards in a 40-6 win over Oklahoma State, and in 1994, Rashaan Salaam rushed for 2,055 yards en route to winning the Heisman Trophy. The link? Davis also went over the 1,000-yard mark for the season in the OSU game, doing so on a 67-yard touchdown run around the right end. Salaam went over the 2,000-yard mark in the finale against Iowa State—on a 67-yard touchdown run around the right end.

BIG PLAYS "NOT IN THE BOXSCORE"

Often a play takes place which makes the difference between winning and losing, but it gets lost in the shuffle and then forgotten as time passes by. The following is a listing of some of these moments and the players who created them in the history of Colorado football:

Zack Jordan, 1952 vs. Oklahoma

CU tailback Zack Jordan's powerful right leg was the Buffs' best weapon in a 21-21 tie which was the Sooners' only blemish in what was to become a 47-game undefeated string. Jordan's 72-yard quick kick to the OU 3 set up CU's first TD. His 77-yarder put the Buffs in position for their second score. For good measure he added a 78-yard boot in the fourth period which quickly produced the setting for CU's final score. It was the finest exhibition of kicking in the nation that year and earned Jordan a spot in the NCAA record book. To make his day even more impressive, he scored all three CU touchdowns.

Frank Bernardi, 1954 vs. Missouri

It was a relatively meaningless game but Frank Bernardi played to the end as though it was for the Big Seven championship. CU's chances had faded a week earlier in Boulder with a bitter last quarter 13-6 loss to Oklahoma. The Buffs struggled to a 19-13 advantage over Missouri as time ran out in Columbia. When the Tigers scored with 1:06 left the winning PAT kick seemed a certainty. But Bernardi lined up wide at left end and used his sprinter speed to deflect the ball. The effort cost him two black eyes and a broken nose and a place in the CU record book for unlikely heroes.

John Bayuk, 1956 vs. Missouri

The forearm, not the pounding legs, of fullback John (The Beast) Bayuk provided the impetus for a 14-14 tie at Missouri which ultimately sent CU to its first Orange Bowl appearance. Beaten at the wire by Oklahoma in Boulder a week earlier, the Buffs could clinch a bowl bid with at least a tie with a Tiger team which had made a living annually by catching CU down after a tough battle with OU. Predictably, the Buffs struggled in this one, trailing 14-0 late in the third period. CU scored, then recovered a fumble at the Tiger 37. But Bob Stransky fumbled on first down. At the bottom of the pile, Bayuk was bitten by a Missouri lineman. Getting a reprieve with the 15-yard penalty, CU drove to a tying touchdown which was good enough to send the Buffs to Miami and a 27-21 win over Clemson on New Year's Day.

Chuck Weiss, 1959 vs. Oklahoma

A mighty effort by fullback Chuck Weiss preserved CU's 7-0 victory over Oklahoma, the first victory over the Sooners since the Buffs joined the Big Seven Conference. Colorado held a precarious one-touchdown lead late in the third quarter when OU quarterback Bennett Watts broke into the open from the Sooner 14. He headed for the end zone at full speed with Weiss, a power fullback not noted for his speed, in pursuit from his linebacker post on the far side of the field. Using his angle perfectly, Weiss caught Watts at the CU 17. The Buff defense held at the four and CU had a landmark triumph.

Hale Irwin, 1965 vs. Oklahoma

It was Eddie Crowder's third season at the helm and his CU team was on the way back from the depths of three straight 2-8 campaigns. A win over his alma mater's perennial Big Eight champions would be a big step forward for the Buffs. They led 10-0 nearing the half but the Sooners were rallying, driving to a first and goal with less than a minute left. The Oklahoma quarterback spotted the hole in the line and directed a play there. But CU safety Hale Irwin, better known for his golfing prowess, alertly jumped into the breach and helped jam up the play. The Sooners failed to score and CU went on to give Crowder a homecoming victory, 13-0.

Phil Irwin, 1969 vs. Oklahoma State

En route to a furious finish which saw CU annihilate Alabama in the Liberty Bowl, the Buffs needed a clutch last-second theft by linebacker Phil Irwin to preserve a 17-14 triumph over OSU in a game which CU had to win to keep its bowl hopes alive. After the Buffs seemingly had won the game with a touchdown with 1:22 left to play, the Cowboys launched an aerial attack which moved them to the CU five in less than a minute. There were 30 seconds remaining, and a Cowboy receiver was open in the end zone. The ball was headed for him when Irwin came from nowhere to intercept it. When he downed the ball there was time for one play and the Buffs had taken a big step to Memphis.

John Stearns, 1971 Bluebonnet Bowl vs. Houston

Your team is up by six, 23-17, with seven minutes remaining in the bowl game and it's fourth-and-9 from your own 10-yard line. Punt, right? Don't tell that to John "Bad Dude" Stearns. Moments earlier, Stearns had knocked the ball out of tight end Riley Odoms' hands on fourth down in the end zone to prevent Houston from taking the lead in its home stadium. So perhaps still fired up, Stearns, who doubled as CU's punter, scooped up a bad center snap, looked around, and took off downfield for the first down. He needed nine yards, and the 12 he earned were the impetus the Buffs needed to take the ball in for the clinching score. The win gave CU its best record ever at the time, 10-2, and secured the nation's No. 3 ranking (behind Big Eight rivals Nebraska and Oklahoma).

Steve Vogel & Derek Singleton, 1981 vs. Oklahoma State

Colorado is out of time outs, is faced with second-and-14 at its own 4, there's one minute left in the game, and Oklahoma State holds a 10-3 lead in Boulder. Quarterback Steve Vogel and tailback Derek Singleton would play key roles in one of the greatest comeback drives in CU history. Vogel hits Singleton on a 10-yard pass to get CU into and fourth-and-4 at its 14, and on fourth down, the two hooked up again on a 17-yard play for a first down. From there, it took CU just five plays to get into the end zone to pull to within 10-9. Vogel then found Singleton in the end zone for the two-point conversion and CU won, 11-10. There was sadness to this story, as it would be the last game ever for Singleton. He was struck with spinal meningitis the next Friday and was hospitalized in Ames, Iowa. He passed away on New Year's night in California.

Colorado (1:28)

1-10	C 8	Penalty: Illegal Procedure on Colorado
1-14	C 4	Vogel passes incomplete, intended for Davis
2-14	C 4	Vogel passes complete to Singleton for 10 yards
3- 4	C14	Vogel passes incomplete, intended for Parker
4- 4	C14	Vogel passes complete to Singleton for 14 yards
1-10	C31	(0:47) Vogel passes incomplete out of bounds to stop clock
2-10	C41	(0:42) Vogel passes complete to Ward for 27 yards
1-10	O42	(0:26) Vogel passes complete to Ward for 12 yards
1-10	O30	(0:18) Vogel passes complete to Hestera for 21 yards
1-10	O 9	(0:11) Vogel passes complete to Parker for 9 yards and TD
Vogel passes complete to Singleton for two-point conversion.

Mickey Pruitt, 1985 vs. Oregon

It's year No. 4 of the Bill McCartney Era, and the second game of the season against Oregon in Boulder, while early, is important. A win would double CU's win total of the previous season and could provide momentum for CU's first winning team in six years. Oregon, trailing Colorado, 21-17, drives from its own 13 to the CU 3 and is faced with a fourth-and-goal with nine seconds left. The Buffs called for relentless pressure on Duck quarterback Chris Miller, the game obviously on the line. Miller was flushed out of the pocket, and before he could get the ball off, was sacked for a loss by sophomore safety Mickey Pruitt. The Buffs went on to finish the regular season with a 7-4 mark and earn their first bowl invitation since 1976.

Barry Helton, 1985 vs. Oklahoma State

On his way to an All-America season, punter Barry Helton might have become the first and only ambidextrous punter in Colorado, if not NCAA, history. Late in the first quarter and buried deep in their own territory, Helton came in to punt CU out of a hole at its own 18 in a scoreless tie with No. 12 Oklahoma State. A heavy Cowboy rush forced Helton, a "rightie," to his left. Instead of trying to punt the ball with his natural foot or take a loss and give OSU prime field position, to the surprise of all, he got the punt off with his left foot. It was a low line drive, but it carried and rolled for a combined 51 yards. OSU failed to move the ball and CU eventually took a 3-0 lead midway in the second quarter, but the 'Pokes rallied for a 14-11 victory. Though CU didn't win this game, Helton's "feat" won't soon be forgotten as a special record was created in the CU record books: "Longest Punt (with non-kicking foot)."

Dan McMillen, 1985 vs. Kansas

On his way to setting the Colorado school record for most quarterback sacks in a game, Dan McMillen could have lost his head. Actually, it was just his helmet. As he chased down Kansas quarterback Mike Norseth for his fifth and record-setting sack, McMillen's helmet was knocked free. But that didn't stop the Buff senior outside linebacker from running down Norseth and making the tackle. CU won the game, 14-3, and went on to post its first winning season in seven years.

Darian Hagan, 1989 vs. Texas

The season opener against Texas in Boulder was filled with anticipation, as the Buffs were nationally ranked in the preseason for the first time in 12 years, and ESPN was in town to televise the game to the entire nation. On the second play of the game, quarterback Darian Hagan set all the butterflies free as he scampered 75 yards around the left side to the Texas 2, setting up CU's first touchdown as well as the tone for the game and CU's 11-0 regular season. The Buffs went on to build a 14-0 first quarter lead and a 27-6 win.

Deon Figures, 1990 vs. Washington

Colorado, at 2-1-1 on the season and riding high after an emotional 29-22 comeback win at Texas, leads No. 12 Washington, 20-14 in the final moments. The Huskies are faced with a fourth-and-goal at the CU 7 with 1:04 left, and quarterback Mark Brunell throws a lob pass in the direction of Mario Bailey in the end zone. However, CU sophomore Deon Figures is in the way, making the game-saving interception to preserve CU's victory. Later in the same season, Figures also made an interception at the end of CU's 10-9 win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, a play which prevented Notre Dame from getting into field goal range. Figures picked off the Rick Mirer pass and ran out the clock, helping CU cinch the national championship.

David Gibbs, 1990 vs. Nebraska

This game on a cold and rainy day in Lincoln had both Big Eight title and national championship implications riding on the outcome. Colorado had just taken a 13-12 lead over Nebraska, rallying from a 12-0 deficit, but the Huskers were trying to mount a comeback. Faced with a fourth-and-3 on their own 28 and seven minutes remaining, Nebraska called for a fake punt, the snap going to the upback, Tim Johnk. But the play was sniffed out by David Gibbs, who stopped Johnk for only a two-yard gain, giving possession back to the Buffs. CU scored in just five plays to take a 20-12 lead, and went on to win, 27-12, its first win in Lincoln since 1967. CU jumped from No. 9 to No. 4 in the polls, eventually going on to win the national championship.

Ron Bradford, 1991 Orange Bowl vs. Notre Dame

Bradford, a sophomore who eventually would go on to play in the National Football League, saw action in 1990 mostly in nickel situations and on special teams. However, on this New Year's night, Bradford made one of the biggest plays in CU history. Midway through the second quarter, after Notre Dame scored a touchdown to take a 6-3 lead over the Buffs, Bradford charged through the line and blocked Craig Hentrich's extra point try. Colorado rallied to win the game, 10-9, with that one-point margin, courtesy of Bradford, giving CU's its first national championship in football.

Jeff Brunner & Greg Thomas, 1991 vs. Nebraska

On a frosty night in Boulder before an ESPN national television audience, two plays stand out from a game that ended in a 19-19 tie, which would lead to Colorado and Nebraska sharing the 1991 Big Eight Conference championship. The first one is best remembered because it seemed to take five minutes for Greg Biekert to return a blocked extra point 85 yards for a defensive two-point conversion; however, the play was made possible because of Jeff Brunner's block. Then later, on the game's final play and after three CU timeouts, Greg Thomas skied high to block a Byron Bennett 41-yard field goal try to preserve the tie and CU's share of the title.

Mickey Pruitt's last-second sack against Oregon in 1985.

Chad Brown & Paul Rose, 1991 Orange Bowl vs. Notre Dame

CU took a 10-9 lead, the eventual final score, in the third quarter on an 8-play, 40-yard drive; but that game-winning drive was set up by a huge Notre Dame turnover. With 8:33 left in the quarter, the Irish had a 1st-and-10 at its own 35; Ricky Watters went over the left side for a 5-yard game where he was met by Chad Brown, whose crushing tackle jarred the ball loose, with Paul Rose recovering at the ND 40. It was one of three straight turnovers CU forced to open the second half.

Blake Anderson, 1994 vs. Michigan

Anderson, the son of CU great and college football Hall-of-Fame member Dick Anderson, made his mark at CU primarily on special teams. In fact, he was so committed to special teams play that he earned an invitation to the Hula Bowl based on that commitment. But on Sept. 24 in Ann Arbor, and Colorado trailing Michigan 26-21 with only six seconds to go, Anderson played a huge role in what would become college football's play of the decade. As time expired, Kordell Stewart threw the ball over 70 yards downfield in the direction of a quartet of CU receivers: Anderson, Michael Westbrook, Rae Carruth and James Kidd. The play, "Rocket Jet," called for Anderson to be in position for a deflection, with the other three a few yards back to make the catch. The play, so improbable it rarely worked in practice, worked to perfection. Anderson tipped the ball to Westbrook, who landed in the end zone with 0:00 on the clock to give CU a 27-26 win.

Kory Mossoni, 2001 vs. Texas A&M

The scoring line simply reads "Johnson 52 fumble return" at the tail end of the boxscore in CU's 31-21 win over the Aggies. But a closer look at the score that came with 58 seconds left in the game shows that A&M had moved from its own 9 to the CU35 in just over a minute and was already in position to possibly tie the game. Aggie quarterback Mark Farris dropped back to pass, but was rocked by a charging Kory Mossoni, with the ball literally bouncing right into Johnson's hands to set up the easy return for six. The win was the second in as many weeks over a ranked team and helped propel the Buffs to the conference championship.

Aaron Killion, 2001 vs. Texas

Under interceptions for this game, the line does read: Killion 1-73; but the implications of this one entry were huge. In the first quarter of the Big 12 Championship game, CU was dealing with a raucous Texas crowd in Irving and a 7-0 deficit. The Longhorns drove 85 yards in six plays to open the scoring, and had the ball in position for another score at the Buff 22. But Aaron Killion snared a Chris Simms pass in the flat and took it back 73 yards to the UT12. Chris Brown scored three plays later to tie the score, the first points in a 29-3 run that put the Buffs in control of the game and on their way to their first Big 12 title.

Jordon Dizon & J.J. Billingsley, 2004 vs. Colorado State

Ahead 27-24, CSU had a first-and-goal at the CU 1-yard line with 30 seconds remaining, but had no timeouts remaining. Surprisingly, former Buff Marcus Houston tried to win the game for his new team but was shellacked for no gain by freshman linebacker Jordon Dizon. Even more surprising was that CSU went for the win without spiking the ball to stop the clock, as a pitch to Tristan Walker was sniffed out by safety J.J. Billingsley, who stopped him at the CU 3 with corner Lorenzo Sims coming over to help finish the tackle and preserve the win for the Buffs.

Chase McBride, 2007 vs. Colorado State & Oklahoma

The diminutive 5-6 return man played a key role in two come-from-behind wins that opened and closed September 2007. In the season opener, with CU down 28-25 to the rival Rams, he returned a punt 43 yards to the Ram 34-yard line with 2:08 remaining, setting up a tying field goal by Kevin Eberhart that forced overtime (the Buffs won in OT on another Eberhart kick). Against OU, he returned a punt 31 yards to mid-field with 2:51 to play, which set the stage for Eberhart's 45-yard winning field goal as time ran out that gave CU a 27-24 win over the No. 3 Sooners.

B.J. Beatty & Jon Major, 2010 vs. Georgia

Just as Georgia appeared ready to spoil CU's 20th anniversary celebration of its 1990 national championship with a last-minute win, Colorado linebackers B.J. Beatty and Jon Major stepped forward and changed the script. After UGA drove to the CU 27, Beatty's strip of quarterback Aaron Murray and Major's recovery with 1:55 remaining allowed the Buffaloes to exit Folsom Field with a 29-27 victory and head into their final Big 12 Conference season with a 3-1 record.

Bill Harris finds a hole in the Air Force defense in the 1962 game.

Throughout its history, University of Colorado football fans have been treated to some special moments the last time a player or coach took the field for the Buffaloes, either in the final game of the regular season or in a bowl game. Here's a look at a few of these that stand out:

Byron White, 1937

Not a farewell game as much as it was a farewell tour for the man who would go on to become a U.S. Supreme Court Justice. In the final home game of the year, Byron White scored three second half touchdowns to defeat Colorado College, 35-6. In the final regular season game at Denver, he accounted for every CU point in a 34-7 win over the Pioneers, scoring three touchdowns, passing for two and making four extra points. Then, in the first bowl game ever for CU, he passed for one touchdown and scored another on a 47-yard interception return in a 28-14 loss to Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

Frank Bernardi & Carroll Hardy, 1954 vs. Kansas State

The final game of the 1954 season didn't really have anything riding on it as far as Colorado was concerned, except that it was the final game in a CU uniform for five Buffalo seniors. Kansas State, however, could have earned an Orange Bowl berth with a win and a Nebraska loss. Coach Dal Ward told the underclassmen to dedicate the final game to the quintet, and in particular, to four-year lettermen Carroll Hardy and Frank Bernardi, who had carried the team to a 6-2-1 record at that point. The Buffs would easily defeat the Wildcats, 38-14, but when Hardy and Bernardi carried the ball, they must have thought they were playing against just the clean Rocky Mountain air. The CU offensive line dominated from start to finish, as Hardy rushed for 238 yards and three touchdowns on just 10 carries, while Bernardi picked up 113 and a score on only nine tries.

John Bayuk, 1957 Orange Bowl

Known as "The Beast," John Bayuk rallied Colorado to its first-ever bowl win, a 27-21 verdict over Clemson in the Orange Bowl. He rushed for 121 yards on 23 carries and scored two touchdowns, including the game winner with 7:13 left to play.

Coach Bud Davis, 1962 vs. Air Force

Though he coached only the one season in Boulder, the transitional year between Sonny Grandelius and Eddie Crowder, the season finale in 1962 was special for Bud Davis. Heading into the rivalry game against Air Force with just a 1-8 record, CU was a Rashaan Salaam on his way to 2,000-plus yards versus Iowa State in 1994.

21-point underdog to the Falcons. But the Buffaloes gave Davis, who resigned the day of the game, a tremendous sendoff, convincingly defeating the "Zoomies," 34-10. Bill Harris rushed for 108 yards and Bill Symons scored twice to lead the Buffs.

Bobby Anderson, 1969 Liberty Bowl

He placed 11th in the Heisman Trophy balloting, but who knows where he would have finished had the voting taken place after the Liberty Bowl. Bobby Anderson led a ground game to an explosive offensive attack, as CU defeated Bear Bryant's Alabama Crimson Tide, 47-33. Anderson rushed 254 yards on 35 carries and scored three touchdowns, including a pair in the fourth quarter to seal the win for Coach Eddie Crowder's Buffaloes. And for good measure, he completed 3-of-4 passes for another 41 yards, giving him 295 yards of total offense (over half of CU's 563 on the afternoon).

Bill Roe, 1979 vs. Kansas State

The game meant nothing, except that it would signal the end of a very disappointing season for first year coach Chuck Fairbanks. But nobody told that to Bill Roe, who was a one-man wrecking crew on defense in CU's 21-6 win. He had 24 tackles in the game, the second most at the time in a game by a Buffalo, along with two interceptions.

Mike Pritchard & Others, 1990 vs. Kansas State

Colorado had already clinched the Orange Bowl, but needed to stay sharp as the Buffs moved to No. 1 in the polls after a 64-3 pasting of Kansas State in Boulder. In the final game for some 21 seniors, Mike Pritchard gained 152 yards on just four touches, scoring two touchdowns. Eric Bieniemy rushed for 115 yards in his final home game, but would lose out on the NCAA rushing title by 12 yards when he didn't play in the second half. O.C. Oliver scored for the first time since he was a freshman in 1986, and outside linebacker Alfred Williams got his wish, playing a few snaps at tight end and catching a pass for 17 yards.

Rashaan Salaam, 1994 vs. Iowa State

Only three others had accomplished what Rashaan Salaam had in front of him this November afternoon. Salaam, who went on to win Colorado's first Heisman Trophy, came into the game needing 204 yards to become the fourth player in NCAA history at the time to rush for 2,000 yards in a single season. With CU ahead, 27-13, and just under 11 minutes left in the game, Salaam had 192 in the game and 1,988 for the season, and Colorado had a first-and-10 at its own 33. He took the hand-off from Kordell Stewart and sprinted around the right side, heading 67 yards down the Colorado sidelines for a touchdown and 2,055 yards. One of the most single exciting plays in CU history, with the fans jumping up-and-down holding onto yellow placards with a simple "2,000" printed on them in black. Also in this game, Kordell Stewart became the Big Eight's all-time total offense leader with 7,770 yards, as he passed for 196 and ran for 89, also eclipsing the mark in the fourth quarter. And to cap off the day's events, head coach Bill McCartney, announced after the game that he would retire following CU's bowl game.

Coach Bill McCartney & Kordell Stewart, 1995 Fiesta Bowl

It was the rubber game in the postseason between Colorado and Notre Dame in the 1990s, as the two split a pair of Orange Bowls to start the decade, both with national championship implications for the Buffs. CU built up a 31-3 lead over an outmatched Fighting Irish team and cruised to a 41-24 victory in Bill McCartney's final game as head coach. He would exit as CU's all-time winningest head coach with a 93-55-5 record. With all eyes on Heisman winner Rashaan Salaam, who scored three touchdowns and rushed for 85 yards, Kordell Stewart had a field day against the Irish. He rushed for 143 yards and a touchdown on just seven carries, and completed 11-of-20 passes for 205 yards and another score in being named the game's most valuable player.

Bill McCartney

Koy Detmer & Rae Carruth, 1996 Holiday Bowl

The senior duo, which hooked up for 54 completions and eight touchdowns in the regular season, obliterated almost every passing and receiving record in Colorado bowl history. Detmer completed 25 of 45 passes for 371 yards and three touchdowns, while Carruth caught seven of those for 162 yards, including two touchdowns. Their first touchdown, a 76-yard bomb that got CU on the scoreboard, was the longest play from scrimmage in the Buff postseason. Colorado rallied from a 14-0 deficit to defeat Washington, 33-21.

The Class of '01, 2001 vs. Nebraska

Twenty-nine seniors suited up for the final time in their CU careers at Folsom Field. Three-and-a-half hours and nine touchdowns later, this group put a 62-36 win on the scoreboard over Nebraska, ending a nine-game losing streak to their fiercest rival.

Hugh Charles & Jordon Dizon, 2007 vs. Nebraska

Colorado needed a win to become bowl eligible, and everyone came to play, including senior tailback Hugh Charles and senior linebacker Jordon Dizon. Charles rushed 33 times for 169 yards and three touchdowns, caught one pass for 33 more, and returned five kickoffs for 125 yards; the 327 all-purpose yards were the most in 13 years and the sixth highest total in school history. Dizon closed his career at Folsom with 16 tackles, 12 solo, a third down stop and a pass deflection as CU won 65-51 and earned an invitation to the Independence Bowl.

GREAT INTRODUCTIONS—The starting lineups on ABC for the game were produced by CU alums Trey Parker, Matt Stone and Eric Stough, the creators of the Comedy Central hit South Park. An instant YouTube hit, the intros were popular and selected as the best of the year for the entire ABC/ESPN series of games.

SPRING FOOTBALL HISTORY

For 40 years, spring practice traditionally ended with a game between the Colorado Varsity and Alumni. Back at the turn of the century, an Alumni team usually served as the season opener for the varsity (13 times all told, with the Varsity owning an 11-0-2 edge in those games). The Varsity held a 20-3 edge in the old format of the spring series, which started back in 1953 under then head coach Dal Ward. After a pair of games, the series became dormant until 1963 when it was revived by Eddie Crowder. There was no game between 1974 and 1976, and the 1978 game was cancelled due to a blizzard.

A new format for the Varsity-Alumni game (implemented in 1988) had the alumni playing in the first and third quarters, with the first team of the varsity playing the second and fourth quarters. They were pitted against the second- and third-team members of the varsity, resulting in a competitive and fun game. The alumni and first-team varsity always wore black. This format was discontinued following 1992 for competitive reasons.

The all-time results of the Varsity-Alumni game:

The format for the game in 1993 and 1994 was to pit the first-team offense and defense against the remainder of the squad. The results of this series:

1993 — White, 24-13		2,500	1994 — Black, 45-3		1,650

An intrasquad game was started in 1987 and was dubbed the “Black & White” game (which evolved into the “Black & Gold” game). The format for this has varied through the years, depending on the health of the team; most years, the team is divided by the coaching staff into two units of comparable strength. Injuries in the 2001-03 and 2005 seasons forced an offense-defense formatted game with its own unique scoring system, and in 2006-07 the team scrimmaged due to a lack of offensive linemen. In 2008, the Black team was the first-team offense, the Gold team the second and third-teamers; that year, in response to a challenge by former head coach Bill McCartney, a CU spring record crowd of 17,800 turned out for the game. In 2010 and 2014, the players drafted the teams themselves. A look at this series:

One of the most emotional moments in CU football history came at half-time of the 1989 spring game, when the varsity and alumni saluted cancer-stricken quarterback Sal Aunese (center). Aunese passed away on Sept. 23 later that same year.

ALL-TIME LETTERMEN

Throughout the years, various standards have been used to determine who has been awarded letters at CU (as well as at every school in the nation, as all set their own criteria). From the 1930s until the late 1970s, letters were awarded based on a player seeing action in at least half of the quarters played by CU in a particular season. In recent times, criteria have ranged from a minimum of 100 plays in a season or possessing a special skill (the Bill McCartney Era) to playing at least one snap in at least one game (Rick Neuheisel Era). Under Gary Barnett, and the head coaches since, the Buffs returned to the criteria that McCartney first instituted. In addition, it has been a standing policy since 1982 to award letters to all seniors in the program, regardless of playing time.

Jersey numbers, heights and weights are generally those listed in CU publications (or other sources) in the player's final letter-winning year. Positions are listed in the terminology of the era in which the letterman played; if more than one position is listed, then that player saw substantial game time at those positions. Hometowns are usually the place from which the player came to CU, followed by the high school and any previous institution, be it a junior or senior college.

There are 1,971 known football lettermen at the University of Colorado, but information prior to 1940 is limited at best and thus some holes do exist. The list below was researched and expanded with the help of the late CU athletic historian Fred Casotti in 1999; if you have additional information on yourself or someone on this list, please call the Sports Information Office at 303/492-5626.

State Prep Awards

Several Buffaloes have won the two most prestigious prep awards in the state of Colorado through the years. The Denver Post Gold Helmet Award began in 1951, and 23 of the winners to date attended CU, 19 on football scholarships. The Rocky Mountain News began the Fred Steinmark Athlete of the Year Award in 1972 (open to all sports), with 10 CU athletes, nine football and one track, bestowed that fine honor. The lists:

RETIRED NUMBERS

#24 BYRON "WHIZZER" WHITE

Colorado's first All-American and one of the greatest students in the history of the school, Byron (Whizzer) White, retired as a justice of the Supreme Court in March, 1993, after serving 31 years on the nation's high court.

White made all the All-America teams after a brilliant 1937 season in which he led CU to an 8-0 record and Cotton Bowl bid as he set national records with 1,121 rushing yards and 122 points. Those marks, erased nationally only after colleges went to 10- and 11-game schedules, set CU records.

White was a Phi Beta Kappa, Rhodes Scholar, two-time All-Pro halfback with Pittsburgh and Detroit, leading graduate of the Yale Law School in 1946, decorated naval intelligence officer in World War II, leading Denver attorney, and deputy attorney general for the United States. White is a member of the NFL Hall-of-Fame, the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall-of-Fame, the GTE Academic Hall-of-Fame, and was selected to CU's "All-Century Team." In 1998, he was the first inductee into CU's Athletic Hall-of-Fame. He passed away at the age of 84 on April 15, 2002.

#67 JOE ROMIG

Romig, a two-time All-American selection, is a member of the Big Eight Hall-of-Fame and the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame. Now a senior research associate in radio physics in Boulder, Romig was the Buffs' 1961 team captain and the United Press International Lineman of the year. Romig had no peers as a linebacker, as he ranged far and fiercely from his middle linebacker position behind a four-man line. Fast and strong, he was consistently in on most of CU's tackles.

Offensively, Romig developed into an excellent straight-ahead and pulling blocker. Like White, he was an inspirational leader gifted with extraordinary physical and mental abilities.

Romig was a tremendous student, logging straight A's in his last six semesters and building a 3.9 grade-point average. He was also a Danforth and Woodrow Wilson Scholar. A Rhodes Scholar, Joe received his master's degree in physics at Oxford University in England and a doctorate in physics at Colorado in 1975. He is a member of the GTE Academic Hall-of-Fame and was selected to CU's "All-Century Team." In 1999, he was part of the second class to be inducted into CU's Athletic Hall-of-Fame.

#11 BOBBY ANDERSON

Anderson set 18 single-game, single-season and career marks during his three-season career with the Buffs along with earning All-Big Eight and All-American honors.

A professional player with Denver (the team's No. 1 draft choice), Washington and New England, Anderson started his CU career as a quarterback but switched to tailback for the third game of his senior season (1969). In his career, he rushed for 2,729 yards and had over 5,000 yards in total offense.

Anderson concluded his Colorado career with a 254-yard rushing effort in the 1969 Liberty Bowl as the Buffs beat Alabama 47-33. He currently is a Denver-area businessman, and has worked over two decades for KOA-Radio handling pre- and post-game shows as well as sideline reporting on the CU Football Network. He is a member of CU's "All-Century Team." In 1999, he received the prestigious University Medal, awarded to those who have performed outstanding service to or for the University. In December 2006, he became the fourth Buffalo to be inducted into the College Football Hall-of-Fame.

THE NATIONAL PLAY-OF-THE-YEAR

In 1992, Nu Skin International and CoSIDA started sponsorship of "The National Play-of-the-Year," honoring the most outstanding play annually in college football. Notre Dame won the inaugural honor in 1992, but the University of Colorado won for both the 1993 and 1994 seasons. Here's a closer look at CU's winning plays:

1993 (October 16; Colorado 27, Oklahoma 10)—Lamont Warren throws a 34-yard touchdown pass to Charles Johnson on the halfback option play. What made it special? Warren slipped on the slick artificial surface as he threw the ball, and some 40 yards later in the end zone, Johnson made the catch on the ground after he was interfered with. The play defied imagination, and is truly appreciated when looked at in slow motion.

1994 (September 24; Colorado 27, Michigan 26)—College football's play of the decade, this effort also won an "Espy" from ESPN for the play of the year in all of sports for 1994. As time expired, Kordell Stewart throws a 64-yard touchdown pass to Michael Westbrook, who made the catch after a Blake Anderson deflection. CU had trailed, 26-14, with under four minutes remaining, and trailed by five with 15 seconds left on its own 15-yard line after stopping Michigan on defense.

QB/RB, 6-0, 208, 3L, Boulder, Colo. (Boulder)

A consensus first-team All-American at tailback as a senior in 1969 (Associated Press, United Press International, NEA, Sporting News)... AP named him an honorable mention All-American his sophomore year when he played quarterback... He earned first-team All-Big Eight honors at both positions (QB in 1968, TB in 1969)... He moved to tailback for the third game of his senior year (versus Indiana), rushed for 161 yards and three touchdowns and remained there the rest of the season... One of three CU players to have his jersey number retired (#11)... He became the fourth Buffalo to be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame (in 2006), joining his older brother, Dick, as the two were the seventh set of brothers in the Hall... He set 18 single-game, single-season, and career records during his CU career, including 4,565 yard of total offense, a Big Eight record at the time... When the record book was revised in 1979, he accumulated 14 more... Also exited as CU's all-time leading rusher (2,367 yards) and scorer (212 points)... He finished 11th in the 1969 Heisman Trophy voting... A member of CU's All-Century team (second-leading vote getter, 5,636 of a possible 6,265)... In his final game for CU, accounted for 295 yards of total offense in the 1969 Liberty Bowl in Memphis, and was voted the game's MVP (his 254 yards and three TDs rushing led CU to a 47-33 win over Alabama)... Also the MVP in the '67 Bluebonnet Bowl win over Miami, Fla.... A member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (inducted 1982) and the Big Eight Hall of Fame (inducted 1980); his jersey was one of the inaugural ones honored by CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998 (and was inducted into the Hall in 2006)... Won the Zack Jordan Award (most valuable player), as voted by his teammates as a senior... A first-round selection in the 1970 NFL draft by the Denver Broncos (11th overall)... Played in 54 NFL games with Denver (1970-74), New England (1975) and Washington (1975)... Worked on CU football broadcasts from 1977-2005 for KOA-Radio, and was a regular participant on the Celebrity Golf Tour.

DICK ANDERSON

SS, 6-2, 205, 3L, Boulder, Colo. (Boulder)

A consensus first-team All-American as a senior in 1967 (Associated Press, NEA)...A first-team All-Big Eight performer as a senior as well, when he was first in the Big Eight and sixth in the nation with a school record seven interceptions... One of four Buffaloes in the College Football Hall of Fame, as he was elected in 1993... A member of the Big Eight Hall of Fame (inducted 1978), the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (inducted 1980) and CU's All-Century team that was selected in 1989... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in the school's fourth class in 2002... When he ended his CU career, he was the school's all-time leader in interceptions (14), tackles (266, 123 solo) and was tied for second in pass deflections (13)... A third-round draft pick of the Miami Dolphins in 1968 AFL-NFL draft (73rd overall), and played for Dolphins from 1968-77 (121 career games)... He won two Super Bowl rings with the Dolphins (1972-73), as he was a member of the only undefeated Super Bowl champion team in history (17-0)... An All-Pro performer, he played in Pro Bowl three times (1972-73-74).

interception percentage in a single season, with just one in 51 attempts as a sophomore... He took over the starting job three games into the year, rushing for 185 yards and a touchdown in three quarters of action against Washington State after replacing an injured Mark Hatcher... As a junior in 1988, he amassed 1,401 yards of total offense, the most by a CU player in a decade... Directed comeback victories on the road at both Iowa (24-21) and Colorado State (27-23)... One of just seven players in school history to both rush and pass for 1,000 yards in a career... The co-CIF player of the year as a senior in high school... He was diagnosed with stomach cancer in March 1989 and passed away six months later at the age of 21 on Sept. 23, one week after attending and receiving a standing ovation at the CU-Illinois game at Folsom Field.

ERIC BIENIEMY

HB, 5-7, 195, 4L, West Covina, Calif. (Bishop Amat)

One of the first three unanimous All-Americans in CU history, when the seven NCAA recognized selectors all tabbed him on their first-team in 1990 (along with OG Joe Garten and OLB Alfred Williams that same year)... He finished third in the Heisman voting that year, when he rushed for 1,628 yards as the starting tailback on CU's national championship team; that total was good for second in the nation (he lost the title by 16 yards)... A two-time first-team All-Big Eight performer in 1988 and 1990, and was the conference's offensive player-of-the-year as a senior... Named to CU's All-Century team, the only active member at the time who was selected... Finished his career as CU's all-time leader rusher (3,940 yards), and was also tops in attempts (699), all-purpose yards (4,351) and scoring (254 points) and second in total offense (4,003)... The first (and only) CU player to rush over 1,000 yards in two seasons... A second round selection by San Diego in the 1991 NFL Draft (39th overall), and played nine seasons in the league (San Diego, 1991-94; Cincinnati 1995-98 and Philadelphia 1999...

Had NFL career totals of 1,589 yards and 11 touchdowns rushing and 146 receptions for 1,223 yards receiving... He coached running backs for two years for CU (2001-02) before moving on to UCLA for three years and then to the Minnesota Vikings in 2006... After five seasons with the Vikings, he returned to Colorado as the Buffaloes' offensive coordinator for the 2011 and 2012 seasons... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2010.

JEREMY BLOOM

WR, 5-9, 175, 2L, Loveland, Colo. (Loveland)

A member of the U.S. Olympic Ski Team, the NCAA cut his career short by not allowing him to accept endorsement money to fund his ski training... He made his mark in just two seasons at CU, though, as he had five career plays of 75 yards or longer (two receptions, two punt returns, one kickoff return), tied with Byron White for the second most in school history, and just one behind the leader, Ben Kelly (six between 1997-99)... The first time he touched the ball as a collegian, he returned a punt 75 yards for a touchdown against Colorado State (2002 opener)... That same year against Kansas State, he had a 94-yard catch and run reception for a touchdown, the longest pass play in school history (also his first career catch)... Against Oklahoma in the '02 Big 12 Championship, he had an 80-yard punt return for six... He added an 81-yard touchdown reception at Florida State and an 88-yard kickoff return at Kansas State as a sophomore... He finished his career eighth in punt return yards (625), tied for fifth in punt return touchdowns (2), 11th in kickoff return yards (627), 57th in receiving yards (458) and 48th in all-purpose yards (1,792)... The 2004-05 World Cup Moguls champion, he finished ninth in the event at the 2002 Winter Olympics at Salt Lake City and sixth in the 2006 games at Turin, Italy... Created a foundation, Wish of a Lifetime, which funds life-enriching wishes for seniors.

An Associated Press All-American on defense as a senior in 1952... All-Big Seven Conference selection in both 1951 and 1952... To this day, he remains the CU season record-holder in fumble recoveries (seven in '52) and in takeaways (interceptions and fumble recoveries with nine, also in '52)... A monster on defense, he had at least 20 tackles in CU's 21-21 tie with Oklahoma in 1952, the only blemish in conference play for the Sooners in the 10-year history of the Big Seven (tackles weren't tracked back then)... Earned nine letters in three sports as a Buff (football, baseball, basketball)... Seventh-round draft pick by the N.Y. Giants in the 1953 NFL Draft (79th overall)... Went on to become an assistant coach at Montana and then for British Columbia and Ottawa in the Canadian Football League... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2004.

A first-team All-American by the Football News as a senior in 1971 (honorable mention by the Associated Press)... Winner of the Zack Jordan Award for CU's most valuable player (1971)... Owns CU and NCAA record for career touchdowns scored on kick returns (eight, six punts and two kickoffs)... He had four in both 1970 and 1971, still CU records, as are his six career punt return TDs... Ended his CU career second in school history in punt return yards (733; was third in kickoff return yards with 755)... His six punt return TDs were all between 59 and 75 yards, while his two kickoff return scores covered 100 and 97 yards... Averaged 18.5 yards per catch, best in school history at the time for 35 or more career catches (it's still sixth)... A fourth round by Oakland in the 1972 NFL Draft (98th overall)... Played in 183 career NFL games, all with the Raiders (1972-85), and caught 501 passes for 8,685 yards and 67 touchdowns for Oakland, all numbers second at the time in team history... He won three Super Bowl Rings with the Raiders (1976, 1980, 1983)... A four-time NFL All-Pro selection (1974-75-76-77), playing in the Pro Bowl those four years... Played one year in the Arena Football League with Los Angeles (1988)... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2010.

PETE BROCK

C, 6-5, 260, 3L, Beaverton, Ore. (Jesuit)

#54

A first-team All-American by The Sporting News as a senior in 1975, when the United Press International named him second-team... A first-team Academic All Big-Eight team member as a junior in '74... Played in 1976 Hula Bowl... Majored in biology at CU... Considered the top center in the nation by most NFL scouts as a senior... A first-round draft pick by New England in the 1976 NFL draft and the 12th overall pick; it was the highest-ever a Colorado offensive lineman was selected in the draft at the time, and would remain for 21 years until Chris Naeole was selected 10th by New Orleans (though younger brother Stan was also drafted 12th)... He played for Patriots in 154 career NFL games (66 starts), and scored a touchdown on a 6-yard reception as an eligible receiver as a rookie in 1976.

#79

OT, 6-7, 270, 4L, Beaverton, Ore. (Jesuit)

A first-team All-American by The Sporting News as a senior in 1979, when he also was a unanimous first-team All-Big Eight performer and a CU team captain...

Winner of the John Mack Award as CU's outstanding offensive lineman as voted by teammates that same year... Played in both the 1980 Senior and Hula bowls... A first-round draft pick by New Orleans in the 1980 NFL Draft (12th overall, matching older brother Pete's mark of the highest a CU offensive lineman was selected; it would last 17 more seasons)... Played in 234 career NFL games with New Orleans (1980-92) and San Diego (1993-95), at one point playing in 112 straight games between 1989-95... He has played the most professional games of any CU alumni in the National Football League... Went into coaching after his playing days, and was head coach at Army for two seasons (2007-08).

#34

OLB/ILB, 6-4, 240, 4L, Altadena, Calif. (John Muir)

A second-team All-American as a senior in 1992 (NEA; honorable mention by UPI), he overcame three separate injuries that season to finish the year as a unanimous All-

Big Eight selection... He rebounded from a broken hand, back spasms and a separated shoulder to post 88 tackles, with 15 for losses... Also All-Big Eight as a junior when he racked up 125 tackles for second on the team... He ended his career as CU's fourth all-time leading tackler (369), was third all-time in solo stops (242) and fourth in tackles for loss (38)... Played inside linebacker as a freshman and sophomore before switching to the outside, where he would record 14 quarterback sacks over the next two seasons... Also made a name for himself as he had one of the more interesting hobbies in CU football history: he bred snakes and lizards, once even traveling to Costa Rica to hunt the reptiles at night... A second round pick by Pittsburgh in the 1993 NFL Draft (44th overall), he played four seasons with the Steelers (1993-96) before moving on to Seattle and then the New England Patriots... Now a local sports media personality, in 2012, he became CU's sideline reporter on KOA broadcasts.

TB, 6-3, 220, 2L, Naperville, Ill. (North/Northwestern/Fort Scott CC)

A first-team All-American by the AFCA as a junior in 2002 (second-team by the Associated Press and The Sporting News), when was the runner-up for the Doak

Walker Award (presented to the nation's top running back)... He finished eighth in the balloting for the Heisman, an honor he would have contended for had it not been for a late season injury (he received five first place votes and 48 points)... The Colorado Sports Hall of Fame selected him as its collegiate athlete of the year for the state of Colorado... He was having quite a season prior to missing the last two games with a severely bruised sternum, as in 11 games, he rushed for 1,744 yards, the second highest single-season total in school history, doing so on the strength of nine 100-plus yard rushing games (he had 14 for his career)... He led the nation in rushing for a six-week period in 2002 en route to finishing third in the NCAA... A unanimous All-Big 12 selection, he led the Big 12 in rushing, scoring and all-purpose yards, with the league coaches selecting him as the offensive player of the year... He has one of the three 300-yard rushing games in school history (309 at Kansas in 2002)... As a sophomore, he led the team in rushing, as his tough, aggressive running keyed late season wins over Nebraska to win the Big 12 North Division and then over Texas to claim the league crown; he had 198 and 182 yards, respectively, in those games, and scored a school record six touchdowns against the Cornhuskers (and added three in the title game)... Declared himself eligible for the NFL Draft following his junior season, and was a third round pick (93rd overall) by the Tennessee Titans.

A Sporting News first-team All-America as a senior in 1996 (second-team by the Associated Press and Football News)...A two-time, first-team all-conference performer (All-Big Eight in 1995, All-Big 12 in 1996)... One of only two players, along with Charles E. Johnson, to have a pair of 1,000-yard plus receiving seasons at CU... Set or tied 12 different receiving records during his career... His 11 100-yard receiving games are the second most in CU history and include a 222-yard game at Missouri in 1996 (5 receptions, 2 TDs) that tied the school single game mark for receiving yardage... Ended his career second in both receptions (135) and yards (2,540) and was first in TD receptions (20) for the Buffaloes... Two-time co-winner of the Zack Jordan Award as CU's most valuable player as a junior and senior... One of three finalists for the Biletnikoff Award as a senior... A first round draft choice by Carolina in the 1997 NFL Draft (27th overall)... Played in 14 career NFL games with the Panthers (48 receptions for 604 yards and four touchdowns)... His career was marred by injuries, and it came to an abrupt end when he was convicted in 2001 in a murder conspiracy and was sentenced to 19-to-24 years in prison.

Trinidad (Colo.) Junior College for two years where he had a brilliant career (he had to sit out the '54 season after transferring)... He was joined by John Wooten the following year, and what the pair often had to endure outside of Boulder before the civil rights movement was deplorable, but they had the full support of the university... He was so popular on campus that he was elected "King" of the annual CU Days festival... Also was one of the first blacks to play in the old Big 7 Conference... An honorable mention All-Big 7 performer as a junior, when he was second in the league in receiving... Colorado ran the single-wing during his career, so passing downfield was rare, but he led the team both years in receiving and averaged 26.6 yards for 20 catches in his career, seven of which went for touchdowns... He had one 100-yard receiving game, and it was a beauty, as he caught two passes for exactly 100, both for touchdowns, against Utah as a junior... Ended his career fifth at the time in receiving yards at Colorado... He also blocked two kicks in his career, of which he also handled most of the kickoff chores... He had one catch for 18 yards in CU's win over Clemson in the '57 Orange Bowl, and he played in the Copper Bowl All-Star game following his senior year... He was selected by Cleveland in the fifth round of the '56 NFL Draft (61st pick overall, he was eligible due to his age), and joined the Browns after his senior year at CU; he played three seasons in Cleveland and then eight (1960-67) with the Dallas Cowboys. He caught 291 passes for 5,426 yards and 50 touchdowns in 140 NFL games... His final game was in the '67 NFL Championship game against Green Bay and former teammate Boyd Dowler in what is known as the "Ice Bowl," won by the Packers, 21-17... He was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2008.

He became just the seventh two-time, first-team All-American in CU history, as well as only the seventh three-time, first-team All-Conference performer... Set 33 single-game, season and career records at Colorado, most notably becoming the school's all-time leading scorer with 307 points... He set or tied 19 of the school's 38 placekicking records, including all of the major marks: field goals made (66), field goals attempted (88), extra points made (109), extra point attempts (117), field goal percentage (75.0) and longest field goal made (60 yards)... He made 12 career kicks of 50 yards or longer (the previous record had been three), as he owned nine of the 14 longest kicks in CU history at the end of his career... He excelled in late game heroics, making a name for himself in the clutch: he was 14-of-18 in the fourth quarter, including 12-of-14 in the final 9½ minutes with nine kicks of 41 yards or longer and seven of them with the score of the game within six points; his only misses came his senior year: a 63-yard try against Montana State as CU tried to rally in the waning minutes (2 yards short) and a 65-yard try in a bid to tie the NCAA record without a tee against Iowa State (27-inches short)... He made 32-of-43 field goals outside of the state of Colorado, the average make from 36.8 yards and the average miss from 43.4 yards (included three blocked; 47.0 otherwise)... His 58-yard kick at Miami, Fla., in 2005 was the longest at sea level in NCAA history... In addition, he kicked off 203 times, with 138 going for touchbacks (88 through the end zone), all school records, with the average starting yardline of the opponent its 22 after his kicks; 20 of 61 returned against him were not brought out beyond the 20... In the postseason, he finished fourth all-time in scoring with 19 points in bowls (5-of-7 FG, 4-of-4 PAT), the second in kick scoring, trailing only Aldrich, one of the few records of his that he did not break... He also exited as the Big 12 Conference all-time leader in field goals made, attempted and percentage; he was selected the special teams player of the week by the conference nine times, a school record... He won a Super Bowl ring with the Green Bay Packers (for the 2010 season).

An honorable mention All-American as a senior in 1996 by the Football News, as he was the unanimous first-team All-Big 12 quarterback in the conference's inaugural season... That same year, he was a finalist for the Johnny Unitas Award and a semifinalist for the Davey O'Brien Award... Set numerous passing records as a senior, when he passed for 3,156 yards and 22 touchdowns... Was off to a terrific start in '95 until he was sidelined with a torn ACL (he was such a gamer that after missing a game, he tried to comeback but a specially fitted brace couldn't supply enough support)... At the time of the injury, he was the nation's leading passer with a 189.4 rating... Redshirted in 1993... Started his career as a true freshman in 1992, playing in seven games including two starts (Oklahoma, Nebraska); he threw for 418 yards and five touchdowns against the Sooners, both highs in a debut for a CU starting quarterback; he also threw a 92-yard touchdown pass to Charles Johnson, which stood for 10 years as the longest pass play in school history... In 18 career starts, including bowls, he led CU to a 14-3-1 record... Second all-time at Colorado with 14 games of 200-plus yards passing; his five of 400 or more and seven 300-plus are school bests... Ended his career by being named the MVP of the '96 Holiday Bowl, when he completed 25 of 45 passes for 371 yards and three touchdowns in Colorado's 33-21 win over Washington... Older brother, Ty, won the Heisman Trophy as a junior at Brigham Young in 1990... A seventh round selection by Philadelphia in the 1997 NFL Draft, he spent his 10 years with the Eagles (1997-2006) and finished up at Minnesota. Though basically the back-up signal caller, he spot-started on occasion.

He finished his career fourth in total tackles (440), first in solo stops (293), first in third down stops (48), 11th in tackles for loss (35), and 21st in sacks (12)... He had 21 career double figure tackle games... He ended his career as the nation's second leading active tackler, trailing Central Michigan's Red Keith, who logged 465... As a senior in 2007, he was Colorado's first consensus All-American since 2001 and the first Buff linebacker to earn the distinction since 1996; the Associated Press, The Sporting News and Walter Camp Football Foundation all selected him first-team... He was a runner-up for the Dick Butkus Award, presented to the nation's top linebacker, and was also one of 15 semifinalists for the Chuck Bednarik Award and one of eight semifinalists for the Ronnie Lott Award... He was the coaches' choice for the Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year, CU's first on defense since 1992... The recipient of CU's Zack Jordan Award as the team's most valuable player and the Dave Jones Award as the most outstanding defensive player, he also received the Buffalo Heart Award, presented by the fans... A first-team All-Big 12 performer (Associated Press, league coaches and all major publications), he finished second in the nation in tackles (160 by CU count, 149 by NCAA press box counts), and led the NCAA in solo tackles with 120 (107 press box)... The 160 tackles were the fifth most in school history for a single season, but the 120 shattered the old mark of unassisted stops by 15... Had a school record 19 third down stops as a senior... Drafted in the second round by the Detroit Lions in the 2008 NFL Draft.

A first-team Academic All-Big Seven team member as a junior and senior (1957-58)... He finished second on the team in rushing, receiving and scoring as a junior, and was second in rushing with the second-most receiving yards as a senior... Through 2013, he still ranks 23rd all-time on CU's rushing list with 1,612 yards (he was sixth at the time of graduation); he also is 32nd all-time in all-purpose yards (2,278), seventh at the close of his career... He had three career 100-yard rushing games, his top game a 131-yard, two-TD effort on just seven carries as a junior at Kansas in '57... He finished his career with a 6.55 average per carry, the third best in school history at the time and figure which remains the third highest for any CU player with over 75 carries and over 600 yards... Played in two all-star games following his senior year, the East-West Shrine Game and the College All-Stars... In CU's 27-21 win over Clemson in the 1957 Orange Bowl, he rushed six times for 36 yards and returned a punt for eight yards... He was a third round selection in the 1959 NFL Draft by the San Francisco 49ers (the 29th player overall selected)... He played five seasons in the NFL with the 49ers, and wrapped his career in the pros with the New York Giants... In 66 NFL games, he had a 7.2 average for 61 punt returns and had 10 interceptions and seven fumble recoveries on defense.

A consensus first-team All-American as a senior in 1988, when the Associated Press, UPI, Walter Camp, The Sporting News and the Football News honored him... Led the nation in punting in '88 with a 45.04 average, the first Buff to do so since Zack Jordan had 38 years earlier... Earned national Player of the Week accolades on Sept. 24, 1988, when he averaged 59.8 yards on five punts against Oregon State... Unanimous All-Big Eight as a senior... Had two punts over 70 yards, including a 77-yard bomb against Colorado State, and owned a 49.3 average on 24 punts inside the Buff 30... Also played tight end early in his career... His 44.67 career punting average ranked second best in school history when he graduated... Signed as a free agent with the Los Angeles Rams in the NFL, and had 68 punts in the pro ranks (for a 39.2 average)... Also played one season for the Barcelona Dragons of the World League of American Football (1992)... He passed away unexpectedly at the age of 44 in 2010.

TE, 6-3, 245, 4L, Denver, Colo. (Thomas Jefferson)

The sixth unanimous All-America in Colorado history, as he was afforded first-team honors by the six organizations recognized by the NCAA as a senior in 2001: Associated Press, AFCA, FWAA, Walter Camp, The Sporting News and the Football News... He won the eighth postseason trophy ever by a Buffalo when he received the John Mackey Award, which cited him as the nation's best tight end... He was a unanimous first-team all-Big 12 team member (AP, Coaches) in starting all 12 games en route to catching 51 passes for 753 yards and six touchdowns and 37 first downs; he was second in the nation in receptions by a tight end, and was first in both yards and touchdowns... He tied the single-season team mark for receptions by a tight end, but set the record for the most TE receiving yards for a solo year... He had 106 career receptions for 1,543 yards, numbers that ranked him first in both categories among all tight ends ever at Colorado... He took great pride in his blocking; he had 101 dominant blocks and 138 downfield blocks as a senior... He became just the sixth player to lead CU in tight end receiving for three straight seasons... He received the John Mack Award from the staff as the most outstanding offensive performer, and the players elected him the Zack Jordan Award winner as the overall MVP... His 10 receptions against Oregon in the '02 Fiesta Bowl tied the school record for most in a game by a tight end... A first round pick in the 2002 NFL Draft by New England (21st overall), he won two Super Bowl rings with the Patriots in 2003 and 2004, and went on to play with the Denver Broncos.

OG, 6-4, 320, 4L, Houston, Texas (North Shore)

As a senior in 2001, he earned first-team All-America honors from the Associated Press, ABC Sports Online, CNN-SI.com, NEA and The Sporting News (the Football News tabbed him an honorable mention selection)... He was also on the watch lists for both the Outland and Lombardi awards, but did not advance to semifinalist status, which was done only eight games into the season; that was a shame as two of his most dominant performances, against Nebraska and Texas, were nationally televised games after the awards were pared down... He was a unanimous first-team All-Big 12 selection and one of the reasons Colorado averaged over 200 yards both rushing and passing for the season for only the third time in school history... He led the Buffs in domination blocks with 112, and also topped the team in touchdown blocks (21), great pass protection plays (14) and downfield blocks (48), while allowing but one-half a quarterback sack and one pressure on passing calls... He was presented with the Derek Singleton Award by the coaches for spirit, dedication and enthusiasm... A two-time first-team All-Big 12 performer as a junior and senior, and won the John Mack Award, as selected by the coaches for being CU's most outstanding offensive player his junior year... Was very versatile, playing both guard and center during his Buff career... Two-time recipient of the Joe Romig Award as the outstanding offensive lineman in spring drills (2000, 2001)... A second round choice by Dallas in the 2002 NFL Draft (37th overall)... An All-Pro performer with Dallas in 2007, 2008, 2009 and 2010.

A first-team All-American as a sophomore in 1989 by The Sporting News, when he earned third-team honors from the Associated Press (and honorable mention from UPI)... He finished fifth in Heisman Trophy voting, when he was the first Buff and just the sixth player at the time in NCAA history to record 1,000 yards for the season in both rushing and passing... The first-team All-Big Eight quarterback in 1989, as well as the conference's Offensive Player of the Year... A two-time winner of the Zack Jordan Award as Colorado's most valuable player (selected by his teammates his sophomore and senior years)... Placed 17th in the Heisman voting as a junior in '90 (when teammate Eric Bieniemy was third)... The first time he called his number as CU's starting quarterback in 1989, he raced 75 yards to the 1-yard line against Texas in CU's 27-6 win... Bounced back to play as a senior despite suffering a torn knee ligament late in the first half of the '91 Orange Bowl... Finished his career as CU's second all-time leader passer (3,801 yards), with his 137.6 rating the best at the time... His 2,007 rushing yards were and remain the most by a quarterback in CU history... He had nine career 100-yard rushing and three career 200-yard passing games... Compiled a 28-5-2 record as CU's starting quarterback, including a 19-0-1 mark in Big Eight Conference games... Was allowed to return punts as a senior to showcase his other abilities for the NFL, and ranked 19th in the NCAA (11.5 average)... A ninth round draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers in the 1992 NFL draft (242nd pick overall)... Played five seasons in the Canadian Football League with Toronto (1992-93), Las Vegas (1994) and Edmonton (1995-96)... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame (class of 1999) and into the state of Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 2014... After serving as an assistant coach at CU for six years (2005-10), he moved into recruiting and player development.

The most celebrated academic player at Colorado in three decades (since Joe Romig in 1961), as a senior in 1992 he earned the ultimate of academic honors in sports, being awarded the prestigious Rhodes Scholarship (the first at CU since Romig to do so)... He also earned the ultimate one in football the same year, named the recipient of the Vincent Draddy Award, considered the "Academic Heisman" (since renamed the William Campbell Award)... He was a three-time, first-team Academic All-American, a two-time CFA Scholar-Athlete team member and a four-timer on the Academic All-Big Eight team... On the field as a senior, he earned honorable mention All-America honors (United Press International), and was a first-team All-Big Eight selection (Associated Press)... Ahead of his senior season, he was named the winner of the Anson Mount Scholar-Athlete Award as the nation's top football student-athlete, in conjunction with the Playboy All-America team... He earned honorable mention All-Big Eight honors as a junior... Played defensive tackle as a freshman but switched to offense prior to his sophomore year... After studying at Oxford, he returned to the states and has held teaching positions at M.I.T. and for the U.S. Naval Academy.

On Colorado's all-time career lists, he finished fourth in passing yards (5,705), third in pass completions (505), third in passing attempts (872), fourth in touchdown passes (35), fourth in total offense (6,183) and eighth in adjusted rushing yards by a quarterback (1,095)... His 5.59 average per true carry (minus sacks) ranked as third best ever by a CU quarterback, trailing only Kordell Stewart (1991-94, 7.04) and Bernard Jackson (2004-06, 6.21) ... He started 21 career games, tied for the 13th most in school annals (posting a 6-15 record)... He joined Steve Vogel (1981-84) as the only players in CU history to start games at quarterback in four different seasons... He was named by the coaching staff as the co-recipient of the John Mack Award (with WR Toney Clemons) as CU's most outstanding offensive player for 2011 when he completed 231-of-412 passes for 2,883 yards and 20 touchdowns, numbers that ranked as the fourth, second, second and third highest, respectively, for a single-season in CU history... Over the course of the first four games of 2011, he attempted the second-most passes without an interception in team history—131 (just eight shy of the record)... Best game of his career came in CU's 36-33 overtime loss to California in Boulder as a senior: he completed 28-of-49 passes for 474 yards and three touchdowns, and rushed seven times for 26 yards. The 474 yards set a school record and were the 12th-most for the season in the NCAA, with the 500 total offense yards tying the all-time CU mark and were the eighth highest in the nation for 2011... He tied the school mark for the most 200-yard passing yard games in a season with nine, and set a record for the most total offensive plays in a season with 493... He signed as a free agent with the Cincinnati Bengals.

One of the most prolific three-sport athletes in CU history, earning a total of 10 letters in football, baseball and track... An honorable mention football All-American in 1953 and 1954 and an all-Big Seven pick as a senior, he rushed for 1,999 career yards, with his 6.87 per carry easily the best-ever at Colorado for any player with 60 or more carries... He also scored 152 points, second most at the time and still 14th best in Buff history... Easily owns the school's best average per rush for 10 carries or more in a game, when he rolled up 238 on just 10 tries (23.8 per) against Kansas State in 1954... In baseball, he is CU's all-time career batting average leader (.392), twice batting over .400, and is also CU's career triples leader with 12... As a sprinter on the track team, he once ran a 9.8 in the 100-yard dash, one of the fastest times posted for his day... Played in the '55 Hula Bowl, starting in the backfield along side another famous name, Doak Walker... Hardy is one of just a few to play two professional sports, spending one year with the San Francisco 49ers (1955) and eight years in baseball with four different teams... He was a third round selection by the 49ers (33rd overall) in the '55 NFL Draft... As a major league baseball player with the Boston Red Sox, he is also remembered for being the only man to pinch-hit for the late Ted Williams as well as Carl Yastrzemski... He hit his first major league home run as a pinch-hitter as well—for Cleveland in 1958: the player he pinch hit for was Roger Maris... A member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (inducted in 1979) and was named to CU's All-Century Team in 1989... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in its third class in 2002... He managed in the minor leagues and eventually went into scouting with the Denver Broncos and Kansas City Chiefs.

Hessler took over the reigns of the CU offense in the fourth game of the 1995 season after starting QB Koy Detmer was lost for the year due to injury... He responded by earning two straight Big Eight Offensive-Player-of-the-Week honors in leading CU to wins over No. 3 Texas A&M and No. 10 Oklahoma... Against OU, in his second career start, he was 24-of-34 for 348 yards and five touchdowns, earning him National Player of the Week honors... In completing 154-of-266 passes on the season for 2,136 yards, he earned honorable mention All-Big Eight honors... In his junior year, he saw action in five games and came out of the bullpen after Detmer was injured against Texas and led the Buffs to a win over the eventual Big 12 Champion Longhorns... He took over for good as CU's starting quarterback in 1997, finishing the year having completed 181-of-338 passes for 2,478 yards and 14 touchdowns. He also rushed for another 188 yards and five scores... His final game came against Nebraska when he completed 19-of-35 passes for 362 yards and three touchdowns as the Buffs nearly upset the Huskers in a 27-24 loss. Down 27-10 with just over three minutes remaining, Hessler engineered two scoring drives and nearly came up with a third before an offensive pass interference call doomed the Buffs... His 362 yards against Nebraska was his career-high and is the all-time CU best against the Huskers... He currently sits at No. 5 on the all-time CU chart with 4,788 career passing yards... Went on to pitch on the class A level of the Colorado Rockies organization for two years... Was severely injured in a hit-and-run accident on Oct. 19, 2003 but has made an amazing recovery.

Irwin had one of the rarest two-sport combinations in college athletics, as he earned a combined six letters in football and golf... After playing quarterback as a sophomore, he became a two-time first-team all-Big Eight selection at weak side safety 1965 and 1966, making nine interceptions... He was a two-time Academic All-Big Eight team member as a junior and senior... In 1989, he was selected to CU's 25-member All-Century Football Team for CU's first 100 years of football... But he made his mark in the game of golf, first at Colorado, and then professionally: a two-time Big Eight Conference champion (1966, 1967) his CU single-season mark for stroke average he set as a junior (72.04) stood for 37 years... He capped his collegiate career by claiming medalist honors at the 1967 NCAA Championships... As a professional, he had 20 PGA Tour wins, including three U.S. Open titles (1974, 1979, 1990)... He has since become the all-time leading money winner on the Champions (Senior) PGA Tour, earning $26.1 million, thanks to a former that season as well, when he played the most snaps from scrimmage (742) by any player on the team... It was about as perfect a senior year a lineman could have, as he did not allow a quarterback sack or a pressure, and wasn't called for a single penalty... He was the first offensive lineman to score a touchdown for CU in 25 years when he recovered a fumble in the end-zone against Nebraska in 1995... He saw some action on the goal-line defensive unit as a senior... Father (Phil) played linebacker at Colorado from 1968-70; uncle (Hale) played football and golf for the Buffs and went on to star in professional golf... A fourth round choice by New England in the 1996 NFL Draft (101st overall)... Has played with New England (1996-99), Miami (2000-01), St. Louis (2002) and signed on with Denver for 2003.

Senior Tour record 45 wins through 2010... His son Steve followed in his footsteps, also lettering on the Buffalo golf team in the mid-1990s, and nephew Heath was an All-American in football... His younger brother, Phil, was the first CU athlete to grace the cover of Sports Illustrated (pictured after CU ended Penn State's 31-game unbeaten streak)... He is a member of both the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (inducted 1986) and the Colorado Golf Hall of Fame (inducted 1974), as well as an inaugural member of the CU Golf Hall of Fame (inducted 1989)... He was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2002.

JOEL KLATT

QB, 6-1, 210, 3L, Arvada, Colo. (Pomona)

CU's starting quarterback for his sophomore through senior seasons, he set 44 school records in his tenure, the second most records ever set by one student-athlete at the school in any sport (Byron White set 51 between 1934 and 1937)... He earned honorable mention all-Big 12 honors as a sophomore and senior...He had 34 career starts (19-15 record), the second most CU by a signal-caller; that led to him to take over almost every major career passing record at the school: yards (7,375), touchdowns (44), completion percentage (60.8), attempts (1,095), completions (666) and interceptions (33); the only ones to escape him were total offense (second with 7,255) and passer rating, where he finished seventh (124.6)... He also set a school record with nine career fourth quarter comebacks to win or tie games, and had a host of single-game and single-season records along with all his career marks.... He had 15 career 200-yard passing games, five of which exceeded 300 yards (not including bowls)... For his career, he had a 24-to-2 ratio of touchdowns to interceptions in the red zone, taking just one sack as well... Selected as Colorado's most valuable player in a vote by his teammates... He also finished as the Big 12 Conference's fifth all-time leading passer (the league includes bowl yards, thus he had 7,708). Selected as the newcomer of the year in the state for 2003 by the Colorado Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame... He was named the 2005-06 winner of CU's Male Career Athletic Achievement Award (for all sports)... Has gone on to a career in local and national sports broadcasting on television and radio.

MARK KONCAR

OT, 6-5, 275, 3L, Murray, Utah (Murray)

#70

A first-team All-American as a senior in 1975 by the Associated Press (honorable mention by UPI), the first tackle (offensive or defense) to be afforded the honor at Colorado... A first-team All Big-Eight Conference performer that same year... The recipient of the John Mack Award as a senior, as the team's most outstanding lineman... Also lettered in baseball at Colorado, playing first base with a .350 average, 28 runs batted in and five tape-measure home runs his junior year (spring of 1975)... Also dabbled in rodeo (calf-roping)... A first round choice by Green Bay in the 1976 NFL Draft (23rd overall)... He played in 58 career NFL games with Green Bay (1976-81) and Houston (1982).

The first, and to this day, the only Colorado player to lead the nation in any statistical category in back-to-back seasons, as he was the country's top rusher as a junior (906 yards in 1934) and senior (1,043 in 1935)... A two-time All-Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference performer, he just missed out on All-America honors... He also led the nation in all-around yardage as a senior with an amazing 2,225 (1,043 rushing, 364 passing, 530 punt returns and 288 kickoff returns)... He also averaged around 40 yards per kick as the team's punter... His backup in 1935, when he led the nation in rushing was none other than Byron White... The first Buff to play in a postseason All-Star game when he competed in the East-West Shrine Game on Jan. 1, 1936... He played six different instruments and conducted his own orchestra in college, leading to one of his nicknames, "The Crooning Quarterback"... He earned seven letters in three sports: football (three) and track and wrestling (two in each), and also was a local boxing champion... Served as a lieutenant in the Navy for almost three years during World War II... Upon his return, he went to work for CU for what would be the next 36 years, the majority as athletic business manager... A member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (inducted in 1971)... A member of CU's All-Century Team, selected in 1989... Inducted into the CU Athletic Hall of Fame in 1999, the group's second class... Full name was William C. Lam... He passed away on April 23, 1993 at the age of 81.

A unanimous first-team All-American as a senior in 1991 (Associated Press, United Press International, AFCA/Kodak, FWAA, Walter Camp, Football News and The Sporting News (only the fourth Buff to earn unanimous honors)... A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior year... He was an honorable mention All-American as a junior in 1990... A two-time first-team All-Big Eight selection as a junior and senior, the first Buff center to ever be honored twice with all-league honors... One of six finalists for the 1991 Outland Trophy Award... In over 2,200 career plays, he allowed just four quarterbacks sacks and was called for a penalty only four times... Won the Derek Singleton Award as a senior (for spirit, enthusiasm and dedication)... A ninth round pick by Kansas City in the 1992 NFL Draft (244th overall)... He played in 137 career NFL games with Chicago Bears (1992-95), Indianapolis (1996-98), Cincinnati (1999) and Washington (2000)... Returned to Colorado after his retirement and is a high school teacher in Denver and spent two seasons the radio color analyst for CU football and basketball for KOA-Radio.

WR, 6-5, 225, 4L, Wheat Ridge, Colo. (Wheat Ridge)

A first-team All-American as a senior in 1975 as selected by The Sporting News... A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his junior season, the lone Buff to ever make the squad as a non-senior... He caught 68 passes for 1,078 yards in his CU career, numbers that both ranked second at the time of his graduation and remain in the top 20 all-time... A two-sport star at CU (he also lettered in basketball, averaging 14.1 points in 58 career games), Logan might just be the only athlete drafted in three sports: he was a third round pick by Cleveland in the 1976 NFL Draft (65th overall); the Kansas City Kings nabbed him in the ninth round of the '76 NBA Draft; and the Cincinnati Reds had drafted him as an infielder and pitcher in the 19th round of baseball's June draft out of high school... He played in 119 NFL games with Cleveland (1976-83) and Denver (1984)... Snared 263 passes for 4,250 yards and 24 touchdowns in his pro career... He has settled back home in Colorado where he starred as a prep; he has become one of the state's top high school coaches, is a longtime participant in the radio sportstalk scene in Denver, and is the radio play-by-play voice of the Denver Broncos after working several years as the color analyst... He also worked several CU football games for KCNC-TV in the 1990s as the color commentator... He was inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 2000 and into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2008.

A first-team All-American as a junior line-backer and defensive tackle in 1972 by the Football Writers Association of America... A third-team All-American as a defensive lineman as a sophomore in 1971 by the Associated Press... A two-time first-team All Big-Eight performer (middle guard in '71, linebacker-tackle in '72)... Second on the team in tackles as a soph (104) and first as a junior (111), he was the first player in school history to record a pair of 100-tackles seasons... Played the first five games at linebacker as a junior before returning up front for the rest of the year... The national player-of-the-week for his 20-tackle performance (nine solo) in CU's 20-14 win at Ohio State in 1971... Voted the Big Eight's top sophomore in 1971... A Marine Corps veteran by the time he enrolled at CU, he won two purple hearts in Vietnam... He was decorated for bravery under fire as a demolitions expert... Also played two years of service football for Quantico before landing in Boulder... In need of money, he signed a professional contract with British Columbia of the Canadian Football League in the spring of 1973; he played two seasons with the Lions before trying out with the San Diego Chargers... He died in 1991 in an automobile accident in Reno, Nevada... His son, Ryan, walked on as a member of the football team in 1999, but injuries cut short his career.

He was a consensus first-team All-America as a senior in 2002, earning honors from the Associated Press, AFCA, Walter Camp, and The Sporting News, and was the unanimous All-Big 12 punter... He enjoyed quite a senior year, leading the nation in punting for the regular season with a 48.2 gross average and was second after the bowls (47.4); his 43.0 net average was also second nationally... Those two figures paved the way for him to win the third annual Ray Guy Award, presented to the nation's top punter... Received the team's Bill McCartney Award for outstanding special teams play as a senior... He led the NCAA in punting for three months, since the second week of the season, and averaged over 50 yards per kick well into October... Of his 61 punts overall, 16 were inside-the-20 (nine inside-the-10), with a school record 29 for 50-plus yards (10 carried 60 or more yards)... He averaged 51.5 yards per punt on CU's side of the 50, and on kicks inside the Buff 25, he averaged a gaudy 52.6 yards per punt... He set CU records for career gross (46.8) and net (41.9) average, as his season average of 48.21 bested a 52-year old school record for a single year, as he edged out Zack Jordan's 48.16 back in 1950... He earned only honorable mention all-Big 12 honors as a junior, despite the fact that he led the conference with a 44.5 average... Undrafted by the NFL (kickers rarely are in the modern 7-round draft), he signed as a free agent with New Orleans.

He was honorable mention by the Associated Press as a soph and by UPI as a senior... A three-time first-team All-Big Eight performer (1988, 1989, 1990), only the fourth Buff to be afforded the honor three times... A member of the Big Eight All-Decade team (1980-89)... A broken right ankle cut short a fine sophomore season (102 tackles in 10 games), but he bounced back with 75 tackles as a junior, with a career-high seven sacks, and 94 as a senior... The national defensive player-of-the-week against Oklahoma as a soph, when he had a career-high 23 tackles (15 solo)... Winner of the Dave Jones Award that year ('88), as the team's outstanding defensive player... Finished his career with 297 tackles, sixth most at the time in school history... An honorable mention member of CU's All-Century team selected in 1989... A second round pick by the New York Giants in the 1991 NFL Draft (55th overall)... He played in 50 career NFL games with New York (1991-93), Cincinnati (1994) and Houston (1995)... After he retired, he returned to CU to earn his degree and then became a teacher and high school coach in his native Houston... He briefly returned to CU a third time as an assistant coach under Jon Embree in 2011-12.

He was the first player in school history to be named Colorado's offensive most valuable player (John Mack Award) three times, for his sophomore through senior seasons... He completed his Colorado career finishing first in receptions (215) and receiving touchdowns (22), while winding up third in all-time receiving yards (2,521; just 27 behind Michael Westbrook and 19 out of second). He tied for the fifth-most 100-yard receiving games with five (leader has 12), and of his 215 career catches, 122 earned first downs (51 on third and/or fourth down)... He became the 10th player in NCAA history to catch at least one pass in every game he appeared in, and the sixth to do so without missing any games due to injury (48 games, 49 including the postseason, the NCAA active best at the conclusion of his career; the previous CU record had been 27)... He had at least two receptions in his final 19 games, just three off the team record for that mark... The 22 TD passes he caught from Cody Hawkins was also a school record for the most for a quarterbackreceiver duo... He is the first player to lead the team in receptions for four straight years, after being only the second to do it three consecutive seasons (joining Monte Huber, 1967-69)... He also finished 17th all-time in yards from scrimmage (2,525), tied for 13th in touchdowns (23), 21st in scoring (138 points) and 23rd in all-purpose yards (2,582)... Drafted in the seventh round by the New York Jets in the 2011 draft.

A near consensus All-American as a senior in 1971, earning recognition from five organizations, including AFCA/Kodak, Walter Camp and The Sporting News (he was a third-team Associated Press team member)... Honored as a Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior season... A two-time first-team All-Big Eight Conference performer as a junior and senior, and was the Big Eight Conference Newcomer of the Year as a sophomore in 1969, when he had 75 tackles, including 12 for losses (nine quarterback sacks)... Selected as a member of the All-Big Eight Decade team for the 1970s... His 20 career quarterback sacks would have ranked first at the time of his graduation, but they weren't computed until several years later; his 32 tackles for loss at the end of his career did rank second... The national lineman-of-the-week for his play in CU's 41-13 win over Penn State that stopped the Nittany Lions unbeaten streak at 31 games (12 tackles, three for losses including two sacks)...

Joined the Army while in high school and earned his diploma overseas; he met then-CU head coach Eddie Crowder in Germany when the Buff boss was in Europe on a government-sponsored coaching tour... A first round pick by Detroit in the 1972 NFL Draft (16th overall, the highest at the time that a CU defender had been selected)... He played in 122 NFL games with (Detroit 1972-77) and Baltimore (1978-81)... He was a second-team NFC All-Conference performer at tackle for the Lions in 1975... He is one of just six players in Colorado history to be afforded three-time first-team all-conference honors, as he was an All-Big Eight cornerback in 1985-86-87... His 332 career tackles set a school record for the most by a defensive back, a record that would stand for 14 years, and his 30 career pass deflections was the Buff standard for 12 seasons... He had nine career forced fumbles, the third most at CU... He led all Big Eight defensive backs in tackles as a junior (106) and senior (108)... Was a finalist for the inaugural Jim Thorpe Award in 1986... His sack of Oregon quarterback Chris Miller as time expired preserved a 21-17 Colorado win 1985, the impetus for CU's first winning season in seven years (see Big Plays Not In The Boxscore for more)...

CU's most valuable player his senior year, as selected by his teammates... A member of CU's All-Century team, selected in 1989, and a first-team Big Eight All-Decade selection (1980-89)... Undrafted out of college, he signed as a free agent and played 62 games in the NFL with Chicago (1988-90) and Dallas (1991-92).

He battled through separations to both shoulders, along with other assorted maladies, to post the 13th 1,000-yard season in school history in 2004 as he finished the year as the conference's sixth-leading running back with 1,017 yards (43rd in the NCAA) in earning honorable mention All-Big 12 honors... He finally led the team in rushing (he entered his senior year tied for the second most career yards without doing so), and his 3,016 career total placed him third on CU's all-time list. He had 10 career 100-yard games, tying him for seventh most, and his 3,524 all-purpose yards were the fourth most ever at Colorado... With 508 receiving yards, he became the first player in school history to record 2,500 and 3,000 yards rushing and 500 yards receiving, and was only the 11th to do the 3,000/500 double at a Big 12 school... All-time at Colorado, he tied for 30th in receptions (50), was 52nd in receiving yards (508) and tied for 26th in scoring (126 points) and 16th in rushing touchdowns (20)... He had five 100-yard games as a senior, including 189 in the opener against Colorado State; he had his career high of 191 against the Rams as a sophomore in 2001... Due to injuries, one of the few in school history to earn letters in five different seasons.

ILB, 6-4, 230, 4L, Boulder, Colo. (Fairview)

An Associated Press honorable mention All-American as a senior in 1986, when he was also a unanimous all-Big Eight performer... Colorado's all-time leading tackler with 493 total stops, including 245 solo stops... Second leading tackler in the conference behind Oklahoma's Brian Bosworth his senior season... One of his two career interceptions came late in CU's 20-10 upset of No. 3 Nebraska in '86, thwarting the last Cornhusker rally... Posted three straight 100-plus tackle seasons, the first player in CU history to do so... Had five games of 20 or more tackles, the most by any Buff in school history (his career high was 23 at Oklahoma State in 1984)... Overcame several injuries in his career, ranging from knee surgery as a sophomore (he received an extra year of eligibility as the injury was in the second game), a pinched nerve in his neck and stepping on a bottle that sprayed acid into an eye... Did not play professionally, and has been an executive with Clearchannel (KOA-Radio) in Denver for several years.

Overall, he set or tied 44 school records (he owns 30 by himself), despite playing just three seasons as he declared for the NFL Draft after his junior season... In just 33 career games (he missed four his junior year with a knee injury), he finished his CU career third all-time in receptions (156), fifth in receiving yards (2,423), second in touchdown receptions (21), 18th in yards from scrimmage (2,440), 29th in all-purpose yards (2,454) and 29th in scoring (128 points)... He had three career 200-yard games (of the school's five total), with his nine 100-yard plus games third in school history... His 13 career plays of 50 yards or longer set a record (all receptions), and his 21 career touchdowns covered 841 yards, or 40.0 per... In 2013, as the team's most valuable player, he set CU single-season records of 83 receptions and 1,343 receiving yards, opening with back-to-back 200-plus yard games, the first player in Pac-12 Conference history to ever do so (208 vs. Colorado State, 209 vs. Central Arkansas)... He scored 10 touchdowns, the second-most by receiving in a single-year... Also threw a TD pass, a 75-yard bomb to D.D. Goodson against Oregon, the second-longest CU pass completion by a non-quarterback... He earned first-team All-Pac 12 honors in 2013, CU's first all-conference wide receiver in 16 seasons... One of six team captains as a junior... He missed the entire 2012 season after tearing an ACL in spring drills... As a sophomore, he set the CU single-game record with 284 yards on 11 receptions against Cal (the second most single-game yards in the nation in 2011)... In 2010, he garnered second-team Freshman All-American honors was CU's Co-Male Freshman Athlete of the Year Award for all sports... Selected by Seattle with its first pick in the 2014 NFL Draft (No. 45 overall in the second round).

The first two-time, first-team All-America in CU history, a consensus selection both times, as he made nine teams as a junior in 1960 and 11 as a senior in '61 (just missing unanimous honors by one team—the Associated Press squad; it pegged him honorable mention)... As a junior, he was a second-team choice by the AP and The Sporting News (1960)... A Playboy Preseason All-American team member prior to his senior season... He finished sixth overall in the 1961 Heisman Trophy voting, when he was the UPI Lineman-of-the-Year... He had no peer in his day as a linebacker, as he ranged far and fiercely from his middle position behind a four-man front, consistently in on most of the stops before tackles were recorded as a statistic. On offense, he developed into an excellent straight-ahead and pulling blocker. Three-time All-Big Eight team member (1959-60-61), as was CU's team captain as a senior... One of three Buffs to have his jersey number retired (#67)... Owned a grade point average in excess of 3.9 at Colorado, and earned the prestigious Rhodes scholarship (he posted straight A's his last six semesters)... He received masters in physics from Oxford University in England... Earned his doctorate in physics from CU in 1975... The second Buffalo, joining Byron White, to be inducted into the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame (enshrined in 1984)... One of the top vote-getters in being named to CU's All-Century team, and was inducted in 1999 into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame... Also in the Big Eight Hall of Fame (inducted 1976)... Member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (inducted in 1973) and the GTE Academic Hall of Fame (enshrined in 1989)... Has worked life-long in Boulder in the field of physics, and has also taught astronomy on UCB campus.

A consensus first-team All-American as a junior in 1989 (Associated Press, United Press International, Walter Camp and FWAA... He was an honorable mention All-American as a senior in 1990 (UPI)... A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior year... A first-team All-Big Eight performer as a junior with gaudy averages of 45.9 per punt and a 43.8 net figure; both numbers were first in the nation... He was the only unanimous player on the all-league team at any position... He slipped to honorable mention all-Big Eight status as a senior after encountering a series of bad breaks (of his 54 punts, 15 were into breezes and 17 came in opponent territory on the other side of the 50, all while nursing a pulled groin muscle for about a third of the season)... Started his career up the road at Colorado State but transferred to CU after two seasons there... Signed as a free agent with the Denver Broncos in 1993 after having a solid '92 campaign with Ohio in the World League of American Football (WLAF)... He played in 144 games with the Denver Broncos over 10 seasons (1993-2002; punting 612 times for a 44.0 yard average)... Earned two Super Bowl rings with the Broncos in 1997 and 1998... Latched on with the New York Giants and then the Pittsburgh Steelers the second half of the 2002 season after the Broncos released him, and played with Seattle from 2003-05... Married to Olympic gold medalist swimmer, Amy Van Dyken.

A consensus first-team All-American as a senior in 1996 (Associated Press, Walter Camp, FWAA and The Sporting News... A third-team All-American by the Associated Press his junior season in 1995 (honorable mention by UPI)... Won the Butkus Award as a senior, presented to the nation's top linebacker... Two-time first-team all-conference selection (All-Big Eight as a junior in '95; All-Big 12 as a senior in '96)... Co-winner of the Zack Jordan Award, selected by his peers, as the team's most valuable player his senior season... Won the Dave Jones Award as the most outstanding defensive player in 1995... Finished his career as the second all-time leading tackler in Colorado history (446), with his 282 unassisted tackles setting a school record that still stands... Sealed the Butkus with a big game on national TV at Nebraska (16 tackles, 12 solo, two third down quarterback sacks and two fumble recoveries)... Career-high in tackles was 23 at Missouri as a senior, as he had 22 career games with 10 or more stops... Established the freshman record for tackles in a season with 85 in 1993... He played in 44 career games, including starts in the last 40 (48 and 44, including bowls)... A fourth round choice by Detroit in the 1997 NFL Draft (130th overall)... He played in 14 career NFL games with Detroit (1997-99), and a pair of knee injuries cut short a promising career... Helped coach the secondary at Colorado during the 2000 season while assistant coach Tom McMahon was battling cancer... He was a college scout for the New England Patriots during their Super Bowl run in 2001, and after the 2005 season moved on to do the same for the Philadelphia Eagles from 2006-08... In 2009, he joined the Denver Broncos as their director of college scouting and in 2012 was named their director of player personnel... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2012.

He won the first Heisman Trophy in Colorado history, claiming the 60th annual award as a junior in 1994, easily winning by some 248 votes and 842 points...

The fifth unanimous All-American in Colorado history that season, as he became just the fourth player in college football history at the time to rush for over 2,000 yards in a single season... In setting the single-season CU rushing mark with 2,055 yards, he did not play in five fourth quarters and on two other occasions, he played only briefly in the third quarter; over half of the yards (1,040) came against ranked opponents... Set a school scoring mark that same year with 24 touchdowns for 144 total points... Reeled off nine consecutive 100-yard games in '94, including four 200-plus yard games (both school records)... Ended his career as only the second Buff to exceed 3,000 career rushing yards (3,057)... In CU's miraculous 27-26 win at Michigan in 1994 that became known as "The Catch," he accomplished two significant things: his 141 rushing yards were the most by an opponent player in the Big House in 21 seasons, and he helped Tony Berti keep a defender at bay with a key block, freeing Kordell Stewart to unload the game-winning 64-yard pass to Michael Westbrook as time expired... A week later, he rushed for 317 yards in extreme heat in a 34-31 win at Texas, the second highest single-game total in CU history (he set the mark for the most yards gained from scrimmage with 362 as he also had 45 receiving)... First-team all-Big Eight in both 1993 and 1994... Put 165 yards rushing on Nebraska as a sophomore after missing just one game with a painful orbital eye fracture... Rushed for 135 yards and three TDs in being named CU's MVP in the '93 Aloha Bowl... His father, Harold "Teddy" Washington, played freshman football for Colorado in 1963 before transferring closer to home to San Diego State... He opted to turn professional following his junior season (he made the announcement minutes after CU defeated Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl), he was a first round pick by Chicago in the 1995 NFL Draft (21st overall)... He played three seasons for the Bears (1995-97), winning the NFC Rookie-of-the-Year honor in 1995 when he rushed for 1,074 yards and 10 TDs... Had career numbers of 1,682 rushing yards, 120 receiving yards and 14 touchdowns for the Bears... He also played briefly with Cleveland and Green Bay in 1999... Knee and ankle injuries hampered his career (he underwent an ankle reconstruction), and made one final go of it with San Francisco in 2003... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2012 and was on the ballot for the College Football Hall of Fame for the first time in 2014.

The first offensive tackle at Colorado to earn All-America honors since 1979 (Stan Brock), he became the first-ever to garner consensus All-America honors at the position for the Buffaloes, afforded the honor from four of the five the NCAA recognizes for that status: Associated Press, Football Writers Association of America, The Sporting News and Walter Camp ... One of three finalists for the Outland Trophy as a senior in 2010, with his year starting off being named to the prestigious Playboy Preseason All-America team... A unanimous first-team All-Big 12 Conference performer as a junior and senior seasons, the league coaches selected him as the league's Offensive Lineman of the Year for the latter, when he was named the Male College Athlete of the Year by the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame... One of 16 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athletes for 2010 and the recipient of an $18,000 postgraduate scholarship, he was a finalist for the William V. Campbell Trophy (considered the "Academic" Heisman)... A four-time Academic All-Big 12 team member and two-time CoSIDA Academic All-District honoree... He played 2,540 out of a possible 2,542 plays on offense his sophomore through senior seasons; of those, exactly 1,400 were called passing plays, and he allowed just five sacks those three years... He allowed 21 pressures overall (14 as a sophomore), so the man he was blocking influenced a pass play 26 times in those 1,400 plays, or just 1.8 percent of his career... Drafted in the first round by the New England Patriots in the 2011 draft (the 17th overall pick).

A first-team All-Big Eight performer as a senior in 1972, Stearns was the team's most valuable player that same season... Known as "Bad Dude," he was one of the fiercest hitters in the old Big Eight and made a name for himself as one of the more colorful players in CU history... He set the career record for interceptions at Colorado with 16, a number that still stood some 30 years later, with his 18 pass deflections good for third at the time of his graduation... Pulled off perhaps the "gutsiest" play in school history, when he ran for a 12-yard game out of the punt formation, from the Buff 10-yard line no less, on a 4th-and-9 play with CU nursing a 23-17 lead... In baseball at CU, he was the 1972 Big Eight batting champion (.492), the 1973 NCAA home run leader (15) and an All-American as a senior in '73... Career numbers: batting (.366), hits (169), runs scored (137), home runs (26), runs batted in (101), steals (48)... He was drafted in two sports: Buffalo snared him in the 17th round of 1973 NFL Draft, late on purpose because he was going to go the baseball route; two months later, Philadelphia selected him as the second overall pick, behind David Clyde, in the June baseball draft (catcher; Oakland had drafted him in the first round and ninth overall out of high school)... He spent less than two years in the minor leagues and ascended to the majors by the end of the '74 season, playing for the first time on Sept. 22, 1974... Traded to the New York Mets during the off-season, he would spend the next 10 seasons with the Mets in becoming one of their most popular players of all-time... In 810 career big league games, he batted .260 (696 of 2,681), with 46 home runs and 312 runs batted in... He had 91 career steals and a .984 fielding percentage... After he retired from baseball, he has spent most of his time as a coach and scout in the majors, working for the Mets, the Philadelphia Phillies, the Washington Nationals and the Seattle Mariners, managing several years on the AAA and AA levels for those organizations as well.

A second-team Associated Press All-American, the highest honor ever afforded a Colorado quarterback from the wire service (along with Darian Hagan in 1989)... The Big Eight Conference's all-time total offense leader with 7,770 yards... First-team All-Big Eight as a senior... CU's career leader in both total offense and passing yards (6,481)... First-team all-Big Eight as a senior in 1994, when he was the Buffs' most valuable player... The MVP of the '95 Fiesta Bowl, as he rushed for 143 yards and a touchdown while throwing for 205 and a TD in CU's 41-24 rout of Notre Dame... That was the first and remains the only game in school history where a player threw for 200 yards and rushed for 100... Finished 13th in the Heisman balloting that year, when teammate Rashaan Salaam won... Only player in CU history to have three 2,000-yard passing seasons... His 1,289 rushing yards were the second most by a quarterback in school history... Had 19 200-yard passing games and seven 300-yard total offense games in his career... At the time, he posted the most prolific first start at quarterback in school history, throwing for 409 yards and four touchdowns in a 37-17 win over Colorado State to open his sophomore year... Key player in college football's play of the century, when he heaved a 64-yard pass to Michael Westbrook that rallied CU to a 27-26 win as time expired at Michigan in 1994 (the game became known as "The Catch")... A second round pick by Pittsburgh in the '95 NFL Draft (61st overall)... Though nicknamed "Slash" early in his professional career because he played some wide receiver (thus a QB/WR listing on the roster), he never went out for a pass in his college career... Played eight seasons with the Steelers (1995-2002) before moving on to Chicago in 2003 and Baltimore in 2004-05... In his post-football career, he has worked for ESPN and is now a sports personality in the Atlanta area.

He finished his career with 3,598 rushing yards, good for second on CU's all-time list, likely winding up shy of the top spot due to missing the better part of four games with knee and ankle injuries that prevented him from catching Eric Bieniemy, his position coach as a senior... He still set nine season or career marks his senior year: most career rushing attempts (809), most career all-purpose plays (919), most career all-purpose yards (4,828—3,598 rushing, 969 receiving, 261 returns), most career yards gained from scrimmage, both overall and minimum of at least 500 yards rushing and receiving (4,567), most career receptions by a running back (93), including the mark for a single season (45), and the most season (571) and career (969) receiving yards by a running back... He also finished 10th in rushing touchdowns (25), 11th in total offense (3,635 yards) and tied for 18th in scoring (150 points)... He just missed out on becoming the 28th player in NCAA history to record 3,000 rushing and 1,000 receiving yards in a career, as he was approaching the mark before he went down with an ankle sprain early in the third quarter in the season finale at Utah... He became the first player to lead the Buffaloes in rushing for four seasons, and was just the ninth to have done it for three years in a row, one of five to have done that with at least 600 yards all three seasons.... Both career passing attempts went for touchdowns (covering 37 yards, giving him a 584.5 passer rating)... He and Lamont Warren (1991-93) are the only two players to lead the team in rushing as a freshman, sophomore and junior (Warren left after the '93 season for the NFL)... His 16 career 100-yard rushing games (season best of six in 2010) were the second most in school history (Bieniemy had 22) and were among the top six by active players in the NCAA throughout his entire senior season... His 2,744 career yards were the second most to Rashaan Salaam (3,057) through a junior year at CU... He became the first player to start a game at running back in four different seasons since Bieniemy did so from 1987-90... He was selected by his teammates as the Zack Jordan Award winner as the team's most valuable player for 2011 when he became the first player in CU history to lead the team in rushing (854 yards) and receptions (45), while finishing second with 571 receiving yards... Early in his senior year, he became just the 12th player in school history to record at least 500 yards both rushing and receiving for a career, and in 2011, was the first player at Colorado who accomplished that feat in a single season (he was the first player in the NCAA to accumulate at least 500 of each in 2011; only three other players did so for the entire year)... He signed as a free agent with his home-state Cincinnati Bengals after his CU career.

A consensus first-team All-American as a senior in 1995 (United Press International, Walter Camp, Football News); The Sporting News tabbed him second-team while Associated Press named him third-team... A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior year... A two-time first-team All-Big Eight performer (1994, 1995), he became only the second center in school history to be named all-conference twice (joining Jay Leeuwenburg)... He did not allow a quarterback sack after his freshman season (he went over 2,260 plays and 35 games without one), and did not allow a single pressure and was not flagged for a penalty as a senior... He started every game of his CU career (44 regular season, four bowl), only the second Buffalo to start every game of his career... He was one of 10 semifinalists for the Lombardi Award, presented to the nation's outstanding offensive lineman, as a senior... A sixth round pick by San Diego in the 1996 NFL Draft (192nd overall)... He played in 50 career NFL games with San Diego (1996), New York Giants (1997) and Carolina (1998-2000)... Career was cut short due to a knee injury, and he retired back home in the Houston area... He was severely injured in a car accident in Houston in December 2012, and passed away from complications that developed on January 4, 2013 at the age of 40.

A Football Writers Association of America/ Look, NEA and International News Service All-American as a senior in 1957, when he was also first-team all-Big Seven... He was second in the nation in rushing that season, with his 1,097 yards the second most in school history at the time... He had four 100-yards games that year, and three others of 99, 98 and 97 yards... His 1,868 career yards were the fifth most at the time in CU history, as were his 138 points (21 TDs, 12-22 PATs) and 2,760 all-purpose yards... His 2,165 yards of total offense were the fourth most in Buff annals at the time of his graduation... He averaged a healthy 5.7 yards per rush in his career... A second round draft pick in the 1958 NFL Draft by Baltimore (23rd overall), he also played one season in the AFL with Denver (1960)... He went on to become a long-time teacher and coach in the Denver school system... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2010.

The runner-up for the 2005 Ray Guy Award and a first-team All-Big 12 Conference performer as a senior... A second-team All-American by the Walter

Camp Foundation (and honorable mention from SI.com)... He finished third in the Big 12 and fifth in the NCAA in punting with a 45.2 average on 80 punts as a senior after finishing first and second, respectively, as a junior with a 46.5 mark (including bowls)... He won the gross punting battle with opponent punters 23 of 26 times in his junior and senior seasons combined (the net 24 times), as he proved equally effective on the road as in Boulder... In the 2005 Champs Sports Bowl game against Clemson, he had one of the top postseason efforts by any punter, owning a 49.7 average for nine punts, including four inside-the-20 and a CU all-time bowl best kick of 68 yards (he had four over 52 yards in the game); he had averaged 50.0 yards against UTEP in the '04 Houston Bowl... He exited with seven of the top 25 gross punting days in school history, four his junior season and three as a senior: 52.3-yard average efforts versus Colorado State (2004) and New Mexico State (2005) are tied for the 10th best all-time and were his top efforts. He also owns four of the top 20 net punting games, topped by a 50.7 net average against NMSU... He finished fifth all-time at Colorado in gross career average (44.61), first in total punts (205), first in punts inside-the-10 (20) and inside-the-20 (65) and first in punts of 50 yards or longer (64, with 17 over 60 yards); he had just 18 touchbacks in 205 punts.

Press tabbed him a second-teamer in '92; United Press International selected him honorable mention both years)... A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior year... A two-time first-team All-Big Eight performer as a sophomore and a senior, he became only the third Buffalo receiver to earn all-league honors and was the first to be named twice... Exited his career as CU's all-time leader in both receptions (167) and receiving yards (2,548)... On the receiving end, via a Blake Anderson tip, of college football's play of the decade if not the century when he hauled down a 64-yard pass from Kordell Stewart after time expired to rally CU to a 27-26 win at Michigan in 1994... That play won an ESPY as the national play of the year in all sports (he's got the actual ESPY since he caught the ball)... CU's most outstanding offensive player (John Mack Award winner) as selected by the coaches for his sophomore season, when he caught a school record 76 passes for 1,060 yards... Had eight career 100-yard game (six of 128 or more), and caught nine or more passes three times, including a school record 11 for 186 yards at Baylor as a soph... Played four snaps on defense at safety his junior year (all against Baylor)... Was named the MVP in the '95 East-West Shrine game... A first round pick by Washington in the 1995 NFL Draft (No. 4 overall; among CU players, only Bo Matthews at No. 2 in 1974 was drafted higher, with Byron White also a fourth pick to Pittsburgh in 1938)... He played in 80 games with Washington over seven seasons (catching 277 passes for 4,280 yards and 24 TDs), before moving on to Cincinnati.

#24

HB, 6-1, 185, 3L, Wellington, Colo. (Wellington)

Equally as known by his nickname ("Whizzer") and more so as Justice White... Colorado's first All-American in football, as he was a consensus selection in 1937, including from Associated Press, UPI, International News Service, NEA, LIB, Colliers Magazine (Grantland Rice) and The Sporting News... Led the nation in several categories in 1937: rushing (1,121 yards), total offense (1,596), all-purpose yards (1,970) and scoring (122 points)... Finished second in the 1937 Heisman Trophy voting... The 1,121 rushing yards and 122 points were also NCAA records, and were not broken until colleges went to a 10-game schedule in 1949... Rushed for over 100 yards seven times in that '37 season, almost unheard of in those days... As the record book evolved through the years, it is estimated that at one time, he held as many as 50 individual school marks; in fact, at the time of his death in 2002, he still held 15 records some 65 years after his graduation... One that has stood the test of time is the longest punt in Buff annals, as his 83-yard kick against Missouri on Oct. 2, 1937, often carried the footnote, "without roll"... He participated in six plays of 75 yards or longer (nine 63-plus) in his CU career (runs, returns and the mammoth punt)... The first and one of three Buffs to have his jersey number retired (#24)... He was also a .400 hitter on the baseball team, and a standout on CU's basketball squad that made the N.I.T. in 1938... The fourth overall pick in the first round by Pittsburgh in the 1938 NFL Draft, he was a two-time all-pro halfback with both the Steelers (1939) and Detroit (1940-41); in-between, he studied at Oxford... He led the NFL in rushing twice (567 yards in 1938, 514 in 1940), the first player ever to lead the NFL in rushing his first two seasons... The only player in NFL history to lead the league in rushing as a rookie (1938) for a last place team (Pittsburgh was 2-9)... Awarded the prestigious Rhodes scholarship (in 1938) after an academic career at CU where he had 180 hours of A and 6 hours of B... Hall of Fame Gold Medal Award winner in 1962... One of three inaugural members of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (1965 induction)... Presented the Theodore Roosevelt Award at the 1969 NCAA Honors luncheon... Named to CU's All-Century Team in 1989, as he received more votes than anyone else... GTE Academic All-America Hall of Fame (inducted 1996)... The first inductee into the University of Colorado Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998... Awarded the Bronze Star for service in Europe during WWII... Named deputy U.S. Attorney General by President John Kennedy in 1960... Named to U.S. Supreme Court by Kennedy in 1962 and served 31 years, stepping down in 1993... Died at the age of 84 on April 15, 2002.

choice)... A Playboy Preseason All-American at tackle prior to his original senior year in 1976, but after he went down with a season-ending knee injury one game into the season, the Big Eight granted him an extra year of eligibility; he moved to center for the following season... Won CU's John Mack Award as the outstanding offensive lineman as selected by his teammates as a senior... He lettered at three different positions on the offensive line: guard (1973-75), tackle (1975-76) and center (1977), and is believed to be the only player in Big Eight history to have done so... He started at least one game in each season, the only known player in CU history to start games in five different years...

Owned a 465-pound bench press in college, one of the top efforts in CU history at the time; he also possessed 5.1 speed in the 40-yard dash... Played in three All-Star games after his senior campaign: the Japan Bowl, East-West Shrine Game and the Hula Bowl... A third round pick by the Los Angeles Rams in 1978 NFL Draft (80th overall), and played for the Rams as a rookie that season... Gained notoriety as a professional wrestler, first as "Baby Bull" and then under the name "Vader" (pictured at right).

A unanimous first-team All-American as a senior in 1990 from all seven recognized organizations by NCAA, and a consensus first-teamer as a junior in 1989 (all but the Associated Press and The Sporting News, though AP did name him second-team)... A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior year... He became the first University of Colorado player to win a postseason trophy when he was honored with the Butkus Award as the nation's most outstanding linebacker his senior season (1990)... A two-time first-team All-Big Eight Conference performer as a junior and senior, he was also the Big Eight's Defensive Player-of-the-Year both those seasons... Had 88 tackles, 21 for losses as a senior and 81 and 16, respectively, as a junior... In the final regular season game of his career against Kansas State, he lined up a couple of plays on offense and caught a pass for 17 yards in the 64-3 blasting of the Wildcats... Ended his career as and remains CU's all-time quarterback sack leader (35 for 242 yards), but only had as many as three sacks in a game just once... Also CU's all-time leader in tackles for loss (59 for 303 yards)... A two-time winner of the Dave Jones Award, given to the outstanding defensive player as voted by the coaches (1989, 1990)... The national defensive player-of-the-week as a sophomore for his mini-career in a CU win at Iowa: seven solo tackles, four for losses including two sacks, a forced fumble and a recovery, a pass deflection and a blocked punt... An honorable mention member of CU's All-Century team, selected in 1989... Joined CU's basketball team for a brief stint between his junior and senior seasons; he played in one game, but didn't want to risk his football future (he had a rebound and a steal in a loss at Kansas)... A first round selection by Cincinnati in the 1991 NFL Draft (18th overall)... He played his first four years with the Bengals (1991-94; he was in on 161 tackles including 26½ quarterback sacks)... He then moved on to San Francisco for one season (1995) before spending the last four years of his career with Denver, where he won two Super Bowl rings in 1997 and 1998... He registered 28½ sacks during his time in Denver, including 13 in 1996... An All-Pro defensive end in 1996... He played in 128 career NFL games, racking up 59½ quarterback sacks and one fumble return for a touchdown... Inducted into the CU Athletic Hall of Fame in 2008, and became the fifth Buffalo to be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2010... Now a Denver radio personality.

One of the first two African-American football players at CU (with Frank Clarke)... He lettered three years at guards (1956-57-58), earning AFCA All-America honors as a senior in 1958 and was a first-team All-Big Seven performer as a junior the previous year... He was described as a quick, agile tackle who provided bone-crushing lead blocks in helping to make Colorado one of the top offensive teams of his day (and also played tackle on defense)... In 1989, he was selected as a first-team member of CU's All-Century Team... A fifth round draft pick by Cleveland in the 1959 NFL Draft, he had a stellar NFL career as he played nine seasons (136 games) with the Browns and one with Washington, attaining All-Pro status in his Cleveland days... He went on to have a long career in NFL administration with Dallas, Philadelphia and Baltimore; he was in player personnel from 1975 to 1989, and was named director of pro personnel in 1989, a position he held for three years... After one year in the NFL office, where he created player programs in continuing education and financial planning among several innovations, he returned to the front office with Philadelphia (1992-97) and the Baltimore (1998-2003) as a personnel executive; with the Eagles, he was one of the first to hold the title of Vice President of Player Personnel... He retired from the NFL in 2003, and is now president of Wooten Printing, Inc., as well as Chairman of the Fritz Pollard Alliance, which works with the NFL to increase job opportunities for minorities in the league... In 2012, he became the sixth Colorado Buffalo to be selected for induction into the College Football Hall of Fame... He currently resides in Arlington, Texas.

DID YOU KNOW...

That several others also earn letters who are associated with the University of Colorado football program, even though they never dressed for a game? Student equipment managers and trainers who put in as many hours as the players also earn varsity letters for their efforts. Perhaps the most famous letterman at CU in this category is Steve Hatchell, the current President and Chief Executive Officer of the National Football Foundation & College Hall of Fame. Hatchell earned four letters as a student manager in the 1960s, which back then included duties such as scout team quarterback, film coordinator and caring for the grass fields. After graduating from CU with a journalism degree, he went on to work full-time in the athletic department, first in the equipment office and then as co-sports information director. His travels took him to Colorado State (SID), the Big Eight Conference (assistant commissioner) the Orange Bowl (executive director), the Southwest and Big 12 conferences (commissioner of both) and the president of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association.

ALL-CENTURY TEAM

The University of Colorado selected an "All-Century Football Team," as public balloting in 1989 tabbed 11 All-Americans among the top 25 selected to the 100-year squad.

Over 6,200 ballots were received in the public selection process, with over 150,000 votes cast from those ballots. Former CU players pared a list of 881 lettermen down to 118, which were in turn presented to the public for the final team selection.

Byron "Whizzer" White, the U.S. Supreme Court Justice who was CU's first All-American (1937), received 5,812 of a possible 6,265 votes. Bobby Anderson, who starred at both quarterback and tailback between 1967 and 1969, was the second leading vote-getter with 5,636, and two-way-star Joe Romig, who led CU to its first outright Big Eight Championship in 1961, was third with 5,145. White (#24), Anderson (#11) and Romig (#67) are the only Buffs to ever have their numbers retired.

One other player topped the 5,000 vote mark, as flashy Cliff Branch, whose name still frequently appears in the CU record book and who played a big part in the Buffs' No. 3 national ranking of 1971, captured 5,111 votes. The player with the fifth most votes, 3,989, was the only active Buff at the time to make the top 25, tailback Eric Bieniemy (a junior in 1989).

Joining White, Anderson and Romig as All-Americans on the century squad were Dick Anderson ('67), Pete Brock ('75), Mark Haynes ('79), Dave Logan ('75), Herb Orvis ('71) and Bob Stransky ('57).

Four players in the early years of CU football made the team, led by Walt Franklin, who played center and end between 1917 and 1921. Back Lee Willard ('21), Judge Hatfield Chilson ('25) and guard Bill McGlone ('26) round out the quartet which represents the formative seasons of CU football, when the team was known as the "Silver and Gold."

Other familiar names on the team include Hale Irwin, who starred at defensive back in the mid-60's but gained his fame on the PGA Tour; John Stearns, another pivotal player of the 1971 team who went on to be a star catcher with the New York Mets; Dave Logan, a veteran of 10-plus NFL seasons and current sportstalk celebrity in Denver; Carroll

John Wooten

John Stearns

Hardy, who played in the early 1950's and is the only man ever to pinch-hit for Ted Williams; and John Wooten, one of the first African-American players at CU who has spent several years in the scouting departments of the NFL Dallas Cowboys and Philadelphia Eagles.

Listed below are the 25 members of the University of Colorado All-Century (1890-1989) Football Team, selected by lettermen and the public over a three-month voting period. Another 28 players were selected to an honorable mention team:

CU ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

The University of Colorado started an Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998, initiating the process by inducting one member, the late Justice Byron R. "Whizzer" White. Including the 2014 class, 66 individuals and one national championship team will have been inducted overall.

In conjunction with the Hall of Fame, CU also honors athletes who have been standout performers. So far, 36 such athletes have had their jerseys, and thus careers, honored and recognized. Twenty met the automatic criteria to be honored in 1998 (three-time all-conference selection, two-time All American, trophy winner and/or previously retired jersey).

All Hall of Fame members and those athletes who have been honored are recognized with a display case in the Dal Ward Athletic Center on the CU-Boulder campus.

Three of CU's star athletes of the 1930s posed for a photo at the second Hall-of-Fame event. Gil Cruter, a 1999 inductee, is on the left, flanked by Byron White and Claude Walton.

The late Byron White addresses the crowd at the inaugural Hall-of-Fame gala.

1938 COTTON BOWL

Jan. 1, 1938 at Dallas, Texas

Colorado 14

In Colorado's first bowl appearance ever, the Buffaloes fell short to Rice 28-14, in the second annual Cotton Bowl. Other than the Rose Bowl, which began in 1902, bowls were relatively new in college football, as the Orange and Sugar came on the scene in 1935 and then the Cotton in 1937, with those four games considered the cream of the crop for the next 50 years.

The Buffs, champions of the Rocky Mountain Conference with an 8-0 overall record, were heavy underdogs ("4 to 1" according to newspaper articles at the time) to the Southwest Conference champion Owls, who entered the game with a 5-3-2 mark, but 5-1-1 down the stretch of the season.

It was a one-man show for both teams, as All-Americans Byron "Whizzer" White (Colorado) and Ernie Lain (Rice) dominated for their respective squads. White was involved in both Colorado scores and Lain in all four Owl touchdowns.

CU sprinted to a 14-0 advantage in the first quarter, when White threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Joe Antonio for the first TD, and then returned an interception 47 yards for a score five minutes later. Rice battled back and scored 21 second-quarter points to take a 21-14 lead at the half. Lain threw two touchdown passes and ran for another score.

The Owls, also called the "Feathered Flock" at the time, added the game's final score in the middle of the third quarter when Frank Steen caught an 11-yard pass from Lain. One of the major differences in the game came down to offensive style, as the passing game was much further along in the southwest and it showed in the statistics, as Rice had 158 yards passing as compared to just eight for Colorado.

Still, accounts at the time in the newspapers in both Colorado and Texas praised the CU effort, and Buff coach Bunnie Oakes blamed the outcome on CU's quick start. He told the team and reporters that things might have turned out differently had CU not gone up 14-0 and then relaxed, figuring it was easy to score. But Rice's only two turnovers had set up both Colorado scores, and the Owls didn't punt until their first series of the second half.

Lain and White were both named the outstanding players of the game.

1957 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1957 at Miami, Fla.

Clemson 21

Big Seven runner-up Colorado stormed out of the chute and had Atlantic Coast champion Clemson down 20-0 at the half as 72,552 fans yawned and went for refreshments at the 23rd Orange Bowl Classic.

But a lot of those drinks were spilled in the second half as Clemson rallied to take a 21-20 lead in the final period before the resurgent Buffs buckled up and drove for the winning score to take their first bowl triumph in history by a 27-21 score.

Fumbles, eight of them, three lost to Clemson, were a nemesis Colorado managed to overcome in the school's first national television appearance in history. One at the goal line at the end of the first half perhaps prevented CU being able to put the game away, and one on its own 27 with three minutes remaining in the game gave the Tigers one last shot to pull out the win.

Dal Ward's Buffaloes got first half touchdowns from John Bayuk, Howard Cook and Boyd Dowler to take the seemingly safe 20-point halftime lead. But Frank Howard's Tigers roared back to go ahead by 21-20 with 11:12 left in the game on a one-yard run by fullback Bob Spooner.

But the Buffs sucked it up and drove 53 yards for the winning score after a Clemson onside kick attempt following the score had failed. Eddie Dove carried four times and Bayuk three in the drive, with Bayuk getting the TD from the one-yard line with 7:13 left to play. Ellwin Indorf's kick gave CU what proved to be the winning margin.

With less than three minutes to go and facing a 2nd-and-9 on the Buff 26, Clemson's Charlie Bussey was intercepted at the 17 by Bob Stransky, nailing down the decision for the Buffs.

1962 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1962 at Miami, Fla.

Louisiana State 25

Jittery Big Eight champion Colorado was outclassed by Louisiana State's smooth football hordes, and the Buffaloes lost a 25-7 decision in the 28th Orange Bowl Classic before 62,391 onlookers.

Coach Paul Dietzel's Southeast Conference champions built up a 5-0 first quarter lead on field goal and a safety scored when Gary Kinchen blocked a Charlie McBride punt out of the end zone. Colorado came back to grab a 7-5 lead on Buff defender Loren Schweninger's 59-yard pass interception return for a score early in the second quarter.

But the Tigers then methodically dismantled the Buffaloes, and though down by only four at halftime, one had the feeling that the struggling CU offense might not be able to get going in the second half. Colorado had only three plays, for as many yards, in the first quarter, and ran just 17 for 48 in the first half.

LSU took the lead for good in the second quarter, marching 82 yards for the score with Chuck Crawford going in from the one with 8:57 left in the first half to give the Tigers an 11-7 margin that held until the half.

The Tigers scored twice quickly in the third quarter to put the game away, going 43 yards after a poor 18-yard punt and blocking another McBride punt for a touchdown just as the period ended.

Sonny Grandelius' Buffs managed only 129 yards in total offense against the LSU "Chinese Bandit" defense, while the Tigers earned 315 yards. CU had come into the game with a 9-1 mark, losing only to Utah and winning all seven Big Eight games to claim its first league crown.

1967 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Dec. 31, 1967 at Houston, Texas

Colorado 31

Miami, Fla. 21

Sophomore quarterback Bobby Anderson ignored a painful ankle injury and ignited Colorado's 31-21 victory over Miami, Fla. at Rice Stadium in the 9th annual Bluebonnet Bowl.

One of the more entertaining games of the '67 bowl season, there were five lead changes and neither team had a two-score lead until Wilmer Cooks put the game away with a 2-yard touchdown run with just 62 seconds to play.

Anderson, the 19-year-old Boulder-bred signal caller, led the Buffaloes on an 80-yard TD march in the third period to give the Herd a 17-14 lead. Then, after the Hurricanes recaptured the lead on the first play of the fourth quarter, Anderson sped 38 yards for a touchdown with 6:55 left in the game to put CU back ahead by 24-21. Anderson then took the Buffs 34 yards for the clinching score with 1:02 to play (Cooks' run) after Isaac Howard had picked off a Miami pass at the Hurricane 43-yard line and returned it nine yards.

The Buffs opened the scoring on a 7-yard run by Larry Plantz with just under five minutes left in the first quarter, as it took CU just two plays to capitalize on a Miami fumble. The Hurricanes answered that score on their next possession, and then took a 14-7 lead on a 77-yard interception return for a touchdown by Jimmy Dye.

Anderson was the complete player in winning game MVP honors, running for 108 yards on 17 carries, scoring two touchdowns, and completing 5-of-10 passes for 49 yards. Oddly, Anderson did not start the game, giving way to fleet Dan Kelly because of his bothersome ankle. Bobby entered the game in the second period after Miami went in front.

1969 LIBERTY BOWL

Dec. 13, 1969 at Memphis, Tenn.

Colorado 47

Alabama 33

All-American tailback Bobby Anderson and his herd of Bison stampeded into Memphis and outslugged Alabama, 47-33, before 50,042 fans and a nationwide television audience in the 11th annual Liberty Bowl.

The 80 combined points by the teams marked the most ever scored in a major bowl game, and the second most at the time in any NCAA postseason game, surpassed only by the 91 points scored in the 1968 Tangerine Bowl (a 49-42 Richmond win over Ohio U.).

Anderson, a bullish 6-0, 208-pounder, capped his All-America campaign by rushing for a Liberty Bowl record 254 yards and scoring three touchdowns. It gave him a total of 5,017 yards in total offense for his career and enabled him to become the first Big Eight player ever to hit the 5,000-yard mark for a career, including bowl games.

Fullback Ward Walsh scored twice on short runs, Dave Haney kicked a 30-yard field goal, Anderson scored from the two, and Steve Engel and Bob Masten collaborated on a 91-yard kickoff return as CU stormed to a 31-19 halftime lead. The Crimson Tide rallied to take a 33-31 lead with two third quarter touchdowns, but CU blitzed 'Bama for 16 unanswered points in the final stanza to post the win.

Defensively, the Buffaloes harassed two Tide quarterbacks all afternoon, posting eight sacks, several knock-downs and seven pass deflections. End Bill Brundige was in on five sacks for 41 yards in losses.

It was the only match up between college coaching legends, as Eddie Crowder's Buffaloes prevailed over Paul "Bear" Bryant's Crimson Tide. It was a classic, as 'Bama stormed back from 17- and 12-point deficits, but CU's resiliency won out.

A total of 16 new Liberty bowl records were set in the long and exciting afternoon in Memphis Memorial Stadium before the ABC-TV cameras.

1970 LIBERTY BOWL

Dec. 12, 1970 at Memphis, Tenn.

Tulane 17

Hungry Tulane ruined Colorado's return to the Liberty Bowl and the Green Wave walked off with a stunning 17-3 upset of the Buffs as 44,640 fans shivered in the cold at the 12th annual event at Memphis Memorial Stadium.

Colorado, playing without injured quarterback Jim Bratten, and going with sophomore Paul Arendt, mounted little offense and fell to the emotional Tulane effort. CU had come into the game with just a 6-4 record, but had upset powers Penn State and Sugar Bowl-bound Air Force during the season. Tulane used the win to improve to 8-4 on the year and added CU to the list of impressive teams it had beaten, including Georgia, Illinois, North Carolina and Miami, Fla.

CU's only points came on a 32-yard second quarter field goal from Dave Haney as the Buffs managed only 175 yards in total offense after leading the Big Eight with a per-game average of almost 425 yards. Tulane's David Abercrombie returned a second half kickoff 66 yards and scored himself on runs of two and four yards to cap drives that broke a 3-3 half-time tie and sent Tulane to its eighth win of the year. Linebacker Rick Kingrea set up the second tally with a 44-yard interception return off Arendt in the final period.

The game was a total contrast to the '69 Liberty Bowl, where CU and Alabama combined for 80 points and 930 yards. This affair saw just 20 points make it to the scoreboard on just 416 yards of offense.

1971 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Dec. 31, 1971 at Houston, Texas

Houston 17

Colorado sophomore tailback Charlie Davis returned to his hometown and ripped host Houston for a whopping 202 yards on 37 carries as the Buffs whipped the Cougars, 29-17, in the 13th annual Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl Classic at the Astrodome.

Davis scored twice and was a one-man show in the first half. CU took a 23-14 lead into the dressing rooms. CU marched 70 yards in nine plays on the games first possession, and thanks to a 27-yard run by Davis, took a 7-0 lead less than four minutes into the game. After a pair of Robert Newhouse runs spotted Houston a 14-7 after the first quarter, but CU answered with a 16-point second quarter. A touchdown pass of five yards from Ken Johnson to Larry Brunson, a 32-yard field goal by J. B. Dean, and another TD run by Davis enabled the Buffs to take the nine-point halftime lead.

Houston, behind the running of Newhouse, roared back to narrow the margin to 23-17 with 2:16 left in the third quarter as Mike Terrell kicked a 29-yard field goal. Newhouse, who lost out to Davis for the game's MVP Award, had 168 yards on 35 carries and also scored twice.

Safety John Stearns was a Colorado hero in the fourth period, making the gutsiest fourth down play in school history. On a fourth-and-9 from the Buff 10, he surprised everyone, including the Buff coaching staff, by sprinting 12 yards for a crucial first down after Houston had turned the momentum around and narrowed the margin to just a touchdown on the Terrell field goal. Stearns then knocked down a sure TD pass on fourth down with the Cougars at the CU nine. The Buffs turned that one around and marched for the clinching tally with 3:48 left in the game.

CU finished the season with a 10-2 mark, its only setbacks coming at the hands of national champion Nebraska and to No. 2 Oklahoma. In the Associated Press poll, the Buffs rose to No. 3 in the final balloting with the victory over No. 15 Houston (9-3), marking the first and only time one conference had three schools finish 1-2-3.

1972 GATOR BOWL

Dec. 30, 1972 at Jacksonville, Fla.

Auburn 24
Colorado 3

Auburn, an 11-point underdog to Colorado, took command in the second period and went on to beat the Buffs, 24-3, in the 28th Gator Bowl Classic before 71,114 fans.

It was 17-0 in favor of the Tigers before CU got on the board with just 7:31 left in the game on a Freddie Lima field goal. Auburn shut off the fearsome Colorado rushing attack, limiting the Buffs to just 63 yards in 29 attempts and forced CU quarterback Ken Johnson to the air.

Auburn, sixth-ranked in the nation, took it to Colorado by capitalizing on two CU fumbles and two pass thefts. Johnson, who had directed No. 13 Colorado to an 8-3 regular season coming into the game, hit on 17 of 29 passes for 169 yards, but the Buff running game was shut down.

Garner Jett's 27-yard field goal and a fumble recovery at the Colorado 16-yard line a minute later led to the 10-0 halftime lead for Auburn. Then, in the second half, wing-back Mike Fuller hit tight end Rob Spivey with a 22-yard TD pass late in the third quarter. Holder Dave Beck threw a 16-yard TD pass off a fake field goal to Dan Nugent with just 1:10 left in the game to ice the win.

The Tigers managed only 233 yards on the afternoon, including only 153 on 58 rushing attempts, or just 2.6 per attempt, as the CU defense had 11 tackles for losses totaling 36 yards. But largely due to the turnovers, Auburn's four scoring drives consumed a grand total of only 116 yards.

Auburn finished 10-1 and moved up to a number five ranking for the season.

1975 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Dec. 27, 1975 at Houston, Texas

Colorado rolled up a commanding 21-7 halftime lead over Texas, then kicked it away as the Longhorns rallied to a 38-21 win in the 17th Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in the Houston Astrodome before 52,748.

In the first half, Colorado built up sizeable advantages in first downs (16-5), total yards (225-89), total plays (48-20) and time of possession (20:50-9:10) in building the 21-7 edge. After overcoming Texas returning the opening kickoff to the CU 14, when Russell Erxleben's 25-yard field goal was low into the line, CU fullback Terry Kunz scored on a one-yard dive with 2:29 left in the first quarter for a 7-0 lead. Quarterback David Williams threw a four-yard TD pass to Dave Logan with 12:42 left in the second period, then added a 25-yard scoring aerial to huge end Don Hasselbeck with 0:24 left in the half to provide the two touchdown margin.

But Kunz opened the second half with a costly fumble at the Buff 34 and Texas halfback Jimmy Walker scored eight plays later to make it 21-13, though CU blocked the extra point. UT end Tim Campbell blocked a CU punt a minute later and roared 25 yards for the touchdown, with a two-point conversion pass from quarterback Marty Akins to fullback Earl Campbell tying the game at 21-21 with 10:56 left in the third quarter.

Erxleben booted an NCAA bowl record 55-yard field goal with 6:25 left in the third period to give the Longhorns a 24-21 lead. Fleet Johnny Jones scored from four yards out with 3:15 left in the third period that put the Horns a 31-21, and then added an insurance score on a 7-yard run with 5:05 left in the game.

Despite 59 points being put on the scoreboard, the game really wasn't an offensive showcase. The Buffs outgained Texas by 294-237, but CU struggled on offense in the second half, gaining only 69 yards.

1977 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1977 at Miami, Fla.

Ohio State 27
Colorado 10

Colorado returned to the Orange Bowl as Big Eight tri-champions for the first time since 1961, but Ohio State's defense and an injury to CU middle guard Charlie Johnson in the first half killed CU's chances in a 27-10 Buckeye win before 65,537.

The Buffs got the Orange Bowl nod over Oklahoma and Oklahoma State by virtue of their wins over both schools as all finished with 5-2 league records. CU came into the game ranked No.12, while Ohio State, the Big 10 runner-up, was 8-2-1 and ranked No. 11.

Colorado opened with a bang, getting ahead 10-0 in the first quarter on a 26-yard field goal by Mark Zetterberg with 5:56 elapsed, then a touchdown pass of 11 yards from sophomore quarterback Jeff Knapple to wingback Emery Moorehead with 3:43 left. At that point, CU held a 114-to-minus 7 edge in total offense and had run 19 plays to just 6 for OSU. But Johnson, who had a quarterback sack and a pass pressure in those six plays, went down with a broken ankle. Ohio State coach Woody Hayes substituted fleet Rod Gerald at quarterback for a harassed Tom Pacenta and the Buckeye offense came alive in the second quarter.

OSU tailback Jeff Logan rambled for a 36-yard touchdown up the middle as the first period came to an end, then the Buckeyes tied it on a 28-yard field goal by Tom Skladany with 9:29 left in the half.

Ohio State engineered a 99-yard drive, capped by fullback Pete Johnson's three-yard run, with 0:20 left in the half to take a 17-10 lead into intermission. That advantage stood up until Skladany added another 20-yard field goal with 2:30 left in the third quarter to make it 20-10 in favor of OSU.

The Buffs could not do anything offensively in the second half, and a pass interception at the Colorado 28 with 3:08 left led to the final Ohio State touchdown and the winning margin of 27-10.

1985 FREEDOM BOWL

Dec. 30, 1985 at Anaheim, Calif.

Washington 20

Washington staved off a pair of late Colorado rallies and held on to defeat the Buffaloes, 20-17, in the second annual Freedom Bowl at Anaheim Stadium.

It was a close game throughout, as neither team ever held a two-score advantage. Washington took a 3-0 lead late in the first quarter on a 30-yard field goal by Jeff Jaeger. The Buffs came back to take what would be their only lead of the night early in the second quarter. Fullback Anthony Weatherspoon scored from a yard out and Larry Eckel added the point after to give CU a 7-3 edge with 5:59 remaining in the first half. The Huskies' David Toy scored on a three-yard run with only 30 seconds left in the first half to put Washington up 10-7 at intermission, capping a 14-play, 80 yard drive engineering by quarterback Chris Chandler.

Eckel tied the score at 10-10 with a 33-yard field goal with 8:41 left in the third quarter, but Washington countered three minutes later with a one-yard scoring run by Tony Covington for a 17-10 lead. Jaeger added an 18-yard field goal three seconds into the fourth quarter to make it 20-10.

All-American punter Barry Helton threw out of punt formation to Jon Embree for a dazzling 31-yard touchdown pass and Eckel added the extra point with 11:05 to go to pull CU to within three. The Buffs would get no closer, but had the ball at inside the Husky 10 in the final five minutes. Halfback Mike Marquez fumbled the ball at the two ending the drive, although television replays indicated the ground may have caused the fumble.

The game capped CU's turnaround season, as the Buffs went from 1-10 the previous year to 7-5 and captured the NCAA's most-improved team honor.

Marquez led the Buffs with 80 yards on 10 carries, while Chandler led the Huskies with 72 yards on seven tries. It was a defensive game, with each team committing just a single turnover, but Washington was penalized 13 times for 88 yards on the evening.

1986 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Dec. 31, 1986 at Houston, Texas

Baylor 21
Colorado 9

Baylor turned two Colorado turnovers into touchdowns and then thwarted two Buff scoring threats in the fourth quarter as the Bears defeated CU, 21-9, before 40,470 in attendance at Rice Stadium in the 28th Bluebonnet Bowl.

It was CU's fourth appearance in the Houston-based game, with its last two games here played indoors in the Astrodome (1971 and 1975). As in 1967, this one was played outdoors on natural grass.

Baylor drew first blood with 3:34 left in the first quarter on a one-yard plunge by Derrick McAdoo on a fourth-and-goal play. Colorado countered two drives later with a 36-yard field goal by Dave DeLine to slice the lead to 7-3 early in the second stanza. But the Buffs turned the ball over on their own eight and it took Baylor three plays to score to extend the lead to 14-3, which stood at intermission. Cody Carlson hooked up with Darnell Chase on a 2-yard pass play for the score.

CU turned the ball over on its second play from scrimmage in the second half and McAdoo scored again from a yard out to put Baylor up 21-3. The Buffs finally put six on the board late in the quarter on a 31-yard touchdown run by Mark Hatcher, but CU couldn't convert the two and score remained 21-9 in favor of the Bears.

The Buffs twice had the ball deep in Baylor territory in the fourth quarter, but the Bear defense held, as CU couldn't convert either time on fourth down. In a game dominated by defense, Baylor outgained Colorado 279-194. Each team had 12 first downs, and the Buff defense held the Bears to over 200 yards under its per-game average for the season.

The running game, CU's bread-and-butter the last two seasons, was held in check by a ferocious Bear defense. Baylor had 14 tackles for loss in holding Colorado to just 83 rushing yards on 47 attempts. CU's running defense wasn't too shabby either, as Baylor netted just 114 yards on 43 tries.

1988 FREEDOM BOWL

Dec. 29, 1988 at Anaheim, Calif.

Brigham Young 20
Colorado 17

Brigham Young's only lead of the game came when it counted the most, as Jason Chaffetz' 35-yard field goal with 2:33 remaining in the fourth quarter rallied the Cougars to a 20-17 win over Colorado in the fifth annual Freedom Bowl.

The Buffs turned a BYU turnover into seven points just two-and-one-half minutes into the game, as Eric Bieniemy scored from one yard out to cap a six-play, 49-yard drive. Pat Blottiaux's PAT kick put CU up 7-0, but the Cougars tied the score some seven minutes later on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Sean Covey to Mike Salido.

Bieniemy's second touchdown of the game, also from a yard out, enabled CU to forge ahead 14-7 with 1:04 left in the half, with the margin standing at half-time.

The Buffs couldn't convert on several scoring opportunities in the second half, and twice penetrated the BYU 20 and came away with just three points. In the meantime, Ty Detmer's 14-yard scoring strike to Chuck Cutler knotted the score at 14 with 4:46 left in the third quarter. Blottiaux made good on a 19-yard field goal early in the fourth to give CU its last lead (17-14), but Chaffetz countered with a 31-yarder before nailing the game winner in the final minutes.

Colorado outgained the Cougars, 337-320, on the evening, but its on mistakes and penalties (nine, the most in CU bowl history), added up to the fifth straight bowl loss by the Buffaloes. Detmer, a sophomore and future Heisman Trophy winner (1990), came off the bench to complete 11 of 17 passes for 129 yards and a touchdown.

Bieniemy rushed for 144 yards and two scores on 33 carries, the second highest rushing performance to date in CU bowl history, and he also led the team in receiving yards in the game with 30. Alfred Williams posted three sacks for 25 yards in losses for the Buffs on defense.

1990 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1990 at Miami, Fla.

Notre Dame 21

Fullback Anthony Johnson's second touchdown run of the game late in the fourth quarter put an end to Colorado's undefeated season and national championship hopes as Notre Dame defeated the Buffaloes, 21-6, before a record 81,191 in the 56th annual Orange Bowl Classic.

Colorado came into the game with an 11-0 record and its first-ever No. 1 national ranking. The Buffs appeared headed to the national championship in the first half, as CU dominated the line of scrimmage in gaining 186 yards, but couldn't convert on three golden scoring opportunities. Instead of leading 17-0 or 21-0 at halftime, the Buffs found themselves in a scoreless deadlock and that thanks to Gary Howe's block of a Notre Dame field goal attempt at the intermission gun.

The Irish took control of the game in the third quarter, using a two-yard scoring run by Johnson and a 35-yard touchdown run on a reverse by Raghib Ismail to take a 14-0 lead midway through the period. Colorado sliced the lead to 14-6 on a spectacular 39-yard run by Darian Hagan to close the quarter, but the PAT kick sailed wide by Ken Culbertson, leaving the Buffs eight points back.

The CU defense held Notre Dame on its next possession, and then the Buffs drove to the Irish 44 where its own stalled. With 10:27 remaining, there was still plenty of time remaining for the Buffs. But Johnson's second touchdown, a seven-yard effort, culminated a mammoth 17-play, 82-yard drive that ate up almost nine minutes on the clock. The Buffs got the ball back with 1:32 left in the game, and after Mike Pritchard returned the Irish kickoff 28 yards to the CU 41, could not get anything going prior to time running out and Hagan was intercepted on the game's final play.

The win enabled Notre Dame to end the year with a 12-1 record and a No. 2 ranking, while CU ended up No. 4 in the polls, as the 11-1 Buffs were inexplicably jumped by a 10-2 Florida State that finished No. 3. Miami, Fla., was selected the national champion.

Jan. 1, 1991 at Miami, Fla.

Notre Dame 9

In an Orange Bowl where there was no shortage of heroes for Colorado, the No. 1 Buffaloes toppled No. 5 Notre Dame, 10-9, enabling the school to claim its first-ever national championship in football. CU overcame two key injuries in rallying in the second half for the victory.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Buffaloes drew first blood on a 22-yard field goal by Jim Harper three minutes into the second quarter. Notre Dame came right back, marching 62 yards in nine plays, with Ricky Watters scoring from two yards out. The score remained at 6-3, however, as CU's Ronnie Bradford charged through the line and blocked Craig Hentrich's extra point try. Just prior to halftime, CU lost the services of quarterback Darian Hagan (knee injury) and outside linebacker Kanavis McGhee (shoulder). Both missed the remainder of the game.

Hentrich booted a 24-yard field goal early in the second half to extend the Irish lead to 9-3. Charles S. Johnson took over at quarterback for the Buffs, with Notre Dame stopping CU cold on its first possession of the second half. On the first play of the next Notre Dame drive, Chad Brown forced Watters to fumble, with Paul Rose, subbing for McGhee, making the recovery.

Johnson, his feet now wet, coolly directed the Buffaloes to the go-ahead touchdown. Eric Bieniemy's one-yard touchdown run and Jim Harper's extra point kick late in the third quarter rallied CU into the lead. The Buffalo defense then held Notre Dame in check, as the Irish held on to the ball for only less than four minutes the rest of the game, mustering only 35 yards of total offense after CU went on top.

Colorado's road to the national championship wasn't without a couple of late scares. Notre Dame's Raghib Ismail broke loose on a punt return with less than a minute remaining, appearing to run 91 yards for a score, but CU's Tim James was clipped on the play, nullifying the gain. And with 13 seconds left in the game, the Irish still had a chance, especially with Hentrich's leg. On its own 38, a completion in the 20-25 yard range would have set up a winning field goal attempt, but Deon Figures intercepted the Rick Mirer pass at the Buff 36 and ran out the clock with a 27-yard return.

Bieniemy rushed for a game-high 86 yards on 28 carries, with Johnson earning the MVP honor, completing five of six passes for 80 yards. Defensively, the Buffs limited the "Golden Domers" to just 264 yards, and Greg Thomas picked off a pair of Mirer passes in Colorado territory. The win, which gave CU an 11-1-1 record for the season, also snapped a seven-game CU bowl-losing streak. Notre Dame finished the year with a 9-3 mark, and finished No. 6 in the nation.

1991 BLOCKBUSTER BOWL

Jay Barker threw three touchdown passes and David Palmer scored twice to lead No. 8 and SEC runner-up Alabama to a 30-25 victory over No. 15 and co-Big Eight champion Colorado in the second annual Blockbuster Bowl.

Palmer scored the game's first points on a 52-yard punt return six minutes into the first quarter. The Buffaloes tied the score at 7-7 late in the quarter on a one-yard run by Scott Phillips, which was set up a Ron Woolfork blocked punt. Ted Johnson tackled Martin Houston in the endzone for a safety early in the second quarter, and then the teams traded field goals to enable CU to take a 12-10 lead at halftime.

Barker hooked up with Siran Stacy for a 13-yard touchdown play in the third quarter, only to see the Buffs come back 18 seconds later on a 62-yard scoring strike from Darian Hagan to Michael Westbrook. Barker added a 12-yard touchdown pass to Kevin Lee later in the quarter to give the Crimson Tide a 23-19 lead after three quarters. Barker and Palmer connected on a five-yard TD pass with 8:10 left in the game to put Alabama ahead 30-19, but the Buffs cut the lead to five on a 13-yard pass from Hagan to Charles Johnson with 3:30 left.

Colorado got the ball back with 1:49 left and drove to the 'Bama 33-yard line before being stopped on a fourth-and-one play with 40 seconds left. Alabama outgained CU, 307-199, running more plays (81-60) and holding on to the ball for 38:10. The game marked the debut of CU's new one-back, pass-oriented offense, which had some success. The change took place in CU's bowl practices and was surprise for the game, but at times it appeared that Alabama had found out somehow in advance because of the Crimson Tide's uncanny success on defense.

Alabama finished the season with an 11-1 mark, along with a final No. 5 ranking, while Colorado followed its first national championship season in 1990 with an 8-3-1 record and a No. 20 final ranking.

1993 FIESTA BOWL

Jan. 1, 1993 at Tempe, Ariz.

Syracuse 26

Kirby Dar Dar's 100-yard kickoff return at the end of the third quarter proved to be the winning points as the No. 6 Syracuse Orangemen defeated the No. 10 Colorado Buffaloes, 26-22, in the 22nd annual Fiesta Bowl.

A defensive battle in the first half saw Colorado go into intermission with a 7-6 lead, as the teams combined for just 226 total yards. A pair of John Biskup field goals saw the Orangemen take a 6-0 lead, but with 10 seconds left in the half, Kordell Stewart threw a 7-yard touchdown pass to Sean Embree on fourth down, with Mitch Berger's PAT kick giving CU the slim one-point lead at the half.

The third quarter proved to be both pivotal and wild, with 29 points scored in just over a six-minute span. David Walker's 13-yard run with 6:22 left in the quarter put Syracuse back on top, 12-7, with a two-point conversion pass falling incomplete.

Berger nailed a 38-yard field goal on CU's next possession to cut the lead to 12-10, but the 'Cuse went back up 19-10 on a spectacular 28-yard run by quarterback Marvin Graves. Stewart led the Buffs on an 82-yard drive in just over a minute, completing the march with a 16-yard TD pass to Charles Johnson, but Berger missed the point after on the slick Arizona State Stadium surface and the score stood at 19-16. The stadium floor had problems due to too many games being played on it, between the home school, ASU, the NFL Phoenix Cardinals and high school playoffs.

Dar Dar performed his heroics on the next kickoff, rambling 100 yards as time expired in the quarter. Lamont Warren scored the day's final points on a six-yard run late in the game, with Berger again missing the PAT try. The Buffs got the ball back in the final minute, but could not muster a scoring drive.

The Buffaloes outgained the Orangemen, 370-265, including a 217-64 edge in the passing game. Syracuse neutralized the CU offensive attack by netting 178 yards on kickoff returns.

1993 ALOHA BOWL

Dec. 25, 1993 at Honolulu, Hawai'i

Fresno State 30

Rashaan Salaam rushed for 135 yards and three touchdowns to lead the No. 17 Colorado Buffaloes to a convincing 41-30 victory over the No. 24 Fresno State Bulldogs in the 12th annual Aloha Bowl.

The Buffs zoomed to a 17-0 lead, scoring on their first three possessions of the game. Salaam and James Hill scored on short touchdown runs, sandwiched around a Mitch Berger field goal, as CU went up 17-0 with 9:18 left in the half. After trading field goals, Fresno State pulled as close as it would get at intermission on a fluke play. Berger's squib kickoff was first fumbled by the Bulldogs' Jamie Christian, then recovered by Malcolm Seabron and returned 68 yards for a touchdown. The play pulled FSU to within 20-10 at halftime.

Salaam sprinted into the endzone from 40 yards out early in the second half, putting the daylight back into the CU lead (27-10). Fresno never got closer than 10 the remainder of the game, as Colorado was seemingly always in control, but could never put the game fully out of reach, either. CU ran the ball at will, averaging 6.4 yards per rushing attempt, minus two quarterback sacks. Lamont Warren had 68 yards on just 10 carries, and quarterback Kordell Stewart 50 on only eight tries.

The Buffs held Fresno State to just three rushing yards on the day, but the Bulldogs did put an all-time best of 523 passing yards on the board against CU (though 333 came after CU took the 27-10 lead). Salaam was named Colorado's Most Valuable Player for the game, while Chris Hudson was the game's MVP on defense. Hudson had seven tackles, two forced fumbles, two recoveries, a quarterback sack and a pass deflection.

CU, the Big Eight runner-up, climbed to 8-3-1 with the win, while Fresno State, co-champions on the Western Athletic Conference, finished 8-4.

1995 FIESTA BOWL

Jan. 2, 1995 at Tempe, Ariz.

Notre Dame 24

Kordell Stewart amassed 348 yards of total offense and he received plenty of help on both offense and defense as the Colorado Buffaloes easily defeated Notre Dame, 41-24, in the 24th annual Fiesta Bowl.

The game was Bill McCartney's "swan song" as CU head coach, with the win giving him a final record over 13 seasons of 93-55-5, the winningest in Colorado history.

Stewart, named the game's most valuable player, had 268 total yards in the first half alone, when the Buffs built a commanding 31-3 lead with 1:05 remaining. For the game, he rushed seven times for 143 yards and a touchdown and completed 11 of 20 passes for 205 yards and another score.

Heisman Trophy winner Rashaan Salaam rushed for 83 yards and three touchdowns, including back-to-back scores in the final five minutes of the first half that helped break the game open.

On defense, the Buffs switched from the 3-4 to the 4-3 for the game, and the result yielded relentless pressure on Irish freshman quarterback Ron Powlus. CU had seven sacks, including three by the defensive MVP in the game, Shannon Clavelle, along with 12 pressures. Butkus Award runner-up Ted Johnson led all players with 20 tackles, with two for losses and an interception.

The Buffs scored on five of their first six possessions, with Stewart the key fixture on each. He had a 29-yard run on CU's first touchdown drive, a 35-yard dash on the second, a 16-yard run and 46-yard pass to James Kidd on the third, and a 12-yard run to the 1-yard line on the fourth. And after Notre Dame had closed to within 31-17 late in the third quarter, Stewart sprinted 41 yards to set up a field goal, and threw a 37-yard pass to Kidd en route to CU's final score.

The Buffs amassed 472 yards on offense in just 23:43 of possession time, playing nearly the perfect game. CU did not commit a turnover and averaged just under eight yards per play in finishing the season with an 11-1 record and No. 3 national ranking. Notre Dame, unranked coming into the game, ended the year at 6-6.

Following the game, Salaam announced that he would forego his senior year and declared himself eligible for the NFL draft. McCartney handed the reins of the program over to new head coach Rick Neuheisel the following morning.

1996 COTTON BOWL

Jan. 1, 1996 at Dallas, Texas

Oregon 6

John Hessler threw for two touchdowns and ran for another and Herchell Troutman rushed for 100 yards and a score as the No. 7 Colorado Buffaloes rallied from a sluggish start in easily defeating the No. 12 Oregon Ducks, 38-6, in the 60th annual Cotton Bowl.

The Buffs overcame two early turnovers and a long kickoff return, holding the Ducks to just two field goals. The defense clamped down all afternoon on the potent Oregon attack, especially when the Ducks worked into CU territory; Oregon had just the six points in nine penetrations across midfield.

Trailing 6-0, Hessler directed CU on a six-play, 80-yard drive in just 97 seconds, with Hessler running the ball in himself from a yard out on the first play of the second quarter. After the teams exchanged possessions, the Ducks drove to the CU 9, where a Tony Graziani pass was intercepted by freshman Marcus Washington, who then returned the ball 95 yards for the longest interception return for a touchdown in CU bowl history.

Washington's heroics enabled the Buffs to take a 13-6 lead into the lockerroom, as the weather continued to get worse. A light rainfall increased as the game went on, with winds gusting to 20 miles per hour, making the field conditions worsen.

Though the weather was more Oregon-like, it didn't appear to bother Colorado. The Buffaloes broke open the close game in the third quarter with three touchdowns, with a six-yard run by Troutman sandwiched in the middle of two Hessler touchdown passes to Matt Lepsis and Phil Savoy. Troutman ran over right tackle for a 55-yard gain, the longest run ever by a Buff in the postseason, to set up CU's first second-half score.

Troutman was named the game's most valuable player on offense, with Washington garnering the same honor on defense, making six tackles in addition to his interception return.

Colorado owned a 313-258 edge in total offense, but the day belonged to the defense, and Oregon averaged just 3.5 yards per play and was forced into five turnovers. The win enabled Rick Neuheisel's Buffs to finish 10-2 on the season and No. 4 in the nation (USA Today/ CNN poll; No. 5 in the Associated Press).

1996 HOLIDAY BOWL

Dec. 30, 1996 at San Diego, Calif.

Colorado 33
Washington 21

Koy Detmer and Rae Carruth completed their careers in style, rallying No. 8 Colorado from an early two touchdown deficit to defeat No. 13 Washington, 33-21, in the 19th annual Holiday Bowl.

Detmer, who was named the game's offensive most valuable player, hooked up with Carruth on a 76-yard touchdown pass with 2:25 left in the first quarter to get the Buffaloes on the scoreboard. Until that play, the Huskies used a pair of Corey Dillon touchdown runs to build a 14-0 lead, threatening CU's three-game bowl winning streak and a chance at a third straight 10-win season.

Colorado pulled even four minutes into the second quarter, when defensive MVP Nick Ziegler intercepted a Brock Huard pass and returned it 31 yards for the first touchdown of his collegiate career. Washington answered with a Jerome Pathon 86-yard kickoff return for a 21-14 lead, but those would be the last points CU would allow on the night. Darrin Chiaverini tied the score at 21 with a seven-yard TD pass from Detmer, and Jeremy Aldrich's 42-yard field goal gave CU its first lead at 24-21 with 1:50 left in the first half.

CU added nine second half points on a 36-yard Aldrich field goal and a four-yard touchdown pass from Detmer to Carruth. The Buff defense held the Huskies to just 129 yards and seven first downs in the second half, and Washington's only scoring chance resulted in a blocked field goal attempt by Mike Phillips.

Detmer and Carruth respectively set CU bowl records for passing yards (371) and receiving yards (162). The Buffs had a 414-341 edge in total offense in the game, but a 373-204 edge after UW took its 14-0 lead. It was the largest deficit in CU bowl game history in which the Buffs rallied to win, and the fifth largest comeback in NCAA bowl annals.

CU finished 10-2 for second straight season, and earned a final ranking of No. 8 in the nation.

1998 ALOHA BOWL

Dec. 25, 1998 at Honolulu, Hawai'i

Oregon 43

Ben Kelly set the tone for the day by returning the opening kickoff for a touchdown, as the Colorado Buffaloes built a 30-point third quarter lead and then held off the No. 21 Oregon Ducks, 51-43, in the 17th annual Aloha Bowl.

Kelly raced 93 yards for a score to start a busy day at Aloha Stadium, as 164 points would be tallied in college football's first-ever bowl doubleheader (Air Force beat Washington, 45-25, in the Oahu Bowl later that afternoon).

Mike Moschetti set a CU bowl record by throwing four touchdown passes in the game, the first coming late in the first quarter after Jeremy Aldrich's 48-yard field goal had given CU a 10-0 lead. Javon Green caught the five-yard toss and the Buffs were up 17-0.

Moschetti, CU's most valuable player in the game, threw scoring passes of 58 yards to Marcus Stiggers and 72 yards to Darrin Chiaverini in the second quarter, as the Buffaloes built a 37-14 halftime edge. Aldrich added a pair of field goals in the quarter, and his three in the game also established a new CU postseason best.

Damen Wheeler gave CU its biggest lead of the day at 44-14 after he raced into the backfield and plucked off an Akili Smith pass and ran 52 yards for a touchdown; he actually swiped the ball while it was traveling backwards, so the play was classified an intercepted pitch. Oregon chipped away at the CU advantage and had cut it to 44-28 early in the fourth quarter, but a 57-yard drive ended by a 20-yard TD pass from Moschetti to Daniel Graham worked the lead back up to 51-28. The Ducks wouldn't give up, adding two more scores to pull to within the final score of 51-43, as the CU defense rose to the occasion the one time Oregon had the ball with a chance to tie the game. The Buff defense forced three incompletions and Hannibal Navies added a 13-yard sack to keep the Ducks at bay.

Oregon outgained CU, 535-397, but the Buffs averaged more yards per play (6.7-6.6), basically scoring at will, and forced the Ducks into six turnovers that led to 23 Colorado points. The win was Colorado's fifth straight in the bowls, giving the Buffs the nation's longest active streak. It would also be the final game for CU head coach Rick Neuheisel, who resigned two weeks later to take over as head coach at Washington.

1999 INSIGHT.COM BOWL

Dec. 31, 1999 at Tucson, Ariz.

Boston College 28

Colorado scored six first half touchdowns from its offense, defense as well as special teams in building an insurmountable 45-7 lead en route to a 62-28 thrashing of Boston College in the 11th annual Insight.com Bowl, CU's nation-best sixth bowl win in a row.

The Buffaloes took the opening kickoff and marched 65 yards in 13 plays, with Cortlen Johnson's 10-yard run capping the drive to give CU a 7-0 lead. Boston College drove to the CU 26 on its first possession, but a 43-yard field goal sailed wide to take some steam out of the Eagles. Quarterback Mike Moschetti then engineered a 12-play, 74-yard drive, and called his own number to score on a 2-yard run and CU led, 14-0, with just 1:47 left in the period.

Then a barrage of returns for touchdowns sealed BC's fate. Thirty seconds and three plays after the Moschetti score, Jashon Sykes intercepted a Tim Hasselbeck pass and returned it 29 yards for a 21-0 lead. A little over four minutes into the second quarter, Rashidi Barnes did the same, stealing a Brian St. Pierre pass and rambling 21 yards into the end zone to make it 28-0. The Buffalo defense stopped the Eagles cold on their next possession, but the elation of a Kevin McMyler 55-yard punt to the CU 12 was short-lived as Ben Kelly raced 88 yards with the ball for a touchdown, the longest in NCAA bowl history, and a 35-0 Colorado lead. After George White intercepted a Moschetti pass and ran it back for a 78-yard score, Johnson added his second touchdown on the day and Jeremy Aldrich the first of two field goals for the 45-7 lead at intermission.

There were a couple of more quirky scores in the second half, as BC recovered its own fumble in the end zone for a score and got its last touchdown on a blocked punt return, but the game was over at halftime.

Johnson ran for 201 yards on just 15 carries, and was named to Sports Illustrated's All-Bowl team. CU set numerous school records and the 62 points were the third most ever scored in any bowl. And by scoring in all four quarters, the Buffs extended another amazing streak, as CU ended the 20th century scoring in 15 consecutive bowl quarters and in 26 of its last 27.

The win also gave CU a final record of 7-5 under first-year coach Gary Barnett, and it was Barnett's first win as a head coach in a bowl in three games (he was 0-2 at Northwestern before coming to Colorado).

2002 FIESTA BOWL

Jan. 1, 2002 at Tempe, Ariz.

Colorado 16

It was only the sixth postseason meeting ever between Nos. 2 and 3, but second-ranked Oregon proved to be too much for third-ranked Colorado as the Ducks defeated the Buffaloes, 38-16. The loss snapped CU's nation-best six game bowl winning streak.

The Buffs scored first—and last—but it was in-between when Oregon flashed the muscle of its powerful passing attack when it outscored CU 38-0 from late in the first quarter to early in the fourth.

Colorado took a 7-0 lead after Brandon Drumm's 1-yard plunge capped an 11-play, 65-yard drive at the 6:26 mark of the first quarter. But the complexion of the game changed over the course of remainder of the first half. UO's star quarterback, Heisman finalist Joey Harrington, threw three touchdown passes, including a 28-yard strike to Keenan Howry to tie the score late in the first. Two drives later, early in the second stanza, Harrington and Samie Parker hooked up on a 79-yard strike that put the Ducks up for good. He combined with Onterio Smith for a 6-yard score with 2:29 left before the half that gave the Ducks a 21-7 lead.

Two bad breaks did in the Buffs in the third quarter. With Oregon getting ball first, CU needed a defensive stop, but Maurice Morris broke at least half a dozen tackles in rambling 49 yards for a touchdown and a 28-7 UO lead less than three minutes into the half. Colorado then came back and drove to the Duck 26, where Bobby Pesavento scrambled free and hit Derek McCoy for an apparent touchdown. But the SEC official, some 20 yards behind the play, ruled Pesavento had crossed the line of scrimmage, negating the play. Television replays showed Pesavento was not over, but the call stood and took what little wind was left in CU's sails at the time.

Oregon extended the lead to 38-7, with Harrington throwing a fourth scoring pass, with 9:38 left. Colorado did get back on the board with a 39-yard field goal from Jeremy Flores and ended the game's scoring with a Craig Ochs to Daniel Graham 4-yard touchdown pass in the final seconds.

Graham set a CU bowl record with 10 receptions, but Oregon allowed CU only 49 net rushing yards after a potent Buff ground game ran up 603 in their final two regular season games. Oregon finished the season with an 11-1 record but couldn't overtake Miami in the final polls; CU closed at 10-3, ending at No. 9 in both major polls.

2002 ALAMO BOWL

Dec. 28, 2002 at San Antonio, Texas

Wisconsin 31
Colorado 28 (OT)

No. 14 Colorado didn't have much luck in the Lone Star state three weeks earlier in its 29-7 loss to Oklahoma in the Big12 Championship game in Houston, and the return to Texas just after Christmas proved just as disappointing as the Buffaloes fell in overtime to Wisconsin, 31-28, in the Alamo Bowl presented by MasterCard.

Mike Allen's 37-yard field goal in overtime, after CU failed to score to open the extra session, completed a wild rally for the Badgers. Wisconsin tied the game with 51 seconds left in regulation when quarterback Brooks Bollinger scored from a yard out, which concluded a frantic 10-play, 80-yard march in 94 seconds.

Colorado took a 7-0 lead four minutes into the contest when Donald Strickland ended an early UW threat when he picked off a Bollinger pass at the CU 9 and raced 91 yards for the game's first points. The Badgers tied the game two possessions later, capitalizing on an interception of their own with Anthony Davis scoring on a 4-yard run to top off a short 19-yard drive. CU grabbed the lead back on the final play of the quarter, going up 14-7 after quarterback Robert Hodge hooked up with D.J. Hackett on a 10-yard touchdown pass that finished off an 11-play, 83-yard drive.

But Wisconsin owned the second quarter, scoring two more touchdowns on the heels of Hodge's second and third interceptions. Bollinger hit Brandon Williams with a 10-yard TD pass and Darrin Charles with a 7-yard toss, both on third down plays as the Badgers scored their three first half scores on combined drives of just 93 yards.

San Antonio native Zac Colvin replaced Hodge for the final first half series and led the Buffs to two scores in the third quarter. As Wisconsin did in converting CU interceptions, the Buffs did the same in converting Badger fumbles into third down touchdowns. Chris Brown scored on a 4-yard run midway into the period after the Badgers fumbled a Mark Mariscal punt. Davis fumbled on the first play of Wisconsin's next drive, with Kory Mossoni recovering at the UW17. Colvin found Hackett in the end zone for an 11-yard touchdown play that put CU up for the final time, 28-21. CU managed to tie the game and take the lead on two drives that totaled all of 42 yards.

A stalemate then ensued until UW took over on its own 20 with just 2:25 remaining. The game-tying drive included two conversions on fourth downs, the first on a 4th-and-18 (a 27 yards pass from Bollinger to Williams) and the next on a 4th-and-10 (Bollinger to Charles for 28 yards).

CU ran out the clock and couldn't gain any yards on three plays in the overtime; Patrick Brougham's 45-yard field goal try sailed wide right, setting the stage for Wisconsin to grab the victory on Allen's kick.

The only other overtime game in the 2002-03 bowl season was the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, where Ohio State topped Miami, Fla., in two overtimes to win the national championship.

2004 HOUSTON BOWL

Dec. 29, 2004 at Houston, Texas

UTEP 28

HOUSTON — Joel Klatt passed for 333 yards and two touchdowns, both coming in the fourth quarter, and Tom Hubbard had two interceptions in leading Colorado to a 33-28 come-from-behind victory over the Texas-El Paso Miners in the second annual EV1.Net Houston Bowl.

The Buffaloes spotted UTEP a 14-3 first quarter lead, but held the Miners to just 191 yards while outscoring them 30-14 over the last three periods. Klatt and Hubbard were respectively named the game's offensive and defensive most valuable players, though there were many stars for the Buffaloes on this afternoon.

Mason Crosby made good on 4-of-6 field goal tries, tight end Joe Klopfenstein had a record day, punter John Torp neutralized UTEP's return game and linebackers Thaddeaus Washington and Akarika Dawn combined for 16 tackles with five for losses and two quarterback sacks.

Trailing 21-19 to open the fourth quarter, UTEP answered a Buff field goal on the previous possession with a 4-play, 80-yard drive capped by a 3-yard touchdown pass from Jordan Palmer to Johnnie Higgins. That was the end of the fireworks for UTEP and it lit a fuse for the Buffaloes.

Colorado came right back on the first play of its next possession. Klatt hit a streaking Klopfenstein across the middle, with the junior breaking two tackles and outrunning a safety for a 78-yard touchdown reception. It was the longest play by a tight end in Colorado history, some 21 yards longer than the previous best. Crosby's PAT kick brought CU back to within 28-26.

The Miners then worked the ball to midfield, and on a 2nd-and-13, Palmer was intercepted by Hubbard at the Buff 28 to end the threat with 11:10 on the clock. CU immediately countered with a six play drive that covered 72 yards that had a little bit of everything.

Klatt hit Ron Monteilh for a short seven-yard gain on first down, but the next two plays yielded a zero yard rush by Bobby Purify and then an incomplete pass. On 4th-and-3, Torp faked a punt and scrambled 22 yards around the left side to give the Buffs a first down at the UTEP 43. Lawrence Vickers then rushed for four yards, and from there, Klatt hit a wide open Evan Judge on a 39-yard touchdown reception to give Colorado its first advantage since the first quarter.

UTEP went three-and-out on its next two possessions, the first of which included a sack by Washington and the second a key pass deflection by Hubbard on third down to deny the Miners a long gain. On their last drive of the game, after Torp pinned them at their own 18, the Miners earned one first down and drove the ball out to their 40, where Palmer threw four straight incompletions to turn the ball back over to CU, which ran out the clock.

CU struck first on a 26-yard Crosby field goal, with the Miners taking an 11-point edge after two touchdown runs. The Buffs pulled to within 14-13 after a Hugh Charles 1-yard run and a 54-yard field goal from Crosby. The latter was a CU postseason record, topping the old long of 49 yards set by Mitch Berger in the 1993 Aloha Bowl. Palmer threw a TD pass that covered 17 yards to Jayson Boyd to put UTEP back up, 21-13, at halftime, but two Crosby field goals, the only third quarter scoring, pulled CU back to within two after the third.

Purify led all runners in the game with 80 yards on 22 carries, while Charles added 51 on just seven tries. Klopfenstein caught five passes for 134 yards and the score.

2005 CHAMPS SPORTS BOWL

Dec. 27, 2005 at Orlando, Fla.

Clemson 19

ORLANDO — James Davis became the first player to rush for over hundred yards against Colorado for the season as the Clemson freshman ran for 150 yards and a touchdown in the No. 23 Tigers' 19-10 win over the Buffaloes in the 16th annual Champs Sports Bowl.

The game was a defensive battle, with the two schools combining for just 489 yards of total offense, with the Buffs netting just 124 against a stifling Clemson unit. Colorado had just three first downs and 38 yards of offense in the first three periods and went three plays and out in six of its first nine possessions before getting untracked in the fourth quarter.

Despite CU's struggles on offense, the game wasn't decided until 1:38 remained, when Davis scored from 6 yards out to answer the Buffs lone touchdown of the evening. Backup quarterback Brian White had replaced starter James Cox in the fourth quarter and piloted the Buffaloes on a 69-yard drive that cut the "other" CU's lead to 13-10. White rolled right on third and goal and found tight end Quinn Sypniewski for a 2-yard touchdown pass, temporarily getting the Buffaloes back in the game.

But a worn out Colorado defense couldn't muster enough energy to stop the Tigers on their next possession, who clinched the game on the Davis score after marching 61 yards in seven plays in knocking just over four minutes off the clock. James Garee blocked the extra point attempt, and the Buffs did scoop up the ball and try to return it for a defensive two points, but the Tigers were on top of it and thwarted CU on its last-ditch attempt to remain down by a single score.

Cox and White were playing because three-year starter Joel Klatt was ruled out of the game, still suffering from the effects of a concussion in the Big 12 Championship game (he suffered the injury on a vicious illegal hit by UT linebacker Drew Kelson with the Longhorns up by nine scores).

The first half produced a two-to-one lead in field goals by the runner-ups for the Lou Groza

Award, as Clemson's Jad Daen opened the scoring with a 26-yard field goal in the first quarter, which was matched by Mason Crosby with a 36-yard boot on the first play of the second stanza. Dean added an 18-yard make with less than six minutes left in the half and the 6-3 Clemson lead stood at half-time.

Tiger quarterback Charlie Whitehurst capped a 67-yard drive with a 5-yard scoring run to open the second half, with the key play on the drive a 40-yard run by Davis, a bowl record and the longest against CU in two years. That put Clemson up 13-3, a score that would hold until White supplanted Cox and drove CU into the end zone for its first touchdown in 14 quarters.

White completed 7-of-12 passes for 81 yards, with Sypniewski on leading all players in the game with 50 receiving yards, including CU's longest play of the game, a 28-yard catch from White on CU's scoring drive. CU's other individual highlight came from punter John Torp, as the Ray Guy Award runner-up averaged 49.7 yards on nine kicks, including a CU bowl record long of 68, four kicks of 60-plus yards and four inside-the-20.

The only other meeting between the schools came some 49 years earlier in the 1957 Orange Bowl, with the Buffs claiming that one by 27-21.

Colorado was coached by Mike Hankwitz, who was named interim head coach after Gary Barnett stepped down on December 8 after six seasons at the reins of the program.

2007 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

Dec. 30, 2007 at Shreveport, La.

SHREVEPORT, La. — It was a game of two halves, or rather a game of fifths. Alabama owned a commanding 27-0 lead after the first 24 minutes of play, and though Colorado dominated the last three-fifths of the game, the Buffaloes fell short in their comeback, succumbing 30-24 to the Crimson Tide in the 32nd Annual PetroSun Independence Bowl.

A pair of Leigh Tiffin field goals and three touchdown passes to three different receivers by John Parker Wilson built a 27-0 lead for Alabama with 12:20 to play in the second quarter. At that juncture, the Crimson Tide also owned staggering edges in total yards (235-27), first downs (12-1) and total plays (27-12). CU picked up one first down on its next possession but then had to punt, followed by 'Bama moving from its 20 to the CU 44 in five plays with six minutes left in the half.

Then the play that would swing momentum to CU for the first time all game occurred. Wilson had completed 13-of-15 passes to that point, but Ryan Walters intercepted his next throw at the Buff 22 and returned it to the Alabama 43. From there, the offense finally exuded some confidence and marched into the end zone in eight plays, capped by a 4-yard pass from Cody Hawkins to Tyson DeVree.

The Buffs forced Alabama to punt and took over on their own 45 with 1:11 to play in the half. Hawkins and DeVree hooked up on three straight pass plays that picked up 29 yards and had CU in field goal range at the Tide 26-yard line. Hawkins spiked the ball to stop the clock and after a 1-yard pass to Patrick Williams, CU had a 3rd-and-9 at the 25 but the clock was running under 10 seconds. The Buffs took a chance for the end zone, and it paid off when Hawkins hit a streaking Dusty Sprague for the score with just four seconds on the clock. When the smoke cleared, Hawkins completed 8-of-9 passes on the two touchdown drives that brought the Buffs to within 27-14 at halftime.

Walters' interception and increased pressure on Wilson (one sack, four hurries) threw the Tide's offense off track. UA ran just six plays in the third quarter, but the Buffs couldn't capitalize. CU drove to the 'Bama 29 to open the half, but Kevin Eberhart missed a 48-yard field goal. He came back and made a 39-yard field goal that cut the lead to 10, though it was a bit of a letdown for the Buffs who had started the drive on their own 3 and had marched to the Tide 24 before a holding penalty helped stall the drive.

CU drove to the Alabama 30 on its next possession before a sack of Hawkins by Wallace Gilberry, the defensive player of the game, disrupted the drive. The teams wound up trading punts, and after CU regained possession, Hawkins was intercepted at the CU 22 by Darren Mustin. CU's defense stiffened and forced a third Tiffin field goal, but it put Alabama up 30-17 with 4:36 remaining.

The game was not over, however, as Colorado drove 69 yards in five plays in just 45 seconds. Hawkins hit DeVree for 27 yards to the 'Bama 42, and then Williams for 28 more to the 14. After two incomplete throws, he found DeVree in the back of the end zone for the touchdown, with Eberhart's PAT kick pulling CU to within one score, 30-24.

The Tide earned two first downs after CU kicked off deep, eventually punting into the end zone with one second left. From its own 20, the Buffs tried the 'ol "pass it and lateral it to whoever you can," picking up 25 yards in the process from Hawkins to Scotty McKnight, who pitched it to Daniel Sanders and he to Cody Crawford. But time ran out on CU.

Colorado rallied to outgain the Tide, 397-388, as Hawkins (322 yards, 3 TDs) and DeVree (9-94 receiving) were CU's offensive stars, while Walters (8 tackles, an interception, one sack and one PBU) and Butkus Award runner-up Jordon Dizon (14 tackles) led the Buff defense.

COLORADO PERSONNEL HISTORY

The University of Colorado has been blessed with a fiercely loyal athletic staff through the years, starting right at the top. CU has had only six faculty representatives since the end of World War II and has had but five athletic directors in its history. Not including coaches, 21 people have worked at least 15 years for the athletic department in various capacities. Six have worked over three decades: athletic director Harry Carlson (38 years), senior associate AD Jon Burianek (38), sports information director (SID) and assistant/associate athletic director Fred Casotti (35), equipment manager Silver Akins (34), business manager/assistant AD Kayo Lam (31) and SID David Plati (30). The most famous all-time short stint at CU? That could be Wayne Duke, who was SID for a year (1950) before eventually becoming commissioner of the Big Ten Conference. Here's a look at who's held some of the more notable managerial and support positions in the history of CU athletics:

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

- Nov. 15, 1890—First football game ever in the history of the University of Colorado, losing 20-0 to the Denver Athletic Club in Denver.
- Dec. 13, 1890—George Darley runs 65 yards with a fumbled football for a touchdown, the first in CU history. Colorado Mines won however, 50-4.
- Nov. 26, 1891—First win in CU history, a 24-4 victory on the road over the Colorado Springs Athletic Association Team.
- Nov. 8, 1892—First win by Colorado in Boulder, a 46-0 win over the University of Denver.
- Aug. 3, 1894—Harry Heller named first head coach in Colorado history.
- Oct. 26, 1895—Fred Folsom debuts as CU head coach with a 32-0 win over the Denver Wheel Club in Boulder. He arrived in Boulder earlier that month and did not coach the first game of the season.
- Nov. 17, 1898—Colorado plays first opponent from outside the state boundaries, losing to Nebraska in Boulder, 23-10.

The same year Colorado officially became a state, 1876, the University of Colorado was founded and opened with 44 students and a faculty of two, one of whom was the president.

Baseball was the first varsity sport at the U. of C. as it was then called. Football in its earlier form soon followed, though it was more like soccer when the program was born in the 1880s. But it soon evolved into a more popular form of the sport, referred to as rugby football, one which offered more physical contact and much more scoring.

In the fall of 1890, intercollegiate varsity football was born at the U. of C., in concert with the sport spreading west as many programs began that same year. Only 12 schools currently playing Division I-A football (now the Football Bowl Subdivision) started their programs before Colorado.

Football in 1890 was nothing like today's game. It used a rugby-type ball on a 110-yard long field and there were three downs instead of four. A touchdown was worth four points, a placement kick after a TD two and a field goal good for five. The games had two 45-minute halves with a running clock, just like today's soccer.

In the early 1890s, only the U. of C., the Colorado School of Mines and Denver University fielded football programs. The schedule often included Athletic Clubs, Athletic Associations, other local clubs and high schools. While playing opponents from neighboring or distant states was common back east, Colorado did not play a team from outside the state's borders until the ninth year of its existence.

The 1890 team was memorable only for its being the school's first. Tom Edmundson was the quarterback and the team captain, and for all intensive purposes, was the coach as well; it wouldn't be until the fifth year of the program a full-time coach was hired to run the program.

The first game was played in the afternoon on Saturday, November 15, 1890, in Denver against the Denver Athletic Club. The DAC scored five touchdowns and won 20-0, but it was a costly loss for Colorado as Edmundson was injured and lost for the season while four other players were also hurt. CU had used only 12 men in that first game, so by its end, almost half were banged up pretty bad.

It showed the next Saturday in the program's first home game against a veteran Colorado Mines team, considered by many to be the top team in the west. Pat Carney took over at quarterback, but he was inexperienced, and with CU practicing more like a soccer team than a rugby team, Mines had its way and won 103-0. The game was played on a campus field, more dirt than grass; only five buildings comprised the university at the time, including two which still stand today, Old Main and Woodbury.

Game three was scheduled the next Saturday (Nov. 29) against the Colorado Springs Athletic Association, but was delayed a week when the train which was to take CU to the Springs was two hours late, forcing its postponement. The delay didn't help CU, as it made it to the game on time the following Saturday but lost, 44-0.

The final game of that first season was a rematch with Colorado Mines, again in Boulder. The Blasters (now called the Orediggers) won this time by a 50-4 margin, but the U. of C. scored its first touchdown. It was by the defense, however, as George Darley recovered a Mines fumble and returned it 65 yards for the score. It was still the fifth longest fumble return and seventh longest miscellaneous return in school history through the 2007 season.

Game One: The Starting Lineup

Here were the 11 starters on the field when CU lined up across from the Denver Athletic Club team on November 15, 1890:

End	Ed Ingram, Boulder
End	John Nixon, Greeley
Tackle	George Darley, Alamosa
Tackle	Delos Holden, Boulder
Guard	Howell Givens, Denver
Guard	Harry Layton, New York, N.Y.
Center	Charles McConnell, Unknown
Quarterback	Tom Edmundson, Bisbee, Ariz.
Halfback	Homer James, Estes Park
Halfback	Wesley Putman, Denver
Fullback	Bert Kennedy, Denver

So the first season in the books came to an end. Colorado has never gone winless since, and the 103-point loss to Mines still stands as the worst loss in program history. Two memories no one wants now, as well as most likely then.

Colorado was much more competitive in its second season, but still stood 0-4 and had scored just six points going into the 1891 finale on the road against the Colorado Springs Athletic Association, a club team comprised mostly of Colorado College students. Carney, now seasoned at quarterback, played brilliantly according to accounts of the game and led the way in the school's first-ever win, returning to Boulder with a 24-4 victory and a 1-4 record.

The foundation had been set. Over the next 23 years, the U. of C. would enjoy 20 winning seasons, including the school's first in 1892. Opening with a pair of wins over Denver, either both by 46-0 scores or 26-0 on the road and then 46-0 at home (historical accounts differ), Colorado dropped November games to Colorado Mines and the Denver Athletic Club to finish the "fall" season at 2-2. But there would be one more game.

Colorado A&M challenged the state's flagship university to a game, and two would meet on February 10, 1893, in Fort Collins. It was the birth of a rivalry that has seen 79 games through 2007, but the initial encounter remains one of the most lopsided in the series, as Colorado poured it on in a 70-6 win over the Aggies. The game counted on the 1892 record and officially gave the U. of C. a 3-2 mark.

Prior to the 1893 season, the Colorado Intercollegiate Athletic Association was formed, as the state's first conference included five schools: Colorado, Colorado A&M, Colorado College, Colorado Mines and Denver (it was also referred to as the Colorado Football Association). The team was still primarily coached by the captains, Edmundson and John Nixon in 1890 and Carney the next three seasons. But with football becoming more prominent and conference championships now to be competed for, it was time for Colorado to get serious about the sport and hire a coach. Club sports of today are much more organized than were CU's first four football teams.

The first coach in program history was Harry Heller, who would be paid by donations from the players themselves and some of the fans. Recommended to the administration by Harry Gamble, the '94 captain, Heller did some coaching at Baker University and in fact was a still a student himself.

Heller would coach just one season, but perhaps as memorable as the team's 8-1 overall record and a 5-0 mark in conference play for the school's first title would be what he accomplished off the field. CU made improvements in facilities, mainly a new home field about a mile north of campus (carved out of an area formerly known as "Lover's Hill" and later as Panorama Heights). In addition to teaching and coaching, Heller also instituted policies on team diet, working with the cooks at the campus dining halls, and encouraged more students to join the team, expanding the roster for the first time have a full second unit.

Heller and Gamble are also credited with keeping football alive as a sport at CU, as a little-known incident almost brought an end to the program in its fifth year. In Colorado's first game of the 1894 season, a 46-0 win against East Denver High School, on the last play of the game a CU player suffered a severe head injury (in a melee, not from scrimmage). He was unconscious for quite some time but was not seriously injured. But at a time when stories across the nation detailed not only serious injury but many deaths in the sport, it spooked many members of the CU team, including most of the new second string.

The Monday following the game, only a dozen players showed up for practice, and Heller and Gamble spent the next few days tracking down the others and convinced them to rejoin the team. Colorado regrouped and in the next game, finally defeated the Denver Athletic Club for the first time in seven meetings. Though the DAC would exact some revenge with a 20-6 win in the next to last week of the season, CU outscored the opponent 198-4 in its five conference games en route to the championship.

Heller had become quite popular, but he stepped down after that one season, opting to concentrate on earning his degree. He remained on as a player, though would participate only minimally.

So the U. of C. found itself in the same situation, looking for a leader of a sport rapidly growing in popularity nationwide. Little did anyone know at the time that the resulting hire would eventually become known as "the father of CU football."

Fred Folsom arrived in Boulder after the 1895 season was underway, as CU had already easily defeated Denver's Manual

TIMEOUT / FRED FOLSOM

Fred Gorham Folsom was a 21-year old pre-law graduate from Dartmouth College, where he was an outstanding football and baseball player. Considered the finest end to play at Dartmouth to that point, he had led the Big Green to two straight league championships as a player-coach, a position which was common prior to the 20th century.

CU's 1895 captain, William Caley, formed a group to find CU's second coach and quickly zeroed in on Folsom. One problem, though, was the fact that Folsom was ticketed for the University of Michigan, where he planned on enrolling in law school. CU assured him that he do both, attend law school and coach the Silver & Gold (one of CU's early nicknames, though the football teams of that era actually wore red jerseys and stockings). His love for the game of football won out and he headed west.

It was one of the first turning points in CU history, as landing Folsom immediately led to the program becoming a regional power. And Folsom would put permanent roots in Colorado, sans a short time when he returned to coach his alma mater, as he became a leader in athletic, university, legal, civic and state affairs until his death in 1944. That same year, Colorado Stadium, which had been built to replace Gamble Field in 1924, was named for him.

Accounts referred to him as being a stern disciplinarian when it came to football, one who could install his schemes quickly and constantly tweaked them with innovative plays from his creative football mind. Away from football, one of his trademarks was possessing a keen sense of humor.

Folsom coached CU for 15 seasons (still a school record), and his 77 wins stood as the most in school history for 78 years, until Bill McCartney surpassed the total in his next to last season (1993). He did earn his law degree from Colorado and eventually taught at the school (earning a chair on CU's faculty), and had a distinguished career as a jurist.

High School 36-0 in its opener. His first two games produced wins over the Denver Wheel Club (32-0) and the University of Denver (28-0); his first loss was considered slightly controversial, as a 22-10 loss to the Denver Athletic Club came in a poorly officiated contest by a former DAC fullback and club member, Frank Spalding. Newspaper stories pointed to most of the calls going against CU. But the team rebounded to soundly defeat Colorado College (38-10) and Mines (14-0) to win a second straight CFA title.

Gamble would again be elected captain for the 1896 season, his sixth on the team (there were few eligibility rules in his day). A fan favorite and perhaps the one person who provided the most continuity in the early years of the program, when the first football field on campus property was built and dedicated in 1898, it was named Gamble Field in his honor.

It was only fitting that the '96 team was the first to go undefeated in school history, going 5-0 and outscoring all opponents by 171-6.

Folsom's tenure at Colorado actually covered three stints; the first was a five year run between 1895 and 1899, in which his teams went 28-8. He had won three conference titles, and oversaw the first intersectional game in school history, a 23-10 loss to Nebraska in 1898. But he had come west for two reasons, and after earning his law degree, he wanted to enter private practice, doing so in Denver. With the new century at hand, he resigned shortly after the 1899 season, not knowing at the time he'd return just a year later.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

July 27, 1900—T.W. Mortimer named third head coach in Colorado history, as Fred Folsom opens a law practice in Denver. Folsom returned as coach for the 1901 and 1902 seasons.

July 10, 1903—Dave Cropp named fourth head coach in Colorado history.

Oct. 8, 1904—Colorado's 6-0 win over Nebraska is the school's first intersectional win in its history.

June 26, 1905—Willis Keinholtz named fifth head coach in Colorado history.

June 19, 1906—Frank Castleman named sixth head coach in Colorado history.

May 11, 1908—Fred Folsom, who returned to Colorado the previous year, once again named head coach.

T.C. Mortimer coached CU to a 6-4 record in 1900, one of the losses to the Denver Wheel Club, which was coached by Folsom, who could not get it out of his blood. Mortimer, who played at both Simpson College in Iowa and Chicago University, did have a significant contribution in his one year in Boulder. He initiated the establishing of letter sweaters, even though at the time the players had to buy them. The concession was that they could select the colors of their choice, and most opted for maroon with a white "C" instead of using the official school colors, silver and gold.

Mortimer was set to return in 1901, but Folsom found life practically chained to a desk not for him, and he let CU know he'd be interested in returning. Mortimer gracefully stepped aside and Folsom was reunited with many of his former players. His teams went 10-2-1 over the next two seasons, claiming the CFA title both years.

In 1903, he was beckoned by his alma mater to return to the northeast, to serve as Dartmouth's head coach with an appointment on the law faculty. He would go 29-5-4 in four seasons there before returning to Colorado, which would have three different coaches over the next five years.

Dave Cropp took over and coached CU to an 8-2 mark and the conference crown his first season, in which he also served as the school's first athletic director. His second team went 6-2-1, with highlights like a 6-0 win over Nebraska, CU's first inter-sectional win, and a season-ending 33-0 blowout loss at Stanford which didn't sit well with all those associated with the program. He would move on after just two years.

Next up to lead the Silver and Gold was Willis Kleinholz, a University of Minnesota man who led CU to an 8-1 record in 1905. But the school had several disputes with the conference (mostly concerning loose academic requirements) and left the organization, reworking the schedule to include two high schools, the alumni and six regional teams. Nebraska avenged its loss to Colorado, but CU picked up wins against Wyoming, Kansas, Utah, Washburn and Haskell, using the opportunity to branch out a bit.

Kleinholz departed after just one season, and in came Frank Castleman, who would take over the duties of coaching both the football and basketball teams. The game drastically changed in 1906, as offensive rule changes required a lot of adjustments, which affected many teams. Forward passing was legalized to open up the offense, and while teams still had three downs to earn a first down, the requirement now called for the offense to make 10 yards on those three tries instead of just five. CU did iron out its differences with the CFA and rejoined the conference, but mustered just a 2-3-4 record that year, with all four ties of the scoreless variety.

Castleman's last CU team went 5-3 in 1907, as he was aided by a familiar face as an assistant coach—Folsom. He returned as a member of the law faculty at the school, this time staying on permanent until retiring in 1942. The conference title came down to the last game of the season, but Colorado lost to Mines by the odd score of 5-4.

With Folsom back on board, Castleman stepped aside from his football duties, remaining on as coach of the basketball, baseball and track teams in addition to serving as athletic director. Folsom signed a contract, valued at $1,000, for a dual coaching position for the teams at the university and the State Prep School (now Boulder High School). That was big money back then.

Folsom coached the next eight seasons, earning five conference titles as CU moved into the Colorado Faculty Athletic Conference for the 1909 season, with the league expanding geographically the following year, becoming the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference, of which it would remain a member through 1937.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Oct. 8, 1910—Colorado's 11-0 triumph over the Alumni is the 100th win in CU history.

Spring 1912—The value of a touchdown becomes six points, and the sport now has most of the modern point values: three for a field goal, two for a safety and one for an extra point. The two-point conversion by run or pass won't appear until 1958.

Oct. 5, 1912—Colorado tops Utah State in Boulder, 16-3, extending CU's winning streak to 21 games, the school record to this day. Colorado A&M ended the streak the following week with a 21-0 win in Fort Collins.

Jan. 10, 1916—Bob Evans named seventh head coach in Colorado history.

Jan. 17, 1918—Joe Mills named eighth head coach in Colorado history.

Folsom's 1909, 1910 and 1911 teams all went 6-0, and a 21-game winning streak from the last game of 1908 through the first two of 1912 still stands as the all-time school record. The 1909 squad was not scored on; and all three did not allow a single touchdown; Wyoming scored a field goal for the only points against CU in '10 and CU allowed a field goal and a safety in '11. In the 21-game streak, CU allowed just 11 points.

Rival Colorado A&M ended the winning streak, and the 1912 team finished 6-3 including a season-ending win over Oklahoma. But it did no better than tying for third in the RMAC to end a run of four straight championship years.

The 1913 team posted a 5-1-1 record and earned Folsom his last title, his ninth in 13 seasons, and the 1914 Silver and Gold's only loss in a 5-1 campaign came at the hands of Mines, which used a 6-2 win to steal the crown from CU. Folsom was now 40 years old and those close to him could tell he was a bit worn down physically by his long playing and coaching careers in addition to all his responsibilities outside of football.

Assorted illnesses sidelined Folsom for much of the 1915 campaign, one in which CU would finish 1-6 with all going on his record despite his coaching in less than half the games. At the end of the season, he announced his retirement, thus ending CU's first real golden period in the sport as many at the time referred. He went on to teach law, serve as acting dean of the college of law, and always remained active in athletics. He chaired the drive for a new football stadium on campus and drafted the financial plan which enabled the school to build it; he had worked closely with CU president George Norlin to accomplish the project, as Colorado Stadium opened in 1924 (it was also called Norlin Field at times).

The RMAC had many more teams than the old CFA, so winning a title had become a bit harder with more contenders. Bob Evans was named head coach, and the 1916 team, now having to deal with many young men in the service preparing to fight in World War I, did little better than the year before with a 1-5-1 record. Evans did a masterful job in 1917 though, as Colorado went 6-2; in fact, he did such a good job that he moved west to become Stanford's head coach.

Joe Mills, who had been hired as basketball coach, took over in football as well in 1918, when the war really hit home. CU's quarterback in 1915-16, Eddie Evans, was killed in France and it cast a pall over the program. Mills coached football just two seasons, his teams going 2-3 and 2-3-1, as he stepped down after 1919 to concentrate on his basketball duties.

The first 30 seasons of Colorado football were now in the books, with Folsom coaching 15 of those teams. But seven men coached a collective 11 of those other squads, not including team captains that had managed the first four. The program was in need of some stability, and with the help of Folsom who was now the chairman of the athletic board, it would find its man for the next decade and more.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

- Feb. 4, 1920—Myron Witham named ninth head coach in Colorado history.
- Nov. 28, 1923—Colorado's 6-3 win at Colorado State gives Colorado a 9-0-0 mark for the 1923 season, its best ever at the time.
- Oct. 11, 1924—Colorado defeated Regis College 39-0 in the first game at Folsom Field (then known as Colorado Stadium).
- Dec. 25, 1924—The Silver & Gold play the first postseason game in school history, defeating the Hawaii-Navy All-Stars in Honolulu, 43-0.
- Oct. 13, 1928—Bill Smith records the first known 100-yard rushing game ever by a CU player, running for 132 yards and a touchdown in a 21-6 win at Northern Colorado.

With World War I over and colleges again stocked with young men, football took that next step in the 1920s. The emergence of the National Football League by the end of the decade would eventually lead the sport to become the nation's most popular a few decades later. But closer to home in Boulder, CU was looking to make that next great hire to return its football program to the stability and success it had enjoyed under Fred Folsom.

There was no one more qualified than Folsom to find CU's next coach, and he turned to a former player of his when he coached at Dartmouth. Myron Witham, like Folsom his mentor, was quiet, intelligent and intense. Those attributes were effective for Folsom, and they would be for Witham, despite the fact his hiring turned a few heads. He was an All-American performer for Folsom at Dartmouth his senior season in 1904, and was an assistant coach for him the following year before taking over as head coach for a single season at Purdue in 1906. He then went to work in engineering, so when the call came to lead the CU program, he had been out of coaching for 13 years. But Folsom had his man, and any reservations about his abilities would fade quickly.

History paints a very good picture of Witham. In addition to coaching 96 games, a figure that still ranks fifth most all-time through 2007, Witham's 63-26-7 record remains third best for those who coached a minimum three years at the school. But he would make many marks off the field as well.

Witham's first Colorado unit was talented, with junior center Walt Franklin the nucleus of the team. The Silver and Gold had an impressive season, rolling up a 4-1-2 record and tied for third in the conference. The lone loss was a 7-0 setback to Utah in Boulder, setting the only negative tone for what would be 12 years at the helm of the CU team for Witham.

After his first season, Witham moved to organize support in several areas. He established the first training table at CU for the varsity players, though the players were themselves responsible for serving and cleaning up. He formed a campus booster club of five dozen underclassmen that helped in areas as high school relations (eventually morphed into today's recruiting), scholarship (academics and tutoring), publicity and ways and means (or anything the first three didn't cover). He would also see it that all CU home games were filmed.

In scheduling CU's biggest intersectional game ever, the 1921 opener at the University of Chicago, he installed the first preseason training camp for the team. The booster club raised the funds to cover expenses at a facility near Eldora, a mountain community about 25 miles west of Boulder. The team practiced and held meetings there for two weeks before transitioning onto campus. Upon their arrival, they moved into CU's first "athletic dorm," again with the help of the booster club. Raising $10,500, a 14-room house at 1016 14th Street featured eating, sleeping and study facilities for 30 players.

CU lost that game at Chicago, falling to legendary head coach Amos Alonzo Stagg's team 35-0. A special train brought 300 fans and the school band to the game, easily the longest such trek coordinated by the school at the time (trips by train to Denver and Colorado Springs had been the occasional norm up to that point). Colorado rebounded from the defeat, did not lose again and improved to second place in the conference, finishing the '21 season with a 4-1-1 mark.

It was in this decade that CU's first true out-of-state rivalry came to bloom, as Utah emerged as the perennial conference favorite between 1922 and 1933, claiming eight RMAC titles in that span. The Salt Lake City school would become the nemesis for Witham and his Silver and Gold squads, as CU would go just 2-9-1 against their rivals to the west during his tenure. Three of those losses and the tie cost Colorado four titles, though Witham's 1923 and 1924 teams did win back-to-back conference crowns.

CU's 1922 team was 4-4 overall and generally had a mediocre season, opening with two wins but then dropped four of its next five, starting with a 3-0 loss to... Utah. But good news was just around the corner, especially with an outstanding freshman team that regularly gave the varsity fits, often outplaying them in practice.

The season of 1923 produced one of the most dominant teams in school history, though the roster included more sophomores than from any other class. Quarterback and team captain Art Quinlan was one of the few returning veterans the single-wing offense was built around, along with fullback Earl Loser, tackle Don McLean and halfback Fred Hartshorn. Several underclassmen emerged as key players, including guard Bill McGlone, ends Dick Handy and Jack Healy, fullback Bill Bohn and quarterback Hatfield Chilson.

In compiling a 9-0 record, CU outscored its opponents by a combined 280-27, with four wins of 41 points or greater (all shutouts). In the first 100 years of Colorado football (1890-1989), only the 1971 (10-2) and 1989 (11-1) teams won more games, with only three others attaining nine wins.

Colorado rolled over its first three opponents, BYU, Western State and Colorado Teachers College (now Northern Colorado) by a combined 152-0. Game four was a rematch with Denver, which had won 16-0 the previous year, and it was the first solid test of the '23 campaign. The first three opponents did not have great teams, and CU fans wanted to know if their team was for real. The week leading up to the game was filled with miserable weather, with rain and/or snow falling on a daily basis.

After a scoreless first quarter, CU came to life behind Quinlan, who passed for 206 yards in leading CU to what was termed a "statistical slaughter." Colorado held advantages of 356-41 in total offense and 23-3 in first downs and returned to Boulder with a solid 21-7 win that made CU and Witham the "toast of the Rockies."

The following week, CU toppled Colorado College 17-7 behind the crisp passing of Quinlan (13-of-16, 162 yards). Colorado improved to 5-0, but was faced with the last four games all on the road, the second and last time that happened in school history. CU started the run with a 47-0 win at Colorado Mines, but lost Quinlan's quarterbacking services for the season with a broken right hand; he would handle placekicking and a few returns. In his place came Chilson, who would make his first career start the following week... at Utah.

Chilson was a 5-8, 130-pound sophomore from Pueblo, and had little game experience at quarterback. Despite his small stature, he had great ability to slip through the smallest of holes and had developed a vertical leap in which he would jump over onrushing defenders. Chilson called a perfect game and directed the Silver and Gold to a 17-7 win over the Red Devils. The following week, CU scored an easy 20-3 win at Wyoming, with reserves playing most of the game against the winless Cowboys.

Only the rival Aggies from Fort Collins stood in-between CU and a perfect season. A&M led 3-0 in the second half before Quinlan tied it with a field goal. He then returned a punt 63 yards to the Aggie 25-yard line with time running down, and CU worked the ball to the 3-yard line with under a minute to play. Witham called for a field goal on third down, and it turned out to save the undefeated season; the Aggies blocked the kick, but Quinlan himself recovered the ball and gave his team another chance to win fourth down. This time he split he uprights and Colorado had perfection.

While 1924 yielded another fine record (8-1-1), its best remembered for two significant firsts in program history. After the perfect '23 campaign, a movement quickly began for the team to have a stadium for its home as opposed to Gamble Field, which had served the team well since 1898. But with the program growing in stature and stadiums being built around the country, it was only logical that CU take that next step.

An attendance record of 42,480 was set in 1923 for the four home games, which was over five times the capacity of the field's bleacher seating. So with the need so obvious for new digs, it was easy to reach a unanimous agreement and the plan took off quickly.

Whitney Huntington, a professor in engineering, surveyed campus lands and came up with a location on the northeast end, a ravine near the site of the new men's gymnasium and home to the basketball team. There was good drainage and the land provided the opportunity for deep bleacher seating on both sides of the field, which would provide for a new stadium to be built both quickly and economically.

Folsom was now a full-time professor in CU's Law School and the chairman of the athletic board, which approved Huntington's location. President George Norlin asked Folsom to develop a financing plan, and in eight short months at a cost of $70,000, Colorado Stadium was completed and was state-of-the-art for its time.

The playing field wasn't quite ready for the first game, but that turned out to be okay as everyone associated with the program said goodbye to Gamble Field with a 31-0 win over Western State. A week later, on Oct. 11, 1924, the stadium was christened against Regis with Colorado easily rolling to a 39-0 win. The structure was officially dedicated Nov. 1, with a 3-0 homecoming win over Utah. Loser's 35-yard field goal was the only scoring in the game.

CU seemed to be in a bit of a slump, but came back in the next game against Colorado Mines to post a 38-0 win, the 16th in a row for the Silver and Gold. But that's where the run ended, as six lost fumbles, all in Denver territory, proved costly in a 0-0 tie with the Pioneers. Colorado was now 4-0-1 in conference play and hosted Colorado A&M (4-1) in the regular season finale, with the winner to claim sole rights to the RMAC title. It wasn't even close, as Loser scored 24 points in a variety of ways to lead CU to an easy 36-0 win.

Colorado's season turned out not to be over; an unexpected addition of two postseason games in "paradise" were added when several enthusiastic fans in Hawai'i raised the funds necessary to send an 18-man squad plus coaches to the islands for Christmas and New Year's. It marked the first postseason play in school history, and was a well-deserved reward for Witham's men, who had a 17-0-1 record over the '23 and '24 seasons.

The group left December 19, practiced a few days and handled the Hawai'i-Navy All-Stars with ease, 43-0. CU had won over several fans on Oahu and was dubbed the "Mountaineers" by a local sportswriter. But Colorado may have basked too long in the glory of the big win, not to mention the tropical sun, as an unheralded Hawai'i University team defeated the Silver and Gold on New Year's Day, 13-0. It was CU's first loss since late in the '22 season.

The 1925 team went 6-3, though opened with an embarrassing 3-0 loss to Chadron State, a small school in the Nebraska panhandle. CU tried a new offense, basically an early version of the "T-formation" and it proved disastrous. Witham returned to the single wing the following week for the remainder of the year and won six of eight games, the losses coming to CU's two main rivals, Utah and Colorado State.

That was the theme the next two years, both losing seasons with setbacks to both rivals, including two of the worst losses in Witham's tenure, a 37-3 homecoming loss at home to Utah in 1926 and a 39-7 loss at Colorado State in '27. The latter came after a 4-2 start to the season and was sandwiched in the middle of the two of the Witham's three biggest margins of defeat, a 46-7 clubbing at Southern California and a 48-0 loss Thanksgiving Day in Denver. Fans were getting restless, after all this was just three years removed from the two most glorious seasons in school history.

Amid the descent, in 1927 the university hired its first full-time director of athletics, Harry Carlson, a quiet, reserved yet wise leader who would lead the CU program for the next 38 years. His persona was one that could deliver a cool, calming influence, and he did just that after the tumultuous events that ended the '27 football season.

The '28 team avenged the losses to the Aggies and Pioneers, being on the good side of hard fought 13-7 and 7-0 wins, respectively. The record was 5-1, but the one defeat was again at the hands of Utah, and by a decisive 25-6 margin. The 1929 team would go 5-1-1, which included another close win over A&M (6-0) and a scoreless tie with Denver. The loss was a crushing 40-0 mauling at Utah, perhaps fitting in history as it was CU's last game before the stock market crash in late October of '29. One bright spot was the brilliant play of sophomore tackle Paul Sawyer, who would be selected to CU's honorable mention All-Century team decades later. A season-ending 27-7 romp at Denver on Thanksgiving Day did nothing to quell the fan's thirst for Witham's head.

1930s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

- Dec. 14, 1930—George Carlson becomes CU's first player to be awarded the Rhodes Scholarship.
- Nov. 21, 1931—Colorado's 17-7 verdict over Colorado College is the 200th win in CU history.
- Jan. 3, 1932—William "Navy Bill" Saunders named the 10th head coach in Colorado history.
- Dec. 17, 1933—Clayton White, older becomes CU's second player to receive a Rhodes Scholarship.
- Nov. 10, 1934—Colorado officially adopts the nickname "Buffaloes" at annual Homecoming game. The "Bufs" beat Utah 7-6.
- Feb. 7, 1935—Bernard "Bunnie" Oakes named the 11th head coach in Colorado history.
- Nov. 7, 1936—Byron "Whizzer" White scores 25 points against Utah in Boulder as CU wins, 31-7. White scored four touchdowns and kicked one extra point to establish a Buff record.
- Nov. 6, 1937—Byron White single-handedly beats Utah at Salt Lake City, 17-7, in one of his greatest games ever. He returned a punt 95 yards, scored another touchdown on a 57-yard sprint, kicked a 15-yard field goal and kicked both extra points in accounting for all of CU's points.
- Nov. 25, 1937—Byron White's jersey number "24" retired at the traditional Thanksgiving Day game with Denver. Buffs won, 34-7.
- Dec. 12, 1937—The Pittsburgh Steelers select Byron White as the fourth pick in the first round of the NFL Draft, making White the first CU player to be drafted into the league.
- Dec. 13, 1937—Byron White named to the All-America team, becoming the first Colorado player to gain the honor.
- Dec. 18, 1937—Byron White becomes the third Colorado player to receive a Rhodes Scholarship. He will study at Oxford in 1939.
- Jan. 1, 1938—Colorado makes its first Bowl game appearance ever, losing to No. 18 Rice, 28-14, in the Cotton Bowl.

The 1930 season opened with a bang, as Colorado went on the road and upset Big Six school Missouri, 9-0. CU then traveled in the other direction a week later and battled Utah State to a scoreless tie, but would then reel off four straight wins to enter a Nov. 15 matchup with Utah that would decide the RMAC title. However, the result was the same, with Utah using a 34-0 whipping to claim its sixth straight league crown. As for Colorado, the Silver and Gold had gone 16-3-2 the last three seasons, 16-0-2 against all others, but 0-3 versus Utah. The sole measuring stick of CU's success had been reduced to what its outcome was against its rivals to the west, and Colorado was on the short end of the score six straight year, the last three by a combined 99-6 count. Yet Witham survived, but not for long.

After the season, the first major national honor was bestowed on the program, when end George Carlson was awarded the prestigious Rhodes Scholarship.

Colorado won three of its first five games in 1931, a roller-coaster ride that featured another upset of Missouri, this time 9-7 in Boulder, and a 25-6 throttling of DU, but included a loss at Colorado A&M. Up next was Utah, and Witham's job was likely riding on the result. A 32-0 loss, a third straight shutout by the Utes in the series, sealed his fate, despite two closing wins over Colorado College and Arizona. In January ('32), the school's Board of Regents opted not to renew his contract.

Paraphrasing what was written at the time, "winning seasons do not necessarily create longevity, they simply raise the standards." Witham's 63-26-7 record couldn't overcome the old coach's desire to not be overly engaged in recruiting, which was becoming more and more a key part of the job, and his record against Utah was the fatal blow.

Carlson was faced with hiring his first football coach, and one of the top requirements included the person being a good recruiter. It was in the late 1920s when coaches started to woo young men to pick their school over others, and a good personality was often the difference. He didn't have to look far to find his man, the popular William "Navy Bill" Saunders, who spent six years as line coach at Colorado A&M before taking over as head coach at Colorado Teachers in 1928. Carlson was impressed with how his Greeley teams, despite being winless in three tries against CU, always played tough and from start to finish.

Saunders' first team went 2-4, typical of a transition year where the upperclassmen weren't overly thrilled with the dismissal of their head coach. While the team had some good players, including backs Al Oviatt, George Grosvenor and Jim Counter along with end Clayton White, and CU won its first two games, a 7-6 home loss to Colorado A&M triggered four straight losses to end the season. It was followed by another shutout defeat (14-0) at Utah, the first of three straight games CU would record goose eggs on the scoreboard as CC and DU also whitewashed the Silver and Gold.

The 1933 team sprinted to a 5-1 start, including a 6-0 upset victory at Oklahoma State. A small sophomore rookie from Glenrock, Wyo., William "Kayo" Lam was making a name for himself in the backfield, and CU started to understand the schemes Saunders had installed. Things were looking up for the annual battle with Utah, but alas, while playing the Utes tough for the first time in several years, the result was the same. Colorado finally scored in losing 13-6, and though having advantages in offense (288-200) and first downs (16-9), three fumbled punts in the first half led to all of Utah's points. Wins over Colorado Teachers and Denver closed a very successful 7-2 season, as observers felt CU had turned the corner.

Off the field, good news included White being named a Rhodes Scholar and that the final payment of $2,491.75 was made on the stadium, completing paying off all obligations in less than 10 years. The bad news was that the season ticket price in '33 was raised to $5.50 for the five-game schedule, and during the depression years, few had that kind of money for luxuries like sporting events.

TIME OUT / THE "BUFFALOES" ARE BORN

Prior to 1934, CU athletic teams usually were referred to as the "Silver and Gold," but other nicknames teams were sometimes called included Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen. During the summer of 1934, Colorado's 45th season of intercollegiate athletic competition, the Silver & Gold, the student newspaper at the time, decided to sponsor a national contest to select a permanent nickname and mascot. A $5 prize would go to the author of the winning selection; remember, this was during the Great Depression, and five dollars was a good amount of money to most people. Over 1,000 entries arrived from almost every state in the union. Athletic Director Harry Carlson, graduate manager Walter Franklin and Kenneth Bundy from the newspaper were the judges.

Local articles first reported that Claude Bates of New Madrid, Mo., and James Proffitt of Cincinnati, Ohio, were co-winners for the prize as both submitted "Buffaloes" as their entry. But 10 days later, the newspaper declared Boulder resident Andrew Dickson the winner, after a follow-up revealed his submission of "Buffaloes" had actually arrived several days before those of originally deemed to be the winners. Through the years, synonyms which quickly came into use included "Bisons," "Bufs," "Thundering Herd," "Stampeding Herd," "Golden Avalanche," and "Golden Buffaloes."

The live buffalo mascot also first appeared in 1934, three weeks after the contest that declared Buffaloes the new nickname. For the final game of the season, a group of students paid $25 to rent a buffalo calf along with a real cowboy as his keeper. The calf was the son of Killer, a famed bison at Trails End Ranch in Fort Collins. It took the cowboy and four students to keep the calf under control on the sidelines during the 7-0 win at the University of Denver on Thanksgiving Day.

Live buffaloes would make appearances at CU games on and off over the next 30 years, usually in a pen on the field or sometimes driven around in a cage. In the 1940s, the school kept a baby buffalo in a special pen at the now-defunct University Riding Academy. The first named buffalo was "Mr. Chips," who appeared for the first time at the 1957 CU Days kickoff rally, as supporter Mahlon White donated him to the school, and it was cared for by a men's honorary. Mr. Chips wasn't around for all that long, and several years would pass before one of college football's most entertaining and thrilling traditions would be born.

CU had opened the year with scoreless ties against Kansas and Missouri, and dropped to 0-1-2 with a 13-7 loss to CTC in Greeley. The latter was the first night game in Colorado history, and accounts of the game mentioned that the Teacher's team had a few tricks up their sleeve, one of which was wearing "dark gold uniforms that perfectly blended with the ball."

The new nickname, "Buffaloes," was officially bestowed on the entire athletic program at a ceremony during Homecoming on Nov. 10, when CU hosted Utah, with the newly named CU team searching for its first win since 1924 over its arch-rivals. The football Gods smiled on Colorado that day, as the "Bufs" made an early 7-0 lead stand up for a 7-6 win, with the Utes missing a point-blank field goal try at the end of the game to preserve the CU victory.

Colorado went on to win its final six games of the season to finish 6-1-2, and tied Teacher's for the league title as both had 6-1 marks. But CTC owned the head-to-head win to lay more claim to the crown.

Soon after the end of the season, Saunders abruptly resigned as head coach. He decided to return to his native Mississippi where his family had numerous land holdings and a management position for him. That's what it appeared publicly; privately, rumors had it he had asked the CU administration for more support, and when none was forthcoming, he pulled up stakes. He returned to coaching just two years after leaving CU, and would do so with bitter rival Denver.

Once again, CU was in the market for a new football coach.

Carlson had success staying in the region for his last hire, so he went to the well again. Now entrenched in his ninth year as athletic director, he had a knack for finding good coaches. Despite staying just one year before moving on to Oklahoma State where he would become a legend, Carlson had hired Hank Iba as CU's basketball coach for the 1933-34 season; his next basketball hire, Forrest "Frosty" Cox, who was also an assistant football coach, would make Colorado a western basketball power over his 13 seasons in Boulder. In short, Carlson could spot coaching talent.

Enter Bernard "Bunny" Oakes, who had been head coach at Montana University for the four previous years after serving a pair of two-year stints as an assistant at Tennessee and Nebraska. An Illinois graduate, he played his college ball with Red Grange under Bob Zuppke, one of the most innovative coaches of his day.

Oakes had the pedigree and flawless credentials, and while he led CU to new heights during his five-year tenure, his approach to coaching, deemed fanatical by many, would be the reason for his eventual demise. He had a one track mind and was totally dedicated to driving his teams to their limit. But that wore thin on his players, and following his third year in Boulder, the players reached the point where the price paid wasn't worth the results. He was fired after five seasons and a 25-15-1 record and four winning seasons, thought it included one that put the Buffaloes on the national map.

In Oakes' first season at Colorado, he inherited one of the most talented backfields in school history, with the senior Lam and a sophomore by the name of Byron White. In the '35 opener, CU dominated an Oklahoma team in Norman though losing, 3-0. The Buffs had a chance to win late, taking over at midfield in the final minutes with White and Lam leading the charge down to the 7-yard line, but the Sooner defense stopped CU cold to hang on.

Colorado went on to win the RMAC title with a 5-1 record, suffering three losses to future conference foes (OU, Missouri and Kansas). White was lost for the season with a knee injury early in league play, but Lam rushed for a then-national record 1,043 yards, had over 2,000 all-purpose yards and was the first Buffalo player ever chosen to play in a postseason All-Star game, earning an invitation to the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco.

The 1936 season served as an appetizer for what lay ahead; a modest 4-3 overall record included another tough opening loss to Oklahoma (8-0 in Boulder), but also featured a third straight win over Utah. White, who this season was nicknamed "Whizzer" by Denver Post sportswriter Leonard Cahn, accounted for every single point in a 31-7 win over the Utes. CU was 4-0 in league play at that point and appeared headed for another title, but two one-point road defeats derailed the bid: a 14-13 setback at Utah State, the eventual league champ, and then a 7-6 Thanksgiving Day defeat to former CU coach Saunders and DU before a state record crowd of 27,700.

The 1937 season would be Colorado's last in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference. A gap between the larger and smaller institutions had been widening for some time, from the caliber of play and squad size to home attendance. The RMAC also had grown to 12 schools over the year, and scheduling was way off balance.

The seven biggest schools officially formed the Mountain States Conference, though it was also referred to at times as the Skyline League and even the Big Seven. BYU, CU, Colorado A&M, Denver, Utah, Utah State and Wyoming made the break and would begin league play in 1938; the other five remained in the RMAC which still thrives to this day in the NCAA's Division II.

The "fourth" time proved to be the charm to open the '37 season; from 1934-36, CU opened against a Big Six Conference opponent and was winless with two losses and a tie. This time around, Missouri visited Boulder and the tone was set for the entire year with a 14-6 win over Don Faurot's charges.

The Buffs would not allow a point the next four games, as CU steamrolled Utah State (33-0), Brigham Young (14-0), Colorado A&M (47-0) and Colorado Mines (54-0). Along the way, White was rolling up impressive numbers and garnering national attention, though the Buffaloes were hardly a one-man show. Fullback Erv Cheney and halfback Orville "O.T." Nuttall were dangerous runners in their own right, and when White dropped back to pass, ends Leon Lavington and Lex Quarnberg were popular targets. And it was said that center Gene Moore could play for any team in the country.

TIMEOUT / BYRON WHITE

Byron Raymond “Whizzer” White first made a name for himself while playing for the University of Colorado’s undefeated 1937 football team.

The first All-American at Colorado in football and the second in any sport, he led the nation in rushing that season with a record-breaking total of 1,121 yards (in eight games) and amassed 122 points. Those marks were erased only after colleges went to 10- and 11-game schedules. He was known as a “60-minute performer,” excelling on defense as well as offense.

White led that 1937 team to Colorado’s first-ever bowl appearance, facing Rice in the ’38 Cotton Bowl on New Year’s Day in Dallas. Though Rice won, 28-14, “Whizzer” left them talking. He threw an 8-yard touchdown pass to Joe Antonio and then returned an interception 47 yards for a touchdown to put Colorado up 14-0 in the first quarter before the Owls battled back. He rushed 23 times for 54 yards in the game, and had 166 all-purpose yards including returns.

Denver sports writer, Leonard Kahn, gave White’s nickname to him. Kahn labeled White with this name because “he seemed to whiz by people.”

White was also a .400 hitter on the baseball team, and a standout on CU’s basketball squad that made the N.I.T. in 1938. His off the field performances were just as impressive as the ones on it. In 186 hours of undergraduate work, White earned 180 hours of A, and 6 hours of B. He was the student body president, a Rhodes Scholar, and Phi Beta Kappa.

After his time at Colorado, the Wellington native went on to play professional football for the Pittsburgh Pirates (now known as the Steelers). White was Pittsburgh’s first pick in the 1938 draft, and would lead the league in rushing with 567 yards that year and was named All-Pro. White left professional football to attend post-graduate school at Oxford College in England. After Oxford, White played one more season of football with Detroit, and again led the league in rushing with 514 yards and was again All-Pro. In the off-season, White attended Yale Law School.

During World War II, White was an officer in naval intelligence, serving most of his duty in the South Pacific. During his time of service, White earned a Bronze Star, and formed a friendship with John F. Kennedy.

Following the war, White returned to Yale Law School where he graduated first in his class in 1946. After a successful career as a corporation lawyer, White entered the political sphere in 1960, heading a pre-convention Kennedy movement that helped the soon-to-be president win the state of Colorado. White later served as deputy attorney general under Kennedy.

On March 30, 1962, White was appointed an associated justice of the U.S. Supreme Court at age 44. He served for 31 years, and retired in March, 1993.

The honorable Byron R. White was the first athlete inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall-Of-Fame in 1965. He was also inducted into the NFL Hall of Fame, the National Football Foundation’s College Football Hall of Fame, the GTE Academic Hall of Fame, the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference Hall of Fame, and was the inaugural inductee into CU’s Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998. He was selected to CU’s All-Century Team in 1989, marking the school’s first 100 years of football, and his football number, 24, was the first retired by the university.

White left an indelible mark on the field and in the classroom at the University of Colorado. Born June 8, 1917 in Fort Collins, Colo., he died from complications of pneumonia in Denver at the age of 84 on April 15, 2002.

Next loomed the annual test with Utah, the first of two November contests that would determine the league champion. White scored all of CU’s points in a 17-7 win on the road as the Buffs won their sixth in a row. The following week, CU trailed Colorado College 6-0 at halftime in the home finale, but Whizzer scored three times in the first 10 minutes of the second half and the Buffs cruised to a 35-6 win.

The final RMAC game of the season was set for Thanksgiving Day in Denver, pitting CU against DU, with the Buffs 6-0 in league play with the Pioneers 5-1. While CU was guaranteed a share of the title, it wanted it outright, and behind several long plays from White, the Buffs earned it with a 34-7 win.

White was named to every All-America team, becoming the school’s first in football to earn the distinction and just the third CU athlete bestowed the honor in any sport (his good friends Gil Cruter and Claude Walton were track All-Americans in 1936). He also earned one of two regional Rhodes scholarships the same month, the third CU football player in less than 10 years to do so.

As for the team, and largely thanks to America’s captivation with White, the Buffaloes were invited to their first bowl game. CU lined up across from No. 18 Rice, its first ever game against a nationally ranked opponent, in the Cotton Bowl on New Year’s Day in Dallas. Oakes would put his team through two practices a day in Dallas, often in heavy rains. The practice gear never had a chance to dry between sessions and the players became disillusioned with the experience.

Still, behind White, CU stormed to a 14-0 lead, but the Owls rallied behind their star, Ernie Lain, for a 28-14 win. To outsiders, the season was still a huge success, but inside the program, seeds of discontent had been planted. The train ride back to Boulder was no fun.

With the '37 team laden with seniors, CU's first season in the new conference was a rebuilding project. The Buffs opened 0-3, including non-league losses to Missouri and George Washington, but after three wins and a tie the over the next month, a winning year could be salvaged with a Thanksgiving win over Denver. But the Pioneers ended that hope with a 19-12 win.

Two key players, Nuttall and Marty Brill, quit prior to the 1939 season, and a third, Lou Liley, soon joined them. They did not want to play for Oakes. After a second straight 0-3 start, and aware of the players' displeasure and the coaches demeanor, the CU athletic committee recommended he be fired immediately. Oakes was only saved by the Board of Regents, which basically gave him an unenthusiastic vote of confidence.

Sophomores dominated the '39 roster, and they pulled it together to win the last five games of the year. Players like Paul McClung, Leo Stasica and Ray Jenkins put feelings aside and played for the school, and thanks to a 27-17 win over DU in Boulder, Thanksgiving Day also brought what would be CU's only real legitimate Mountain States title.

Oakes final team posted a 5-3 record, and though he had three years remaining on a five-year contract he signed following the '37 season. Many thought the strong finish would save him, but the players delivered a 13-page complaint and petition for Oakes' removal to the Regents at the board's February meeting. Thirty-five of the 40 players signed it, and as the month neared its end, he was fired and received a severance check believed to be $10,000.

1940s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

June 11, 1940—Cross Country & Track Coach Frank Potts named the 12th head coach in Colorado history.

Mar. 3, 1941—Jim Yeager named the 13th head coach in Colorado history.

Mar. 11, 1944—Frank Potts takes over once again as head coach while Jim Yeager is serving his country in World War II.

Jan. 10, 1945—Jim Yeager returns to coach Buffs.

Nov. 27, 1947—A 26-20 loss at Denver is significant in several ways: it was CU's final game in the Mountain States Conference; it was the last game in CU-Denver series; it was CU's last on Thanksgiving Day; and it was the first game in 58 seasons of Colorado football where both teams scored at least 20 points.

Feb. 3, 1948—Dallas Ward named the 14th head coach in Colorado history, as it is athletic director Harry Carlson's most important hire as Ward will lead CU into the tough Big Seven Conference.

Oct. 2, 1948—Colorado's first game as a member of the Big Seven. The Buffs lost 40-7 at Kansas.

Oct. 9, 1948—Buffs' dramatic 19-6 upset of Nebraska in Boulder was Dallas Ward's first win as coach, and Colorado's first win in the Big Seven.

Track coach Frank Potts took over coaching the gridders, as the payment to Oakes depleted the salary budget for the 1940 staff. Potts had been a football assistant since he arrived at CU in 1927, was popular among the players, and knew the system. It would give Carlson time to search for a successor if Potts didn't take on the role permanently.

The '40 Buffaloes logged a 5-3-1 record, tying for second in the conference, and Carlson offered the job to Potts, who declined. In came Jim Yeager, who had been head coach at Iowa State for four years. His first CU team was 3-4-1, though opened league play with three straight wins.

Now familiar with the program and the surroundings, Yeager's 1942 Buffs stormed to a 7-2 mark, sharing the league title with Utah, but the Utes had won the head-to-head battle 13-0. The future seemed bright, but football was soon to take a back seat to the events of the world.

The United States was fully involved in World War II by the end of that season, and athletes from all schools were now members of the various armed services. Those left on campus were players too young to be drafted or were rejected for one reason or another. Yeager remained the head coach for the '43 season, but would rejoin the Navy after the season.

It was common for colleges not to travel far during the war years of 1943 through 1945, often supplementing the schedule with teams from area service bases. Quite often, schools would square off against their former players who were assigned nearby.

The conference schedule was reduced to just two games in 1943 and 1944, with CU defeating Utah twice to claim the '43 title and posted wins over the Utes and Denver to win the '44 crown. But no one really celebrated these fairly undistinguished seasons or titles. Potts took over the team in Yeager's absence for the '44 and '45 seasons, with CU denied a third straight league championship with a season-ending 14-8 loss at Denver to the eventual champ Pioneers.

Yeager returned as did many of the players for the 1946 season, as CU regained the services of such heralded players as tackle Paul Briggs and ends Ed Pudlik and John Zisch. After opening with a 13-7 win over Yeager's old team, Iowa State, CU traveled to Texas where it was dealt a 76-0 thrashing to the Longhorns. Some say the team didn't recover for two full seasons. Inconsistent play marred the last two years of Yeager's reign, often with the Buffs struggling to put two good performances back-to-back. The '46 and '47 teams combined to go 9-9-1, and Yeager had lost his love for coaching. He resigned shortly after the '47 campaign and would become one of Boulder's leading businessmen until his death in 1971.

It also signaled the end of an era on several fronts: the war was fully behind the country, a new breed of younger coaches who embraced recruiting challenges had taken over, and locally, CU's days in the Mountain States Conference had come to an end. Colorado had been accepted into the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association, also known as the Big Six. It was now the Big Seven.

Carlson was now faced with making the most important hire of his two decade career as athletic director. He needed someone to both lead Colorado into its new conference waters as well as to stem the tide of quick coaching regimes; four different men had piloted the football team over the previous 16 seasons, not including the Potts-Yeager multiple terms due to World War II. CU needed consistency.

Carlson had long lobbied for CU to make the move into a tougher conference, with eyes specifically on the Big Six to the east, and the move was met with quite a bit of controversy. While there was eager anticipation of CU's impending move to the highest level of college athletics, many had doubts that the school could pull it off, particularly in football. They pointed to CU's 2-8-2 record against Big Six teams in the years leading up to the move, though all but two of the defeats had been closely contested.

Thus it was a surprise that the search for the Buffs' new football coach didn't generate that much excitement, likely due to CU's nine losses over the '46 and '47 seasons, its most in a two-year span in 20 years. Two candidates for the position were head coaches in the east, Dudley DeRoot at West Virginia and Bill Glassford at New Hampshire. Both eventually headed west, DeRooy to New Mexico and Glassford to Nebraska, but neither was Colorado's man.

Carlson settled on a 42-year old assistant from the University of Minnesota who had an impressive pedigree. Dallas Ward, who played end at Oregon State in the 1920s and coached for nine seasons in the Minneapolis high school ranks, had learned under one of the best in Bernie Bierman, and when Minnesota was a national powerhouse. He had a reputation of having a great offensive mind, was extremely well organized, and was considered a great recruiter. Though possessing a gruff exterior, Ward also had one quality Carlson appreciated: those who played for him generated a lasting devotion and loyalty to the man. After nine years as an assistant under Bierman, helping contribute to the Gophers powerful single-wing offense, he was ready to run his own program.

His first game was on Sept. 25, 1948, at home against a New Mexico team coming off a 4-5-1 season with few expectations of doing much, if any better. Backs Harry Narcisian, Malcolm Miller and Don Hagin all showed some promise, but CU never really got untracked in losing 9-6 to a Lobo team that would win just once more the rest of the season.

Colorado had officially become a member of the Big Seven Conference on Dec. 1, 1947, and its winter and spring sports teams would participate in their new league before the football team. The basketball squad had an inauspicious start, losing its first six conference games, and CU's first football game as a league member was no different, as the Buffs traveled to Kansas and returned to Boulder on the wrong side of a 40-7 score.

Two games, two losses. But the Buffaloes were starting to fully understand the intricacies of the single wing offense. Once mastered, ball control would become CU's trait, so much so that in the 10-plus seasons that followed under Ward, the Buffs would lose just four games by a bigger margin than the 33-point setback at KU, two at the hands of mighty Oklahoma.

Fortunately, Colorado fans didn't have to wait any longer for Ward's first win, and it came against a future nemesis and eventual rival in Nebraska. The Cornhuskers came to Boulder a heavy favorite, but Narcisian, also nicknamed "Roaring Twenty" as that was his uniform number, threw two touchdown passes and had 195 yards of total offense to lead CU to a 19-6 win. The Buffaloes had amassed 374 yards on offense, its most in two seasons, while holding Nebraska to just 150.

The following week, the Buffs scored their quickest ever in a game (15 seconds in), a mark that would stand for 22 seasons, when Ed Pudlik recovered an Iowa State fumble in the end zone for a 7-0 CU lead. But the Cyclones stormed back for an 18-7 verdict, and the euphoria from the Nebraska win subsided and was replaced by a rollercoaster ride the rest of the year. CU bounced back with an impressive 51-7 win over Kansas State, rushing for 267 yards and six touchdowns, then split two games with old rivals from the Mountain States Conference, losing 14-12 at Utah and besting Utah State, 28-14. CU led No. 20 Missouri 7-0 at halftime in Columbia, but would succumb 27-13, and Ward's first season came to a close with a 29-25 loss to Colorado A&M.

Though CU couldn't string two wins together at any point in what amounted to a 3-6 season, the dominance over Nebraska made the rest of the conference take notice. CU won two of five league games and finished a respectable fourth in the league standings, but due to scheduling issues, CU did not play Oklahoma in its first two years of Big Seven play. That was no doubt likely a good omen at the time.

The 1948 season was a transitory one, and a senior-dominated team at that, with the '49 Buffaloes a mixture of Ward recruits and inexperienced upperclassmen trying more or less to survive the season. CU opened by exacting some revenge against Kansas, toppling the Jayhawks 13-12 in Boulder in what would be the Buffs' lone league win of the year. CU finished 1949 with a 3-7 mark, its two other wins coming against old RMAC and MSC pals Utah and Utah State. CU was in every loss but one until the end, with Colorado A&M once again polishing off the Buffs' year on a sour note with a second straight win in Boulder, this time by a 14-7 score.

Colorado had now suffered three straight losing seasons for the first time in its football history.

1950s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

- Oct. 21, 1950—Zack Jordan highlights Buffaloes' 28-25 win over Arizona in Boulder by setting an NCAA punting record: six punts for 343 yards, an average of 57.2 a kick.
- Nov. 17, 1951—Colorado's 36-14 win at Nebraska is the first national television appearance by the Buffaloes.
- Sept. 20, 1952—Buffaloes beat San Jose State, 20-14, for the 300th win in Colorado history.
- Sept. 27, 1952—Colorado ties Oklahoma in Boulder, 21-21, to give Oklahoma one of only two blemishes in its 75 conference game unbeaten streak which started in 1946 and ended in 1959.
- Nov. 20, 1954—Carroll Hardy sets a national record rushing for 238 yards on just 10 attempts in a 38-14 win over Kansas State.
- Jan. 1, 1957—Colorado wins its first ever bowl game, a 27-21 victory over Clemson in the 1957 Orange Bowl at Miami.
- Oct. 11, 1958—Howard Cook ties Byron White's record by scoring 25 points against Arizona in Tucson. Cook scored four touchdowns and kicked one extra point to lead the Buffaloes to a 65-12 rout of the Wildcats.
- Feb. 9, 1959—Sonny Grandelius named the 15th head coach in Colorado history.
- Nov. 28, 1959—CU defeats Air Force in Boulder, 15-7, to close the season; spectators include Byron White and his guest, president candidate John F. Kennedy. To this day, the only game attended in Boulder by a U.S. president, prior to, during or after his term in office.

There was reason for optimism heading into 1950, as the team now spouted several savvy veterans and some ready-to-blossom underclassmen like backs Merwin Hodel, Tom Brookshier and Zack Jordan, the latter also a fine punting specialist, ends Chuck Mosher and Don Branby, tackle Dick Punches and guard Jack Swigert. But a season-opening 14-7 loss at Iowa State, in which the Cyclones scored two touchdowns late to steal the win, and a 27-21 setback at Kansas sandwiched a 34-6 triumph in the home opener over Kansas State had CU off to a 1-2 start.

364What was alarming to followers is that CU was piling up losses in near-miss fashion, mostly due to the team fading in the second half and down the stretch in particular. The loss at KU epitomized that, as CU led 21-0 midway through the third quarter before watching the Jayhawks score four touchdowns in the game's final 20 minutes, the winning TD coming with 1:30 remaining.

So when Colorado led Nebraska 14-0 at halftime in the fourth game of the year, fans were still holding their breath. This time around, Punches recovered a fumble in the end zone for a touchdown that sealed a 28-19 Buff win. A week later against Arizona, CU again jumped to a 14-0 lead but needed a 77-yard Hodel scoring run in the fourth quarter to ice a 28-25 win. Colorado was now 3-2, the first time it had climbed over .500 more than one game into the season during Ward's brief tenure.

CU remained one game above even with a 20-20 tie on the road at Utah, having rallied to tie the game on a 45-yard interception return by Branby. The Buffs had a chance at winning, but Lee Venzke's 32-yard field goal sailed wide and Colorado returned home from Salt Lake City with the task of preparing to face the nation's No. 3 ranked team.

Oklahoma had long been considered one of the nation's top programs, and the Buffs and Sooners had a limited history, playing four times previous to being members of the same conference. OU had won three, but all were hard-fought battles.

The Sooners came riding high into Boulder, not only as the third-ranked team in the land, but also riding a 26-game winning streak. Ward's teams would go 0-8-1 against Oklahoma during his tenure, an era where most teams would do the same (more likely 0-9), with Bud Wilkinson's Sooners the team of the decade. But CU was a thorn in the side to the Sooner almost every one of those games, and the first encounter in 1950 was no exception.

Jordan pinned Oklahoma deep in its own territory in the opening minutes, punting the ball dead on the Sooner 2. That eventually led to CU winning the early field position battle and a Hodel run had CU ahead, 6-0, though Venzke missed the extra point (he'd miss all three on the day). Oklahoma grabbed the halftime lead, 13-6, led 20-12 after three and held off the Buffaloes in winning, 27-18. The Sooners' option game rolled up 351 yards on the ground, one of the highest totals ever against CU at the time. Still, it was the closest league game of the season for the Sooners, which won the 1950 national championship.

Missouri dealt CU a 21-19 setback in the final conference contest of the season, the first of several times in the 1950s the Tigers would face the Buffs the week following the emotional Oklahoma game. And Missouri took full advantage of that fact, going 4-0-2 versus CU on those occasions, three of the wins by eight points or less. In the first of such instances, Colorado had dominated Missouri most of the game, had a 17-2 edge in first downs at one point on the way to a season-high 405 yards of total offense, but a late TD after a questionable pass interference call on Brookshier set Mizzou up for the winning touchdown.

Now 3-4-1, with a 2-4 record in Big Seven play for a second straight sixth place league finish, CU had non-league games Oregon and Colorado A&M left to play. Wins would give Ward his first winning season at Colorado, and the school's first in four years.

Jordan led the nation in punting with a record 48.2 average, bolstered by a 55.0 average on four punts in a 21-7 win over Oregon in Boulder. Jordan, a talented halfback who threw the majority of passes in CU's single-wing offensive attack, was never honored as an All-American for his punting accomplishments, though he would make first-team All-Big Seven as a senior in 1952.

Last up was the rivalry game with the Aggies, and two years of frustration on the Buffaloes' part was obvious as CU thumped A&M, 31-6. The Buffs had 401 yards on offense, 271 on the ground, holding A&M to just 139 yards in the process. Jim Dalthorp intercepted a pitch and returned it 30 yards for a touchdown in the second half to put an exclamation point on the win, scoring in one of the more unusual ways that can be done in the sport.

Year three of the Dal Ward era was now in the books as was his first winning campaign. CU was just 11-17-1 at this point under him, but a foundation had been built. The Buffaloes had 1,162 yards on offense including just under 800 rushing yards in the final three weeks of the '50 season, both school all-time highs over a three-game span. The offense was now fully understood by the players, and improvement on defense was evident.

Starting in 1951, Colorado began an eight-year run under Ward where it would post a collective 52-24-5 record. While the Big Seven was often referred to as "Oklahoma and the six dwarfs," the Buffaloes were a tough second banana to the Sooners and were generally considered as the conference's next best team the entire decade.

It is often said that you can't judge a football coach until his fourth season, when his first recruiting class comes into full bloom. The '51 Buffaloes, Ward's fourth team, went 7-3, the most wins in almost a decade, going back to the '42 squad and its 7-2 mark. More important was the second place finish in the Big Seven, the first of seven second or third place conference finishes the remainder of Ward's tenure.

The entire starting offensive backfield returned in 1951, and by season's end, Hodel (597 yards), Ron Johnson (455), Carroll Hardy (423), Woody Shelton (417) and Ralph Curtis (233) were the main weapons in leading the Buffs to a school record 2,516 rushing yards (a figure that two other Ward teams down the road would obliterate). Players like sophomores Dick Knowlton (guard) and Gary Knafelc (end) would become entrenched as three-year starters.

But there were still concerns about the defense, and the first two games proved those valid. CU built a 14-0 lead in the opener over Colorado A&M, only to see the Aggies pull to within one in the fourth quarter before two late scores fueled a 28-13 win. Northwestern then used two long pass plays to jump to a quick 14-0 lead in the first four minutes of the next game, cruising to a 35-14 win. CU had split its first two games of the season for third straight year, and the result in all three previous game threes was a loss ... and No. 20 ranked Kansas was headed into town for the first conference game of the year.

It marked just the fifth ranked opponent CU had ever played at the time, but the Buffaloes held their own in the first four, owning leads at one time in all. This time, CU would lead from start to finish. Jordan's 2-yard touchdown run just six minutes in got the Buffs on the scoreboard first, and the lead grew to 14-0 on a nifty 65-yard punt return, one which featured a reverse from Shelton to Brookshier. KU clawed back to 14-13 by halftime, but TD runs from Johnson and Venzke upped the lead to 28-20 with four minutes left in the game. Venke scored again less than minute later following a KU turnover, and CU went on to a 35-27 victory.

TIMEOUT / FRED CASOTTI

In 1952, one of the school's all-time great personalities arrived on the CU scene. Fred "The Count" Casotti was hired as sports information director, and he would begin a five-decade love affair with his alma mater. A '49 graduate in journalism, the SID job opened up in the summer and athletic director Harry Carlson took a chance on the sports editor with CU ties from a small newspaper in Iowa.

Casotti served 16 years as SID, another 20 as associate athletic director, and then 14 more as the school's historian until his death in 2001. As creative as they came, he penned poems and limericks in his weekly news releases that helped garner CU national attention; the press couldn't wait to see what prose he included in his latest mailing. Casotti wrote three books on Colorado football, including the classic Football CU Style*, the asterisk defining CU as "Casotti Uncensored."

He was inducted into the CoSIDA Hall of Fame in 1996 and posthumously into the state of Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 2002 and CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2006.

He passed away the night before a big game against Texas A&M in CU's 2001 Big 12 title run, and a mysterious Aggie fumble and subsequent CU recovery and return for a score saved a 31-21 win. It prompted assistant coach John Wristen to say postgame, "You know that fumble at the end ... (glances upward) ... Thank you, Fred."

The KU win sparked the Buffs in their next two games. Curtis rushed for 121 yards and three touchdowns on just 14 carries, leading CU to a 34-13 romp over Missouri. The defense then played one of its finest games of the season, holding Kansas State to just 41 plays in a 20-7 win in Manhattan, Colorado's first Big Seven conference road win after eight losses.

And with a 3-0 league record, the Buffaloes were atop the standings and squarely in the title picture. An unranked, 2-2 Oklahoma team was next, though the Sooners had won their only Big Seven game.

CU was confident but not cocky heading in, though the fans were optimistic, but what transpired could have set the program back. Sooner quarterback (and future CU coach and athletic director) Eddie Crowder, an option master not known for his throwing prowess, threw three first quarter touchdown passes that covered 27, 67 and 38 yards to build a 27-0 lead. Oklahoma went on to win, 55-14, with Crowder passing for 189 yards and four scores.

A key point in Ward's career, a lesser team could have folded the tent. However, the Buffs reeled off three straight wins, one of which was a 54-0 demolishing of Utah where CU set school records for rushing yards (452) and total offense (627). The seventh win of the year came in the league finale at Nebraska, the first televised game in school history. The Buffs did not disappoint, and with 2,000 fans making the trip from Colorado, Hardy and Hodel both rushed for over 100 yards in a 36-14 win, which gave CU sole possession of second place in the conference, behind Oklahoma.

A season-ending 45-7 loss at No. 2 Michigan State didn't damper the overall optimism. Most of the '51 team was back for 1952, and Colorado had established itself as a legitimate conference contender.

A lackluster 20-14 win over San Jose State opened the '52 campaign, though the Buff ground game was as advertised, piling up 350 yards. But it was hardly the kind of game CU wanted with No. 4 Oklahoma coming to town the following week, with the Sooners riding a 26-game conference winning streak.

Jordan played one of his finest games, as the 5-11, 180-pound senior scored all three CU touchdowns as he went toe-to-toe with OU's Billy Vessels, the 1952 Heisman Trophy winner. But his real weapon was his right leg, as he averaged 56.0 yards on seven punts, including quick-kick boomers of 72, 77 and 78 yards which enabled CU to control field position.

It was a see-saw battle from the start, and neither team led by more than a single score. Oklahoma tied it at 21 with 1:51 to play. Colorado drove into OU territory in the waning seconds, but time ran out after Frank Bernardi's 22-yard run to the Sooner 21, before the Buffs could run another play or try a game winning field goal.

OU went on to win its next 45 league games, and in the 10-year history of the Big Seven (it became the Big Eight in 1958), the Sooners were 57-0-1 in conference play with just that one blemish, courtesy of Colorado.

CU then hit the road for a game at ninth-ranked Kansas. In a statistically even game it came down to defense, and the Jayhawks not once but twice stopped CU at their 1-yard line in a 21-12 win. The 1-1-1 start could have been so much more, which could have given the Buffs their first-ever national ranking. Despite a 5-1-1 finish for a 6-2-2 overall record, CU had to wait two more years for that milestone to occur.

Frustrated by a 2-2-2 mark and fourth place finish in the Big Seven, CU took out its frustration on Colorado A&M in the season finale. A 61-0 rout of the Aggies saw the Buffs rush for 422 yards and six touchdowns on offense, while the defense intercepted six passes and held A&M to just 86 total yards.

Colorado slipped to 6-4 in 1953, which included a tumble to sixth in the league with a 2-4 record, though it marked the first time under Ward that the Buffs won their first two games. Sitting at 0-3 in the conference prior to its game at ninth-ranked Oklahoma, many expected some serious OU payback for the '52 tie. The Buffs battled and with the single-wing offense producing 277 yards and three touchdowns on the ground, CU tied the game with 90 seconds remaining. But Merrill Green's 51-yard TD run with 36 seconds on the clock rallied the Sooners for a 27-20 win.

Though coming close again against OU, the Buffs became motivated for the remainder of the year, pocketing four straight wins to polish off the season. Included on the back end were road wins at Nebraska (14-10) and Colorado A&M (13-7).

That carried into 1954, as the Buffs opened with five straight wins to extend the win streak to nine, the longest since a 15-game run over the 1923-24 seasons, and opened 5-0 for the first time since 1937. Colorado did not allow a point in its first three wins (61-0 over Drake, 46-0 versus Colorado A&M and 27-0 at Kansas), and following a 40-18 win at Arizona, CU achieved a new pinnacle in program history.

Going into the next game at Iowa State, Colorado was a ranked team, appearing at No. 17, and the Buffs responded with their fourth shutout in five games, blanking the Cyclones, 20-0. CU climbed to No. 11, and had Nebraska and Oklahoma at Folsom Field up next.

But it all derailed the following week, when the Cornhuskers shocked CU, 20-6. Bowl hopes were dashed seven days later when the Sooners scored twice in the fourth quarter in rallying to a 13-6 win. CU salvaged a 19-19 tie at Missouri in the next game, the Buffs saved from a loss when Bernardi blocked a game winning extra point try literally with his face. He suffered a broken nose. Wins at Utah and versus Kansas State produced a 7-2-1 season record, but Nebraska edged the Buffs for second in the league and earned an invitation over the Buffs to the Orange Bowl with Oklahoma ineligible to return (teams could not go two seasons in a row to a bowl in the 1950s).

Behind sophomore John “The Beast” Bayuk, CU rushed for a school record 3,160 yards, topping 400 in four games. Bayuk had 824 of the yards, the most by a Buff since Byron White led the nation in 1937. In his final game, Hardy set a national record with 238 yards on just 10 attempts in CU’s 38-14 thumping of Kansas State; CU as a team had 493 on 36 tries, or 13.7 yards per carry, in the rout.

Hardy would go on to the play professional football and baseball, becoming famous when he became the only player to pinch-hit for Ted Williams.

The ’55 season was a near carbon copy. Colorado won its first four games, appeared in the rankings at No. 20 after the third win, and zoomed to No. 14 following the fourth. Next on the calendar, a date at No. 3 Oklahoma. CU stormed to a 14-0 lead, only to see the Sooners rally for a 21-14 halftime lead en route to a 56-21 thrashing. All told, CU lost four of its last six and finished 6-4, and once again placed third in the league.

A 35-0 loss to Oregon in the ’56 season opener, on the heels of a 10-0 setback to Colorado A&M that ended the ’55 campaign had Ward feeling the heat. A five-game winning streak quelled the critics, and CU was poised to enter the rankings again, but was staring No. 1 Oklahoma in the face ... and coming off a 40-0 win at Notre Dame.

CU was ready and sprinted to a 19-6 halftime lead, but as often was the case, Oklahoma rallied. The Sooners scored two third quarter touchdowns, the first aided by a fourth down conversion from their own 28, and then tacked on a clinching score with 5:29 left to win 27-19. The pollsters were still impressed with the Buffaloes and ranked them No. 18. Oklahoma went on to win the national championship.

Also as usual, Missouri was CU’s next foe after Oklahoma and the Tigers seized on the Buffs’ OU hangover and forged a 14-0 lead. With OU ineligible again for the Orange Bowl, the winner of the CU-MU game would earn the invitation.

In 1955, CU had its first black football player make the varsity, a transfer from Trinidad (Colo.) Junior College, end Frank Clarke. He made his presence felt, leading CU in receiving in his junior and senior seasons, but especially this day against the Tigers. His 17-yard touchdown reception from Boyd Dowler shaved the Mizzou lead to 14-7 in the third quarter. Then aided by a personal foul call against Missouri for punching Bayuk, who had bit the forearm of the player after it drove inside his faceguard, a fourth quarter drive was kept alive and Dowler found Clarke again on an 18-yard TD play, with Ellwin Indorf’s PAT kick giving CU a 14-14 tie.

CU earned the league’s Orange Bowl bid by virtue of the tie, as CU finished 4-1-1 and Missouri 3-2-1. The Buffs tuned up for the bowl with wins over Utah and Arizona, an re-entered the polls at No. 20. A see-saw Orange Bowl against Clemson, starting with CU taking a 20-0 lead only to see the “other” CU go ahead 21-20 early in the fourth quarter, did end on a good note for the Buffs as a 1-yard TD run by Bayuk with 7:13 to go paved the way for a 27-21 win and an 8-2-1 record.

Expectations were at an all-time high, but a 6-3-1 record in 1957, with a 14-13 loss at Oklahoma thanks to a blocked PAT, and subsequent 9-6 loss to Missouri put a damper on a season which CU led the nation in rushing with 3,224 yards. Senior Bob Stransky was the school’s third thousand yard rusher, finishing with 1,097 and earning All-America honors, while junior Eddie Dove was the master of the long play, with a 90-yard run and 80-yard reception for touchdowns.

Different season, same story inasmuch as 1958 was concerned. A 5-0 start, which featured a 65-12 throttling of Arizona in Tucson, had CU ranked No. 9 in the nation. The game six opponent ... No. 7 Oklahoma ... CU took a 7-0 lead ... OU rallied to win, 23-7.

Colorado lost four of its last five games, save for only a 7-0 win at Utah. But it was the last two that sealed Ward’s fate. CU led rival Colorado State (the Aggies were no longer A&M) 14-7 in the fourth quarter, but lost 15-14 when CSU scored a touchdown with 4:29 left, and then used the new two-point PAT to take the lead. Then in the finale against Air Force, in just its third year of varsity football, the Buffs thoroughly dominated the 7-0-1 Falcons. CU outgained them 420-160, but fumbled 12 times, losing seven, and a late AFA score on an intercepted pitch gave the Zoomies a 20-14 victory.

One highlight of the year was guard John Wooten earning All-America accolades, the first black CU football player to earn the distinction.

On January 23, 1959 the Regents voted 5-1 to dismiss Ward, saying only that it was “in the best interests of the university.” The anti-Ward people in the minority rejoiced, but the pro-Ward faction was furious.

The Regents refused to reconsider the move and the process set forth to hire the school’s 15th head football coach. The wish list includes a few head coaches and some notable assistants, with Michigan State aide Everett “Sonny” Grandelius quickly rising to the top. The 29-year old was officially named the new CU boss on February 9.

There weren’t many expectations for the ’59 season; the ’58 team was peppered with seniors, and while CU had a solid sophomore class, the Buffs were largely inexperienced.

Grandelius brought change, jettisoning the single-wing for the T-Formation, in addition to one of the most distinctive moves in school history: the Buffaloes scrapped their old gold jerseys for black and silver uniforms. The black has remained since, sans a five year period from 1980-84 when the Regents meddled and forced all athletic teams to wear “Colorado sky blue at 9,000 feet.” Whatever that meant; no move before or since had upset the alumni so.

The Buffs lost their first three games under Grandelius, a grueling opening run of Washington, Baylor and Oklahoma. As with any new coach, it takes time to figure out the new schemes and game action is the best way to learn. Colorado broke through in his fourth game with a 20-17 win over Kansas State, but took a step back the next week with a 27-0 loss to Iowa State; the irony being that the Cyclones were one of the last teams to run the single-wing.

CU won four of its final five, including a 21-20 win over Missouri. The Tigers had gone 15-1-2 against the Buffaloes since 1938 but with a reworked schedule, didn't get CU the week after the Buffs battled Oklahoma (though that format returned one year later for the next seven years). A 15-7 win over Air Force capped the season, with Colorado finishing 5-5. The Buffs finished third in the conference with a 3-3 mark, and also developed a solid quarterback in sophomore Gale Weidner, who had made the transition from 6-man football as a high schooler.

The 1960 season started with a 26-0 loss at Baylor, but CU bounced back to win the next five, topped off by a 7-0 win over Oklahoma, finally its' first over the Sooners since becoming a fellow conference member. CU, 5-1 overall and 4-0 in the Big Eight, had set up a showdown at No. 2 ranked Missouri.

Colorado scored first, taking an early 6-0 lead on a 38-yard pass from Weidner to Gary Henson, and then drove to the Tiger 4-yard line after a turnover but could not punch it in. From that point on, Missouri showed why it was the second best team in the nation, grinding out a physical 16-6 win. The contest was a defensive battle (neither team gained 200 yards), and CU suffered several injuries in the game, most notably to All-America guard Joe Romig. Mizzou won the Big Eight, while CU finished second with a 5-

2 league record, splitting its last two encounters. The banged-up Buffs were outmanned at Kansas, dropping a 34-6 decision, but rallied for a 13-6 win over Oklahoma State, playing a league schedule in football for the first time. The final mark for the year was 6-4, as Air Force bested CU in the finale, also by a 16-6 score.

CU, Missouri and Kansas were the cream of the conference crop in 1961. Colorado had some offensive weapons to contend with, starting with Weidner, ends Jerry Hillebrand and Ken Blair, and halfbacks Teddy Woods and Bill Harris.

The Buffs got the first leg up on the other two when they rallied from a 19-0 deficit early in the fourth quarter for a 20-19 win. CU won its next three, climbing to 4-0 in league play and to No. 8 in the nation. Missouri opened 5-0-1, including three league wins, rising to No. 10; the two met in Boulder on Nov. 4, with the league title on the line.

Colorado was hungry and had been playing good defense, and an early score paved the way for a 7-6 win over the Tigers. But any chance of moving substantially higher in the rankings were dashed the following week with a 21-12 loss at old rival Utah, though the Buffs came back and won its final three games and earned a spot opposite Louisiana State in the Orange Bowl. CU had won its first Big Eight title, going undefeated in league play and finishing the year with as the sixth-ranked team in the land. Romig repeated as an All-American and earned a Rhodes Scholarship, with Hillenbrand also garnering All-American accolades.

No. 4 LSU got the best of the Buffaloes in the bowl game, dominating the trenches in a 25-7 win. The New Year's Day loss was just the first in a wave of bad news over a three month stretch. NCAA sanctions rocked the school after the '61 season; the organization had began its probe into Grandelius' program the summer prior to the season, and the school was placed on two years probation and had 21 players declared ineligible.

Grandelius had been dismissed prior to the penalties, on March 17, 1962, in hopes that the NCAA would take some mercy. It did not. In a surprise hire for his replacement, alumni director William "Bud" Davis was named the new coach 10 days later. He had been a very good high school coach in South Dakota, and had been a backup quarterback on Dal Ward's first three CU teams. He immediately named Ward, who had remained at the school as a teacher, one of his assistants.

The '62 season was one of the ugliest in school history. With a depleted roster, the Buffs managed only a 2-8 record, six of the losses by 20 or more points that included horrifying defeats at Iowa State (57-19) and Missouri (57-0) and the worst home loss ever, 62-0 to Oklahoma. Only a 6-0 win over Kansas State the second week of the season, and a 34-10 romp over Air Force in the finale had CU on the good side of the scoreboard. In the latter, Davis announced his resignation to his team the night before the game and the players were fired up to send him out a winner.

Eddie Crowder

But CU was left looking to for the fourth man to lead its program over a six-year period. Carlson once again would look east, though a little more to the south this time. It was quite a task in selecting Colorado's new coach, especially with three-ex head coaches still on the payroll, two in non-athletic capacities in Dal Ward and Davis, who had become dean of men, and Grandelius, terminated due to the NCAA violations. All had different-sized factions allegiant to them; had there been such a thing as 'Buff Nation' in the day, it was divided into three.

Carlson was allowed to make the decision on his own without Board of Regents interference, and the choice was easy. Eddie Crowder, of Oklahoma pedigree and a candidate for the position in 1959 until he withdrew, was hired on Jan. 2, 1963. There was no way to know at the time that the selection of the 31-year old Crowder would shape CU athletics over the next four decades.

Crowder now had the responsibility of healing the fan base, rebuilding morale and most important, rebuilding the program. Seldom had Colorado ever been in a rebuilding mode, it was fortunate enough to always more or less reload. That was not the case now, with a depleted roster and the Big Eight Conference growing in stature.

Crowder, wise beyond his years, "promised no miracles and delivered none," SID Fred Casotti used to say. Rather, he methodically assessed all aspects of the program, and improved those needing so brick by brick.

Perhaps it was only fitting that his first game as CU's coach was against defending national champion Southern California, which also opened the '63 season ranked as the nation's No. 1 team. A muddy field, one that could not be moved, aided the Buffaloes with the Trojans leaving Boulder with just a 14-0 victory.

After a 41-6 beating by Oregon State in Portland, Crowder's Buffs got him his first win at Kansas State, and then a 25-0 verdict over Oklahoma State in Boulder evened CU's mark at 2-2. But that would be it for victories his rookie season. Colorado dropped its last six, including a season-ending 17-14 loss at Air Force that was delayed two weeks following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The 1964 season yielded a third straight 2-8 record for Colorado, and the losing streak reached 10 games with an 0-4 start, but winds of change were prevalent. Unlike Crowder's first season, which featured five losses by three or more touchdowns, this time around six of the defeats were by a touchdown or less. Just one was in decisive fashion, a 21-0 loss in the opener at USC, but the Trojans ran away from the Buffs late.

CU was competitive for the first time in three years, and ended '64 on a high note with a 28-23 win over Air Force. Also ending that season was the era of platoon football; starting in 1965, free substitution was permitted, leading to different starters on both offense and defense. Colorado's most notable player to stay on the defensive side of the ball was quarterback Hale Irwin, a future professional golfing legend. He became an all-conference safety but golf was his first love. In his last college performance, he won the NCAA championship.

Recruiting had gone well for Crowder, and coupled with CU's return to respectability on the field, things were buzzing again in Boulder. His 1965 Buffaloes featured one of the most talented groups of sophomores in school history, and they proved to be the backbone in a 6-2-2 season, which included a 4-2-1 record in the Big Eight, vaulting Colorado back into the league's first division. In Crowder's third year, CU was third, ending three years of narrowly escaping the conference basement with one sixth and two seventh place finishes.

Carlson, with the football program and the department back on solid footing, announced his retirement in 1965, and Crowder was the popular choice to replace him. Even though AD-football coach dual roles were disappearing, Eddie had learned under one of the best in Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma, and he eagerly accepted the offer to become just CU's second full-time athletic director.

The '65 team opened at Wisconsin with one of the last scoreless ties in college football history, then won three and tied another in starting the year 3-0-2. The first real test in Crowder's tenure came at Nebraska, but the No. 3 Huskers used a 95-yard pass play to break open a 10-6 game in the first half en route to a 38-13 win. Irwin had two interceptions and a goal-line tackle the next game as CU rebounded, winning 13-0 over Oklahoma giving Crowder his first win over his alma mater.

No. 9 Missouri toppled the Buffs, which closed the year with wins over KU and Air Force, with only Nebraska and the Tigers ahead of CU in the conference standings. Colorado wasn't all the way back, but was well on the road to creating some memorable moments as well as team history over the next seven seasons.

Thirty lettermen returned in 1966, and Crowder's recruiting had gone so well that only three sophomores would make the starting lineup. The prospects for a banner season all seemed to line up in Colorado's favor, but Miami, Fla., socked the Buffs in the mouth in the opener, coming into Boulder and shutting down the CU offense and exiting with a 24-3 win.

CU righted things in game two, bouncing No. 10 Baylor in Waco 13-7 after the Bears had knocked off seventh-ranked Syracuse in their opener. Reserve linebacker Steve Graves' diving interception in the end zone in the final minute of play preserved the win. Several black players on the CU team (Baylor had none) were subject to racist taunts, and insults were even piped into the Colorado lockerroom over a speaker, infuriating the team and making this victory extra special for the Buffaloes.

The conference season produced some great moments and would confirm CU was all the way back as a school to be reckoned with. The Buffs posted four decisive wins over Kansas State, Iowa State, Missouri and Kansas, and rallied to beat Oklahoma (24-21), their second straight win over the Sooners. The two losses hurt, as CU wound up on the losing end by a combined three points. After the KSU win, even though Colorado was now 2-1 on the year, it has scored just 26 points in the three games.

Those troubles continued against Oklahoma State, though CU led 10-3 late in the game. The Cowboys drove 69 yards against a prevent defense, scored a touchdown and then won it with a 2-point conversion, 11-10. Crowder's staff decided to tinker with the offense, and the infusion of Dan Kelly was the answer. He ran the option to perfection in a 41-21 win at Iowa State, rushing for 156 yards and three scores and passing for 86 more. CU had two confident quarterbacks with distinct differences that caused opponents trouble the rest of the year.

CU returned home and had Nebraska on the ropes and owned a 19-6 lead with 13 minutes remaining, but the "prevent" did the Buffs in again, the Cornhuskers rallying for a 21-19 win. Colorado didn't tank it, however, won the last three league games convincingly to finish 5-2 for second place in the league, and then polished off a 7-3 season with a 10-9 win over Air Force. Junior Dick Anderson, who led the Buffs in interceptions (five) and was also the team's punter, aided the win by blocking a Falcon field goal try midway through the fourth quarter, which led to John Farler's 34-yard kick for the winning points.

TIMEOUT / RALPHIE

A live buffalo mascot, Ralphie, leads the Colorado football team out on the field both at the start of the game and second half. It is truly one of the special sights that exist anywhere in college or professional sports, and is oft recognized as such. Its beginning is traced to 1966, when John Lowery, the father of a CU freshman from Lubbock, Texas, donated to the school a six-month old buffalo calf.

For a while, she was billed as "Rraalph," but the origin of the name remains in doubt. Some say it was given by the student body after sounds she allegedly made while running and snorting; others say it was named for Ralph Jay Wallace, the junior class president at the time; and the original handlers will tell a third version. Regardless, an astute fan soon discovered that the buffalo was in fact a female, thus the name alteration to Ralphie.

The initial tradition was for CU's five sophomore class officers to run the buffalo around the stadium in a full loop. They would run her for two hours to tire her a bit to help keep her under control by the time the game started. At the conclusion of the run, the fans would break into the "Buffalo Stomp," which would literally shake the stadium in deafening fashion as the team took the field. But CU officials soon had the tradition stopped because of the actual physical damage it was causing.

Around that same time, head coach Eddie Crowder was approached with the idea the charging buffalo running out on the field before the game with the team behind right her. Crowder thought it was a great idea, and the debut of this great tradition took place on October 28, 1967, CU's homecoming game against Oklahoma State. Though OSU won the game, 10-7, the tradition was here to stay, though those who had some training in such an endeavor as working with a wild animal eventually replaced the sophomores.

Ralphie achieved nationally celebrity status, and was even kidnapped in 1970 by some Air Force Academy students as well as being named the school's 1971 Homecoming Queen at the height of the anti-establishment era.

Ralphie II replaced the original Ralphie following the 1978 season, and Ralphies III and IV served the school well; Ralphie V is CU's current live buffalo, debuting in 2008 at the annual spring game.

Colorado had come “oh so close” to returning to the top of the conference mountain, and with all those ’65 sophomores set to be seniors and a great freshman team graduating a new batch of rookies, 1967 shaped up to be a season to remember.

Something always foiled the Buffaloes from getting to the top, though. From 1965 through 1972, CU posted eight straight first division finishes in the Big Eight, finishing second twice, third four times and fourth on two occasions.

Nebraska had established itself as a national power, after a slight lull, Oklahoma returned to prominence, and both Kansas and Missouri ended the decade with good, if not great teams. Colorado was always in the mix, but never won or shared the title between its last in 1961 or its next in 1976. Other than KU and Mizzou sharing one title each, the top rung was owned exclusively by the Sooners or Huskers.

In ’67, CU was so well thought of that it was the only Big Eight school in the Associated Press preseason poll, opening the year at No. 10. And the Buffs would live up to the billing, blitzing to a 5-0 start and zooming up to No. 3, trailing only Pacific 8 powers USC and UCLA. Colorado had never sniffed the top five before, so climbing to number three was a feather in Crowder’s cap.

The Andersons, Dick and younger brother, sophomore quarterback Bobby, were just two of many stellar performers on the team; both would eventually be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame. Monte Huber blossomed at receiver, emerging as the favorite target of Anderson. William Harris, William Cooks and Larry Plantz were able ball carriers. Mike Montler, Bart Bortles, Bruce Heath, Kirk Tracy, Bill Csikos and Kile Morgan formed a great offensive line. Mike Schnitker, Ron Scott, Bill Brundige, Rocky Martin, Frank Bosch, Mike Veeder, Dave Bartelt and Kerry Mottl formed the defensive front. Charles Greer, Isaac Howard and Mike Bynum teamed with Anderson that produced a secondary that allowed 113 or fewer yards passing seven times.

Riding into Boulder for homecoming was Oklahoma State, essentially the same team that derailed the Buffs in ’66. The Cowboys did it again (and would complete the hat trick in 1972). CU never got untracked, spotted OSU a 10-0 lead, and could only carve out a single score after Boulder’s notorious winds picked up. The ‘Pokes left town with a 10-7 win, and the Buffs dropped to ninth in the polls.

CU still had title aspirations, but those were wiped away in Norman when the Sooners shut down and shut out the Buffs, 23-0. Oklahoma used the win as a springboard to a final No. 3 ranking, while CU regrouped and had to rally to beat heavy underdog Kansas, 12-8. Colorado was 6-2, and this was the “hey day” of bowls extending invitations whenever they pleased after the November came around.

The Buffs accepted a bid to the Bluebonnet Bowl, opposite the same Miami team that upset them in Boulder in the ’66 opener. Colorado steamrolled its final two opponents in the regular season, Kansas State (40-6) and Air Force (33-0), setting out to match the 1923 for the most wins in a single year in school history.

In the bowl, Bobby Anderson ignored a painful ankle injury and ignited a 31-21 win over the Hurricanes. He had missed the team bus to the stadium and had to hail a cab, with Crowder inserting him in place of Kelly to start the second half; he rushed for 108 yards and two scores. A see-saw affair with four lead changes, Anderson provided the go-ahead score on a 38-yard run with 6:55 remaining. But the win wasn’t secure until Howard picked off a Miami pass at the UM 43, with Anderson then directing a 34-yard drive that ended with a Cooks 2-yard run with 1:02 left to play.

Despite the graduation of 24 seniors, good things were still expected in 1968. Colorado opened 4-2, capped off by a wild 41-27 win over Oklahoma; CU sprinted to a 34-6 halftime lead then held on for dear life after the Sooners scored three quick touchdowns in 10 minutes to make a game of it.

Unfortunately, the Buffs didn’t grace the win column again the remainder of the season, losing the final four games starting with a 27-14 setback at third-ranked Kansas, the eventual conference champ. The year came to an end with a humiliating 58-35 loss to Air Force, as the Falcons dropped the Buffs to 4-6 for the season in rushing for 381 yards and amassing 530 overall. The two ceased playing following the 1974 season, and this would be the last win by AFA in the series.

CU opened 1969 with a resounding 35-14 win over Tulsa, with Bobby Anderson, now a senior and considered to be the best quarterback in the Big Eight, accounting for four touchdowns. But the Buffs were humbled the next game, falling at No. 2 Penn State, 27-3, though not a total shame since the Nittany Lions went on to have an undefeated season and held the second spot in the polls.

Big changes were in store for game three; with juniors Paul Arendt and Jimmy Bratten primed to play quarterback, and Anderson also being one of the nation’s top runners, Crowder moved him to tailback. The move was unannounced until game time, and Anderson responded with 161 yards and three touchdowns in a 30-7 drubbing of Indiana. The Buffs then shutout Iowa State, getting great defensive efforts from Brundige and sophomore Herb Orvis. The pair combined for 36 tackles for loss with 22 quarterback sacks for the season, and was making a habit of living in opponent backfields.

A tough stretch of games loomed against Oklahoma, Missouri and Nebraska. The 12th-ranked Sooners won a shootout in Norman, 42-30, but the Buffs returned home and got the best of No. 5 Missouri, 31-24. Anderson scored three touchdowns and a timely interception by Phil Irwin thwarted the Tigers, but the win was costly with Anderson suffering a hip-pointer. The injury limited him in a 20-7 loss at Nebraska, paving the way for Missouri and Nebraska to be league co-champs.

Colorado won its last three league games to take third, and the Buffs accepted an invitation to play Alabama and its legendary coach, Bear Bryant, in the Liberty Bowl.

Anderson rushed for 954 yards during the regular season, and finished 11th in the Heisman Trophy race. He polished off his career by running for 254 more and three scores in leading CU to a 47-33 win over the Crimson Tide, with the Liberty one of the most exciting bowl games of the decade. Colorado sprinted to a 17-0 lead, but fell behind 33-31 before Anderson scored twice in the fourth quarter, sandwiched around a Brundige and Orvis sack of 'Bama QB Ned Hayden for a safety. CU finished the season 8-3 and ranked No. 16.

lenger for the Big Eight title. The Buffs opened on the road with a 16-9 win at Indiana, setting the stage for a nationally televised rematch on ABC with Penn State.

The Buffs entered the polls after the Indiana win at No. 18; Penn State was a top 10 regular, coming in at No. 4 and riding a 23-game winning streak and a 31-game unbeaten run. Pat Murphy made an interception for CU on the first play of the game, and the Buffs were off and running. Branch returned the second half kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown, and when the smoke cleared, Colorado had routed the Nittany Lions, 41-13, and had shocked the football world.

- Nov. 4, 1978—Largest crowd at the time in Colorado home history, 53,553, see the Buffs fall short to No. 1 Oklahoma, 28-7.
- Apr. 4, 1979—After months of legal wrangling, Chuck Fairbanks named the 19th head coach in Colorado history.

With 40 lettermen returning for 1970 plus the addition of one of the nation's top junior college players, Cliff Branch, now eligible, optimism was high and CU was a legitimate chal-

Linebacker Phil Irwin's battered helmet graced the cover of Sports Illustrated (above), the first time any Colorado Buffalo in any sport made the front page. And in a span of three games, Crowder defeated two future Hall of Fame coaches in Alabama's Bear Bryant and Penn State's Joe Paterno.

CU jumped 10 spots in the polls to No. 8, its largest gain in a single week in school history, but the celebration was short lived. Kansas State dealt the Buffs a 21-20 setback, with a solid Wildcat effort combined with some freak plays did the Buffs in, the last coming after CU pulled to within one late in the game only to have its reliable placekicker miss the game-tying PAT. Iowa State paid the price the next week, as Branch returned two punts for touchdowns (and had a third one called back) in a 61-10 rout.

The next three games frustration sank in, as an unranked Oklahoma team came into Boulder and won 23-15, with Missouri then knocking CU out of the top 20 with a 30-16 win. No. 4 Nebraska scored twice late and escaped Folsom with a 29-13 win, leaving CU 3-4 on the year and 1-4 in the league.

The Buffs came back to smack Kansas and Oklahoma State to finish fourth in the league standings, and smashed Air Force 49-19. The Falcons, bound for the Sugar Bowl, took an early 7-0 lead but the Buffaloes answered with the next 35, piling up an astonishing 438 yards ... by halftime.

The finish earned CU a return invitation to the Liberty Bowl, but the Buffs accepted the bid on the assumption the opponent would be Arkansas or Mississippi. Instead, Tulane bartered its way into the game with a promise to buy 10,000 tickets, but the problem was that the Buffs took the Green Wave lightly. When that happens, the result usually isn't good and Tulane came away with a 17-3 win. Colorado ended the season with a 6-5 record, but Crowder had another fine crop of sophomores ready for their debut in '71.

And what a debut it would be. Veterans like Branch, Orvis, John Stearns, Cullen Bryant, Billie Drake, Carl Taibi and John Stavely were joined by sophomore stars-to-be Charlie Davis, Ken Johnson, J.V. Cain, Bo Matthews and Randy Geist among others. Nineteen seniors were the nucleus, 49 sophomores filled in the gaps. They had to meld quickly, because in CU's first three games of 1971, road contests lurked at No. 9 Louisiana State and No. 6 Ohio State.

Colorado started the season unranked; but after a 31-21 win at LSU and a 20-14 stunner in Columbus, sandwiched around the first game ever at Folsom Field on Astro turf, a 56-13 drubbing of Wyoming, the Buffs were 3-0 and ranked No. 6.

The Buffs improved to 5-0, with road games against No. 2 Oklahoma and No. 1 Nebraska ahead, and an always tough Missouri team in-between. The Sooners and Huskers got the best of the Buffs, but CU snared a win against The Tigers. Blowout wins over Kansas, Oklahoma State and Air Force improved the Buffs to 9-2, tying the school's season record for wins, and slotted CU at No. 7 in the polls.

How dominate was Colorado down the stretch? CU had 1,592 yards of offense, including 512 in the first half against Oklahoma State in a game where Davis rushed for a school record 342 yards, and allowed a paltry 637. The finish earned CU a berth in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl against hometown and No. 15 Houston.

CU kept rolling, overpowering the Cougars 29-17 to post the school's first 10-win season. When the final votes were tabulated, a first in college football occurred that hasn't come close to being matched: the same conference produced the nation's top three teams: Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado. Davis finished seventh in the nation in rushing, Taibi led a defense that made 37 sacks, and Branch electrified all with 11 touchdowns, four via punt return.

All that returning talent had Colorado open the '72 season with its highest ranking ever: No. 2. Boulder was in the throes of a football frenzy. The question was if the old saying would rear its ugly head again, that being, "Colorado is most dangerous when it is underestimated and most likely to fail when rated highly." Unfortunately for CU, over the years it had panned out ... and would again in 1972.

CU opened strong enough, steamrolling its first three opponents before opening Big 8 play at Oklahoma State. The stars were anything but aligned, as CU was without an injured Johnson while fullback Jon Keyworth went out early and the Buffs fumbled 10 times in a 31-6 loss. OSU had once again sidetracked Colorado's season, repeating its feat from 1967.

The Buffs went on to an 8-4 record in '72, far below expectations, though defeating second-ranked Oklahoma along the way, the highest rated team CU has ever beaten in its 118-year football history (matched a few times later on). CU was lackluster in a 24-3 Gator Bowl loss to Auburn, and those close to the program felt the overtime put in by Crowder as both football coach and athletic director was taking its toll.

The Buffs still had a deep team in 1973, the sophomore stars of two years prior were now seniors, and with freshman now eligible to play again, current sophs like Dave Logan had seen some playing time in '72 and a true freshman star named Billy Waddy could excite fans almost to a Cliff Branch like level. Colorado was still respected nationally, opening the year ranked 10th, and would again open the season at No. 15 LSU.

But the magic of '71 wasn't there, as LSU captured this one, 17-6. CU reeled off four straight wins before succumbing at No. 3 Oklahoma, but returned home to beat No. 7 Missouri. Despite coming off two straight third place finishes, the 5-2 Buffaloes were still in position to contend for the league title if OU slipped up as well as a prestigious bowl bid. But four straight losses, including close setbacks to Kansas and Kansas State dropped CU to 5-6.

Crowder had coached the Buffaloes for 11 seasons, and when omitting his first two years with identical 2-8 records when CU was rebuilding after the NCAA decimation, he owned a stellar 63-33-2 record which he had compiled against all-comers. He took time off and went on a quiet mountain retreat, and upon his return, announced his resignation as coach in mid-December. He would remain as athletic director for the next 11 years.

The program was in good shape, well stocked with talent and players like Logan, Williams, Don Hasselbeck, Pete Brock, Leon White and Emery Moorehead ready to blossom. The CU job was both a plumb and a concern. Whoever took the job might fear Crowder would be constantly looking over his shoulder, a concern that never materialized. Several names were bandied about, but Crowder settled on a man from the "Cradle of Coaches," Miami of Ohio. Bill Mallory had led the Redskins to an undefeated season and a win over Florida in the Tangerine Bowl, and his next destination was Boulder.

Mallory's first team in '74 finished the same as Crowder's last, 5-6, though posted a couple of nice wins over No. 11 Wisconsin and No. 18 Oklahoma State. And in the last game to date played between CU and Air Force, the Buffs escaped with a 28-27 win, its sixth straight over the Falcons.

Mallory's recruiting couldn't match Crowder's, though he did bring in some talented junior college players in Terry Kunz, Troy Archer and Tony Reed. He also landed a talented prep running back in James Mayberry.

The 1975 season was another one of those that could have been. After opening with three straight wins, Colorado reappeared in the national rankings (No. 19). The opponent first up with CU back on the national scene was top ranked Oklahoma in Norman. The Buffs went toe-to-toe with the superior Sooners, featuring the Selmon brothers, and a 68-yard march in the game's waning minutes pulled CU to within 21-20. The players wanted to go for two and the win, but Mallory knew a tie could mean the league title and the Orange Bowl berth down the road. CU went for the tie, but Tom Mackenzie's kick hooked it far to the left.

To CU's credit, it went on to win five of the next six games, close the regular season at 9-2 with another third place finish in the conference, and enter the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl ranked No. 10. CU faced No. 9 Texas, which more or less was playing a home game, and the Longhorns used a dominant second half to topple the Buffs, 38-21.

The 1976 season was one of the wackiest ever in Big 8 history, with five schools in the hunt for the title down to the last weekend. CU won three of its four non-conference games, but dropped the league opener to No. 6 Nebraska. Undaunted, the Buffs picked themselves up off the ground, won a wacky one with two late touchdowns at Oklahoma State the next week, a key victory it would turn out later on. Wins over Iowa State and Oklahoma at home, the latter also proving to be important, improved CU to 6-2, 3-1 in the league and to No. 14 in the nation. Colorado was in control of its own destiny at that point, but it was short-lived after losing at No. 16 Missouri in week nine.

A big win over Kansas in the Folsom finale, coupled with other events, had the Buffs facing a must win situation at Kansas State to close the regular season. Colorado won a shootout, 35-28, and was tied atop the standings with OSU at 5-2. But Oklahoma and Nebraska were both 4-2 and played several days later on Thanksgiving; CU would sweat it out, but an OU win gave the Buffs the edge with head-to-head wins over both the Sooners and Cowboys. The share of the league title earned Colorado the Orange Bowl berth.

No one knew at the time it would be CU's last bowl appearance for nine seasons, and after taking a 10-0 lead over Ohio State, the Buckeyes scored the game's final 27 points. The season was still deemed a success.

Mallory didn't know it at the time, but he had two years left in Boulder. Both his '77 and '78 teams opened 5-0, one climbing to No. 3 and the other to No. 13. But poor finishes led to 7-3-1 and 6-5 marks, and he was fired days after the '78 season came to a close.

Crowder wanted a big name this time, and Nebraska's Tom Osborne took a courtesy visit to Boulder, likely to better his own situation back in Lincoln. Names were thrown around, but no one had the inside word on who was Crowder's next man.

On Dec. 18, during the NFL's Monday Night Football game featuring New England at Miami, the legendary Howard Cosell broke in with an announcement that Patriot coach Chuck Fairbanks, Oklahoma's old boss from 1967-72, had accepted CU's offer to be its next head coach. Miami went on to rout the Patriots, tying New England for the division crown, and the Pats lost in the first round of the playoffs. The owners were furious, and took Fairbanks and CU to court, claiming breach of contract. After New England won some preliminary hearings, an out of court settlement was reached, with Fairbanks giving up deferred income to the tune of $100,000, while CU had to pay the Patriots twice that amount.

Fairbanks finally was cleared to take over the program on April 4, 1979, after Bob Cortese did a masterful job of coordinating recruiting and keeping things intact while CU awaited the court's ruling. Trying to instill pro schemes on the college kids never clicked, however, and CU lost eight of its first nine en route to a 3-8 season. Somehow, Mark Haynes and Stan Brock were still able to be recognized as All-Americans, a credit to their talents. And though hardly a big deal at the time, the season opener against Oregon was the first college football game televised on an all sports cable network called ESPN.

The debts were piling up; season ticket sales never came close to what was expected, as CU was in a $1 million hole after capital improvements were made based on income that never materialized, combined with the new debt from a $7.7 million basketball arena. Many in CU's constituency were offended, some lost forever, when on June 11, 1980, Crowder was forced by President Arnold Weber and the Board of Regents to cut seven sports, including the traditional long-time programs of baseball, swimming and wrestling.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Oct. 4, 1980—In one of the wildest games ever played at Folsom Field, Oklahoma defeats CU 82-42. Several NCAA and Big Eight records were smashed.

June 9, 1982—Bill McCartney named the 20th head coach in Colorado history.

Sept. 15, 1984—Tight end Ed Reinhardt undergoes brain surgery to save his life less than two hours after Colorado's 27-20 loss at Oregon. Reinhardt had a blood clot removed from the left side of his brain.

Mar. 25, 1985—Bill McCartney announces that the Buffs have switched to the wishbone, CU's "offense of the future."

Nov. 23, 1985—Colorado's 30-0 win over Kansas State gives CU a 7-4 regular season record, which also enables the Buffs to win the NCAA's most improved team honor for 1985.

Dec. 30, 1985—Colorado loses to Washington, 20-17, in the second annual Freedom Bowl.

- Oct. 25, 1986—Colorado defeats Nebraska (20-10), the first Buff win over the Huskers since 1967.
- Nov. 22, 1986—Buffs destroy Kansas State, 49-3, to finish second in the Big Eight. CU's 6-1 league record is its second best ever.
- Dec. 31, 1986—Baylor defeats Colorado, 21-9, in the 28th annual Bluebonnet Bowl.
- Oct. 17, 1987—Colorado defeats Kansas, 35-10, for its 200th win at Folsom Field.
- Oct. 31, 1987—Buffs roll over Iowa State at Ames, 42-10, for CU's 500th win in its history.
- Nov. 28, 1987—Buffs lose to Nebraska, 24-7, in first game at Folsom Field with lights (mid-afternoon kickoff).
- Oct. 22, 1988—Oklahoma edges CU, 17-14, in the first night game ever played at Folsom Field.
- Dec. 29, 1988—Colorado loses to Brigham Young, 20-17, in the fifth annual Freedom Bowl.
- Aug. 23, 1989—Colorado's No. 14 ranking in both the AP and UPI polls marks the first time the Buffs are ranked in the preseason since 1977.
- Nov. 18, 1989—The Buffs' 59-11 win at Kansas State gives CU its first undefeated regular season since 1937, and clinches the Big Eight Conference Championship (CU's first outright title since 1961). In the game, sophomore quarterback Darian Hagan goes over the 1,000-yard mark for the season in both rushing and passing, becoming only the sixth player to accomplish that feat in NCAA history.
- Nov. 27, 1989—Colorado ascends to the nation's No. 1 ranking, the first time in its 100-year history that CU earns the wire service top spot.
- Jan. 1, 1990—Colorado loses its bid for its first-ever national championship, losing 21-6 to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl.
- Jan. 2, 1990—The Buffs finish the year ranked No. 4 in the polls, the second-highest final ranking by any Colorado team.
- Jan. 18, 1990—Bill McCartney is named the Bear Bryant Coach-of-the-Year, giving him a sweep of the national coach-of-the-year honors.

A 1-10 record in 1980, the lone win over Iowa State, followed the disastrous '79 campaign but featured a change considered even worse by fans and alumni. The Regents imposed CU's athletic teams to do away with the popular black uniform color and replace it with "Colorado Sky Blue at 9,000 feet." Down through years, people blamed Fairbanks for this, but he had nothing to do with it.

The school also adopted a new logo in the summer of 1981, not overly accepted at first but one that in due time won most everyone over. Some staffers dubbed it the "piggalo" after Fairbanks saw the design, took one of his famous long drags on a cigarette and uttered, "That thing looks like a ----- pig."

A 3-8 season lay ahead in '81, though the Buffs won the games many want most, the season opener (45-27 over Texas Tech), homecoming (11-10 over Oklahoma State) and the finale (24-21 over Kansas State). But the story of the year was a sad one. In late October, tailback Derek Singleton, who had caught the 2-point conversion pass the previous Saturday to beat OSU, fell ill in his Ames hotel room. Spinal meningitis was the diagnosis, and on New Year's Day '82, the Buff sophomore passed away.

On June 1, 1982, Fairbanks informed Crowder that he was resigning to take the head coaching job with the New Jersey

Generals of the fledgling United States Football League. His era thus came to an end after just three seasons and a 7-26 record, though CU did escape finishing in the conference cellar all three years.

Things would eventually change, and a novelty t-shirt later would confirm it, but not for several years.

Crowder needed to act quickly to fill the vacant head coaching role; fall camp was only two months away. But the program was deep in debt, after paying off Mallory, settling with the New England Patriots to secure Fairbanks, and the cost of women's sports under Title IX guidelines, programs that provided practically no revenue, among other capital expenses accrued.

Crowder had vowed to get the department financially viable again, so this would be the most important hire of his 20-year career as athletic director. CU had to invigorate the season ticket base, but could not afford a exasperating strung out, or messy, search.

Drake coach Chuck Shelton surfaced as a top candidate; after all, his Bulldogs had beaten the Buffaloes not once but twice, the second time being a good old fashion whooping. He interviewed two days after Fairbanks resigned and was generally well received, though there were doubters because of his lack of big-time football experience, one of those being President Weber.

Long-time BYU head coach LaVelle Edwards was flown to Boulder for a day-long interview, but he generally wasn't interested in leaving Provo, where he would win a national championship two years later.

Legendary Michigan coach Bo Schembechler phoned Crowder and gave a glowing recommendation of his defensive coordinator, Bill McCartney. It was June 7 when McCartney came in for his interview, and Crowder assigned Fred Casotti to usher him about.

The story on how McCartney surfaced to the top and was named CU's 20th head coach is best told by, well, McCartney.

"There were about 15 people representing all kind of factions on campus and the alumni," McCartney recalled in a 2007 interview for CUBuffs.com. "About 15 minutes before I was going to go before them for the interview, I said to Fred, 'What do you think my chances are?' He said, 'Coach, it's third and long. You'd better make a big play.'

"That was the best thing he could have said, otherwise I might have tip-toed into the interview. After Fred told me that, I threw caution to the wind, decided to get aggressive and put my best foot forward. The format was for them to ask me questions, or that's what they had in mind. But I stood up, and I said before I take any questions, I want to make a statement. I spoke for about 15, 20 minutes and told them who I was, my background, what I had done at the University of Michigan, my philosophies and values, and what I would bring to the University of Colorado if I was to get the job. I was the only one talking, and after I was done speaking, nobody asked me a question.

"I went from there to meet the president, and he had already gotten a phone call following the first interview. He was energized and anxious to see me, and was warm and welcoming. Later that night, they took me to meet the Board of Regents, as by chance they were having their monthly meeting in Denver. I was waiting with Casotti in the car, waiting for a break in their meeting to be introduced, and I asked Fred again, 'What do you think my chances are?' And Fred said, 'Coach, fourth and short. You just need to make a first down.' So I just needed to move the chains. That Tuesday night, Eddie offered me the job. It all happened so fast."

McCartney was officially named head coach on June 9. In less than eight weeks, he had to assemble a staff and prepare for the season, and do some of the obligatory head coach things around town with the fans and public. And he would not have a chance to meet his team until they reported in August.

In looking back at his first interviews, one would have thought the media was interviewing a prophet. A sampling of Mac's comments:

"I promise you a program based on integrity and honesty, with the top priority on graduating students. That's how we're going to measure success."

"I see Colorado as being a lot like Michigan in being able to attract the superior student-athlete. Our standards are better here than most, but that has to be looked at as an advantage."

"You achieve what you emphasize. Until you set specific goals, you're liable to miss opportunities that come up along the way."

"I can only predict how Colorado will play, with enthusiasm, togetherness and tenacity. Every single squad that I coach here will be team-oriented."

"We need to enhance our reputation here (in Colorado). You make your living at home first. We want the high school players and coaches to develop their loyalties to us, not out of state schools."

"My family and I want to sink roots in this place. We plan on being here as long as you want us."

He said all seven of those statements in the first few days after being hired, and all seven eventually came true: over 80 percent of his seniors graduated; many goals were reached if not surpassed, as evidenced by a national title and three Big 8 crowns; his CU squads were team-first, individuals second; Buff football returned to prominence in the state, largely due to his first recruiting class snaring most of the top local preps; and once the McCartney's arrived in Colorado, they were here for good.

The road was rocky at first, to be expected when one takes over a depleted program 94 days before the season opener. His opening day roster had 77 players total, 73 on scholarship, some 22 under the maximum at the time; Fairbanks' last recruiting class included 15 junior college transfers, but only four who ever made it to campus due to a variety of reasons, though it did at least have 10 state high schoolers, many of which played key roles early in Mac's tenure, most notably linebacker Barry Remington.

What most remember about his 1982 season is not the 2-8-1 record, but Mac's designation of Nebraska as Colorado's rival. Now the Huskers had won 14 straight in the series, the last four by an average of 41 points. The Buffs gave Nebraska a brief scare in the first encounter under McCartney, trailing 20-14 entering the fourth quarter before losing by 40-14, but a tone had been set for the future.

There were many ups and downs the next two seasons. There was modest improvement in 1983, with CU finishing with a 4-7 record. The signature win was a 31-3 drubbing of Colorado State in the resumption of the in-state rivalry that had been dormant for 25 years. Off the field, he landed 11 high school players from the state in his first recruiting class, including Eric McCarty, the local kid from Boulder High who many considered the prize of the class, and signed 32 players from Colorado high schools in his first three classes.

The 1984 season was filled with anger, sadness and disappointment. Colorado designed a two-tight end scheme on offense and had two stellar players at the position in Jon Embree and Ed Reinhardt. The new offense was not made public until the Denver Post beat writer revealed it days before the season opener against Michigan State, using the typical over-used media line of it was the public's right to know. The disclosure of what CU planned to do infuriated McCartney, saying his team lost its edge for the opener (MSU won, 24-21).

Wins and losses became academic the following week, when Reinhardt, who caught 10 passes for 142 yards in the opener, suffered a life-threatening head injury in a 27-20 loss at Oregon. He spent a month in a coma after having a blood clot removed from the surface of his brain. The burden of a teammate battling against death was a lot for a young Buffalo team to bear, and was a factor in CU's 1-10 record. Redshirt freshmen were also all over the two-deep, and their inexperience showed as they simply were no ready for the grind of the Big 8. Four of the losses were by 10 points or less.

Reinhardt did not fully recover from the injury. He suffered some partial paralysis that also affected his speech and his cranial functions, but has some remarkable accomplishments thanks to the support of his family, particularly his parents, Ed Sr., and Pat.

Regardless, fans were getting restless. To compound the issue, Crowder achieved his goal of making the department financially sound again and retired as athletic director, effective Sept. 1, with former CU ski coach Bill Marolt, who had coached the U.S. Ski Team to its best performance ever in the '84 Winter Olympics, taking over. Five games into the season, Marolt had seen enough of how McCartney was running his program and extended his contract, not an overly popular move at the time, but it was something that stabilized the program. That despite the slightest possible improvement in the schools' record over Mac's first three years, 7-25-1, compared to that of the Fairbanks Era (7-26). The extension allowed him to "work with a net" of sorts.

Mac had won the fans over on one controversial issue. In home games against Nebraska and Oklahoma, CU donned the old, favorite black jerseys in lieu of the blue it had worn since 1980. There was widespread approval, and CU would junk the blue the next season. Besides, the team definitely played better in black, evidenced by leading No. 5 Nebraska 7-3 entering the fourth quarter, the first time CU held a lead that late in a game against the Huskers in 17 years, before losing 24-7. CU was tied with No. 9 Sooners at halftime before succumbing as well.

"A lot of the alums had told me they hated the powder blue ... they wanted the black jerseys back," McCartney said. "We timed it up so we could get the maximum impact from it. So that really came from guys who had played there who had worn the black and gold. We had warmed up in blue, and then came out in black, and the players were ecstatic. It jacked them up."

His first three teams had passed for over 6,700 yards, but the running game was non-existent and CU was soft on defense, nowhere near Mac's standards in defending the run.

In March 1985, McCartney announced perhaps the boldest move in Colorado football history: the Buffaloes were switching to the wishbone formation on offense. Reaction was mixed. Was McCartney doing the right thing, or was this a desperate move of a crazed coach out of options?

It was the former. CU was the nation's most improved team in '85, its 7-5 record the first winning mark at the school since 1978, and the Buffs earned their first bowl invitation in nine years. The team produced two of the most staggering statistical turnarounds in NCAA history, going from last to ninth in rushing and from last to first in net punting, the latter largely due to the leg of All-American Barry Helton. CU also moved up from 102nd to 37th against the run. CU's 4-3 mark in league play helped McCartney earn Coach of the Year honors in the Big 8.

The wishbone was the reason for the turnaround, but not so much on offense, though quarterback Mark Hatcher usually ran it to perfection. As the running game improved, the defense saw it every day in practice and that was the area where CU made its greatest strides.

CU posted big non-league wins over Oregon and Arizona, and beat up everyone but the big three of the day in league play, though CU battled Nebraska, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State as well as anyone. The season ended with a disappointing 20-17 loss to Washington in the Freedom Bowl, though if instant replay was in existence at the time, a Mike Marquez fumble near the goal line would have showed he was down and the ground caused it instead of the Huskies gaining possession.

The Buffs were 6-6 in 1986, rebounding after an 0-4 start that included three losses by a combined 10 points. CU began to roll in league play, gaining momentum with a 20-10 win over No. 3 Nebraska, its first win over the Huskers in 19 years. There were several stars in the game, and CU thoroughly dominated; when Remington made an interception with six seconds remaining, the stands emptied and what many referred to as "The Turning Point" in Mac's tenure, had occurred. School officials did not turn off the scoreboard until Monday afternoon.

"It was our ability to defense them is what won that game," McCartney noted of holding the Huskers to just 123 rushing yards. "The wishbone toughened up our defense. Guys were pounding off the line of scrimmage because it's an attack offense that creates a new line of scrimmage. The achievement that day was not how prolific on offense we were, but how we controlled the game on defense."

Lo and behold, in the next to last game of the season, Colorado and Oklahoma, both 5-0 in the conference, played for the title and the Orange Bowl berth that came with it. Now the Sooners were experts at the wishbone, and had dismantled CU in '85 by 31-0; this game was a bit more competitive, but OU never threw a single pass in pulling away for a 28-0 win. The Buffs routed Kansas State in Manhattan in the finale, and earned a bid to the Bluebonnet Bowl, where Baylor got the best of CU, 21-9.

The Buffaloes went 7-4 in 1987, but were surprisingly shutout of the bowls. A new tradition was born this season, the team donning all black uniforms for games the players thought were special; the first time occurred in the season-ending loss to Nebraska.

CU opened 1988 with an easy 45-3 win over Fresno State, a tune-up for one of the first real non-conference road tests in the McCartney Era, No. 19 Iowa in Iowa City. It was a typical hot, humid Midwestern Saturday, but Colorado's offense clicked and after a great defensive stand late, CU rallied for a 24-21 win.

"That Iowa game was key, they had an outstanding team, so for us to go in there and beat them, it was one of those milestone games," Mac recalled. "It put us in another category, it identified us as a team that could go on the road and beat a great team. I look back on that with great fondness."

Nail-biters against Oregon State and Colorado State followed, the Buffs rallying in the fourth quarter to win both, completing the four-game non-conference sweep for the first time since 1978. The winning streak came to an end the following Saturday, when eventual Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders led Oklahoma State to a 41-21 win in Boulder. The Buff "D" did a decent job containing him at first, but a 65-yard run in the third quarter broke open a 24-14 game and the diminutive back would finish with 174 yards.

Colorado went on to win four of its next six, finish fourth in the conference a second straight year and post an 8-4 record after dropping a 20-17 decision to BYU in the Freedom Bowl. Wins were coming more frequently for the program, but the Buffs couldn't crack the conference nut, secure a bowl victory or earn a final poll ranking. CU did crack the AP poll once, at No. 19, but fell out after a 7-0 loss at Nebraska (the last time anyone had shut out the Buffs through 2007, as CU started the next week what would grow into the ninth longest scoring streak, and counting, of all-time).

Tragedy struck the program again when it was announced in late March that quarterback Sal Aunese was diagnosed with stomach cancer. Aunese battled the disease for six months before succumbing on Sept. 23, 1989. A team player to the end, he passed away on CU's bye date after attending CU's first three games, all at home, with an emotional reception from the Folsom Field crowd for him as he watched from the press box as his Buffs dismantled No. 10 Illinois, 38-7, a week before he died. His replacement/protégé, Darian Hagan, led the Buffs in his absence to wins in those first three; in fact, his first play of the season was a 75-yard run to the Texas 2-yard line, igniting a 27-6 win.

The team had dedicated the season to Sal, and it was a very emotional week leading up to the fourth game at Washington. There was a memorial service Monday afternoon at Macky Auditorium on the Boulder campus, and prior to the game in Seattle, the team knelt, pointed skyward, and went on to whip the Huskies. Afterwards, it was revealed that Sal had written a letter to the team, closing with the phrase, "Bring Home The Orange Bowl."

This very talented team was now on a mission, and rolled to easy victories in the first three league games by scores national powerhouses regularly won with, 49-3 (over Missouri), 52-17 (at Iowa State) and 49-17 (versus Kansas). The offense had evolved into the "I-Bone" from its wishbone roots, with over 400 rushing yards in each of the games as CU raised its record to 7-0 with the "Big Reds" up next.

The first test was at Oklahoma on Oct. 28; the Sooners had won 12 straight in the series, and the Buffs had come as close to beating OU in '88 as they had in seven meetings under McCartney. Known for inspiring his team with T-shirt slogans, Mac's most notable ever was produced for this game, which the players wore on the team plane to Oklahoma. "Things Have Changed," they broadly declared, and the slogan would gain national acclaim after the Buffs left Norman with a 20-3 win.

"That was a milestone victory," McCartney said. "That was a big, big thing to do, to go to Norman and win. That came within a two-year window where we won at Iowa, at Oklahoma, at Washington, at Texas, at Nebraska. Those established us as a national power, because those were hard things to do. From there, we were able to sustain things for a while. Oklahoma wasn't able to beat CU for 11 years; they had put 82 points on the board when Fairbanks was here. So for them not to beat us between 1989 and 1999 was a phenomenal achievement by this program."

The atmosphere in Boulder on Nov. 4, 1989, was like nothing that had preceded it, or has been since. It was that rare confluence where both teams were undefeated (each 8-0), with CU ranked No. 2 and Nebraska No. 3 in the Associated Press poll, with the positions reversed on the UPI ballot. Colorado was the national darling, with interest high as people watched how this team was reacting after the death of one of its leaders. Over 600 media credentials were issued for the game, and at halftime, CU honored its "All Century" team, recognizing the top players in the school's first 100 years of football.

The Huskers tried to take the crowd right out of it. After holding CU to a quick three plays and out and returning a punt to its 49-yard line, NU scored on its first offensive play with Gerry Gdowski throwing a 51-yard touchdown pass to Bryan Carpenter for a 7-0 lead just 90 seconds in.

But CU settled down and tied the game on what many consider one of the program's signature plays in the McCartney Era. Running the option to perfection, Hagan sprinted some 30-plus yards downfield, with J.J. Flannigan in his sights to his left the entire way. When an NU defender committed to Hagan, he delivered one of his classic pitches to Flannigan who took it the rest of the way, the play covering 70 yards. The crowd was back into it, if they were ever really out of it, and the Buffs worked to an eventual 27-21 win.

A desperation pass by Gdowski to the end zone as time ran out was batted down by Dave McCloughan, and the fans rushed the Folsom Field floor for just the second time ever. As with the '86 Nebraska game, the scoreboard remained on all weekend with the final score and "Things Have Changed" scrolled atop it.

The Buffs finished off an 11-0 regular season with blowout wins over Oklahoma State (41-17) and Kansas State (59-11), rushing for 518 yards against the Wildcats. After things shook out nationally, the Buffs entered the Orange Bowl and a date with No. 4 Notre Dame ranked as the No. 1 team in country, playing for its first national championship in the sport (CU had 12 in skiing at the time).

But the dream of an undefeated season ended with a 21-6 loss to the Fighting Irish. CU had its chances in the first half and could have led by 17-0 or 21-0, but instead were in a scoreless tie. Notre Dame scored twice quick in the third quarter, and salted the game away with a nine-minute, 17-play drive in the fourth.

Guard Joe Garten, linebacker Alfred Williams (27 tackles for loss, 11 sacks) and punter Tom Rouen (43.8 net average) all were named consensus first-team All-Americans, with 10 players All-Big 8 performers.

McCartney, the unanimous choice for national coach of the year honors for 1989, viewed that season as a "magical year. When we discovered Sal was terminally ill, that brought our team together in a way that nobody could orchestrate or facilitate. It happened in a way that all of us who were a part of that saw a group of players and coaches that put the team before being an individual. It was a team that was together, motivated, bonded together, driven and hitting on all cylinders most of the time. It was just unfortunate we couldn't bookend it with a win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl."

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

- July 26, 1990—Bill McCartney signs a 15-year contract to continue as head coach at Colorado, the longest contract extension in CU's athletic history.
- Aug. 26, 1990—Colorado and Tennessee battle to a 31-31 tie in the inaugural Disneyland Pigskin Classic at Anaheim, Calif.
- Oct. 6, 1990—Eric Bieniemy rushes for 217 yards in a 33-31 win at Missouri, in the process passing Charlie Davis as the school's all-time leading rusher. The game is best remembered for Colorado being awarded five downs at the end, though no fault of CU's.
- Nov. 17, 1990—Colorado crushes Kansas State, 64-3, as the Buffs roll to the first back-to-back titles in Big Eight Conference play. The following Monday, CU is ranked No. 1 in the nation, the second straight year the Buffaloes end the regular season as college football's number one team.
- Dec. 4, 1990—Senior outside linebacker Alfred Williams is named the recipient of the Butkus Award, the first CU player to win one of college football's big-time trophies.
- Dec. 10, 1990—With the announcement of the UPI All-America team, tailback Eric Bieniemy, guard Joe Garten and outside linebacker Alfred Williams become the first three unanimous All-Americans in CU history.
- Jan. 1, 1991—A 10-9 win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl ends a seven-game CU bowl game losing streak and positions the Buffaloes for the national title.
- Jan. 2, 1991—Colorado is named the national champion by both the Associated Press and USA Today/CNN, the first national championship in football in the school's history. United Press International tabbed CU second, one point behind Georgia Tech, in its poll.
- Jan. 8, 1991—Quarterback Charles Johnson, the most valuable player in the Orange Bowl, appears on NBC's "Tonight Show," the first CU athlete to ever appear on the program.
- Dec. 9, 1991—Jay Leeuwenburg becomes the fourth player in CU history to earn unanimous All-America honors when he is selected to the AP and UPI teams.
- Dec. 28, 1991—Alabama defeats Colorado, 30-25, in the second Blockbuster Bowl. It is later confirmed that the Crimson Tide spied on CU's bowl practices and knew the Buffs were changing offenses.

- Dec. 5, 1992—Jim Hansen becomes the fifth CU football player to earn the prestigious Rhodes Scholarship. He was the 19th University of Colorado student to be afforded the honor. The senior offensive tackle became CU's first three-time Academic All-American three days later (and CU's first "Academic All-American-of-the-Year.")
- Dec. 6, 1992—Senior cornerback Deon Figures is named the recipient of the Jim Thorpe Award, given to the nation's top defensive back.
- Jan. 1, 1993—Syracuse defeats Colorado, 26-22, in the 22nd annual Fiesta Bowl.
- Oct. 16, 1993—Colorado defeats Oklahoma, 27-10, as Bill McCartney wins his 78th game as head coach, thus passing Fred Folsom and becoming the all-time winningest coach in school history. In that game, Lamont Warren throws a 34-yard touchdown pass to Charles Johnson; Warren slipped on the turf as he threw it and Johnson was interfered with but still made the catch lying on the ground in a play that was selected as the national play-of-the-year.
- Nov. 30, 1993—Charles Johnson is named offensive player-of-the-year in the Big Eight, the first wide receiver to ever win the award.
- Dec. 25, 1993—Colorado defeats Fresno State, 41-30, in the 12th annual Aloha Bowl.
- Sept. 24, 1994—In what would eventually be selected as the national play-of-the-year and one of the top plays of all-time, Kordell Stewart throws a 64-yard touchdown pass to Michael Westbrook, via a Blake Anderson tip, as Colorado rallies to beat Michigan at Ann Arbor as time expired, 27-26.
- Nov. 19, 1994—One of the most eventful days in CU football history: tailback

Jay Leeuwenburg and Darian Hagan, 1990

Rashaan Salaam becomes just the fourth player ever in the NCAA to rush for over 2,000 yards in a season; quarterback Kordell Stewart becomes the Big Eight Conference's all-time total offense leader; and following CU's 41-20 win over Iowa State in Boulder, head coach Bill McCartney announces that he will retire following CU's bowl game.

- Nov. 28, 1994—Rick Neuheisel named the 21st head coach in Colorado history (took over program on Jan. 3, 1995).
- Dec. 1, 1994—Junior tailback Rashaan Salaam wins the Doak Walker Award as the nation's top running back. The previous day, Salaam won the Walter Camp Player-of-the-Year Award.
- Dec. 8, 1994—Senior cornerback Chris Hudson wins the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back.
- Dec. 10, 1994—Junior tailback Rashaan Salaam becomes the first player in University of Colorado history to win the Heisman Trophy. The announcement is made at New York's Downtown Athletic Club and televised nationally on ESPN.
- Jan. 2, 1995—In Bill McCartney's final game as head coach, the Buffs defeat Notre Dame, 41-24, the 24th annual Fiesta Bowl. Quarterback Kordell Stewart and defensive tackle Shannon Clavelle are named the game's most valuable players.
- Apr. 22, 1995—Seven Buffs are selected among the first 71 picks of the annual NFL draft.
- Sept. 2, 1995—Rick Neuheisel becomes the first coach at CU since 1932 to win his first game, as the Buffaloes defeat Wisconsin in Madison, 43-7.
- Sept. 30, 1995—John Hessler sets a school record with five touchdown passes in CU's 38-17 win at Oklahoma, which was his first career start. He duplicated the feat a little more than a month later (Nov. 4) in a 45-32 win at Oklahoma State.
- Jan. 1, 1996—Colorado defeats Oregon, 38-6, in the 60th annual Cotton Bowl.
- Nov. 29, 1996—Koy Detmer becomes the first player in school history to pass for over 3,000 yards in a season in CU's 17-12 loss at Nebraska.
- Dec. 14, 1996—Matt Russell is named the winner of the Butkus Award as the nation's best linebacker, the second CU player to win the trophy.
- Dec. 30, 1996—CU defeats Washington, 33-21, in the 19th annual Holiday Bowl, securing a third straight 10-win season for the Buffaloes and a four-game bowl winning streak, the first of both in school history.
- Nov. 14, 1998—CU's 37-8 win over Iowa State is the 600th in the program's history.
- Dec. 25, 1998—In the 1,000th game in its history, Colorado defeats Oregon, 51-43, in the 17th annual Aloha Bowl. Mike Moschetti throws four touchdown passes and Ben Kelly returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown as the Buffs built a 44-14 third quarter lead.
- Jan. 22, 1999—Gary Barnett named the 22nd head coach in Colorado history.
- Oct. 9, 1999—Colorado plays the first overtime game in its history, with Mike Moschetti's 24-yard touchdown pass to Marcus Stiggers paving the way for a 46-39 win over Missouri in Boulder. (The NCAA added overtime in 1996.)
- Nov. 26, 1999—The Buffs play their second overtime game ever, losing to Nebraska, 33-30 in Boulder. However, CU rallies from its largest deficit ever to tie the game, coming back after trailing 27-3 with a 24-point, 284-yard fourth quarter against the No. 3 Cornhuskers.
- Dec. 31, 1999—CU defeats Boston College, 62-28, in the 11th annual Insight.com Bowl at Tucson. The Buffs race to a 45-7 halftime lead and set numerous records in their sixth straight bowl win, adding to the nation's longest active streak.

The 1990 team, with 44 lettermen overall and 13 starters returning quite naturally was the favorite to win the Big 8 and be among the contenders for the national championship. But a 1-1-1 start had knocked CU from No. 5 to No. 20 in the polls, and CU was staring a road trip to Austin right in the face. Texas led 19-14 when the third quarter came to a close, in position to score a touchdown, as the teams switched to the other end of the field. McCartney:

"Eric Bieniemy, this fireball, all five-foot-six of him, had huddled the offense together on the sidelines, and he has these huge lineman around him he's trying to fire up and challenge. We got a break and the quarter ended. Texas took off running to the other end of the field. And then something happened that I had never seen before and never since. Our defensive guys starting walking slowly to the other end, but our offense walked on to the field and intercepted them at our own 20. So there were 22 guys on the field, and the offense, at Bieniemy's urging, was challenging the defense to hold them. The defense then charged down to the other end of the stadium and held them to a field goal. The offense got the ball, marched down and scored right away, and we held them on defense to three plays and out for the first time in the game. We then drove for the go-ahead and winning score. The significance of this is that one guy can make a difference. The morale is to the physical as is four is to one; one guy like that can change things, and our entire season turned around because of this one kid being ignited and sparking and inspiring the others."

The 29-22 win was the first of 10 in a row, but there was some controversy along the way. Charles S. Johnson, subbing for an injured Hagan at quarterback, scored from a yard out as time ran out to give CU a 33-31 win at Missouri. However, the officials erred and had given CU five downs. Though no one knew it, not the teams, the scoreboard operators or Missouri's chain crew at Faurot Field, all the ill will was aimed at Colorado, even though Johnson had spiked the ball on fourth down.

If anyone cheated that day, it was Missouri. Faurot had a terrible Omni-Turf field that required a different sort of cleat, and the Tigers made zero effort to tell the opponent about it. CU coaches documented 92 slips in the open field, otherwise Colorado would have won over an inferior Tiger team in a cakewalk. The voters didn't penalized CU until a week later after a win over Iowa State, dropping the Buffs two notches to No. 14.

Missouri fans have never seemed to grasp the fact that if CU had known it was fourth down, which MU didn't either, Johnson never would have spiked the ball to stop the clock; he would have run a play. And in the years since, any borderline calls in Columbia, and on occasion in Boulder, have always gone Missouri's way.

The Buffs used a lot of the frustration building up to whip Kansas (41-10) and Oklahoma (32-23), setting up a rematch with Nebraska for the inside track to the Big 8 title. CU was now No. 9 and the Huskers No. 2; there were a lot of key games in the top 10 that Saturday, Nov. 3, and leading up to the game, Nebraska AD Bob Devaney issued a plea to the league coaches who voted in the UPI poll to stick together and support the conference in their polls. Of course, he meant just Nebraska.

CU throttled the Huskers, 27-12, on a cold, wet and generally nasty day in Lincoln. Four others in the top 10 lost, and the Buffs zoomed to No. 4. And just as in '89, Colorado demolished Oklahoma State (41-22) and Kansas State (64-3) and after other results Thanksgiving weekend, CU again was headed to the Orange Bowl as the nation's No. 1 team. The opponent would be Notre Dame ... again.

Eric Bieniemy, who the previous year was the only active Buff voted on CU's All-Century team (Williams was honorable mention), finished second in the nation in rushing. Bienemy, Garten and Williams were unanimous All-America selections, while a record 12 Buffaloes garnered first-team All-Big 8 honors. Williams won CU's first postseason individual honor when he received the Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker, while Garten was the runner-up for the Outland Trophy and Bieniemy third in the Heisman race.

There was no shortage of heroes for Colorado in the Orange Bowl. The No. 1 Buffaloes got the best of No. 5 Notre Dame, 10-9, and CU claimed its first-ever national championship in football. Those included Johnson, who played the entire second half after Hagan suffered a torn ACL late in the first; Paul Rose, who subbed for an injured Kanavis McGhee (shoulder) at outside linebacker; Ronnie Bradford, who charged through the line and blocked the Irish's extra point try, which would turn out to be the margin of victory; Chad Brown, who forced the fumble that Rose recovered that led to CU's go-ahead touchdown by Bieniemy; Jim Harper, who had a field goal and the game winning PAT kick; and Deon Figures, who made an interception in the final seconds, ending any chance for a Notre Dame win as he ran out the clock.

CU, 11-1-1 for the season, was the consensus national champion, but lost to Georgia Tech by a single point. Remember Devaney's pitch? Nebraska coach Tom Osborne voted Georgia Tech first and Colorado second, or as some have said, even as low as fourth.

Colorado repeated as co-champs of the Big 8 in 1991, as the Buffaloes were reloading but it's never easy replacing nine players drafted into the NFL and 14 starters. CU opened the season against Wyoming, dedicating the just-completed Dal Ward Athletic Center at the north end of Folsom Field. A $14.3 million, 92,000 square foot state-of-the-art facility, it houses primarily the football program and the support departments for all of CU's athletic programs. CU won the game as well, 30-13, adding to the nation's best 11-game winning streak, also the 15th consecutive win at home.

But Baylor ended both streaks the following weekend, and the Buffs would go 2-2 in non-league play ahead of a 6-0-1 record in the conference. The tie came against Nebraska, a 19-19 affair to this day the coldest known game in CU history.

It was 12 degrees at kickoff, down to zero by game's end, with the wind chill minus-8 at the start and well below that by the time Greg Thomas blocked a game winning field goal try by the Huskers as time ran out.

Two victories CU did take great satisfaction of this season were against Missouri and Oklahoma. Tired of all the Fifth Down talk perpetuated by a whining Tiger fan base and their homer media, the Buffs donned all black and did their talking on the field, smothering Mizzou 55-7 in a game that just as easily could have been 91-7. CU coaches joked that they should punt on a third down to give the extra down back. And against the Sooners, OU had climbed to No. 12 in the nation, but the Buffs won for a second straight time in Norman, and convincingly, 34-17.

Hagan ended his career undefeated in Big 8 play, leading CU to a 18-0-1 mark in his three years as starting quarterback; the Buffs won the other two games he couldn't start due to injury. Center Jay Leeuwenburg, a three-year starter, was a unanimous All-America choice, and was joined by five defensive players on the All-Big 8 team.

Opponents had started to figure out the "I-Bone," and in the Blockbuster Bowl game against Alabama, CU made its initial move to a multiple offense featuring much more passing. 'Bama won, 30-25, but not without controversy: rumors that the Crimson Tide had spied on CU's practices were later confirmed. Still, an 8-3-1 year was considered a success.

The 1992 season was a transitional year of sorts, as CU shifted away from its two- and three-back I-bone on offense to a one-back set. Kordell Stewart took over at starting quarterback, and his favorite targets were Michael Westbrook (76 catches, 1,060 yards) and Charles E. Johnson (57 and 1,149). CU had never had a 1,000-yard receiver in a single season, and now it had two. Stewart also became the first to pass for 2,000 yards.

Colorado opened the year 5-0, though Stewart would suffer an ankle injury in a win at Baylor, and it led to playing freshman Koy Detmer, who sparkled in rallying CU to a 21-20 win at Minnesota. Stewart reinjured the ankle and couldn't play against Oklahoma, with Detmer getting the nod. It was an inauspicious start for the lanky lad from Mission, Texas, whose brother, Ty, was the 1990 Heisman Trophy winner. He threw for a school record 418 yards, including a record 92-yard TD pass to Johnson, but was intercepted five times. Only a line drive, 53-yard field goal by Mitch Berger as time expired salvaged a 24-24 tie, keeping CU's 24-game unbeaten streak in Big 8 play alive.

That run grew to 23-0-2 with a 54-7 pasting of Kansas State in the next game, but that's where it was halted, as Nebraska ended the streak by dealing CU a 52-7 loss in Lincoln, another game where the young Detmer had to start in place of an injured Stewart. The Huskers took back the league title, though CU won out to finish 5-1-1 in league play and earn a Fiesta Bowl berth opposite No. 6 Syracuse. The Orangemen were only the second team to beat CU all year with a 26-22 verdict in the bowl, as CU ended '92 with a 9-2-1 mark.

Figures was a consensus All-American cornerback and was the recipient of the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. CU's talented linebackers, Brown and Greg Biekert, probably kept one another from garnered similar honors, though both earned All-Big 8 status. Offensive tackle Jim Hansen, another all-conference performer, earned the "academic" Heisman in winning the Draddy Award, in addition to being named a Rhodes Scholar and Academic All-American.

The Buffs went 8-3-1 in 1993, finishing second in the Big 8 again with a 5-1-1 mark, again. While Lamont Warren had an outstanding year with 900 rushing yards, another CU tailback was asserting himself. His name was Rashaan Salaam.

CU spent the entire 1994 season in the top 10 (actually the top eight to be exact). After warming up with a win over Northeast Louisiana, Colorado plastered the defending Big 10 Conference and Rose Bowl champion Wisconsin Badgers, 55-17. The Buffs were then faced with one the more grueling three-game sequences on the road in school history, as they headed to Michigan, Texas and Missouri.

Quieting the 106,000-plus fans at Michigan Stadium is never easy, but the Buffs drove a stake through the heart of all with a 27-26 victory. "The Miracle in Michigan," one of many names for the game or play, came down to six seconds remaining and CU on its own 36. The Buffs had dominated Michigan all game, sans a third quarter lapse, and it appeared the Wolverines would get off the hook. Stewart took the snap, drifted back and heaved the ball some 72 yards in the air, where Blake Anderson tipped it into the waiting grasp of Westbrook. Game over.

"This is another game I point to, because I personally knew how hard I was to go in there and win, and this is easily among the great victories in the history of Colorado," McCartney recalled in 2006. "There are many things that went into that. Kordell (Stewart) was special. Not that many guys can throw the ball that high or that far, plus you have to have the trajectory on it to buy the receivers time to get under the ball. (Assistant coach) Rick Neuheisel deserves a lot of credit for that play because he had the wherewithal and understanding of the play to make it have a chance. It really came from him more than anybody else. That was another thing about Rick that I liked so much. He coached that game all the way, because he really believed we could win it. He communicated that. Even though the clock was against us, he never gave up. I credit his attitude and perspective as much as anything in keeping us going right to the buzzer."

The euphoria did not get to the Buffs, who went down to Austin and in searing 100 degree heat, beat the Longhorns, 34-31. Salaam rushed for 317 yards and had a school record 362 all-purpose to lead CU, which won on a 24-yard Neil Voskeritchian field goal with one second left on the clock. A 38-23 win followed at Missouri, a relative breather compared to what CU had been through.

Rashaan Salaam and the late Doak Walker, 1994

CU mauled Oklahoma, 45-7, and beat an ever-improving Kansas State team 35-21, setting up a showdown with Nebraska in Lincoln. As was the case in '89, CU was No. 2, NU was No. 3, but the Buffs offensive game plan left a little to be desired that day, with Nebraska snaring a 24-7 win. CU, with all its talented receivers, never threw more than 15 yards downfield, playing into the Huskers' defense strong suit. The Buffs picked themselves up off the floor and beat Oklahoma State, Kansas and Iowa State to finish the regular season at 10-1, accepting a bid to face Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl.

But no one could have scripted the events of Nov. 19, though nothing stands out at first glance at the 41-20 win over Iowa State. Salaam went over 2,000 yards for the season, just the fourth player in NCAA history at the time to do so, doing it in style with a 67-yard touchdown run around the right end and down the CU sideline in the fourth quarter. On the next series, Stewart became the all-time total offense leader in the Big 8. And postgame, practically trumping both, McCartney announced to his team and then the world that he was retiring.

"I didn't do that without a lot of forethought, without a lot of prayer and without a lot of counsel," he said later on. "I did not want or mean to steal Rashaan's or Kordell's thunder, but I had to do it then due to recruiting. If I had waited, it would have compromised the integrity of the recruiting season, of which the whole process was still in front of us."

Salaam won the Heisman Trophy and the Doak Walker Award and was a unanimous All-American; cornerback Chris Hudson earned consensus honors and was the Thorpe Award winner, with linebacker Ted Johnson the runner-up for the Butkus Award.

The Buffs sent McCartney out a winner with a resounding 41-24 win over Notre Dame, basically calling off the dogs after building a 31-3 second quarter lead. Mac was carried off the field, and the program was turned over to Rick Neuheisel, who Marolt hired in late November to succeed him.

McCartney cited what his teams did in 1989 and 1990 as the biggest accomplishment during his tenure, if not since. "I'll tell you this, to beat Nebraska and Oklahoma in back-to-back weeks, both home and away in consecutive years, established us. That had never happened before ... by anyone."

Neuheisel was the surprise choice by Marolt to replace McCartney. The search was internal; four candidates emerged from Mac's last staff. In addition to Neuheisel, who coached the quarterbacks and receivers, offensive coordinator Elliot Uzelac, defensive coordinator Mike Hankwitz and assistant head coach Bob Simmons were all interviewed and considered.

When it came down to it, Neuheisel simply interviewed the best and had a great vision for the program, though the others were certainly qualified. Some felt he was too young at 33, but Eddie Crowder had been handed the keys to the program at 31, and Marolt himself took over the CU ski team when he was 26. But Neuheisel had a solid pedigree, serving as an assistant for six years at his alma mater, UCLA, under Terry Donahue, his college coach, and one year under McCartney in Boulder.

The transition was the perfect scenario. McCartney's last game was the Fiesta Bowl, and he worried about most of the game planning without having to be concerned with recruiting; Neuheisel could concentrate on organizing recruiting and help when needed with the game plan as part of his duties as quarterbacks and receivers coach. His first class was ranked anywhere from seventh to 12th by the major prep services.

No one knew what to expect in 1995, the cupboard certainly wasn't bare with 37 lettermen and 12 starters back, but the 10 starters lost were all drafted into the NFL. Seven of those players were selected among the first 71 picks, meaning the Buffs were losing some serious talent. There were but seven seniors on the team.

CU opened on the road for the first time in 12 seasons, traveling to No. 21 Wisconsin. No Colorado coach had won his first game since William Saunders in 1932, but the Buffaloes said to heck with that fact and blitzed the Badgers, 43-7. Detmer had a successful game as the heir apparent to Stewart, the defense had several players shine and all was generally good. CU added two more blowouts over Colorado State and Northeast Louisiana and had the first big test of the Neuheisel Era ahead, No. 3 Texas A&M.

Detmer went down with a torn ACL early in the game with an inexperienced John Hessler summoned to rally the Buffs from a 7-0 deficit. Hessler answered the challenge, threw the winning TD pass to Tennyson McCarty, and with great support from the defense, CU gave Neuheisel his first signature win. Detmer would try and make a gallant comeback two weeks later against Kansas, but the knee just wouldn't hold up and he underwent surgery to end his season. Hessler, who led CU to a 38-17 win at Oklahoma in his first career start in the interim, took over for the remainder of the year.

Only Kansas and Nebraska defeated the Buffs on the way to a 9-2 record, with CU tying for second in the Big 8. Colorado drew No. 12 Oregon for the Cotton Bowl, and it was a miserable day weather-wise in Dallas with light-to-heavy rain, gusting winds and temperatures in the 40s. The Buffs weren't phased; Hessler threw two touchdown passes, Herchell Troutman rushed for 100 yards and a score and Marcus Washington had an NCAA-record 95 yard interception return for a TD in CU's 38-6 rout of the Ducks. Oregon fans were upset at a fake punt CU ran in the fourth quarter ahead by 25, but they had no way of knowing the Buffs had found out the niece of one of the Duck coaches took pictures at a CU practice. Sometimes, payback is sweet.

Safe to say, a 10-2 mark in Neuheisel's first season was quite the accomplishment after what had graduated into the NFL and losing the starting quarterback. Perhaps too good of one as it turned out; it may have raised expectations too high, especially after his second team posted an identical mark.

It was CU's swan song in the Big 8 Conference; all eight schools merged with four from the dying Southwest Conference, Baylor, Texas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech to form the Big 12 Conference. It was considered a brand new league, not an expansion of the old Big 8, and was set up with two divisions. The Buffs were assigned to the North with old rivals Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri and Nebraska; Oklahoma and Oklahoma State joined the four old SWC schools in the South.

CU opened 2-0 in 1996, setting up a rematch of "The Miracle in Michigan" from two years earlier in Boulder. Michigan, ranked No. 11, got the best of the No. 5 Buffs 20-13. Terrible clock management by the Wolverines actually gave the ball back to CU at the Michigan 37 with five seconds left, and a Detmer pass tipped by Darrin Chiaverini fell harmlessly to the ground, about two feet away from a diving Rae Carruth ... or just 24 inches from miracle number two.

Colorado bounced back to win the next seven, including the Big 12 opener at Texas A&M. The Buffs dominated most of the games, though the running game was not what it used to be. Against tougher defenses, the Buffs couldn't pound the ball when it needed to. That was evident in the finale at Nebraska, which with the new league was now the signature North match-up and moved to the Friday after Thanksgiving.

ABC was happy with the first match-up, as both were 7-0 in league play and ranked in the top five (CU at No.5, NU No. 4). The Huskers were the better team this rotten day in Lincoln, as freezing rain fell throughout in their 17-12 conquest. The weather exposed CU's inability to run the ball, with the Buffs netting 51 yards on 32 tries; and Detmer was able to complete just 12-of-38 throws. Jeremy Aldrich was "activated" for the game and kicked four field goals to account for all of CU's points.

Guard Chris Naeole and linebacker Matt Russell were consensus All-Americans, with Russell the second Buffalo to win the Butkus Award. The Buffs led the way on the inaugural All-Big 12 team with six first-team performers.

A come-from-behind 33-21 win over Washington in the Holiday Bowl polished off a 10-2 season, as Detmer went out in style, throwing for 371 yards and three touchdowns. Carruth hauled in seven of those passes for a CU-bowl record 162 yards and two scores, and the pair hooked up on a 76-yard TD play, the longest in school bowl history.

The Colorado program was in uncharted waters, having won 31 games over the three previous seasons, a claim only Florida, Florida State and Nebraska could also make. Neuheisel's first two teams had gone 20-4, the fifth most wins in the first two years by a Division I-A coach. He was also just the fourth to guide his team to a pair of top 10 finishes in his first two seasons (No. 5 in '95, No. 8 in '96).

CU had 53 lettermen, with 13 starters, back for 1997, and there was no reason to think it couldn't continue, especially since Neuheisel landed what many considered to be the fifth best recruiting class in the nation.

But a 5-6 record in '97 brought an end to an incredible eight-season run where the Buffs had posted the fourth best record overall in the nation at 78-15-4. A loss at Michigan in the second game started the downward spiral, and CU had to defeat Wyoming the next week on a late field goal. Two close losses against Texas A&M and Oklahoma State got CU off on the wrong foot in league play, and the 2-3 start also ended CU's consecutive weeks ranked streak at 143, the 10th longest of all time.

The Buffaloes had also been to nine consecutive bowls, but at 5-5, needed a win to become bowl eligible against No. 2 Nebraska. The Huskers stormed to a 27-3 lead and then held off a Hessler-charged comeback to win 27-24, and CU stayed at home for the postseason for the first time since 1987.

No one knew it at the time, but the 1998 season would be Neuheisel's last at Colorado. Marolt had stepped down as AD in the summer of 1996, and was replaced by long-time university counsel Dick Tharp, who was thisclose at one time to being named commissioner of the Big Ten. While the two got along, Neuheisel never felt he had the same kind of support from his new boss.

The year opened with the Colorado State game, except that the contest had been moved to Denver's Mile High Stadium, a popular move for some but not for many of CU's season ticket holders, four times in size to CSU's, and many Buff fans were displaced. That didn't matter come postgame after a 42-14 Colorado rout, led by new quarterback Mike Moschetti, a fiery junior college transfer from Mount San Antonio. He passed for 257 yards and three touchdowns as the unranked Buffs used the win over the No. 15 Rams to enter the polls themselves. It was the impetus for a 5-0 start and a No. 14 national ranking.

A 16-9 loss to No. 5 Kansas State was the first of four setbacks in the last six regular season games, sending the Buffs to a second straight fourth place finish in the North Division. But a wild 51-43 win over No. 21 Oregon in the Aloha Bowl ended the year on a good note.

The afternoon after CU played Oregon in the Aloha Bowl, Washington and Air Force squared off in the Oahu Bowl in the same stadium (the only bowl doubleheader in history). Washington AD Barbara Hedges fired coach Jim Lambright after the game and started to pursue Neuheisel. She liked what she had seen of CU both on and off the field in Honolulu. Despite media reports to the contrary, the two never talked until after she fired Lambright days after the bowl.

Neuheisel at first rebuffed the offer, but told her that the Washington job was a plumb and what kind of package a school of that caliber should offer. She came up with exactly what he designed, including a $1 million salary, and called to offer him a second time. With Tharp apparently unwilling to give Neuheisel one of three contracts the state of Colorado allowed CU to give its coaches, the move was a no-brainer for Rick and his family.

But the timing outright stunk, and decimated what would have been a fifth straight top 20 recruiting class for the Buffs. After flirting with Denver Bronco offensive coordinator Gary Kubiak, Tharp turned to former CU assistant Gary Barnett, who had performed one of the miracle turnarounds of all-time in college football at Northwestern. He led the Wildcats to their first bowl game in 47 years when his '95 team came out of nowhere to win the Big Ten Conference, named the national coach of the year in the process. He had spent eight years as a McCartney assistant (1984-91) and knew the CU program and Boulder inside and out.

His opener was nothing short of a nightmare, as CSU paid back the Buffs for the '98 blowout at Mile High with a 41-14 win. It was a complete reversal, as the Rams were unranked and knocked No. 14 Colorado out of the polls for what would be two seasons. The Buffs never won more than two games in a row all season, but there were memorable moments along the way during the 7-5 campaign. Cornerback Ben Kelly electrified the fans with his returns, twice returning kickoffs for touchdowns as well as two fumbles, including a 96-yard jaunt for six against Kansas, the longest in CU history.

A 62-28 blasting of Boston College in the Insight.com Bowl capped the year and the millennium. In one of the most dominant performances in postseason history, CU led 45-7 at half-time, had 523 total yards and 29 first downs, and had three return TDs, including an 88-yard punt return by Kelly, the longest in NCAA bowl annals.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Oct. 28, 2000—Craig Ochs joins an elite group in college football history as he becomes the first Buffalo to score touchdowns via rushing and receiving while also throwing one in the same game in CU's 37-21 win over Oklahoma State. In the second quarter, Javon Green had become the first Buff to ever throw and catch a touchdown pass in the same game, and was later joined by Ochs in the fourth quarter. It was Green who threw the TD pass to Ochs; Ochs threw his to Roman Hollowell, Green caught his from Zac Colvin.

Aug. 26, 2001—Colorado had the honor of hosting and playing in the inaugural Jim Thorpe Association Football Classic, but the Buffaloes fall, 24-22, to Fresno State.

Sept. 13, 2001—Due to the terrorist attacks two days earlier on the east coast, CU's game at Washington State on Sept. 15 is cancelled. It was the first time in school history an out-of-state game is not played as Colorado joined the rest of the nation in honoring those who died doing their every day jobs.

Nov. 23, 2001—Sophomore Chris Brown scores a school record six touchdowns in leading Colorado to a 62-36 win over Nebraska in Boulder, earning CU its first North Division title since the Big 12 started play in 1996. A record setting day on many fronts, it was also the most points ever allowed by a Nebraska team at the time as CU sprinted out to a 35-3 lead over the BCS No. 1-ranked Huskers.

Dec. 1, 2001—The Buffaloes win their first Big 12 Conference title with a 39-37 win over Texas at Irving, basically coming in a road game environment. Despite UT knowing a win would put it into the national title game against Miami, CU spotted the Longhorns a 7-0 lead before scoring 29 points in less than a 15-minute span to take the lead for good. Chris Brown rushed for 198 yards and three touchdowns with the Buffs also coming up big on defense and special teams.

Dec. 12, 2001—Daniel Graham is named the recipient of the second annual John Mackey Award, presented to the nation's best tight end.

Jan. 1, 2002—In only the sixth-ever match-up in the postseason of the Nos. 2 and 3 teams in the country, second-ranked Oregon toppled No. 3 Colorado, 38-16, in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. CU led 7-0 early but the Ducks used a late second quarter score to take a 21-7 lead into halftime and held the Buffs at bay the rest of the game.

Dec. 7, 2002—After winning its second straight Big 12 North Division title outright the previous week with a win at Nebraska, CU fell short in its bid to become the first back-to-back champion in Big 12 history when it fell 29-7 to Oklahoma in Houston in the league's title game.

Dec. 12, 2002—Mark Mariscal is named the recipient of the Ray Guy Award as the nation's best punter.

Dec. 28, 2002—Wisconsin rallies to defeat the Buffaloes in overtime, 31-28, in the Alamo Bowl presented by MasterCard.

Oct. 16, 2004—Mason Crosby connects on a school record 60-yard field goal, the first made from that distance in the NCAA in five seasons.

Dec. 4, 2004—CU won its third Big 12 North Division title the previous week when it defeated Nebraska and Iowa State lost to Missouri, but the Buffs lost to Oklahoma 42-3 in the league championship game in Kansas City.

Dec. 29, 2004—Colorado defeated Texas-El Paso, 33-28, in the Houston Bowl behind the passing of Joel Klatt, who was named the offensive MVP in the game with 333 yards passing.

Dec. 3, 2005—After the Buffs win their fourth division title in five seasons, CU drops the Big 12 championship game to Texas, 70-3. Gary Barnett steps down as head coach five days later.

Dec. 16, 2005—Dan Hawkins named the 23rd head coach in Colorado history.

Dec. 27, 2005—Mike Hankwitz, named interim head coach for the bowl game, leads CU into the Champs Sports Bowl in Orlando. The Buffs, nursing several injuries on offense, including quarterback Joel Klatt who missed the game, have a gritty effort but fall to No. 23 Clemson, 19-10.

Dec. 7, 2006—Mason Crosby named first-team All-American, becoming the fifth Buff to earn the distinction in back-to-back seasons.

Sept. 1, 2007—CU and Colorado State play the first overtime game in series history, with Kevin Eberhart tying the game with a 22-yard field goal with 13 seconds left in regulation and then winning it with a 35-yard effort in OT as CU won, 31-28.

Sept. 29, 2007—Kevin Eberhart makes just the second game winning field goal as time expired in school history, with his 45-yard kick propelling CU to a 27-24 win over No. 3 Oklahoma.

Dec. 30, 2007—Alabama sprinted to a 27-0 lead over Colorado and then held off a furious Buff rally, as the Crimson Tide tops CU, 30-24, in the 32nd Annual PetroSun Independence Bowl.

The Buffs got off to a rough start in the 21st Century, losing their first three games in 2000 by a combined 10 points. The last of the trio was a nail-biting setback to Neuheisel and Washington for a second straight year. The Buffs rallied to win three league games, including a 26-19 win at Texas A&M where Craig Ochs became just the second true freshman quarterback in his first start to lead CU to victory and a 28-18 triumph at Missouri, where CU had a school-record 14 quarterback sacks.

CU's 2001 squad was a senior dominated team, led by tight end Daniel Graham and center Andre Gurode, both All-Americans, with eight first-team All-Big 12 performers, including Thorpe Award semifinalist Michael Lewis at safety. Graham also won the Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end. These guys blended perfectly with several others to create the best season in the Barnett Era, notably a "three-headed monster" at tailback in senior Cortlen Johnson, junior Chris Brown and sophomore Bobby Purify.

In short, the team was loaded, all the more reason a 24-22 season opening loss to Fresno State was one of the early season shockers in college football, though FSU would eventually crack the top 10 by midseason. Still, the Buffs were mad, and after a players-only meeting regrouped to take it out on Colorado State in Denver to start a five-game winning streak. In the midst of this run came the events of September 11, which forced the cancellation of a game at Washington State that was never made up.

CU fans storm the Folsom Field floor after the 27-24 win over Oklahoma in 2007

Texas ended the streak in Austin by hammering the Buffs, 41-7, but CU picked itself right up and reeled off five in a row again. It started with a 22-19 come-from-behind triumph at Oklahoma State where Bobby Pesavento came off the bench to replace Ochs, who suffered a nasty ankle sprain. Ochs never returned to the lineup and Pesavento led CU to easy wins over Missouri and Iowa State. In the latter, a 40-27 win, Johnson became the first Colorado player to have at least 100 yards both rushing and receiving in the same game.

CU was now 8-2 on the season and was set to host No. 2 Nebraska, with the Huskers actually the top team in the BCS Standings. The Buffs unleashed a running attack that day Nebraska was used to inflicting, not accepting. Brown had 198 yards and six touchdowns, Purify added 154 and a score to pace a 380-yard, eight-touchdown ground assault that helped Colorado build a 35-3 second quarter en route to a 62-36 win, which earned the Buffs their first North Division title and a rematch with Texas in the championship game.

Perhaps it was overconfidence from the earlier rout of CU, or the fact that the game was in the Dallas suburbs and it was essentially a home game, or an early score had them up 7-0, but the No. 2 Longhorns, third in the BCS Standings but guaranteed a spot in the BCS title game with a win after Florida had lost earlier in the day, were in for a long evening. Brown ran for 182 yards and three scores, and three interceptions of UT's Chris Simms paved the way for a 36-10 run over a 22-minute span that put CU in command on its way to a 39-37 win and its first conference title since 1991.

The Buffs missed qualifying for the national championship game by .05 in the BCS Standings, Nebraska still getting the nod over CU and three other schools who could have supplanted the Huskers, including No. 2 Oregon, Colorado's opponent in the Fiesta Bowl. The Ducks played with a bigger chip on their shoulder than CU did, scoring 38 straight points after the Buffs took an early 7-0 lead and walked away with a 38-16 win.

Colorado finished 2001 with a 10-3 record and a No. 9 ranking, so the year was still a success. But a tumultuous four years lied ahead in the Barnett Era, though three of those four teams still captured division titles.

The Buffs were 9-5 in 2002 as after a 1-2 start, CU won eight of the next nine. Ochs quit the team early in the season, and inexperienced Robert Hodge stepped in and did an admirable job in taking over the offense. He wasn't flashy, but he made very few mistakes. Brown was in the Heisman hunt until a late season ankle injury forced him to the sidelines, but still finished third in the nation in rushing. Jeremy Bloom excited all with his knack for the long play, returning a punt 75 yards for a touchdown against CSU the first time he touched the ball, and Mark Mariscal won the Ray Guy Award as the nation's best punter. CU closed the year with losses to Oklahoma in the Big 12 title game and to Wisconsin in overtime in the Alamo Bowl.

Colorado suffered through a 5-7 season in 2003, though opened with two down-to-the-wire wins over Colorado State and UCLA and rose to No. 17 in the rankings. Joel Klatt, a walk-on and former minor league baseball infielder, made his debut as starting quarterback, and had a monster game, throwing for 402 yards and four touchdowns against CSU, earning national player of the week honors. However, the Buffs dropped six of the next seven, any hopes for the post-season seemed lost. But a win over No. 22 Missouri followed by a blowout at Iowa State had CU needing just one more victory to become bowl eligible, and the Buffs had an average Nebraska team at home. The Huskers, just like in '97, ended CU's season, this time with a 31-22 verdict.

There were a lot of off the field distractions in 2004, resulting from an off-campus party that involved a handful of players on the team and some visiting high school recruits in 2001. This ordeal, centered on a lawsuit, perpetuated several untruths about the football program, many manufactured and accelerated by the news-side media and a hired public relations firm by the plaintiffs. At one point, CU president Betsy Hoffman suspended Barnett for three months, with assistant head coach Brian Cabral taking over the team for spring ball. It also led to audits of the athletic department and the CU Foundation, and another casualty was the forced resignation of AD Tharp in November.

If there ever was an "us versus the world" mentality, the 2004 Colorado Buffaloes epitomized it. An emotional 27-24 win over Colorado State in Boulder led to a 3-0 start, but eight weeks later, the Buffs found themselves at 4-4, 1-4 in league play. The one win would be an important tiebreaker later on, a 19-14 conquest of Iowa State that included Mason Crosby making a school record 60-yard field goal, the first of that distance in college football in six seasons.

If no less than five things happened, first and foremost CU winning out, the Buffs still could win the division. And all did, including a season-ending 26-20 win at Nebraska that ended the Huskers' run of 35 consecutive bowl appearances. The Buffs were back in the Big 12 title game; that was the good news. The not-so-good was that No. 2 Oklahoma lit up the Buffs, 42-3, outgaining CU 498-46 in the game.

Mike Bohn was named the new AD in April 2005, and was open to evaluating the football situation. Recruiting had suffered due to the bad publicity the program had received, but CU opened with seven wins in the first nine games, including five by lopsided margins. Barnett was offered an extension in early November, but declined it at the time. When the Buffs dropped their next four, the last two of which came by a combined score of 100-6 to Nebraska and Texas in the Big 12 title game, Barnett was dismissed in early December.

It took less than 10 days for Bohn to find his man. Dan Hawkins had compiled a 53-11 record in five seasons at Boise State, the fourth most wins by a Division I-A coach in his first five years, and had won or shared four Western Athletic Conference titles. Long-time observers of the program likened him part Bill McCartney and part Eddie Crowder, two former coaches he immediately turned to for some counsel and history of the program. Bohn and most others thought him to be the perfect fit for Colorado, as he was the hot national coach at the time of his hire.

His first Buffalo team mustered just a 2-10 record, with four near-misses, the most frustrating when the Buffs squandered a late 13-0 lead at ninth-ranked Georgia in losing 14-13. He got his first win against Texas Tech in convincing fashion (30-6).

The improvement was substantial his second year, with CU posting a 6-6 record in the regular season, becoming bowl-eligible in the finale with a 65-51 win over Nebraska. Along the way, Hawkins earned his first signature win of his Colorado tenure, defeating No. 3 Oklahoma 27-24 on a Kevin Eberhart field goal as time ran out. Jordan Dizon earned consensus All-America honors and was the Big 12's defensive player of the year in finishing as the runner-up for the Butkus Award. In the Independence Bowl against Alabama, CU couldn't recover from an early 27-0 deficit, but once the Buffs settled down, they pulled to within 30-24 but time ran out before the season could end on a good note.

Unfortunately, things never took off from there as expected; despite some other exciting wins, including a 29-27 win over Georgia in 2010 when the Buffs hosted the 1990 team in a 20th anniversary celebration of their national championship, Hawkins was 19-39 and was let go with three games left in the season. Long-time assistant Brian Cabral was named interim head coach, and CU responded with two straight wins, but a loss at Nebraska ended the season and the Buffs would stay home for the holidays a third straight year.

On December 6, 2010, Bohn brought former CU standout Jon Embree back to Boulder as the school's 24th full-time head coach. Embree is just the third alum to be named to the position; the first was Harry Heller way back in 1895, with the second Bud Davis, who took the position for the 1962 season as CU righted its ship after NCAA issues. Embree was also the school's first African-American head coach for football, and brings an impressive pedigree in addition to his performance as a tight end for the Buffaloes from 1983-86; he also coached as an assistant under three different CU head coaches and then added four years of NFL experience to his resume before returning to his alma mater.

Embree helped to usher in the Pac-12 Conference Era in CU football annals, as after 15 years in the Big 12, the Buffaloes bolted west and joined the 10 members of the old Pac-12, along with former long-time rival Utah. He got his first win over Colorado State in Denver, a 28-14 verdict, but had to wait until November to pick up his first conference win, a 48-29 rout of Arizona in Boulder on Senior Day. The season finale gave the program so long awaited revenge against Utah, as the schools had not met in nearly half a century; not only did the 17-14 win snap a school record 23-game losing streak on the road, it came 50 years after the Utes knocked CU out of the 1961 national championship chase.

Embree was relieved of his duties after just two seasons after the Buffaloes won only four of 25 games. Bohn turned to Mike MacIntyre as the school's 25th football coach; MacIntyre resuscitated a down San Jose State program and hopes to work the same magic in Boulder.

MacIntyre's first team in 2012 finished 4-8, improving on the team's 1-11 record the previous year as well as in 29 major statistical categories. Junior Paul Richardson, who would declare for the NFL draft following the season, became CU's first first-team all-conference receiver since 1997 and exited holding 44 school records.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

June 10, 2010—Colorado officials announce they are leaving the Big 12 to join the Pac-12 Conference, effective July 1, 2011.

Nov. 9, 2010—Dan Hawkins is dismissed as head coach, with long-time assistant coach Brian Cabral named as interim head coach to finish out the 2010 season.

Dec. 6, 2010—Jon Embree named the 24th full-time head coach in Colorado history, the first alum to take over the program since Bud Davis in 1962. On the same date, Eric Bieniemy, CU's all-time leading rusher, returns as the school's offensive coordinator.

Nov. 25, 2011—Colorado ends its first year in the Pac-12 on a high note, its 17-14 win at Utah ending a school record 23-game road losing streak.

Dec. 10, 2012—Mike MacIntyre named the 25th head coach in school history.

Sept. 1, 2013—CU's 41-27 win over Colorado State in the season opener enables Mike MacIntyre to become just the second CU head coach since 1932 to win his first game, joining Rick Neuheisel (1995).

Sept. 14, 2013—A home game against Fresno State is cancelled due to record rainfall and subsequent flooding in Boulder; it is just the second game postponed or cancelled in school history (the Nov. 23, 1963 game against Air Force was delayed two weeks due to the assassination of JFK).

LOGO & UNIFORM EVOLUTION

Logo & Color Scheme Evolution

1921—A student newspaper editorial decries CU's uniform colors of silver and gold as, "unsatisfactory. Our teams always look poorer than the other conference schools." But no changes are made until 1946 (for one game) and then until 1959.

1934—The school nickname and mascot is officially designated "Buffaloes." The Silver & Gold newspaper sponsored a contest, as the school had no steadfast nickname or symbol; other newspapers at the time picked up the story and entries were coming in from all over the nation. Teams were often called the Silver and Gold, Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen. Boulder resident Andrew Dickson submitted the winning entry. Golden Buffaloes also emerges as a reference, along with the Thundering Herd.

1940s—The logo that appeared more than anything else was quite detailed, and virtually disappeared from most publications by the early 1950s. However, the logo was a popular automobile decal sold by the campus bookstore up until the introduction of a standard campus-wide logo adopted in 1981 (see next column).

1946—The football team opens the year with navy blue jerseys; they last one game (a 76-0 loss at Texas) and CU returns to silver and gold uniforms, often sometimes wearing an all-solid gold look.

1950s—With no real standard mark, logos often changed annually if not by season depending on the artwork for media guides and game programs. Basketball teams wore white tops with silver or gold shorts at home.

1959—Football coach Sonny Grandelius changes the prominent jersey color to black with silver numbers from old gold with black or white numbers that had been prevalent since the 1930s. Silver helmets with black horns completed the look to match the school's official silver and gold colors.

1962—Bud Davis, to try and distance the program from NCAA sanctions levied against the previous coaching regime, does away with the black jerseys for those with a silverish hue.

1963—Eddie Crowder takes over as coach of the football team and changed the jerseys back to black and the numbers to gold. The helmets remained silver but eventually switched to gold in 1967.

Mid-1960s—The most common logo that emerged was that of an artist's conception of a running buffalo, one that resembled a painting and was next-to-impossible to reproduce for clothing. This emblem was the standard for department stationery and note cards and hung around until 1979.

1966—Though live buffaloes made appearances on and off through the years, usually calves, CU's fully grown, live buffalo mascot, Ralphie, made its first appearance at all home games during the 1966 season.

October 28, 1967—Crowder is approached with the idea of his team taking the field behind a charging buffalo. Thus, this day in the annual homecoming game against Oklahoma State, one of college football's most awesome traditions begins as the team takes the field behind Ralphie and five handlers. All subsequent live buffaloes are also named Ralphie.

1968—Horns once again adorn the football helmet, replacing player numbers that had appeared annually since 1962.

1969—The first appearance of an interlocking CU on gold helmets (replacing player numbers) with the logo spreading to basketball pants as well as popping up on other sport uniforms. This particular mark proved to have staying power and would be incorporated into future logo artwork, both for athletics and the university overall. It was a solid block CU, reminiscent of the one that appeared under the logo born in the 1940s.

1970s—With women's athletics attaining varsity status, other logos appear for women's teams, including more feminine looking buffaloes. All women's teams are referred to as the Lady Buffs.

1979—A futuristic buffalo design is used sparingly in football for the '79 and '80 seasons, commissioned (at a cost of $1,600) by football coach Chuck Fairbanks who liked the Seattle Seahawks helmet logo. It brings the total to six different logos/symbols, facing in different directions, in use by various departments and sports. The block CU is the most recognizable of the lot.

May 28, 1981—Blue officially adopted as the primary uniform color in place of black after a Board of Regents mandate at its January meeting. Originally suggested to be "the deep blue Colorado of Colorado's sky at 9,000 feet" by then-Regent Jack Anderson, jerseys were officially an "Air Force Blue" though different than the blue the Air Force Academy's sports teams wore. Numerals were silver or yellow-gold, depending on the sport, and outlined in white. The football pant remained gold, but with a blue stripe, for both home and road. Football helmets remained gold but with blue logos. Other programs switched to blue, ranging from road basketball jerseys to golf bags. CU's trademark south end zone is painted blue, the first color change since it was created after the track was removed in 1966.

July 1, 1981—What would become the longest running logo in school history (24 years) is officially registered as CU's primary mark. Keystone Resort vice president Jerry Jones helped arrange the design, at a bargain cost of $1,000, by Terry Heckler Associates in Seattle (Craig Marocco was the artist). Heckler's firm did the Keystone logo, along with many others; because Heckler and Jones are friends, CU gets the $12,000 project for just one grand. Athletic director Eddie Crowder and associate AD Fred Casotti make the final decision on the logo from several mock-ups; CU insiders dub it the "pigalo" after Fairbanks said publicly, "It looks like a pig." The logo catches on and eventually turns into one of the most recognizable logos in college athletics, if not sports, that incorporated the school/team ID (CU) and the mascot/nickname all in one.

1984—The colors are altered slightly, as the blue is enhanced to a darker hue; football goes with gold, borderless numbers and complaints rain in from many, as players can't be identified from stands. Black and white photos and game films appear as if players wore no numbers at all. Bill McCartney had the football team twice wear black jerseys (against Oklahoma and Nebraska) in a similar way that Notre Dame broke out its green jersey for big games.

April 24, 1985—"Black is Back" read the release announcing that athletic director Bill Marolt would allow head coaches of all CU sports teams (then 14 in number) the option of returning to black as the primary jersey color. McCartney's throwback efforts the previous season were the impetus for the change; the football jersey had a blue stripe on the arm for the 1985, 1986 and 1987 seasons before it was dropped altogether in 1988.

December 30, 1985—A standard in basketball, the football jersey has COLORADO emblazoned across the front for the first time for the Freedom Bowl versus Washington.

November 28, 1987—Football wears all black for the first time in a 24-7 loss to Nebraska.

1988—Football switches to the black pant for road games. It remains standard for well over a decade, until the 2000 team wears white for a road game at Southern California.

1993—All university teams are now known solely as the Buffaloes, as women's teams drop the "Lady" moniker. Use of Golden Buffaloes becomes rare though still officially accepted.

May 10, 2005—The first change of any kind to the logo in a quarter century is made when the popular buffalo logo with the interlocking CU is tweaked. The buffalo is slightly tilted to the right to give it an "in-motion" appearance, and the interlocked letters are altered a bit for a cleaner look. Also included for the first time is a mark for bilingual use (Spanish). NIKE and CU work together on the changes, as NIKE design director Chris McClure updates the buffalo logo and CU licensing director Bruce Fletcher coordinates accompanying fonts for the first time.

Uniform Evolution

Here's a chronological look at the evolution of University of Colorado football uniforms:

1921—A student newspaper editorial decries CU's uniform colors of silver and gold as, "unsatisfactory. Our teams always look poorer than the other conference schools." CU wears what is tantamount to a gold sweater with black numbers at home and a white with black numerals on the road, as no real changes are made until 1946 (for one game) and then until 1959.

The one game? CU wore navy blue uniforms for a Sept. 28, 1946 game at Texas. The Longhorns won, 76-0, and those uniforms were never seen again.

During this period, number colors often changed, and as uniforms improved, there were naturally several modifications. But the color schemes for home and road remained consistent.

1959—The basic look for the next several decades is born, as CU wears black jerseys for the first time in its history, with white numbers and a gold pant at home; white jerseys with a black number are worn on the road. Over the next 10 seasons, the helmets go through changes from silver to gold and with horns to numbers.

1969—The first appearance of an interlocking CU on gold helmets (replacing player numbers). This particular mark proved to have staying power and would be incorporated into future logo artwork, both for athletics and the university overall. It was a solid block CU, reminiscent of the one that appeared under the logo born in the 1940s.

1979—The numbers at home are enlarged and are now in gold with a white border.

May 28, 1981—Blue officially adopted as the primary uniform color in place of black after a Board of Regents mandate at its January meeting and subsequent follow-up recommendation by a campus committee. Originally suggested to be "the deep blue Colorado of Colorado's sky at 9,000 feet" by then-Regent Jack Anderson, jerseys were officially an "Air Force Blue" though different than the blue the Air Force Academy's sports teams wore. Numerals are silver and outlined in white, and the pant remained gold, but with a blue stripe, for both home and road. Football helmets remained gold but with blue logos. CU's trademark south end zone is painted blue, the first color change since it was created after the track was removed in 1966. CU's coach at the time, Chuck Fairbanks, has been routinely, and falsely, credited for the color switch through the years, which was not overly popular with Buff fans.

1982—The numerals switch from silver to gold, with the trim remaining in white.

1984—The colors are altered slightly, as the blue is enhanced to a darker hue, with the numbers in a yellow-gold, but borderless; complaints rain in from many, as players can't be identified from stands and in black and white photos and game films it appears as if players wore no numbers at all. The pant remained a similar yellow-gold with a blue stripe and white trim. Bill McCartney had the football team twice don black jerseys (against Oklahoma and Nebraska) in a similar way that Notre Dame broke out its green jersey for big games. There actually had been talk about CU doing it first for its 1983 home game against the Fighting Irish.

April 24, 1985—"Black is Back" read the release announcing that athletic director Bill Marolt would allow head coaches of all CU sports teams (then 14 in number) the option of returning to black as the primary jersey color. The pant moves toward a metallic gold with no stripes (though in 1991, the road black pant had a gold stripe). McCartney's throwback efforts the previous season were the impetus for the change; the football jersey had a blue stripe on the arm for the 1985, 1986 and 1987 seasons before it was dropped altogether in 1988. The Big 8 logo graced one sleeve. The south area behind the end zone with COLORADO is once again painted black (for '85).

December 30, 1985—A standard in basketball, the football jersey has COLORADO emblazoned across the front for the first time for the Freedom Bowl versus Washington. Other than switching to italics in the current machine style font in 1997, it becomes the signature look on the uniform for the next 21 seasons and one that several other schools also replicate.

November 28, 1987—Football wears all black (jersey and pant) for the first time in a 24-7 loss to Nebraska.

1988—Football switches to the black pant for road games. It remains standard for well over a decade, until the 2000 team wears all white for a road game at Southern California.

1996—The first real tweaking of the uniform since the blue stripe came off in 1988 as the font changes for the COLORADO as well as the numerals, with the stripes eliminated from the sleeves. Numbers are white with gold trim at home and black with gold trim on the road. In subsequent years (1997, 1998), some silver is utilized as trim within the number.

September 26, 1998—For the Baylor home game, the Buffaloes don a sort of "throw-back" jersey that is gold in color with black numbers (with silver trim), along with black helmets (silver logo) and a black pant. It's the only time any of the components of the look (other than the pant) are used.

November 1, 2003—Against Texas Tech, the Buffs don gold pants for a road game for the first time since 1987; the team proceeds to wear all three selections (black, white, gold) through 2006, though white disappeared following 2005.

September 18, 2004—A one-time look, thankfully to many, the Buffaloes wear the black jersey but with the white road pant against North Texas. The look is shelved pretty quick and not used again.

June 2, 2007—Silver is reintroduced into the color scheme, as both the jersey and pant are overhauled. The black home jersey has silver numbers and gold trim in a new design never before incorporated in CU's look, while the white road top has black numbers with silver trim and additional gold trim elsewhere. Pant colors are black and gold; the black pant has gold trim, the gold pant silver trim. New fabrics also improve issues from heat management and uniform weight to making it increasingly hard for the opponent to grab various points.

2010—The uniforms revert back to what the Buffaloes wore from the late 1980s well into the 1990s.

AC Joint — Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process of the scapula and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Abduct — Movement of any extremity away from the midline of the body. This action is achieved by an abductor muscle.

Abrasion — Any injury which rubs off the surface of the skin.

Abscess — An infection which produces pus; can be the result of a blister, callus, penetrating wound or laceration.

Adduct — Movement of an extremity toward the midline of the body. This action is achieved by an adductor muscle.

Adhesion — Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.

Aerobic — Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired and is required for sustained periods of vigorous exercise with a continually high pulse rate.

Anabolic Steroids — Steroids that promote tissue growth by creating protein in an attempt to enhance muscle growth. The main anabolic steroid is testosterone (male sex hormone).

Anaerobic — Exercise without use of oxygen as an energy source; short bursts of vigorous exercises.

Anaphylactic Shock — Shock that is caused by an allergic reaction.

Anterior Compartment Syndrome — Condition in which swelling within the anterior compartment of the lower leg jeopardizes the viability of muscles, nerves and arteries that serve the foot. In severe cases, emergency surgery is necessary to relieve the swelling and pressure.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) — A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint. A complete tear of the ACL necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Anterior Talofibular Ligament — A ligament of the ankle that connects the fibula (lateral ankle bone) to the talus. This ligament is often subject to sprain.

Anti-Inflammatory — Any agent which prevents inflammation, such as aspirin or ibuprofen.

Anterogram — A film demonstrating arteries after injection of a dye.

Arthrogram — X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected into the affected area; useful in diagnosing meniscus tears of the knee and rotator cuff tears of the shoulder.

Arthroscope — An instrument used to visualize the interior of a joint cavity.

Arthroscopy — A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by means for viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of any damage or confirm a diagnosis.

Aspiration — The withdrawal of fluid from a body cavity by means of a suction or siphonage apparatus, such as a syringe.

Atrophy — To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.

Avascular Necrosis — Death of a part due to lack of circulation.

Avulsion — The tearing away, forcibly, of a part or structure.

Baker's Cyst — Localized swelling of a bursa sac in the posterior knee as a result of fluid that has escaped from the knee capsule. A Baker's cyst indicates that there is a trauma inside the knee joint that leads to excessive fluid production.

Bone Scan — An imaging procedure in which a radioactive-labeled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bony injury. If the radioactive substance is taken up the bone at the injury site, the injury will show as a "hot spot" on the scan image. The bone scan is particularly useful in the diagnosis of stress fractures.

Brachial Plexus — Network of nerves originating from the cervical vertebrae and running down to the shoulder, arm, hand, and fingers.

Bruise — A discoloration of the skin due to an extravasation of blood into the underlying tissues.

Bursa — A fluid-filled sac that is located in areas where friction is likely to occur, then minimizes the friction; for example between a tendon and bone.

Capsule — An enclosing structure which surrounds the joint and contains ligaments which stabilize that joint.

Cartilage — Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together and grating.

CAT Scan — Use of a computer to produce a cross sectional view of the anatomical part being investigated from X-ray data.

Cellulitis — Inflammation of cellular or connective tissue.

Cervical Vertebrae — Group of seven vertebrae located in the neck.

Charley Horse — A contusion or bruise to any muscle resulting in intramuscular bleeding. No other injury should be called a charley horse.

Colles' Fracture — A fracture of the distal end of the radius with the lower end being displaced backward.

Concentric Muscle Contraction — A shortening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to move a resistance.

Concussion — Jarring injury of the brain resulting in dysfunction. It can be graded as mild, moderate or severe depending on loss of consciousness, amnesia and loss of equilibrium.

Contusion — An injury to a muscle and tissues caused by a blow from a blunt object

Cortical Steroids — Used to suppress joint inflammation.

Costochondral — Cartilage that separates the bones within the rib cage.

Cryokinetics — Treatment with cold and movement.

Cryotherapy — A treatment with the use of cold.

Cyst — Abnormal sac containing liquid or semi-solid matter.

Degenerative Joint Disease — Changes in the joint surface as a result of repetitive trauma.

Deltoid Ligament — Ligament that connects the tibia to bones of the medial aspect of the foot and is primarily responsible for stability of the ankle on the medial side. Is sprained less frequently than other ankle ligaments.

Deltoid Muscle — Muscles at top of the arm, just below the shoulder, responsible for shoulder motions to the front, side and back.

Disc, Intervertebral — A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. This disc consists of a thick fiber ring which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion and shock absorber for the spinal column.

Dislocation — Complete displacement of joint surfaces.

Eccentric Muscle Contraction — An overall lengthening of the muscles as it develops tension and contracts to control motion performed by an outside force; oft times referred to a "negative" contraction in weight training.

Eccymosis — Bleeding into the surface tissue below the skin, resulting in a "black and blue" effect.

Edema — Accumulation of fluid in organs and tissues of the body (swelling).

Effusion — Accumulation of fluid, in various spaces in the body, or the knee itself. Commonly, the knee has an effusion after an injury.

Electrical Galvanic Stimulation (EGS) — An electrical therapeutic modality that sends a current to the body at select voltages and frequencies in order to stimulate pain receptors, disperse edema, or neutralize muscle spasms among other functional applications.

Electromyogram (EMG) — Test to determine nerve function.

Epicondylitis — Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse.

Ethyl Chloride — "Cold spray," a chemical coolant sprayed onto an injury site to produce a local, mild anesthesia.

Fat Percentage — The amount of body weight that is adipose, fat tissue. Fat percentages can be calculated by underwater weighing, measuring select skinfold thickness, or by analyzing electrical impedance.

Femur — Thigh bone; longest bone in the body.

Fibula — Smaller of the two bones in the lower leg; runs from knee to the ankle along the outside of the lower leg.

Flexibility — The ability of muscle to relax and yield to stretch forces.

Flexibility Exercise — General term used to describe exercise performed by a player to passively or actively elongate soft tissue without the assistance of an athletic trainer.

Fracture — Breach of continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress, or transverse.

Gamekeeper's Thumb — Tear of the ulnar collateral ligament of the metacarpophalangeal joint of the thumb.

Glycogen — Form in which foods are stored in the body as energy.

Grade One Injury — A mild injury in which ligament, tendon, or other musculoskeletal tissue may have been stretched or contused, but not torn or otherwise disrupted.

Grade Two Injury — A moderate injury when musculoskeletal tissue has been partially, but not totally, torn which causes appreciable limitation in function of the injured tissue.

Grade Three Injury — A severe injury in which tissue has been significantly, and in some cases totally, torn or otherwise disrupted causing a virtual total loss of function.

Hamstring — Category of muscle that runs from the buttocks to the knee along the back of the thigh. It functions to flex the knee, and is often injured as a result of improper conditioning or lack of muscle flexibility.

Heat Cramps — Painful muscle spasms of the arms or legs caused by excessive body heat and depletion of fluids and electrolytes.

Heat Exhaustion — Mild form of shock due to dehydration because of excessive sweating when exposed to heat and humidity.

Heat Stroke — Condition of rapidly rising internal body temperature that overwhelms the body's mechanisms for release of heat and could result in death if not cared for appropriately.

Heel Cup — Orthotic device that is inserted into the shoe and fit under the heel to give support to the Achilles tendon and help absorb impacts at the heel.

Hematoma — Tumor-like mass produced by an accumulation of coagulated blood in a cavity.

Hot Pack — Chemical pack that rests in water, approximately 160 degrees, and retains its heat for 15-20 minutes when placed in a towel for general therapeutic application.

Humerus — Bone of the upper arm that runs from the shoulder to the elbow.

Hydrotherapy — Treatment using water.

Hyperextension — Extreme extension of a limb or body part.

Iliotibial Band — A thick, wide fascial layer that runs from the iliac crest to the knee joint and is occasionally inflamed as a result of excessive running.

Inflammation — The body's natural response to injury in which the injury site might display various degrees of pain, sweating, heat, redness, and/or loss of function.

Internal Rotation — Rotation of a joint or extremity medially, to the inside.

Lesion — Wound, injury or tumor.

Ligament — Band of fibrous tissue that connects bone to bone or bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.

Lumbar Vertebrae — Five vertebrae of the lower back that articulate with the sacrum to form the lumbosacral joint.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) — Imaging procedure in which a radio frequency pulse causes certain electrical elements of the injured tissue to react to this pulse and through this process a computer display and permanent film establish a visual image. MRI does not require radiation and is very useful in the diagnosis of soft tissue, disc, and meniscus injuries.

Meniscectomy — An intra-articular surgical procedure of the knee by which all or part of the damaged meniscus is removed.

Meniscus — Crescent shaped cartilage, usually pertaining to the knee joint; also known as "cartilage." There are two menisci in the knee, medial and lateral. These work to absorb weight within the knee and provide stability.

Metacarpals — Five long bones of the hand, running from the wrist to the fingers.

Metatarsals — Five long bones of the foot, running from the ankle to the toes.

Myositis — Inflammation of a muscle.

Necrotic — Relating to death of a portion of tissue.

Neoprene — Lightweight rubber used in joint and muscle sleeves designed to provide support and/or insulation and heat retention to the area.

Neuritis — Inflammation of a nerve.

Orthotic — Any device applied to or around the body in the care of physical impairment or disability, commonly used to control foot mechanics.

Paresthesia — Sensation of numbness or tingling, indicating nerve irritation.

Patella — The kneecap. The patella functions to protect the distal end of the femur as well as increase the mechanical advantage and force generating capacities of the quadriceps muscle group.

Patella Tendinitis — Inflammation of the patella ligament; also known as "jumpers knee."

Patellofemoral Joint — Articulation of the knee cap and femur. Inflammation of this joint can occur through: 1) acute injury to the patella, 2) overuse from excessive running particularly if there is an associated knee weakness, 3) chronic wear and tear of the knee, 4) as a result of poor foot mechanics. Patellofemoral irritation can lead to chondromalacia, which in its most chronic condition, could require surgery.

Peroneal Muscles — Group of muscles of the lateral lower leg that are responsible for everting the knee. Tendons of these three muscles are vital to the stability of the ankle and foot.

Phalanx — Any bone of the fingers or toes; plural is phalanges.

Phlebitis — Inflammation of a vein.

Plica — Fold of tissue in the joint capsule and a common result of knee injury.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL) — A primary stabilizing ligament of the knee that provides significant stability and prevents displacement of the tibia backward within the knee joint. A complete tear of this ligament necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Quadricep Muscles "Quads" — A group of four muscles of the front thigh that run from the hip and form a common tendon at the patella; they are responsible for knee extension.

Radiography — Taking of X-rays.

Radius — Forearm bone on the thumb side.

Reconstruction — Surgical rebuilding of a joint using natural, artificial or transplanted materials.

Referred Pain — Pain felt in an undamaged area of body away from the actual injury.

Retraction — The moving of tissue to expose a part or structure of the body.

Rotator Cuff — Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area that can be irritated by over use. The muscles are the supraspinatus (most commonly injured), infraspinatus, teres minor, and subscapularis.

Rotator Cuff Impingement Syndrome — A micro-trauma or overuse injury caused by stress, and the four stages are: 1) Tendinitis with temporary thickening of the bursa and rotator cuff; 2) Fiber dissociation in the tendon with permanent thickening of the bursa and scar formation; 3) A partial rotator cuff tear of less than one centimeter; and 4) A complete tear of one centimeter or more.

Sacrum — Group of five fused vertebrae located just below the lumbar vertebrae of the low back.

Scapula — Shoulder blade.

Sciatica — Irritation of the sciatic nerve resulting in pain or tingling running down the inside of the leg.

Sciatic Nerve — Major nerve that carries impulses for muscular action and sensations between the low back and thigh and lower leg; it is the longest nerve in the body.

Shin Splint — A catch-all syndrome describing pain in the shin that is not a fracture or tumor and cannot be defined otherwise.

Sorbothane — An energy absorbing polyurethane utilized in some foot orthotics to absorb shock forces of the foot.

Spasm (Theory) — Muscle soreness induced by exercise; is the result of reduced muscle blood flow, which results in pain.

Spleen — Large, solid organ responsible for the normal production and destruction of blood cells.

Spondylitis — Inflammation of one or more vertebrae.

Spondylolisthesis — Forward displacement of one vertebrae over another below it due to a developmental defect in the vertebrae.

Spondylosis — Abnormal vertebral fixation or immobility.

Sprain — Injury resulting from a stretch or twist of the joint and causes various degrees of stretch or tear of a ligament or other soft tissue at the joint.

Sternum — The breast bone.

Steroids — Any one of a large number of hormone-like substances. See Anabolic steroids and cortical steroids.

Strain — Injury resulting from a pull or torsion to the muscle or tendon that causes various degrees of stretch or tear to the muscle or tendon tissue.

Stress Fracture — A hair-line type of break in a bone caused by overuse.

Stress X-ray — A continual X-ray taken when a portion of the body is stressed to its maximum in order to determine joint stability. This is a test utilized in some ankle injuries.

Stretching — Any therapeutic maneuver designed to elongate shortened soft tissue structures and thereby increase flexibility.

Subluxation — Partial dislocation of a joint. The term usually implies that the joint can return to its normal position without formal reduction.

Talus — The ankle bone that articulates with the tibia and fibula to form the ankle joint.

Target Heart Rate — A pre-determined pulse to be obtained during exercise when circulation is working at full efficient capacities.

Tarsals — Group of seven bones of the foot consisting of the calcaneus, talus, cuboid and three cuneiform bones.

Temporomandibular Joint (TMJ) — The articulation of the jaw and skull; considered by some to be vital in resolution of injuries throughout the body.

Tendinitis — Inflammation of the tendon and/or tendon sheath, caused by chronic overuse or sudden injury.

Tendon — Tissue that connects muscle to bone.

Tennis Elbow — General term for lateral elbow pain.

Thoracic — Group of twelve vertebrae located in the thorax and articulate with the twelve ribs.

Thoracic Outlet Compression Syndrome — A neuro-vascular disorder of the upper extremity common in throwing.

Tibia — Larger of the two bones of the lower leg and is the weight-bearing bone of the shin.

Tomograph — A special type of X-ray apparatus that demonstrates an organ or tissue at a particular depth.

Trachea — The windpipe.

Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulator (TENS) — An electrical modality that sends a mild current through pads at the injury site which stimulates the brain to release the natural analgesic, endorphin.

Transverse Process — Small lateral projection off the right side and left side of each vertebrae that functions as an attachment site for muscles and ligaments of the spine.

Trapezius — Flat triangular muscle covering the posterior surface of the neck and shoulder.

Triceps — Muscle of the back of the upper arm, primarily responsible for extending the elbow.

Turf Toe — Sprain of the metatarsophalangeal (MTP) joint of the great toe.

Ulna — Forearm bone that runs from the tip of the elbow to the little finger side of the wrist.

Ulnar Nerve — Nerve in elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing.

Ultrasound — An electrical modality that transmits a sound wave through an applicator into the skin to the soft tissue in order to heat the local area for relaxing the injured tissue and/or disperse edema.

Valgus — Angulation outward and away from the midline of the body.

Varus — Angulation inward and toward the midline of the body.

Vasoconstriction — Decrease of local blood flow.

Vasodilation — Increase of local blood flow.

"Wind Knocked Out" — Syndrome describing a contraction of the abdominal nerve trunk, the solar plexus, as a result of an abdominal contusion.

Wrist — The junction between the two forearm bones (radius and ulna) and the eight wrist bones (trapezium, capitate, hamate, pisiform, triquetrum, lunate and scaphoid).

Zygoma — The cheekbone.
